Locals Break Jinx in Winning at Papillion

By Score of 9 to 4 Platters Humble the Sarpy Players Who Play Loose Ball.

From Monday's Daily—
The Jinx that has always hovered over the Plattsmouth baseball team when they have visited at Papillion, yesterday afternoon took flight and left the locals, who won their first game on the Pappio grounds, the score being 9 to 4.

The reasons for the locals winning were many—chiefly the gilt edged fielding, the excellent hurling of Swanny and timely blows and also the fact that the Pappio had some seven errors to their credit that were productive of runs for Plattsmouth.

For the Papillion team, the only outstanding figure was that of Amos Lilley, center fielder of the Sarpy county seat team, who nabbed four long flies from the bats of the Platters, one being a very sensational one handed grab of a fly from Newman.

The playing of the Platters was that of bang up ball—everyone being on their toes and going strong, their playing standing out in marked difference to that of their opponents. The hitting of Harold Klauschie, Mason and our own hurler, Humberto Swanson, furnished features of the day's proceedings while the fielding of Newman, Herold, McCarthy, Reichart and Klauschie featured the game.

Both teams scored in the opening inning, Herold getting a walk as the first man up and being able to advance when Reichart hit to short who hobbled, Pete scoring later when Distell sacrificed. The Pappio run was the result of Swanny allowing Chip Bressman a walk to first and on hits to center by Ruff and King, Chipper scored.

The big inning for the locals was in the second when five tallies were scored when Bartholomew was nicked for three hits and his teammates added three errors. William Harvey Mason opened with a smashing double to left field and Bill thought that his speed was enough to reach third but failed by inches and was tagged. Newman laced one to short that Mathias failed to handle and then Swanny was hit on his arm by Jimmy and sent to first and then Pete rapped one to right that tallied for the locals, our George, from Louisville, then made things interesting for Beerline at first, who failed to field the ball properly and more runs came home. Distell advanced the chart with a sacrifice to Ruff and then Chip helped the locals by missing a hot grounder at second and still the scores rolled in. Art Klauschie cleaned up with a clean hit to right and Jimmy becoming disgusted passed McCarthy to have Mason come up for the second time in the inning and again hit to left to score Spidell. Haberline in left grabbed the fly of Newman and closed the agony.

The third gave the Platters two more runs when Swanson hit through third and advanced when Herold singled to left but Swanny was later caught at third while Pete advanced when Distell hit to the infield and the play was made on our hurler. Pete scoring when Art hit clean over third and Distell was able to sneak in on the scoring before the eyes of the rattled Pappio.

The last score of Plattsmouth was in the fourth inning when Mason was safe on an error at short and scored when Pete doubled to left field.

Papillion scored two in the sixth when Bressman and Ruff scored on two errors and a hit and their last run came in the ninth frame when Oliver tripled to deep center and scored on the grounder of Lilley.

The tabulated score of the game was as follows:

Elmwood Business Houses are Burglarized

Four Places Visited by Robbers Last Night But Loss Mostly Small Change.

From Tuesday's Daily—
Last night the town of Elmwood suffered a visit from burglars that made visitations at four places in the town but failed to secure a large amount of money and only a small loss in articles taken from the L. H. Crane, general store, the former L. H. Langhorst store.

The robberies were not discovered until this morning when the various places opened for the day's business and which has allowed the parties pulling off the robberies to make their getaway many hours before.

The places visited comprised the Boyd mill, the Missouri Pacific station, the J. H. Ruge lumber yard, the Liston filling station and the Crane general store, the last being the heaviest sufferer from the visitation of the night raiders.

In all of the places the parties pulling off the robberies had made their entrance by means of breaking windows and thereby getting into the interior of the places and ransacking them evidently in search of money.

In several of the places small amounts of change had been left in the registers and which was appropriated by the robbers, but in no case was the amount taken large, reports from Elmwood state.

When the robbers visited the Crane store they took a number of shirts and also canned goods and foodstuffs from the stock.

There was little disturbance in the robberies and the residents of the town peacefully slumbered through the looting, there being no signs of noise of trucks heard or seen and it is thought that it may have been the work of tramps who were following down the Lincoln line of the Missouri Pacific.

Several nights ago the town of Eagle was visited by a similar occurrence and which lends strength to the idea that it may have been the work of tramps or hoboes who were making their way along the railroad and replenishing their supply of money and food with raids on the smaller towns that they were passing through.

The robbery was not reported until late this morning to Sheriff Bert Reed, who with Deputy Sheriff Rex Young, motored to the scene of action to see if some line could be secured on the robbers.

CONSOLE ON DISPLAY

The keyboard gives one the full idea of the organ a great deal better than the printed word can do, the size of the instrument, the many keys and the effects that can be produced from the great instrument are plain to the eye of the beholder.

The pipe organ has become one of the most popular musical instruments in the country at this time and with the great strides of the motion picture symphonies of the organ giving a wonderful setting to the silent drama that it has not had heretofore.

The Parmelee will have a real organ in the instrument that they have in readiness for installing and which in the next two weeks will thrill and delight the amusement loving public of the community and the eastern portion of the state who will find here as fine a theatre as any city in the state outside of the large cities provides.

Newspaper Man Takes the Wrong Road for Omaha

Residents of Near the Rifle Range Grow Alarmed When Omaha Man Gets in Their Locality.

From Tuesday's Daily—
Late last night Sheriff Bert Reed was aroused from his slumbers by a message from north of this city in the vicinity of the rifle range, where it was reported that some strange auto driver was in the ditch near that locality. The message was received by the night police and who notified the sheriff and the officer hastened out to see the cause of the alarm that had been sent in for them.

On the arrival at the Will's farm it was found that Ivan Gaddis, well known Omaha newspaper man, who had been in this city last night, was stalled at that point, his car having gone in a small ditch when he had attempted to turn around near the Will's place and as the result the flowers in the sparsely settled locality were a little alarmed as it was quite late and the travelers there are scarce even in the day time.

Mr. Gaddis in starting back to Omaha had mistaken the roadway and driven up North 5th street and with the result that he had continued on until he came to the gates on the road and which leads strength to the idea that it may have been the work of tramps or hoboes who were making their way along the railroad and replenishing their supply of money and food with raids on the smaller towns that they were passing through.

The robbery was not reported until late this morning to Sheriff Bert Reed, who with Deputy Sheriff Rex Young, motored to the scene of action to see if some line could be secured on the robbers.

Beauty Place of State is the Masonic Home

Landscaping Has Added Much to the Surroundings of the Magnificent Residence of Aged.

When the travelers through this city pass along the John R. Webster boulevard at the northern boundary of the city on the approach to the travel highway that leads to Omaha and the north, which is also a gateway to our own attractive city, they are strikingly impressed with the beauty of the Home that the great Masonic fraternity has established here for the care of the aged members of the order and of the Eastern Star, who can find there rest and comfort as the shadows of life fall into the sunset years.

The large brick building that has been the main portion of the Home since its enlargement in 1906, has been added to by the handsome grey stone Gothic structure that forms the infirmary building where are cared for the sick and bedfast, where they are surrounded by all of the comforts of their own home with the careful care and nursing that skilled hands can give.

These two magnificent buildings have been added to by the fact that in the past year the board of control and President James M. Robertson have worked out, with the assistance of Superintendent W. P. Evers, a truly artistic plan of landscaping the grounds and making the surroundings of the Home in fitting keeping with the great buildings that represent one of the principles of the order of Masonry—the care of the aged and the afflicted.

From the Webster boulevard there is seen on the greensward of the Home a great letter "G" with the compass that stands as the emblem of the order and gives to the passer-by the message that here is a Masonic institution.

Along the south and the east of the Home grounds there is planted a hedge of the barberry bush that is fast growing into an important part of the decorative plan of the grounds while on the north of the driveway through the grounds and along the boulevard spirea hedge has been planted that in a few years will add with their beautiful flowers to the general beauty of the grounds.

The decorations of the grounds along the driveway and grouped artistically through the grounds there are some thirty varieties of the shrubs, some of which have been supplied from the United States experiment station of the shrubbery of the nation.

Along the boulevard of the city park has been planted rows of the Moline Elms that in a few more years will be of a size to afford shade and make the drive one of the finest in the state.

Over the grounds there are large groups of the rarest and most beautiful varieties of roses, many of which have bloomed throughout the summer and are still adding their bright hues to the green lawn.

On the south of the main building there are large groups of the shrubs and interspersed with these are the flowering plants that make the general artistic effect of the lawn and when the summer flowering season is on the scene is one that thrills the eye of the lover of the beautiful.

The view from the west approach of the Home is one of the most ravishing wealth of color as the bright hued petunias and gladiolas are here in abundance and line the walks that lead around the Home, their flowers making the late summer season a wealth of beauty.

Throughout the Home grounds there are a large variety of trees of different types, several varieties of the pine, fir, walnut, Colorado blue spruce, several varieties of elm, oak ash, maple, hackberry and haw.

To the north of the Home there is the orchard, now coming into bearing, and which was planted some seven years ago by Superintendent Evers, when he first took over the superintendency of the Home, while east of this is the vegetable garden, shielded from the driveways and the boulevard by the shrubs of the hedges. The garden plot also has a magnificent gladiola garden where large bouquets of these flowers are gathered each day for the use in the Home to add to the brightness and cheerfulness of the rooms.

On a part of the east side of Webster boulevard there is long rows of "Four O'Clocks," that late in the evening and early in the morning are a wealth of color and with their fragrance make a fine touch against the green of their background.

After the beauty of the grounds which grows greater each year, one is prepared to appreciate the cozy and comfortable manner that the Home and infirmary and which is a real treat to behold.

It has been the desire of the Masons that the establishment be what it is called, "a home" in every sense of the term and which the board of control, President Robertson and Superintendent Evers have done their utmost to make it live up to the

THINK WORK OF EXPERTS

From Wednesday's Daily—
Sheriff Bert Reed and Deputy Sheriff W. R. Young returned last evening from Elmwood where they were called to investigate the robbery that occurred there on Monday night and from their observations, the work of the robbers it would seem that they were more experts in their line than first appeared. The parties seem to have opened two safes in the places visited, at the Crane store and the lumber yard, while at the mill they broke off the dial of the safe and completely ruined the safe. At the filling station and the garage the robbers broke the cash registers but in none of the places secured anything of value their total not being over two dollars.

Sheriff Bert Reed had the state fingerprint expert come from Lincoln, but no traces of prints were found, the parties having apparently worn gloves to cover their leaving any finger prints, this leading to the view that they were not unskilled in this line of work.

Pretty Home Wedding Occurs Last Evening

Miss Sylvia Noble United in Marriage to Mr. Robert Hill at Home of the Bride's Parents.

From Wednesday's Daily—
One of the most charming of the late summer weddings occurred last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Noble on North 11th street when their daughter, Miss Sylvia, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert L. Hill of Fremont, Nebraska.

The home was arranged in a color scheme of pink and white, the beautiful roses being used in profusion in both the living room, where the ceremony took place, and the dining room of the home.

A floral altar was arranged with the clematis and the shell pink roses in the living room and before which was placed a large basket of the delicately shaded pink roses, before this beautiful altar the vows of love being pledged by the happy young people.

Promptly at 8 o'clock Miss Violette Begley sang very sweetly, "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly," Miss Helen Wurl being the accompanist. As the bridal party entered the living room the notes of the Bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" was sounded by Miss Gladys Philpot of Weeping Water, a close friend of the bride, to which the young people advanced to the altar where they were met by Rev. Harold E. Sator of the First Methodist church, who celebrated the beautiful ring service in joining the lives of the young people.

The bride was attended by Miss Catherine Hill of Fremont, sister of the groom, while the groom had as his best man, his brother, Edward Hill of Schenectady, New York.

The wedding gown of the bride was of white satin trimmed with lace flounces and orange blossoms, wearing a long flowing veil held in place with a headress of the orange blossoms, while silver slippers were also a part of the bridal costume.

Miss Noble wore a stand of pearls, an heirloom of the family and carried a shower bouquet of the Ophelia roses and baby breath.

Miss Hill wore pale pink chiffon with picture hat of pink and carried an arm bouquet.

The groom and best man were garbed in the formal evening dress. Following the wedding the members of the bridal party and the guests, some twenty-five of the relatives and close friends, were invited to the dining room where dainty refreshments were served by a group of the younger girls. The center piece of the dining table was a happy wedding cake surmounted by the figures of a bride, groom and minister.

The bridal bouquet was caught by Miss Helen Beeson, one of the school friends of the bride.

After a brief reception by the members of the family to the bride couple they departed by auto for Omaha and from where they will go on a brief honeymoon, their destination being a secret from the members of the family and on their return here they will spend a short time, expecting later to remove to the south where Mr. Hill will be located in his work as accountant with the Woods Brothers Construction Co.

The going away gown of Mrs. Hill was of Lindy blue Romaine crepe with picture hat to match.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Noble and has spent practically her lifetime here and received her education in the local schools, being a graduate of the Plattsmouth high school in the class of 1927, and has been among the most popular of the younger society set of the city.

The groom is a son of E. M. Hill, well known Fremont merchant, and was reared to manhood in that city and while at school in that city enlisted in the army in 1918 when but fifteen years of age and served the last year of the world war, on his release from the service completing his school work and graduating from the Fremont high school. Since his graduation he has been employed by the Woods Brothers Construction Co., and is a young man held in high esteem by all those who have the privilege of his acquaintance.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill will have the best wishes of the friends here for many years of happiness and success in the future.

Those from out of the city to attend the wedding were: Mrs. E. S. Sears and son, Keith, of Omaha, E. M. Hill, Albert Hill, Fremont, Mrs. Clinton Keener of Talmage and Miss Gladys Philpot of Weeping Water.
