Harvesting Corn Crop with Hogs

This Method is Profitably Followed by Many Nebraska and Iowa Farmers.

"In my judgment, approximately 7 to 8 per cent of the corn in Iowa is hogged down and, of course, hogging down is one of the efficient methods for husking the corn when it is properly done." This statement comes from John M. Evvard, professor of animal husbandry at the Iowa State College of Agriculture.

The farmers find it pays to hog down, and corn is fed this way in practically every corner of Iowa. However, there are some who are skeptical as to its real value. Many practical men discourage his practice, giving as their reason the fact that if competent labor could be secured no corn would be hogged down.

"I don't know how other agricultural colleges have fared in their experiments with this process of hogging down, but we have found that hogging down of unsupplemented corn proves unprofitable. Hogging down of straight-standing corn, even though a good mineral mixture was fed, has not proven profitable as contrasted to better methods of feeding and management. It took 625 pounds of feed this year to make 100 pounds of gain on the hogs that were turned into the standing corn and allowed only a mineral mixture, whereas the hogs that were turned into a similar field of corn in which soybeans were planted at corn planting time required only 427 pounds of feed. Of course, soybean and mineral were fed in self-feeders along with this.

"We have found that the hogs allowed to run in the cornfield excel those that are simply fed husked corn. The hogs take on weight, and in this way the corn returns dividends that might go to waste otherwise. What seems to be our biggest problem in the corn belt, however, is how to cash in our corn to the best advantage. When confined-made pork is taken into consideration, the wise farmer does not hesitate to use his fields to the best advantage.

"Often the question is asked me, 'How many pounds of corn do you believe you can get for a bushel of corn when the hogs gather it themselves.' I always answer that question by quoting experiments that have been made, and almost invariably the estimate comes out the same. We have found, from a careful survey of the problem that nine or 12 pounds of production is generally somewhat above the commonly accepted 10 pounds to the bushel when the hogs feed themselves. One Iowa farmer got as high as 15 pounds gain, but he fed the corn with some rape or grass mixed with it.

"Many farmers have come to me asking why many hogs to turn into a field. The size of the field makes no difference so long as they clean up before heavy rains come or snow flies. If spring shoats are turned in, about eight of them to the acre of 40-bushel corn is a sufficient number. The average field used is around 15 or 20 acres."

CELEBRATE MOTHER'S BIRTHDAY LAST SUNDAY
From Saturday's Party—The children of Mrs. Anna Shelhorn gathered at the home in the south part of town last Sunday with well filled baskets of chicken, salads, cakes and everything good to eat, to celebrate her 76th birthday anniversary. She was delighted to have her family with her, and it was a most enjoyable occasion for all.

The guests included her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. A four-generation picture was taken which the family prizes highly. This included Mrs. Shelhorn, her daughter, Mrs. M. L. Williams and the latter's children, LaRue Williams, Mrs. J. W. Blair and Mrs. Wilton Auxier and children. This was also the 32nd wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Williams, so the celebration was a double one.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Williams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shelhorn and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Schoeman and daughter, Wilma, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blair and little son, Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Auxier and little son, Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. LaRue Williams and two little daughters, Marguerite and Dona Jean, all of this locality. Fred Shelhorn and wife and Mr. and Mrs. John Shelhorn and family, of Council Bluffs, and Miss Miriam McGrew, the later a school friend of Miss Ina Williams. The two little twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Shelhorn, of Council Bluffs, Geraldine and Maxine, who are now three years old, were much admired and noticed by the relatives, the whole family being very proud of a pair of twin girls. The four great-grandchildren made a splendid showing and Mrs. Shelhorn was very proud of her fine family.

Mrs. Shelhorn is a pioneer of this vicinity, her husband, the late John Shelhorn being a prominent farmer of Cass county. Her home is near the home of her daughter, Mrs. Williams. Her many friends will join the Courier in extending heartiest congratulations and best wishes for many happy birthdays to come.—Louisville Courier.

CLUB HAS MEETING

The Riverview Community club was very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Ray Wiles on last Thursday afternoon. Excellent lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. E. B. Hutcheson.

Plans were made to take up the cooperative extensive work thru the winter months. Mrs. John Keteihut and Mrs. W. A. Wheeler were chosen as the project leaders.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. P. J. Wheeler. This club was organized on March 10th this year, taking up the study work, meeting the 2nd Thursday of each month.

Members feel that they have been greatly benefited by this work and by taking up the extension work together, will be a great help to those interested.

On Friday evening members and their families met at the W. D. Wheeler home and enjoyed a weiner roast.

A large bonfire was built and the crowd gathered 'round and enjoyed a toothsome lunch, of roast weiners, buns, pumpkin pie and coffee.

The community spirit was so aroused that it was decided to hold a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gayer.

Those belonging to the club are as follows: Mesdames Major Hall, Ray Wiles, H. L. Gayer, J. L. Stamp, Sam Gilmore, Charles Creamer, Percy Wheeler, John Keteihut, Robert Patterson, Geo. Meistrner, Frank Hull, Eldon Hull, Claude Hutcheson, Agnes Ross.

MERRY WORKERS CLUB

A very interesting and helpful as well as enjoyable meeting of the Merry Workers club was held Thursday Nov. 13th at the Mrs. Joe Martin home.

The meeting was the opening of a busy season. Mrs. Ed Ruffner, the project leader, handed out leaflets, the outline of work for the following year. We are hand sewing at our next meeting.

For entertainment and to raise small funds for our club, we have planned to give a Halloween Frolic at the Eight Mile Grove school house, on the evening of Oct. 29th. Everyone is invited to come, and buy a bite to eat and enjoy the ghosts, witches and the fortune teller. Every one will be royally entertained.

Mrs. Ed Ruffner and Mrs. Fred Drueker were appointed by the club members, to attend and bring the lessons, given by Miss Helen Roake of the state university at the Time Savers in Construction, meeting held at Weeping Water, on Nov. 11. Then they will pass this lesson on to the members at the next club meeting, to be held Nov. 17 at the Mrs. C. Spangler home.

The previous meeting was attended by 13 members and 5 visitors. At the close delicious refreshments were served.

JOLLY HALLOWE'EN PARTY
The Social Worker's Flower Club gave one of the early Halloween parties last Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stamp, south of the city.

Quite a number of the guests came masked and with the lights low lent a very spooky aspect to the rooms.

The decorations were in orange and black paper and autumn foliage and on the walls were black cats, witches and everything appropriate for Halloween.

Japanese and jack-o-lanterns lighted the lawn and a tall figure clad in white ushered the guests to the door.

The guests numbered some seventy and according to the noise it was evident that all were enjoying themselves immensely at various games, music, cards, etc.

At a late hour pumpkin pie, doughnuts, sandwiches and coffee were served after which the guests departed for their homes, acknowledging the wonderful joy time they all had.

DEATH OF CHARLES SCOTT

The death of Charles B. Scott, president of the Nebraska Shorthand Reporters Association, and also court reporter for Judge Dickson, occurred on Friday at his home at O'Neill.

The funeral of Mr. Scott was held on Sunday at the home and was very largely attended by the residents of that section of the state and many of the members of the shorthand reporters association.

L. L. Turpin, of this city, vice-president of the association was at O'Neill for the funeral services.

Mr. Scott was known to a great many of the Plattsmouth people and who learn of his death with the greatest of regret as he was a very prominent and popular man in the northwestern part of the state and had a vast number of friends.

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT

Relatives and friends here have received the announcement of the marriage of Miss Lillian Louise Franzen of Omaha and Mr. Emil Stoltenberg of Bennington, Nebraska. The bride is a sister of E. H. and Fred J. Franzen of Omaha, and has for several years been engaged in her profession of a trained nurse and has many acquaintances here she has been a visitor at several different times and many of the Plattsmouth people have had the advantage of her services while at Omaha hospitals. The groom is a prominent business man of Bennington and where the newlyweds will make their home in the future, the groom having a fine home arranged for the coming of his bride.

Wheat Loss From Smut is Being Checked

Copper Carbonate Dust Treatment Kills Spores; Prevents Weevil Damage in Stored Grain.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Gas masks and poison gas, formerly relegated to war days, now are being used in a peace-time battle against one of the most destructive diseases of the wheat belt.

The toll of 26,000,000 bushels of wheat taken by smut in 1924 will be averted this year and hereafter through war methods adopted by the farmers of the northwest and sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Where formerly copper-sulphate lime and formaldehyde treatments were applied, copper carbonate sprays are being used in what is turning out to be a successful effort to combat this troublesome disease.

County agricultural agents are preaching the efficacy of this method. Farmers' organizations, railroad agricultural groups, wheat improvement associations, chambers of commerce, newspapers, pathologists, agronomists, millers' associations and other agencies, have joined in a mighty chorus in enjoining its practice.

Stop Big Losses.
As a result, wheat growers are constructing their own machines for treating seed wheat. They are donning gas masks as a protection in the warfare on a disease that has cut the average annual wheat yield more than 14,000,000 bushels over a period of several years. Copper carbonate gives off poisonous dust particles and farmers operating their own machines in treating seed wheat are required to wear gas masks to avoid inhaling this dust.

The popularity of this disease-control method is spreading with such rapidity that community demonstrations in treating seed wheat are being conducted and large groups of farmers may be seen wearing gas masks—a peace-time agricultural use for a war-time invention.

No Harm From It.
Proven agricultural practices attest the efficacy of copper carbonate in not only combating smut spores before the grain is sown but as a form of insurance against attacks by weevils when the wheat is stored.

According to the U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry, copper carbonate does not injure germination. In fact treated seed often germinates better than untreated seed. Seed may be treated whenever convenient and stored without injury.

YOU OWE MORE THAN TAXES TO YOUR COMMUNITY

In a recent address on "Civic Leadership, Development and Responsibility," Samuel Insull, president of the Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago, said:

"I hold that every man owes something besides taxes to the community in which he lives. The more he has been favored mentally and materially by fortune, the more he owes. In discharge of that debt, he is under obligation to do for the community something that he does not get paid for, something that he does not make money by. His obligation, to do this is not just a once-in-a-while obligation; it is a continuing obligation, and what he does in discharge of it should be limited only by his abilities and his opportunities.

"A true sense of civic responsibility springs from recognition of this obligation. Individual response to it produces the civic leadership that assures continuous, well balanced, symmetrical community development—the development that provides for social and spiritual needs, so to speak, as well as for the physical and material needs of a community.

"It is to the men of constructive vision that we owe the welding of this continent into one homogeneous whole—the greatest achievement of modern creations of empire. It is to this constructive class that we owe the development of our great communities and our great businesses and from them you should draw your inspiration for taking your share of civic responsibility and community service."

LARGE WHEAT ACREAGE
Hot Springs, S. D., Oct. 16.—Figures available from the threshing that is going on in Fall River county show a wide range. In the southeast corner of the county, which is fairly representative of the farming section the yield of wheat ran from 15 to 35 bushels an acre. Some barley yields as high as 40 bushels are reported.

An unusually large acreage of winter wheat is going in this year because of favorable moisture conditions. There is much soft corn in the county, owing to the September freeze, but practically all of it can be used for feed.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to extend our thanks to our dear neighbors and friends for their kind acts during the sickness and death of our dear daughter and sister, Alice. Also for the many beautiful floral offerings, words cannot express our appreciation. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Muenchan and Family.
