Enjoy Sunset of Life in Real Wedded Bliss

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Waybright, Aged 84 and 80 Years Happy in Each Other at Coast Home.

The Los Angeles Times of a recent date had a very fine picture of two well known former residents of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Waybright, who were residents of this city from their marriage immediately after the civil war up to twenty-two years ago when they moved to Los Angeles where they have since made their home.

The many friends here will be interested in reading of their happy years in the sunset days which they are spending in their home in the west.

The article from the Times is as follows:

If she could turn time backward sixty-two years and be a hoop-skirt bride again, Mrs. Morgan Waybright, 1141 West Twenty-fourth street, would ask no better husband than the one she married August 17, 1865, namely, Morgan Waybright, she said yesterday. She is 80 years of age and her husband is 84.

The couple were celebrating their sixty-second wedding anniversary quietly at their home because neither was feeling very chipper, but many friends dropped in during the afternoon and evening to congratulate them and ask for their formula for happy marriage.

"If folks both do as they ought to do," opined Mr. Waybright, "they'll get along. I don't know that there are any more divorcees nowadays than there were when we were young. The difference is that there are more people than there were then. There were just as many ornery people in my days as there are now, and don't let anybody tell you different."

Mrs. Waybright had taken no part in the divorce discussion up to this point, but she interrupted her husband to say that if a woman feeds her husband what he likes to eat and always has dinner on the table when it should be there, she is not likely to have many domestic worries. She didn't try to quarrel, she said, and her husband had never had any quarrels in their sixty-two years of wedded life. "Not by a long shot!"

"But," she said, "we've always made it a point to settle our differences when they came up, and when they were once settled that was the end of it. Neither of us likes to quarrel. I think that, in most cases, both of them are to blame for it when a couple is divorced. I would be willing to live with my husband for another sixty-two years if I could, but I don't suppose we'll be here that long."

Mr. Waybright, a native of Virginia, fought in the Confederate side during the Civil War, and when he came out of the army he went to work at 50 cents a day. They have lived in Los Angeles twenty-one years.

CALLED ON WILD CHASE

From Monday's Daily— Sheriff Bert Reed and Deputy Sheriff W. R. Young were called out to the vicinity of Ashland yesterday where it was reported that a serious auto accident had occurred on the D. L. D. in Cass county. The sheriff and deputy made the run out to the scene of the supposed accident and with visions of persons injured only to find when they arrived there that the affair was a matter of dispute by the parties over the damage for the accident. A car from New York, containing tourists had run into a Falls City car belonging to one of the national guard members at the camp and the parties had a dispute over the cost of the damage that was later settled at Ashland and the affair settled when the sheriff arrived.

Mrs. Harber was grandmother of Mrs. Hallie B. Perry and Fred Stewart of this city and made her home here for many years until her failing health and advancing years made it necessary for her entering the home where the aged veterans and widows are cared for.

WOODMEN DROP TWO

From Monday's Daily— While the league baseball team was absent from the city yesterday the Modern Woodmen team of this city entertained at the local ball park and during the contest the Pacific Junction team and the Schafer team of near Murray, the local ball players dropping both of the contests, the Junction winning 12 to 4, and the Schafer by the score of 8 to 7.

In the opening struggle the Pacific Junction team showed their superiority and behind the hurling of Flynn they made easy work of the contest and had little trouble in winning.

The second game was more interesting as the teams were more evenly matched and the M. W. A. made a hard fight in the last of the ninth to come within one score of tying the battle. For the Schafer team "Tip" Reector of Weeping Water hurled a good game and several errors and overthrows accounted for the early scores of the M. W. A. Clark and Don Britz did the hurling for the Woodmen. In this game the score was standing eight to four for Philip Schafer and his teammates when the Woodmen received re-enforcements in the shape of Frank and Joe Krejci and John Svoboda, who had played at Marley and arrived in time to take in the last inning here. Joe was sent in to hurl and held the visitors scoreless while in the M. W. A. half of the ninth, Frank Krejci, Joe Buttery and John Svoboda were able to tally and run the total up to seven.

Fine Progress Made with the Electric Work

Lighting System at New Community Building to Pass Every Underwriters Requirement.

From Monday's Daily— Splendid progress is being made with the wiring of the new Legion community building. William Highfield was on the job all day yesterday, his second Sunday to assist with the work and the greater part of the conduit work was finished. A number of Legionnaires were present to assist with the wiring of the new Legion community building. William Highfield was on the job all day yesterday, his second Sunday to assist with the work and the greater part of the conduit work was finished. A number of Legionnaires were present to assist with the wiring of the new Legion community building.

Some idea of the size of this job can be gained from the fact that with all installation work donated, the cost of the material and electric light globes will run close to $150. Over 800 feet of conduit, part of it the large 1-inch size, a dead-front control board, some fifty outlets and six branch lines, will bring the installation right up to snuff so far as Underwriters' rules are concerned, and materially reduce the insurance rate on the building. Incidentally, it is the largest installation made in Plattsmouth in several years, with the single exception of the Nebraska Masonic Home infirmary building.

Non-Legionnaire electricians have been giving valuable service and will be credited with labor donations to the building fund, equal to what they would ordinarily make if employed on this work at their regular schedule of wages.

Tomorrow night there will be lots of work for the Legion members who turn out, including the filling and leveling of the ground in front of the building, while a limited number can assist with the electrical work.

Progress is being made with the interior painting as well as setting of the glass in the steel French casements and by Thursday the contractors expect to have the Omaha flooring company here with a force of workmen, laying the floor, sanding and polishing it.

The millwork has also arrived and its installation will be a matter of only a week's time, including casings and stairways.

The fine progress being made is highly pleasing to the committee, which expects to be able to turn the completed building over to the merchants for use at the joint Legion-Business Men's Fall Festival around the middle of September.

At the Bartlett farm are produced the bulbs that are handled through the seed house and have won a national reputation. There are sixty acres of the gladiolus and other bulb plants on the farm and it is truly a sight of greatest beauty.

The farm has large picnic grounds and where refreshments can be procured by picnic parties and every accommodation made for the entertainment of the large number who every Sunday visit the farm and enjoy the sight of the beautiful flowers.

Mr. Oline states that the Union band will be at the picnic grounds on next Sunday to enjoy the day and the residents of Bartlett and vicinity are anticipating a pleasant time with the visit of the Nebraska musicians.

Those who visit the farm are presented with bouquets of the handsome flowers and receive a hearty welcome from the force of Mr. Field, who have charge of the famous bulb farm.

AUTO TRAVEL HEAVY

From Monday's Daily— Sunday was one of the heaviest days in the amount of travel over the highways through this city and in a five hour period at the K. of T. bridge over the Platte river over 700 cars passed over the bridge. The highway was alive with cars for the day and during the entire night there was an almost constant stream of traffic passing north and south thru this city, the belated Sunday auto visitors hastening home in the late hours. With the very heavy travel on the highway the number of auto accidents was much smaller than usual and none of any serious aspect.

Platters Split Double Header at Springfield

Capture the Opener 9 to 3 But Lose the Last 4 to 2—Swanson Pitches Two Games.

From Monday's Daily— Yesterday afternoon the Platters and Springfield team of the Sarpy-Cass county league clashed on the Springfield grounds and with the result that they divided the honors in the first game going to Plattsmouth by the score of 9 to 3 while the final contest was annexed by the Sarpy boys by the score of 4 to 2.

Herbert Swanson, local hurler, strove to break the record of Iron Man McGinnity, who frequently hurled two games in a day, but not always win and this happened to Swanson in the nightcap, but the loss was largely the inability of the locals to hit in the final battle, rather than any lack of pitching.

In the opener the locals took kindly to Wolfgang, the star hurler of the Springfield aggregation and annexed an early lead that they were able to maintain and turn into victory. The Platters had a new third sacker on the job, Young from Louisville, who more than made good and in four trips out to bat was able to annex four hits Hans Newman was also in his best of form and was grabbing them off in all parts of the diamond and short ground and had a large part in the spilling of the beans for the Sarpy lads.

In the last game the pitching of Dunn, youthful hurler of Springfield proved too baffling for the locals and they were unable to do any effective damage to his hurling and both teams showed the effect of the two game-inning pace slackened in the last of the game, aside from the pitching staff. Plattsmouth gathered but three hits off Dunn in the last game. Owing to the absence of Sam Moye the official scorekeeper, the tabulated record of the game was not kept for the locals.

SUFFERS BROKEN NOSE

From Monday's Daily— Frank Gradoville of this city suffered a severe injury in the baseball game yesterday between Talmage and Burr and which resulted in the breaking of the nose of the young man and a very badly discolored eye. Frank was playing shortstop for Talmage and in the second inning of the game was fielding a hot line drive and was about to field the ball and the ball struck him on the side of the face, discolored the eye and breaking his nose. The injury knocked Frank out for a time and he was hurried to the office of Dr. Clinton Kenner where the injured member was dressed. After the accident Frank pluckily resumed playing in the sixth inning and continued in the game until the close. Ed Gradoville caught for the Talmage team and they met defeat at the hand of Burr, the accident to the shortstop seemingly upsetting the rest of the Talmage team.

HAS SHORTED WIRE

From Tuesday's Daily— Last evening about 7:30 the odor of burning rubber was quite strong in the block on the north side of Main street between Fifth and Sixth street and led many to look around to see if they had dropped any lit cigarettes in the old rain coat. The odor grew stronger and still it was from until Sam Giventer of the Peoples Market happened to go out to his car and open the door and thereupon the smoke rolled out in clouds as it had been confined in the car. The cause of the trouble was a short in the wiring of the car and the insulation of the wires burning had caused the dense smoke that made things look pretty bad for a few moments. The damage to the car will not be great and is of a nature that can soon be repaired and Sam have the car back in service again.

He is a former service man and served with the A. E. F. in France. Since that was Mr. Roesler has made his home for the greater part of the time in Chicago and is engaged there in the postal service.

Mr. Scott is a resident of Lincoln and connected there with one of the large contracting firms of that city and a young man held in the highest esteem by all those who have the privilege of knowing him.

The many friends here among whom the Journal is pleased to be numbered, extend to the young people the best wishes for the future years, that they may be bright with happiness and success.

The regular city golf tournament will be started in the next week, the qualifying rounds starting on Sunday, August 27th and continuing over until Thursday, September 1st. The match play will start on Sunday, September 4th and will continue over labor day, the date of the championship game being announced as the match play starts.

The present city champion is Jess Warga and other members of the club will do their best to try and wrest the honors of the city title from his brow.

One of the party who was picked up on the traffic violation threatened the wide publicity of the event in Omaha newspapers and a caustic criticism of the ordinance of the city, but as the printed word was apparent the court had no leeway and gave him the small dose that is meted out to the first time violators.

It is expected that the lessons learned in chapter one will be sufficient but offenders who appear later in court face the probability of having the fine raised for the second or succeeding offense.

A great deal of complaint is also made of speeding on the avenue but owing to the limited supply of members of the police force they are unable to be in all parts of the city and will have to divide their time on the stop signs and slow signs in the main part of the city until other means of reaching the speeders can be devised.

Police Have a Busy Time with Traffic

Night Force Kept Busy in Checking the Violator of the City Ordinances.

From Wednesday's Daily— Last evening the members of the police force had a very busy time in battling with the violators of the traffic regulations that have been made a part of the city ordinances and which the city government has decided has had sufficient time to become familiar to the residents of the city and which are similar to the ordinances in force in other localities.

The chief cause of the trouble for the officers was in the auto drivers who failed to see or heed the stop sign at Main and Sixth street and where the officers were kept busy checking the passing cars that made their way up and down Main street.

Their first to get caught in the toils of the law was Frank Haskert, real name unknown, who with a party of friends was driving merrily through the stop sign when clamped down on. He was informed of the city ordinance and invited to call at the session of the police court.

Judge William Weber was called to open up a night court and gave the drive of the car, who claimed Omaha as his home, a fine of $1 and costs which was paid.

Another one who was apprehended was a man giving the name of O. E. Plack and who was also meted out the fine of $1 and costs and which was also paid and the party sent on his way rejoicing to Omaha, his home.

One of the party who was picked up on the traffic violation threatened the wide publicity of the event in Omaha newspapers and a caustic criticism of the ordinance of the city, but as the printed word was apparent the court had no leeway and gave him the small dose that is meted out to the first time violators.

It is expected that the lessons learned in chapter one will be sufficient but offenders who appear later in court face the probability of having the fine raised for the second or succeeding offense.
