

Murray Department

Prepared in the Interest of the People of Murray and Surrounding Vicinity Especially for the Journal Readers

If any of the readers of the Journal know of any social event or item of interest, and will mail same to this office, it will appear under this heading. We want all news items.—Editor

HOW MEN Rob the Babies' Bank

First, by not having a Home Savings Bank for them;
Second, by not persevering in training them to use one properly, if they do have one, and Third, by failing to impress upon them the importance of SAVING by setting the proper example before them.

With your permission, we can eliminate for you all these Difficulties.

Murray State Bank

Murray, Nebraska
There is No Substitute for Safety

George Engelke and the family were enjoying the state fair, they driving over to the big city in their auto.
Vac Muckluskey, the blacksmith was looking after some business matters in Omaha on Tuesday of this week.
Fred Clarke of near Union was in Murray on Tuesday of this week as well as looking after some business matters.
Homer Shrader and sister Mrs. Georgia Creamer were over to Omaha on Tuesday to visit with their grand nephew Shrader Gurlach.
John Gilmore and his uncle, D. R. Frans of Union were enjoying the state fair on last Monday, they going in the car of Mr. Frans.
Ray Burton and son of Plattsmouth were visiting and looking after some business matters in Murray on Tuesday of this week.
W. O. Troop was a visitor in Plattsmouth on Tuesday afternoon of this week, he taking a load of cobs for C. R. Troop of that place.
R. C. Wright and the family were visiting in Omaha on last Sunday, being guests at the home of Mrs. Wright's mother, Mrs. Nozler.
Miss Ina DeLes Dernier departed early last Monday for Firth, where she will be one of the instructors in the public schools for that hustling city.
A new son on this week graced the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Baker who reside just this side of Weeping Water, the son and the parents getting along nicely.
On Wednesday Homer Shrader and family of Plattsmouth and Mrs. Georgia Creamer were attending the

Dress Making

Reasonable Prices

Mrs. Allie Dilly
Murray, Nebr.

E. W. LEWIS
Up-to-Date Painter and Decorator
Paperhanging.

MURRAY - NEBRASKA

Best Service

In the repair work we do, in the goods we sell. Come see us when in need of anything in our line. Your best interests are our greatest concern.

Murray Garage
A. D. BAKKE, Prop.

state fair and also visiting with friends in Lincoln.
Herbert Campbell and the family were visiting in Lincoln on Tuesday of this week and where they met and greeted friends from Iowa, all enjoying the state fair.
A very fine young son was reported a short time since as having arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garrison of near Weeping Water and all concerned doing nicely.
Kelley Rhodes the day before the coming of the rain during this week had finished the plowing of some sixty-five acres which he is putting into rye, and which he has in fine condition at this time.
Mr. Otis Nickle of Independence, Mo., arrived in Murray and was visiting with relatives here for a few days.
This week Frank Dill began the seeding of his winter wheat, having the ground in excellent condition thought it well to get the seed into the ground and let it be starting.
As there was nothing doing on Labor Day in Murray, Font Wilson and the family were over to Lincoln where they enjoyed the excellent exhibits which were at the state fair.
A. J. McNatt and son Julian, were called to Nebraska City on Monday of this week to look after some business matters for a short time, they making the trip via their Chevrolet.
Business called Will Holmes from west of Plattsmouth, and Fred Engleke were enjoying the state fair while the good wives enjoyed a visit at the Engleke home.
The Murray Hudson-Exsex company through their salesman Ben Noell, sold one of the excellent Essex coaches to Harvey Koop of Louisville who is liking the new acquisition very much.
Robert C. Wright and Robert Shrader, and they kept Bobbing were looking after business matters in Plattsmouth on Tuesday of last week, they making the trip in the car of Mr. Wright.
George Nickle and Will S. Smith were called to Omaha on Tuesday afternoon of this week, where they were looking after matters pertaining to the betterment of the hustling city of Murray.
When Lindbergh heard of the birth of Shrader Gurlach, which was on Tuesday of this week, he immediately sent the little fellow a bouquet which Mrs. Creamer waxed and will preserve it for a souvenir.
Uncle B. A. Root was enjoying a visit at the state fair on last Monday, he and Uncle J. W. Edmunds and two daughters, Mesdames Wm Spranger and A. C. Long, driving over in the car of Mr. Edmunds.
Lycurgus McCarthy who has been working near Murray of late was at the state fair on last Monday and tells of the dust being very deep so much so that one could hardly get around. That was before it rained.
E. W. Milburn has been visiting for a few days at the home of relatives at Paola, Kansas, driving over in his car for a short visit. While he was away C. K. Frans, the substitute carrier was looking after the carrying of the mail.
Harry Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson of Louisville was a visitor in Murray for a few days during the past week, and on his return home was accompanied by his cousin, Willard Nelson, who is visiting in Louisville this week.
Mrs. Gertrude Carper and daughter, Hazel of Nehawka, were visiting in Murray and accompanied by Mrs. Carper's brother, B. H. Nelson went to Omaha on last Tuesday morning where they were looking after some business matters for the day.
The Rev. Stuart of Spirit Lake Idaho, who delivered such an inspiring discourse at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning and evening will preach again the coming Sunday. Later we learned he has been called as regular minister and will make Murray his home.
With the coming of the first September morn this year, there also arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Thompson a very fine young lady whose mission was to make the home happier, and sure she did but there were more happy folks besides the father and mother, Grandfather Geo. S. Ray and wife, for the happy reception of the little lady.
On Tuesday evening of this week a number of the citizens of Murray and vicinity were over to Omaha where they went to witness a boxing contest which was staged there that date, among those to attend the demonstration being Alfred and Herman Gansemeyer, Anderson Lloyd Charles K. Frans and Thomas J. Brendel.
Uncle Herman Fahrlander living east of Union has been very poorly for the past few days and has been compelled to keep to the home and a portion of the meteo his bed. He however is reported as being slightly better.

grandson of J. D. Shrader, being a son of Isabelle Shrader Gurlach.
Peaches, Grapes and Pears.
We have some very fine peaches grapes and pears now ready for delivery. Call at our house or phone No. 2121 for reservation.
MRS. A. G. LONG,
Murray, Nebr.

There Are Some Peaches.
Uncle Wm. Puls who is somewhat of a horticulturist grew in his garden in Murray some very fine peaches, and selecting an even dozen of them gave them to a lady friend and who was so pleased with the bunch that she weighed them and found that the dozen weighed just six pounds or a half a pound each on the average. Mr. California, hustled along some of your premium peaches, and let us see what they will weigh.

Enjoy a Picnic Sunday.
Postmaster Will S. Smith and wife, Attorney C. A. Rawls and wife of Plattsmouth, and accompanied by Miss Beatrice Rawls, who came from Butte, Montana, to begin the school year, which opened on Tuesday of this week. They had provided a very appetizing dinner, and following the meeting of the Little Miss from the west, all repaired to Courtland Beach where they enjoyed a picnic dinner and also the park with its amusements, during the afternoon, returning home in the evening.

Fractures Right Arm.
On last Wednesday afternoon Martin Barnes, seven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allis Barnes, living west of Murray, fell from an auto in which he was playing, fracturing his right arm in two places, between the wrist and elbow. The fracture was reduced by Dr. Brendel and the young lad is getting on nicely.

HEAR PLANS ON DRAINING LAKE
John Clapper, Brown County Farmer Faces Opposition of His Neighbors.
Proposed construction of a drainage ditch to lower the water level of Moon lake, Brown county, and greatly reduce its area is the subject of a hearing which will be held Tuesday by State Engineer Cochran at his office in the capitol. John Clapper, holder of a lease on three quarter-sections of state school land, one of which is partly covered by the lake, has filed application for authority to build the ditch.
Fred W. Skinner, who leases the northwest quarter of school land in the same section, has remonstrated against allowing the lake to be tapped. He will be present at the hearing and voice his objections.
State Game Warden F. E. O'Connell will also register a protest, on behalf of sportsmen and recreation seekers, against the project. Moon lake is a favorite summer nesting place for wild ducks and in the fall season there is excellent shooting on the lake and its surrounding marshy terrain.
The lake is one of the largest in northern Nebraska, but has a maximum depth of only 4 feet at the present time. It affords some fishing but is patronized mainly by hunters.
Clapper's idea is to use the drainage area for pasturage and hay land. Some of the other ranchers think the lake is worth as much to them as any additional forage they could get off the area now covered by water.
Several years ago Clapper started to dig a ditch through his leased land without consulting the state authorities. He was stopped at that time by a court injunction.

MOVIE MAGNATE EXPIRES MONDAY
Stage and Screen Producer Victim of Heart Attack; Headed Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Glen Cove, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Marcus Loew, the biggest figure in the moving picture and vaudeville world, died Monday in his sleep, shortly before 7 a. m.
Loew, who was born on the east side of New York, died at Pembroke, the magnificent home he purchased some time ago. He had been ill of heart trouble for some time and two weeks ago visited Saratoga Springs in an effort to benefit his health.
After a week at Saratoga Springs, Loew returned to Pembroke, his health unimproved. The Pembroke estate was formerly the home of Joseph de Lanar.
Prevent Inquiry.
Loew's death first was announced at the offices of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, of which he was the head. Soon afterward it became known here, but every effort was made at Pembroke to prevent further inquiries.
Loew was born May 7, 1870.

golden Text: I was glad when they said unto me, 'Go ye into the house of Jehovah.'—Psalms 122:1.
The Wonder of the Age
King David was moved to build a house for the worship of Jehovah, and not being allowed to do so, had prepared much material for its construction under his son, King Solomon, who, after he had been king for some five years, began the work of its construction. During the ages people have constructed edifices for the worship of the One Great God, and have set them aside for that purpose, they have maintained the buildings for the purpose of having a place in which to gather, which is associated with a sacredness not obtained elsewhere. We think that a place set aside for the worship of God is sacred, and should be revered as we also reverse the one whom we worship therein. Not to make this place an idol, by any means, no, but to hold the name of the church in reverence, and to give due respect to the building which is the official meeting place of God, the Father, and Man, his son. When a place shall have been set aside it looks like sacrilege for it to be diverted to some other purpose. We know people who have purchased church buildings to use them for business or secular purposes, but it always looked to us that it was out of place, and when once dedicated to the special purpose of the worship of God, it should remain such. Now, in the other hand, we believe that one could worship God in the fields, in the highways, and even when about their daily tasks, and this they should do, and not do anything or occupy any position where it would not be proper to worship the Great Jehovah. The temple which is built under the reign of Solomon, was one of the wonders of the age in which it was built and would be at this time. That the people of Israel were devoutly religious cannot be denied. According as were their faith in the Great Jehovah, was their prosperity, their happiness, their security and as long as they were devotedly following the commands of God, they prospered, but when they forgot and wandered away after other gods then did troubles arise, through the sins of the people annihilated the nation, and was finally scattered spirally, coming down through the ages, and providing a line through which the Christ was to come to the earth.

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON
Sunday, September 11,
By M. S. Briggs
Golden Text: I was glad when they said unto me, 'Go ye into the house of Jehovah.'—Psalms 122:1.
The Wonder of the Age
King David was moved to build a house for the worship of Jehovah, and not being allowed to do so, had prepared much material for its construction under his son, King Solomon, who, after he had been king for some five years, began the work of its construction. During the ages people have constructed edifices for the worship of the One Great God, and have set them aside for that purpose, they have maintained the buildings for the purpose of having a place in which to gather, which is associated with a sacredness not obtained elsewhere. We think that a place set aside for the worship of God is sacred, and should be revered as we also reverse the one whom we worship therein. Not to make this place an idol, by any means, no, but to hold the name of the church in reverence, and to give due respect to the building which is the official meeting place of God, the Father, and Man, his son. When a place shall have been set aside it looks like sacrilege for it to be diverted to some other purpose. We know people who have purchased church buildings to use them for business or secular purposes, but it always looked to us that it was out of place, and when once dedicated to the special purpose of the worship of God, it should remain such. Now, in the other hand, we believe that one could worship God in the fields, in the highways, and even when about their daily tasks, and this they should do, and not do anything or occupy any position where it would not be proper to worship the Great Jehovah. The temple which is built under the reign of Solomon, was one of the wonders of the age in which it was built and would be at this time. That the people of Israel were devoutly religious cannot be denied. According as were their faith in the Great Jehovah, was their prosperity, their happiness, their security and as long as they were devotedly following the commands of God, they prospered, but when they forgot and wandered away after other gods then did troubles arise, through the sins of the people annihilated the nation, and was finally scattered spirally, coming down through the ages, and providing a line through which the Christ was to come to the earth.

RAILROADS WILL PROTEST TAXES
Suits Over Assessment Are Reported as Likely Despite the State Board's Cut.
In all probability two or three of the principal railroad companies operating in Nebraska will continue their resistance to payment of taxes on the basis of values fixed upon their properties by the state board of assessment, by filing suits in federal court before December 1, the date of delinquency, to enjoin collection of the full taxes, as they have done in prior years.
In doing so, they will ignore the Prince law enacted by the last legislature, which provided for appeals to be taken by dissatisfied carriers from the board's action to the state supreme court. The suits will be grounded on the same general pleadings as in former actions, to the effect that the property of the roads is being taken without due process of law and that they are denied the equal protection of the laws through higher relative assessments on their holdings than other kinds of property bear.

Burlington Not Satisfied.
The Burlington, for one, is not satisfied with the reduction of $19,500,000 which the state board granted it, and is expected to ask the United States court for a further reduction below $118,009,252, the value placed upon its Nebraska properties by the state board.
Another carrier which does not feel disposed to accept its new assessment of $32,106,938—a slash of $6,660,000 from that of last year—is the Northwestern.
The Rock Island likewise thinks it should get more of a reduction than the $1,068,000 the board allowed it. No definite assessment of that company is $8,505,320.
E. P. Holmes, counsel for the Rock Island in Nebraska, said Friday noon that conferences are in progress between the legal departments of these three carriers on the question of renewing the litigation which they have heretofore been engaged in. No definite decision has yet been reached, he said.
From Burlington sources it is heard that very little doubt exists about the trio of roads going ahead and bringing new actions to have their 1927 valuations and taxes scaled down.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES
Buy your school supplies at the Bates Book and Stationery Store, where you will find the big line at the right price. Everything that you will need for the school year will be found here. We have placed in an exceptionally large line this year and we are in a position to please you in anything that you may want.
George Schmidtman, who has been spending the summer months in Chicago taking a special course of study in dentistry, is back home and will prepare to resume his studies at Creighton university this fall.
Journal Want Ads bring results.

ART AND THE HOME IN THE PRESENT DAY
Mrs. A. O. Peterson of Omaha, Chairman of Art of Nebraska Federations Writes of Subject.
There are many people who have not, as yet, realized the value of art in relation to the home and the well-being of the family. To associate the word art with fine paintings and sculpture only is a common error. It may be related to everything that contributes to the physical or mental welfare of the family.
A small income is no excuse for overlooking the art element. The simplest of home made rugs on a painted or even a scrupulously clean, unpainted floor, a common table, a wooden rocker, dainty fresh curtains at the window and a bright bouquet of wild flowers may produce a more artistic effect than an effort to create an illusion of grandeur with cheap, ornate rugs and flashy overstuffed furniture.
The art of the home means both interior and exterior decoration. Unlike Topsy, it will not "just grow" but is the result of conscious, earnest, painstaking effort. Fortunately we live in an age when books and pamphlets offering good advice on these subjects may be had for little or no expense so that prospective homemakers need not depend upon their own untrained judgment. This is especially fortunate for the residents of rural communities and for farmers.
On many of our Nebraska farms today there are homes as attractively designed and as charmingly landscaped as our city homes but there are still too many examples of the well-to-do farmer, who gives more thought and consideration to the housing of his stock than to the housing of his family.
Who has not seen farms where fine barns and out-buildings are given choice locations while the farm house is placed upon some bit of ground that is unsuitable or incongruous for other purposes? This does not imply that this man loves his family less than the man who lives in the pretty house among the trees on the next farm, but it is a safe bet that the young folks congregate at the attractive home and that the boys and girls from the unattractive one leave home as soon as they are able to shift for themselves.
If only for this reason, is not the art of the home worth while? The exterior may be almost a replica of every other house in the neighborhood but with careful consideration the interior may be as different as the hollyhock and the rose.
Rooms which open together such as living-room, dining-room, etc., if done alike will give a more spacious effect and a feeling of unity. This effect may be furthered by using the same curtains and draperies and the same rug designs. Dark papers are cramping in effect and are gloomy and depressing. The floors, being low, should be darker than the side-walls, and vice versa; the ceilings being high, should be lighter.

With the walls and floors thus carefully planned, one may be allowed a wide latitude in the selection of the furniture. It is a mistake to try to furnish a house all at once. Plan carefully and select piece by piece. If possible, try each piece in the home before buying. Often a piece most charming in the store may be a misfit in the environment of your home. The attractive, livable home suggests rest, peace and variety. It also suggests suitability. Fit the home to your family rather than the family to the home. Let simplicity, sincerity and suitability be the foundation upon which your decorative scheme is based, and you cannot go far astray, for these are the guiding principles of all great art.
ELIMINATE CAUSE OF TRAFFIC DEATHS
Compulsory automobile liability measures have been introduced in practically every legislature that has met this year, but in only one state, Massachusetts, has such a measure become a law. A measure almost identical with the Massachusetts law has now been introduced in the Georgia legislature.
One of the strongest arguments advanced by proponents of compulsory automobile liability insurance is that such a law would make it certain that all persons injured would receive damages. The argument will not hold, for persons hurt through their own fault—and these cases are many—cannot collect damages.
In Massachusetts a company has been upheld for refusing to insure a risk because the driver got drunk. In some states, to meet this kind of cases, politicians have gone to the extent of seeking a law compelling companies to insure every risk.
Why should an insurance company or the state be forced to insure a known bad risk? The state could simply refuse to give him an auto license, thus really contributing something constructive in the fight on traffic accidents. This type of driver spreads death and suffering from which there can be no adequate remedy or reparation any more than from the horrors of war.
We should strive to eliminate the cause for the great traffic death rate, not to sanction measures to make it easier for them to take place.

QUALIFIED AS MARKSMAN
Two more members of the Plattsmouth Rifle Club qualified as marksmen in the regular shoot held by the club last Sunday. This brings the total number of members who have qualified on Course D to nine. All scores were good Sunday, but the attendance was small due to so many members being absent from the city over Labor Day.
The four high men were Elmer Taylor, 222; Ray Larson, 201, Warren Taylor, 200, and Tom Waller 191. Taylor lacked but 2 points of qualifying as an expert marksman and as he is steadily improving will no doubt attain that rank soon.
The club has received notice that a second shipment of ammunition will be shipped within a short time and makes possible further shooting this fall.
VERY GENEROUS RAIN
This locality was visited early this morning by a very generous rainfall that started shortly before 5 o'clock and continued until almost 7 o'clock. The rainfall registered .93 of an inch in this city and is reported to have been extending over a considerable area over the county, particularly to the west.
The rain caused a great deal of water to flow along the streets in the business section of the city and proved very uncomfortable to the early risers over the city and those who were out in the rain can fully appreciate the popular song, "Just Like a Buttery Caught in the Rain."

ple in appreciation of the efforts of the people to serve the Father, was there manifested, at the time of the placing of the Ark in the place, smoke arising to that extent that the priests who were in the service at the temple that they could not stand for the Glory of God was so great, they were not able to remain in the house.
Solomon Offers Prayer and Thanks
In appreciation of the manifold blessings which the Father had bestowed on the Children of Israel, Solomon offered thanksgiving and also acknowledging God as the Father and the source from which all blessings must come, and at the same time acknowledging the sins of the people which he over and over again asks to be forgiven. There were at this dedication sacrifices offered of 22,000 oxen and 120,000 sheep, showing on what a gigantic scale, the people wanted to express their thankfulness for the care which God had exercised for their protection and well being of this nation which he had provided to be peculiar to His worship.
With all the magnificence with which the temple at Jerusalem was constructed with its fine furnishings which it was decorated and with what solemn ceremonies it was dedicated, it is only a type of the human who is to recognize the divine, for our bodies are but temples for the dwelling of the Holy Spirit, and as we purify our bodies and make them fit for the dwelling of the spirit of God are we approaching that destiny for which we are created.

RAILROADS WILL PROTEST TAXES
Suits Over Assessment Are Reported as Likely Despite the State Board's Cut.
In all probability two or three of the principal railroad companies operating in Nebraska will continue their resistance to payment of taxes on the basis of values fixed upon their properties by the state board of assessment, by filing suits in federal court before December 1, the date of delinquency, to enjoin collection of the full taxes, as they have done in prior years.
In doing so, they will ignore the Prince law enacted by the last legislature, which provided for appeals to be taken by dissatisfied carriers from the board's action to the state supreme court. The suits will be grounded on the same general pleadings as in former actions, to the effect that the property of the roads is being taken without due process of law and that they are denied the equal protection of the laws through higher relative assessments on their holdings than other kinds of property bear.

Burlington Not Satisfied.
The Burlington, for one, is not satisfied with the reduction of $19,500,000 which the state board granted it, and is expected to ask the United States court for a further reduction below $118,009,252, the value placed upon its Nebraska properties by the state board.
Another carrier which does not feel disposed to accept its new assessment of $32,106,938—a slash of $6,660,000 from that of last year—is the Northwestern.
The Rock Island likewise thinks it should get more of a reduction than the $1,068,000 the board allowed it. No definite assessment of that company is $8,505,320.
E. P. Holmes, counsel for the Rock Island in Nebraska, said Friday noon that conferences are in progress between the legal departments of these three carriers on the question of renewing the litigation which they have heretofore been engaged in. No definite decision has yet been reached, he said.
From Burlington sources it is heard that very little doubt exists about the trio of roads going ahead and bringing new actions to have their 1927 valuations and taxes scaled down.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES
Buy your school supplies at the Bates Book and Stationery Store, where you will find the big line at the right price. Everything that you will need for the school year will be found here. We have placed in an exceptionally large line this year and we are in a position to please you in anything that you may want.
George Schmidtman, who has been spending the summer months in Chicago taking a special course of study in dentistry, is back home and will prepare to resume his studies at Creighton university this fall.
Journal Want Ads bring results.

ART AND THE HOME IN THE PRESENT DAY
Mrs. A. O. Peterson of Omaha, Chairman of Art of Nebraska Federations Writes of Subject.
There are many people who have not, as yet, realized the value of art in relation to the home and the well-being of the family. To associate the word art with fine paintings and sculpture only is a common error. It may be related to everything that contributes to the physical or mental welfare of the family.
A small income is no excuse for overlooking the art element. The simplest of home made rugs on a painted or even a scrupulously clean, unpainted floor, a common table, a wooden rocker, dainty fresh curtains at the window and a bright bouquet of wild flowers may produce a more artistic effect than an effort to create an illusion of grandeur with cheap, ornate rugs and flashy overstuffed furniture.
The art of the home means both interior and exterior decoration. Unlike Topsy, it will not "just grow" but is the result of conscious, earnest, painstaking effort. Fortunately we live in an age when books and pamphlets offering good advice on these subjects may be had for little or no expense so that prospective homemakers need not depend upon their own untrained judgment. This is especially fortunate for the residents of rural communities and for farmers.
On many of our Nebraska farms today there are homes as attractively designed and as charmingly landscaped as our city homes but there are still too many examples of the well-to-do farmer, who gives more thought and consideration to the housing of his stock than to the housing of his family.
Who has not seen farms where fine barns and out-buildings are given choice locations while the farm house is placed upon some bit of ground that is unsuitable or incongruous for other purposes? This does not imply that this man loves his family less than the man who lives in the pretty house among the trees on the next farm, but it is a safe bet that the young folks congregate at the attractive home and that the boys and girls from the unattractive one leave home as soon as they are able to shift for themselves.
If only for this reason, is not the art of the home worth while? The exterior may be almost a replica of every other house in the neighborhood but with careful consideration the interior may be as different as the hollyhock and the rose.
Rooms which open together such as living-room, dining-room, etc., if done alike will give a more spacious effect and a feeling of unity. This effect may be furthered by using the same curtains and draperies and the same rug designs. Dark papers are cramping in effect and are gloomy and depressing. The floors, being low, should be darker than the side-walls, and vice versa; the ceilings being high, should be lighter.

With the walls and floors thus carefully planned, one may be allowed a wide latitude in the selection of the furniture. It is a mistake to try to furnish a house all at once. Plan carefully and select piece by piece. If possible, try each piece in the home before buying. Often a piece most charming in the store may be a misfit in the environment of your home. The attractive, livable home suggests rest, peace and variety. It also suggests suitability. Fit the home to your family rather than the family to the home. Let simplicity, sincerity and suitability be the foundation upon which your decorative scheme is based, and you cannot go far astray, for these are the guiding principles of all great art.
ELIMINATE CAUSE OF TRAFFIC DEATHS
Compulsory automobile liability measures have been introduced in practically every legislature that has met this year, but in only one state, Massachusetts, has such a measure become a law. A measure almost identical with the Massachusetts law has now been introduced in the Georgia legislature.
One of the strongest arguments advanced by proponents of compulsory automobile liability insurance is that such a law would make it certain that all persons injured would receive damages. The argument will not hold, for persons hurt through their own fault—and these cases are many—cannot collect damages.
In Massachusetts a company has been upheld for refusing to insure a risk because the driver got drunk. In some states, to meet this kind of cases, politicians have gone to the extent of seeking a law compelling companies to insure every risk.
Why should an insurance company or the state be forced to insure a known bad risk? The state could simply refuse to give him an auto license, thus really contributing something constructive in the fight on traffic accidents. This type of driver spreads death and suffering from which there can be no adequate remedy or reparation any more than from the horrors of war.
We should strive to eliminate the cause for the great traffic death rate, not to sanction measures to make it easier for them to take place.

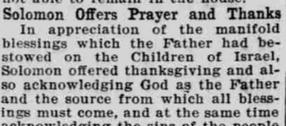

QUALIFIED AS MARKSMAN
Two more members of the Plattsmouth Rifle Club qualified as marksmen in the regular shoot held by the club last Sunday. This brings the total number of members who have qualified on Course D to nine. All scores were good Sunday, but the attendance was small due to so many members being absent from the city over Labor Day.
The four high men were Elmer Taylor, 222; Ray Larson, 201, Warren Taylor, 200, and Tom Waller 191. Taylor lacked but 2 points of qualifying as an expert marksman and as he is steadily improving will no doubt attain that rank soon.
The club has received notice that a second shipment of ammunition will be shipped within a short time and makes possible further shooting this fall.
VERY GENEROUS RAIN
This locality was visited early this morning by a very generous rainfall that started shortly before 5 o'clock and continued until almost 7 o'clock. The rainfall registered .93 of an inch in this city and is reported to have been extending over a considerable area over the county, particularly to the west.
The rain caused a great deal of water to flow along the streets in the business section of the city and proved very uncomfortable to the early risers over the city and those who were out in the rain can fully appreciate the popular song, "Just Like a Buttery Caught in the Rain."

RAILROADS WILL PROTEST TAXES
Suits Over Assessment Are Reported as Likely Despite the State Board's Cut.
In all probability two or three of the principal railroad companies operating in Nebraska will continue their resistance to payment of taxes on the basis of values fixed upon their properties by the state board of assessment, by filing suits in federal court before December 1, the date of delinquency, to enjoin collection of the full taxes, as they have done in prior years.
In doing so, they will ignore the Prince law enacted by the last legislature, which provided for appeals to be taken by dissatisfied carriers from the board's action to the state supreme court. The suits will be grounded on the same general pleadings as in former actions, to the effect that the property of the roads is being taken without due process of law and that they are denied the equal protection of the laws through higher relative assessments on their holdings than other kinds of property bear.

Burlington Not Satisfied.
The Burlington, for one, is not satisfied with the reduction of $19,500,000 which the state board granted it, and is expected to ask the United States court for a further reduction below $118,009,252, the value placed upon its Nebraska properties by the state board.
Another carrier which does not feel disposed to accept its new assessment of $32,106,938—a slash of $6,660,000 from that of last year—is the Northwestern.
The Rock Island likewise thinks it should get more of a reduction than the $1,068,000 the board allowed it. No definite assessment of that company is $8,505,320.
E. P. Holmes, counsel for the Rock Island in Nebraska, said Friday noon that conferences are in progress between the legal departments of these three carriers on the question of renewing the litigation which they have heretofore been engaged in. No definite decision has yet been reached, he said.
From Burlington sources it is heard that very little doubt exists about the trio of roads going ahead and bringing new actions to have their 1927 valuations and taxes scaled down.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES
Buy your school supplies at the Bates Book and Stationery Store, where you will find the big line at the right price. Everything that you will need for the school year will be found here. We have placed in an exceptionally large line this year and we are in a position to please you in anything that you may want.
George Schmidtman, who has been spending the summer months in Chicago taking a special course of study in dentistry, is back home and will prepare to resume his studies at Creighton university this fall.
Journal Want Ads bring results.

Stop/Wasting Feed

More Hogs—Better Hogs—on Less Feed
No matter how many hogs you raise,—5 or 500,—or even 1,000, you can bank on getting $2.00 more for every hog you raise if you add MoorMan's Hog Minerals to their grain ration during the growing and fattening period. MoorMan's is a complete Mineral Mixture of the highest quality, which supplies all the Minerals lacking in ordinary hog feeds. That's why it makes your hogs thrive better, grow bigger, stronger frames, put on more and firmer flesh and do it in less time on less feed.

MoorMan's
You take no chances with MoorMan's. Over 100,000 hog raisers are using it to get more hogs, better hogs and bigger profits. Feed it and you will get RESULTS you can plainly see—better appetites—constipation a thing of the past—less undigested feed—worms prevented—more and better pigs—faster gains—cheaper gains and higher prices at market time. If you want to make more money out of your hogs, write, phone or see

It Pays Wm. A. Blodgett
To Feed the Best LaPlatte, Nebraska

ART AND THE HOME IN THE PRESENT DAY
Mrs. A. O. Peterson of Omaha, Chairman of Art of Nebraska Federations Writes of Subject.
There are many people who have not, as yet, realized the value of art in relation to the home and the well-being of the family. To associate the word art with fine paintings and sculpture only is a common error. It may be related to everything that contributes to the physical or mental welfare of the family.
A small income is no excuse for overlooking the art element. The simplest of home made rugs on a painted or even a scrupulously clean, unpainted floor, a common table, a wooden rocker, dainty fresh curtains at the window and a bright bouquet of wild flowers may produce a more artistic effect than an effort to create an illusion of grandeur with cheap, ornate rugs and flashy overstuffed furniture.
The art of the home means both interior and exterior decoration. Unlike Topsy, it will not "just grow" but is the result of conscious, earnest, painstaking effort. Fortunately we live in an age when books and pamphlets offering good advice on these subjects may be had for little or no expense so that prospective homemakers need not depend upon their own untrained judgment. This is especially fortunate for the residents of rural communities and for farmers.
On many of our Nebraska farms today there are homes as attractively designed and as charmingly landscaped as our city homes but there are still too many examples of the well-to-do farmer, who gives more thought and consideration to the housing of his stock than to the housing of his family.
Who has not seen farms where fine barns and out-buildings are given choice locations while the farm house is placed upon some bit of ground that is unsuitable or incongruous for other purposes? This does not imply that this man loves his family less than the man who lives in the pretty house among the trees on the next farm, but it is a safe bet that the young folks congregate at the attractive home and that the boys and girls from the unattractive one leave home as soon as they are able to shift for themselves.
If only for this reason, is not the art of the home worth while? The exterior may be almost a replica of every other house in the neighborhood but with careful consideration the interior may be as different as the hollyhock and the rose.
Rooms which open together such as living-room, dining-room, etc., if done alike will give a more spacious effect and a feeling of unity. This effect may be furthered by using the same curtains and draperies and the same rug designs. Dark papers are cramping in effect and are gloomy and depressing. The floors, being low, should be darker than the side-walls, and vice versa; the ceilings being high, should be lighter.

With the walls and floors thus carefully planned, one may be allowed a wide latitude in the selection of the furniture. It is a mistake to try to furnish a house all at once. Plan carefully and select piece by piece. If possible, try each piece in the home before buying. Often a piece most charming in the store may be a misfit in the environment of your home. The attractive, livable home suggests rest, peace and variety. It also suggests suitability. Fit the home to your family rather than the family to the home. Let simplicity, sincerity and suitability be the foundation upon which your decorative scheme is based, and you cannot go far astray, for these are the guiding principles of all great art.
ELIMINATE CAUSE OF TRAFFIC DEATHS
Compulsory automobile liability measures have been introduced in practically every legislature that has met this year, but in only one state, Massachusetts, has such a measure become a law. A measure almost identical with the Massachusetts law has now been introduced in the Georgia legislature.
One of the strongest arguments advanced by proponents of compulsory automobile liability insurance is that such a law would make it certain that all persons injured would receive damages. The argument will not hold, for persons hurt through their own fault—and these cases are many—cannot collect damages.
In Massachusetts a company has been upheld for refusing to insure a risk because the driver got drunk. In some states, to meet this kind of cases, politicians have gone to the extent of seeking a law compelling companies to insure every risk.
Why should an insurance company or the state be forced to insure a known bad risk? The state could simply refuse to give him an auto license, thus really contributing something constructive in the fight on traffic accidents. This type of driver spreads death and suffering from which there can be no adequate remedy or reparation any more than from the horrors of war.
We should strive to eliminate the cause for the great traffic death rate, not to sanction measures to make it easier for them to take place.

QUALIFIED AS MARKSMAN
Two more members of the Plattsmouth Rifle Club qualified as marksmen in the regular shoot held by the club last Sunday. This brings the total number of members who have qualified on Course D to nine. All scores were good Sunday, but the attendance was small due to so many members being absent from the city over Labor Day.
The four high men were Elmer Taylor, 222; Ray Larson, 201, Warren Taylor, 200, and Tom Waller 191. Taylor lacked but 2 points of qualifying as an expert marksman and as he is steadily improving will no doubt attain that rank soon.
The club has received notice that a second shipment of ammunition will be shipped within a short time and makes possible further shooting this fall.
VERY GENEROUS RAIN
This locality was visited early this morning by a very generous rainfall that started shortly before 5 o'clock and continued until almost 7 o'clock. The rainfall registered .93 of an inch in this city and is reported to have been extending over a considerable area over the county, particularly to the west.
The rain caused a great deal of water to flow along the streets in the business section of the city and proved very uncomfortable to the early risers over the city and those who were out in the rain can fully appreciate the popular song, "Just Like a Buttery Caught in the Rain."

RAILROADS WILL PROTEST TAXES
Suits Over Assessment Are Reported as Likely Despite the State Board's Cut.
In all probability two or three of the principal railroad companies operating in Nebraska will continue their resistance to payment of taxes on the basis of values fixed upon their properties by the state board of assessment, by filing suits in federal court before December 1, the date of delinquency, to enjoin collection of the full taxes, as they have done in prior years.
In doing so, they will ignore the Prince law enacted by the last legislature, which provided for appeals to be taken by dissatisfied carriers from the board's action to the state supreme court. The suits will be grounded on the same general pleadings as in former actions, to the effect that the property of the roads is being taken without due process of law and that they are denied the equal protection of the laws through higher relative assessments on their holdings than other kinds of property bear.

Burlington Not Satisfied.
The Burlington, for one, is not satisfied with the reduction of $19,500,000 which the state board granted it, and is expected to ask the United States court for a further reduction below $118,009,252, the value placed upon its Nebraska properties by the state board.
Another carrier which does not feel disposed to accept its new assessment of $32,106,938—a slash of $6,660,000 from that of last year—is the Northwestern.
The Rock Island likewise thinks it should get more of a reduction than the $1,068,000 the board allowed it. No definite assessment of that company is $8,505,320.
E. P. Holmes, counsel for the Rock Island in Nebraska, said Friday noon that conferences are in progress between the legal departments of these three carriers on the question of renewing the litigation which they have heretofore been engaged in. No definite decision has yet been reached, he said.
From Burlington sources it is heard that very little doubt exists about the trio of roads going ahead and bringing new actions to have their 1927 valuations and taxes scaled down.