Former Progressive Candidate will Run

Predicts Full State Ticket of Progressive Republicans Pitted Against Present State Officers.

Roy H. Harrop of Omaha, avowed rival of Arthur J. Weaver, republican candidate for governor, called at the capital on business Friday. He adheres to his former statement that he will file as a republican candidate for governor. He takes no stock in reports that his filing may be challenged on the ground that he was a candidate for governor last year on the progressive party ticket, a party now out of legal existence.

"I am registered as a republican in Omaha," he said. "If the secretary of state refuses my filing I will go into the courts and get on the ballot. No one can prevent me. I am also convinced that there will be full ticket of progressive republican candidates to run on the same ballot with me. Weaver is a stand-patter and representative of the national bank interests whose sole purpose is to do away with the bank guaranty law. In the primaries I intend to support the Norris delegates to the republican national convention, wherever they may be."

Financing state government, reducing taxes, placing agriculture on a paying basis and financing highway construction in Nebraska with a sixty million dollar warrant issue to be retired solely from the gasoline and motor vehicle tax, was suggested by Harrop. His suggestion for a warrant issue for road building was expressed in a lengthy, formal statement, which he called a new declaration of independence.

The present gasoline tax of 2 cents a gallon is sufficient, Harrop declared, for retiring a sixty million dollar warrant issue in twenty years besides carrying interest charges and the proposed increase in the gasoline tax of from two to four cents is preposterous.

He said the present pay as you plan of building roads in Nebraska has flopped. It has given the motorists only a series of disconnected road fragments beginning nowhere and ending nowhere—in wet weather the motorist is annoyed by mud holes and in dry weather he is choked and blinded with dust. Ninety per cent of the travel in Nebraska is by motor car. Those who use the roads should pay for them. A sixty million dol-

Seek Solution of Roman Question

Agreement Between Church and State Declared to Be Based on Three Substantial Points.

Rome, Oct. 16.—It is possible, indeed probable, that an agreement between the church and the state for the solving of the "Roman question" will be based on three substantial points, says Popolo di Roma, which is one of the leading fascist organs in Rome. The first point is, no concession coming from the Italian state without a previous understanding with the holy see as to acceptance; otherwise there would be a repetition of the law of guarantees passed by the Italian state in 1871, which the vatican never accepted.

Second, no solution is possible without previous acknowledgement of papal territorial sovereignty, no matter how small the territory may be.

Third, no foreign interference in the solution of the Roman question. Both sides, says the paper, are in perfect accord on the last point of not having any foreign government intervene in the negotiations.

The greatest difficulty to overcome now in connection with the desire of the vatican for territorial sovereignty, according to Popolo di Roma, is who will represent the pope on one side and the government on the other looking to negotiations. All the rest is a question of time and is almost of secondary importance.

"Indeed," continues the paper, "it is not difficult to change the phrase in the law of guarantees which says that the pope has 'enjoyment' of apostolic palaces and actual juridical possession of them similarly, the dignity of Italy will not be compromised if the vatican garden be widened, nor the equilibrium of the Mediterranean be disturbed if symbolic of the boat of St. Peter. Fascista Italy is young and will live many years, while the church has the supernatural gift of never getting old."

Planning Teachers Meet

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 18.—Secretary Hosman's office has been busy for a week, mailing out membership badges, buttons and certificates for the 15,000 teachers belonging to the state association. More than 7,000 of each will be required in the first district, whose convention takes place November 3 to 5 at Lincoln. Buttons are in different colors for each district. No. 1 being black and white.

Attached to every registration card mailed out will be a poster of modest size, certifying that the teacher whose name it bears is a member of the association. Secretary Hosman has worked out a new design which embodies a little red schoolhouse and the legend, "Established 1867." Possession of one of these certificates indicates, in the language of the secretary, "a teacher who has enough pep to know that the job is something besides putting in time and drawing salary." The number in the first district reached 6,975 the middle of the week, with several hundred more anticipated.

Enjoy Splendid Banquet at the Hotel Perkins

John Frazeur of Omaha, Special Agent of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., Host.

From Wednesday's Daily—Last evening the Hotel Perkins was the scene of a very delightful social gathering of the policyholders of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Milwaukee, who reside in this vicinity, the occasion being arranged by John Frazeur, special agent of the company and Franklin Mann, the general agent in this territory.

There were covers laid for some twenty in the dining room of the hotel and the room and tables made very bright and attractive in the Hallowe'en decorations of orange and black and with the beautiful fall flowers adding a very pleasing touch to the general decorative plan of the banquet.

The repast was served by the staff of the hotel in their usual pleasing manner and the menu was one that would tempt the appetite of the most discriminating and served to make the evening one of the rarest enjoyment to all of the members of the banquet party.

The guests of the evening spent the time not only in the enjoyment of the fine meal that was arranged for them but also in the opportunity that they had of meeting each other in the informal social way that added to their pleasure.

RADIO EXTENSION WORK

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 19, 1927.—The radio has come to the aid of extension education of the University of Nebraska, and one of the most important features of this year's correspondence is a combined radio and correspondence course in Business English and Letter Writing.

Lectures begin November 1 and continue weekly, for twenty weeks. The "students" will sit at home in their slippers, twist the radio dial, and listen in on the lecture by Prof. Maurice H. Wesen of the College of Business Administration. Then with the assistance of correspondence suggestions and advice, they will write their weekly lessons.

LODGE HOLDS CONVENTION

Hastings, Neb., Oct. 18.—The thirty-first convention of Royal Neighbors of the fifth and sixth district was held here today with 242 delegates in attendance from twenty-six of the thirty-two counties of the district. Welcome addresses were given by Mayor W. M. Nelson for the city and by Mrs. Emma Pielstick for Camp No. 659. Response was by Mrs. Emma Ross, Grand Island.

The meetings were presided over by Mrs. Agnes Mediles, Queen City camp, Hastings, and Mrs. Ella Schooley, district grand, Wood River. Other state and district officers present were Mrs. Henrietta Owens, state supervisor, Omaha; Mrs. Rebecca Clement, district supervisor, and Mrs. Jennie Jones, district deputy, Oxford. A class adoption for four teen candidates was had as a part of the day's ceremonies.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends for their assistance and help in the time of the last illness of our loved one as well as the Royal Neighbors Merry Workers Club, Cottonwood Threshing Co., the Aid society of the E. B. church of Myland and the many friends and neighbors who sent the beautiful floral remembrances at the funeral services.—Mrs. R. W. Long and Children. o19-1td&w

City Loses on Appeal of Brady Damage Suit

Judgement Rendered in the District Court Here Is Affirmed by the State Supreme Court.

From Wednesday's Daily—The case of the Jess Brady vs. the City of Plattsmouth, in which the plaintiff was given a verdict for damage here in the trial before a jury in the district court has been affirmed by the state supreme court commission that heard the case, the opinion being given by Commissioner John C. Martin and to opinion concurred in by Commissioners Tibbitts and Neighbors.

This case was filed by the plaintiff Mr. Brady following a heavy rain and storm of June 12, 1924 and at which time his residence property on Locust street, just west of the 10th street opening of the storm sewer was flooded.

It was charged by the plaintiff that the defendant city was liable for damage of the faulty construction of the sewer and also for the additional fact that the waterways had been clogged by large stumps and parts of trees that had filled the mouth of the sewer and caused the water to back up on the premises of the plaintiff.

In the trial here the plaintiff was given damages amounting to $325 and from which findings the defendant city appealed to the state supreme court where the case has been affirmed.

The court holds that the presence of the stumps in the watercourse was of a contributing cause to the overflow of the premises of the plaintiff regardless of the amount of rainfall that might have occurred and which was claimed by the defendant city as an act of God and for which the city could not be held liable.

The city will probably file a motion for rehearing of the case in the state supreme court.

MANY LOOK OVER BARGAINS

From Wednesday's Daily—The specially arranged bargain festival that the merchants of the city had arranged for today, attracted a great many of the residents of the thriving districts as well as the thrifty householders of the city who were out early to visit the various places of business that carried lines they sought and which were eagerly taken advantage of by the shoppers with the result that they were able to secure a large number of real snags. The merchants of the city have placed their lines at the very lowest prices consistent with good merchandising and which the careful shoppers have taken advantage of in making their purchases for the fall season in the line of clothing as well as in the lines of groceries and other lines that are good at any season of the year. The prices quoted have been real features and which the careful shopper could not overlook.

HEAT IN NEW AUDITORIUM

From Wednesday's Daily—Last evening one of the new furnaces which was donated to the American Legion, was placed in service in the building, the furnace being located in the south furnace room of the building by Andy Kroeber, the fluer.

The new furnace gives ample heat when needed and will be adequate until the colder weather of the winter comes when the first unit will be supported by the second furnace in the north portion of the building.

The furnace will probably be in service this evening at the dance when the Leo Beck orchestra is here to entertain the dancing public and the spectators and dancers can rest assured that they will find the building most comfortable even with a sudden change in the weather.

Autumn Days are Glorious in Nebraska Now

October Time of the Greatest Beauty in This Part of Nebraska as Harvest Here.

From Wednesday's Daily—A few days ago a stranger was standing at the Burlington station in this city and was contemplating the bluffs and hills that lie south and east of the station near the Burlington bridge and the beauty of these hills, fired as they are by the brush of Jack Frost into a myriad coloring of red, browns, yellows and varying shades of green made a real picture, they moving the stranger to remark that he had visited many localities but none that were more beautiful than this city and vicinity as the fall of the year came on and nature at the close of an abundant summer took on the beauty of the fast declining year.

The persons who have had the opportunity of driving out over the territory near this city can find a wonderful charm in the scenes that are revealed to the eye, the hills glorious in the fire of many colors, the fields of corn awaiting the coming of the killing frosts that they may be harvested and the golden treasure laid away in the cribs, the last of the garden vegetation and the vines and shrubs already in the last touches of autumn beauty at the end of their productiveness.

Here in the great garden spot of the nation where each year an abundant crop yields itself to the hand of the producer, there is a satisfaction in the fall when the products of the farm and orchards are gathered in and the householder contemplates the well filled stocks of foodstuffs that the fertile soil of Cass county has given and which will serve to help feed the world until another year when again nature will give the residents of this locality ample returns for their effort.

VISIT DAUGHTER HERE

From Wednesday's Daily—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Danielson of Oakland, Nebraska, who have been here visiting with their daughter, Miss Dessie Danielson, accountant in the office of Fred Buerstetta, receiver for Red Oak, Iowa, where they will spend a few days. Mr. Danielson is one of the veteran station agents of the Burlington, having served at Oakland for a period of several years and has taken the advantage of a well deserved vacation to visit with the friends in this part of Nebraska and western Iowa.

PAINTING UP STORE

From Wednesday's Daily—The grocery store of A. G. Bach on Lower Main street is being given a thorough repainting and cleaning and placed in fine condition for the coming winter season. The ceilings and all are being painted in a light color that will add to the room and is in keeping with the improvement program that Mr. Bach has had at his store for the past summer. The exterior of the building has been newly stuccoed and the building is now one of the nicest in that part of the city.
