There are people who do not think thirteen an unlucky number for when C. D. Ganz, A. B. Stromer Earl Dreamer and Alfred Snedgen had caught twelve very fine fish, they were very busy during the last hour endeavoring to get the thirteenth which they were successful in taking. They were fishing in the historic Platte river and had enough for some of their friends, for we are assured that the mayor, Mr. Arthur Dinges has a fish bone in his throat. But he got it out and is all right.
