Alvo a Good Place to Live.
Speaking of Alvo, when the writer asked what he had to say in favor of Alvo, P. J. Lynch said that Alvo was a good place to live for one had friends and could live in peace and enjoyment in this town and always be assured, if he would work, of plenty to eat. That is right, work and you can eat. With a genial soil, balmy winds, a warm bright sunshine, and a disposition to live and let live the community of Alvo will bless all who reside here.

Cass County all Right.
No one can successfully say that Cass county, and especially that portion in the vicinity of Alvo, cannot raise as good wheat as any other place, and at the same time produce other crops in like proportion. L. D. Mullen, living one mile and a quarter from Alvo, this year had seventy-five acres of good wheat, and while some was better than others it all produced a good yield. Ten acres of the land yielded 480 bushels of wheat or 48 bushels to the acre. Another piece went as high as 36 bushels and the entire seventy-five acres made 1,986 bushels, or an average of 26 1-3 bushels to the acre. People will be well fed when this much wheat is raised per acre.

Will Make Home in Northwest.
Soren Petersen who has been at the Hot Springs, South Dakota, for some time receiving treatment for his health was a visitor in Alvo last week, and departed for the Hot Springs, being accompanied by the family, and where they will make their home in the future.

Similar jewels were conferred on John McNurlin of Plattsmouth and Charles Gerlach of Omaha. Messrs. McNurlin and Gerlach were unable to be present, however, and their jewels will be sent to them by the secretary.

Visitors present were Fred Mumm and John F. Bates, of Plattsmouth and H. N. Whitebread, head carpenter for the cement company, of Chanute, Kansas.—Louisville Courier.

Now that Rumania has a six-year-old king, politics probably will steam right up, with everybody taking a hand in the interpretation of the royal wish. Ho, hum! We wonder how his highness likes bread and jam?

RUMOR FACTORY BUSY

From Saturday's Daily—
This community seems to be the birthplace of the expression, "damned rumor has it," judging from the wild and varied tales that originate in some persons and are given general circulation over the city by parties who should have better mental capacity than to believe all that they hear of events that they have no personal knowledge. These rumors cover all manner of events from the most private personal affairs to the matter of public events and the originator certainly can take the prize for a vivid imagination and more vocal power than brains.

As an illustration of the spread and enlarging of these reports an illustration was found last evening. An ambulance came from Omaha to remove Watson Long from his home at Mynard to the hospital at Omaha and no sooner had the ambulance made its appearance than the story was broadcast that a great auto wreck had occurred on the highway south of this city and a large number of cars of the curious were soon headed in that direction, some even going as far as Union in an endeavor to locate the trouble that the rumor factor had portrayed. A great deal of injury is done by some of these rumors or talk and the parties who start them should study well the old proverb that "silence is golden."
