DEATH DRIVER UNKNOWN Hastings, Neb., Aug. 5.—There is still a mystery as to the identity of the driver of the death car that last night crashed into three persons at a street crossing here, killing Mrs. Elizabeth Mullaney, Hastings, and injuring her niece, Mrs. Fred Kahms, and four-year-old son, Robert, of Grand Island.

Police have kept in touch with each and every driver here and are scouring the city for some clue without avail. The coroner's jury composed of R. E. Donny, O. E. Linn, L. H. Harker, J. L. Holymann, G. E. Higgs and Vern Manabhan, failed to reach any information and brought in a verdict to the simple effect that Mrs. Mullaney met her death by being struck by an auto.

Mrs. Kahms, who sustained a compound fracture of her right knee, and her son, Robert, who was badly shaken up and bruised, are not hurt as badly as first reported.

Well Known Eagle Man Dies at Lincoln

William Dewey Quinn, a Life Long Resident of the West Part of County, Passes Away.

The community is again called upon to mingle sympathy with those in affliction. On Tuesday morning of this week William Dewey Quinn was called to his reward, after much suffering. His death occurred at the hospital in Lincoln. The remains were brought to the family home, and the funeral held Thursday. Burial was at Elmwood cemetery.

The following obituary was prepared and read by Rev. Zimmerman, who conducted the funeral:

William Dewey Quinn was born February 16, 1896, in Otoe county, Nebraska, and departed this life August 2, 1927, age 31 years, 5 months and 16 days.

His death was taken sick with an affliction from which he never fully recovered. Yet he felt on the road to recovery, and with his sister went to Montana where he homesteaded, and proved up on his claim. But his recovery was not of permanent nature, and he returned to the home of his parents, where he remained until death.

In the fall of 1919 he joined the Masonic lodge at Elmwood and greatly enjoyed his Masonic relationship. He was a master workman, endowed with great skill as a builder. He was especially clever in sketching and carving, and was a mechanic of marked ability. Except for his affliction his career would no doubt have been marked with greater success than comes to the average man. Yet in spite of affliction he was more kind and considerate than most men of good health. He did not complain, and his friends remark that he was always agreeable and welcomed each with a smile. He had a special love for children, who likewise sought his company.

The last months were spent in intense pain, yet he cherished hope that in the hospital he could be restored to health. As a last possible hope he urged that an operation be performed, with the result that death could not be stayed. He leaves to his wife, Mrs. W. J. Quinn, two brothers, J. M. and Curtis, and three sisters Mable Forman, all of this community, Marie Trumble, of Eagle, and Vivian Nichols of Lincoln, and a host of friends.—Eagle Beacon.

CROP PROGRESS GOOD

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 4.—Harvesting, haying and threshing made good progress in Nebraska during the past week, the United States weather bureau here reported today. The first part of the week was warm and dry, while the latter part was cool, with frequent showers which were of much benefit to corn, alfalfa and pastures.

Soil moisture is sufficient for present needs in many parts of the state, the review said, and is not seriously deficient in any large areas.

"Corn is in very good condition and continued to make excellent progress. Much of it is now silking. Harvest of oats and other spring grains continues in northern and western portion of the state with generally good yields, but red rust is prevalent in the northeastern counties."

"Pastures are generally in good condition for August; beets are in excellent condition and potatoes and alfalfa are growing well."
