Bishop E. V. Shaylor, of Omaha, was a visitor and conducted services at the church at Wyoming on last Sunday.

Henry Ross, from south of Nehawka, was looking after some business matters in Union on last Monday afternoon.

Frank and Anna Bauer were spending last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nickles of near Greenwood.

Wayne Garrett, of Omaha, was down last Sunday and spent the day, and was taken home by Mrs. Garrett Sunday evening.

A. L. Becker and son Ray were looking after some business matters in Lincoln on Monday of this week, they making the trip via their auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lynn have both been quite ill, and while Judge Lynn is now somewhat improved, Mrs. Lynn is still feeling quite poorly.

Herman C. Ross, who has just fairly gotten started in the picking of his corn, reports the crop is averaging about fifty bushels to the acre.

Did you go to Sunday school last Sunday? Ray Frans who injured his foot some time since while working in the lumber yard, is getting along nicely, but still has a decided limp in the member.

A letter from Lucean LaRue, who is singing at Atlanta, Ga., says he will be in New York in about three weeks, where he will expect to sing for the winter.

Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor were spending a portion of last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoback, where they went to see the new grandson.

The Ladies Missionary society of the Baptist church are meeting at the church basement this afternoon, where they are looking after the work of the society.

James Roddy was having his winter's wood sawed and prepared for the stove, as he feels sure that old winter will come along some time soon, and knock at his door.

Ottis Keene has been making a concrete floor in the garage of Chas. Atteberry, and which is owned by the Bank of Union. This will add much to the convenience of the place.

There will be a Sunday school social at the Baptist church on the coming Saturday evening at which time all the young people of the church and Bible school are expected to be present.

Fred Clarke began the gathering of his corn crop on last Monday and while he was getting along nicely, stopped about the middle of the afternoon, as he was quite sore and stiff from the hustling which he did in the beginning of the work.

Take someone to Sunday school with you. The Campfire Girls held a very enjoyable gathering in the nature of a Halloween party last Saturday and also organized a Baptist Young Peoples Union, they holding their first meeting on Sunday evening, at which time the Rev. W. A. Taylor spoke to them.

Philip Kell and the family, of Murray; Chester Minnear and family of Cedar Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wohlfarth, of Plattsmouth, were enjoying the day on last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Minnear, southwest of Union about seven miles. A splendid day was had by all.

The children of the late Mrs. Dukes were all in Union on last Monday and were settling the estate which this excellent lady left when she passed away a short time since. There were present for the occasion Clifford Dukes, of Lincoln; Sam Dukes and wife and Miss Iona Blyden, of Nebraska City and Edward and John Dukes, of Union.

Don't wait till you're dead to go to church. You won't enjoy the sermon.

R. A. Craig, who dropped into Union one day last week, had the misfortune to lose a suit case containing his clothes and his discharge papers from the service, as he was a soldier, he leaving his car parked on the street and from which some one took the grip. Thinking whoever got the property might eventually throw it away, he arranged if any one should find it, that it might be left with Attorney C. L. Graves, the gentlemen being friends.

Rebuilding Passing Track
The Missouri Pacific, with a good sized force of workmen began on last Tuesday the building of a passing track at Union, which is to be on the east side of the station, while the main line is to be on the west side, as it is now.

Returned from Hospital

Married by the Parson
On October 26th, George E. Small, of Murray, and Miss Helen Allgayer, of near Weeping Water, were united in marriage at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor, the Rev. Taylor performing the ceremony that joined two happy hearts for their lives, and thus added to the sum total of human happiness.

The bride is a daughter of Louis Allgayer and wife of near Weeping Water and a most accomplished and winsome lady, whom all who know her are glad to honor. The groom, Mr. Small, makes his home in Murray and is patrol man on the Red Ball highway and he has so thoroughly done his work in this line that he has a friend in every one who travels over that portion of the road he works. The Journal with their many friends are extending best wishes for a long life together, filled with happiness and service to their fellow man.

The W. W. G. Girls Meet
The W. W. G. Girls met Saturday afternoon at the home of Frances Crunk, and as it was the day set to elect new officers, they proceeded to do so. A most splendid meeting was had, after which they practiced on their medical missionary play, which is to be given on Thanksgiving evening, at Union.

The date of the meeting was also Frances' birthday and she received some beautiful presents from her girl friends, which she appreciated very much.

At a suitable hour a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Crunk, assisted by Mae Wilson, of Murray, and it was a late hour when the guests departed for their homes vowing they had had a most excellent time.

PROFESSIONAL WOMEN MEET

From Wednesday's Daily—Members of the Business and Professional Women's club were royally entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. R. A. Bates.

Mrs. W. A. Wells was unanimously elected secretary-treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Florence Persinger.

MRS. HIBER ILL

From Tuesday's Daily—This morning while Mrs. John Hiber, Sr., was at the St. John's Catholic church for the early mass, she was taken suddenly very ill and suffered a fainting spell that made necessary her being removed from the church to the home of relatives nearby and medical aid was called. Mrs. Hiber has not been well for some time and the illness had evidently brought on an attack of heart trouble that made the condition of the patient very serious for some time.

MISS KENYON ANNOUNCES APPROACHING MARRIAGE

At an evening bridge party Friday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Kenyon, Eighth street and First avenue, Miss Florence Kenyon announced her engagement and approaching marriage to Ralph Petring of Plattsmouth. The wedding will take place Monday evening, December 12.

Miss Kenyon's party was an unusually attractive affair. A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations, score cards and appointments. Three tables were filed for the game and honors went to Miss Marion von Gilern. Mrs. Alfred Petring was awarded the consolation.

Out-of-town visitors were Mrs. Lyle Hervey and Mrs. Robert Walling of Plattsmouth. Both Miss Kenyon and Mr. Petring are popular among the young society group of the community. Miss Kenyon is a graduate of the Nebraska City High school and attended Cotley College, Nevada, Missouri. Mr. Petring attended Nebraska City and Lincoln schools and is connected with an automobile company at Plattsmouth. He is a brother of John and Alfred Petring of Nebraska City and of George Petring of Plattsmouth.—Nebraska City News-Press.

SCOUTING OCCUPIES THE LEISURE TIME!

The outstanding need of a boy's program in the community today is one which will purposefully occupy the boy's leisure time, which, outside of sleep work and eat time, amounts to more than 3000 a year.

The aim of the Boy Scout program is to meet this need and it has proven its value in a most unusual way. The Scouting program takes a boy from the age of 12 to 17, the years that form the habits that he takes thru life, and thru a program of useful activity and service, helps the boy to form proper habits.

Not only does scouting occupy the leisure time of the boy, but in a most interesting and recreational way program, put over to the boy in weekly meetings, it teaches literally thousands of things he would not know were he not a Scout. Such practical things as first aid, knot tying, handicraft, signaling, camping and nature study, are a few of the many phases of the program.

Building a boy physically, mentally and morally is the purpose of the program. The civic service, actually done by the boy, he develops citizenship, an outstanding feature of the program.

Funeral Director Informs Court of Business Drop

Arthur J. Jackson Tells Judge of Doing Own Housework and Cooking; Voice Trembles.

Arthur J. Jackson, elderly funeral director, gave testimony Tuesday in domestic relations court regarding his business affairs, asserting that his business has decreased considerably. He has had only 36 death cases so far this year and 49 last year, compared to 61 in 1925 and 71 in 1923, he said.

The hearing was for the purpose of enabling Judge L. B. Day to determine the amount of support money which Jackson is to pay his wife, from whom he is separated.

Voice Trembles.
The undertaker's voice trembled frequently as, under questioning, he told how he is now doing his own cooking and housework. His petition for divorce recently was denied, as was his wife's petition for separate maintenance. At the time he announced that he would never return to his home, and that he could not continue his business in Omaha under such an arrangement.

Judge Day said he had refused the wife's petition for separate maintenance because that would have closed the door of the Jackson home on Mr. Jackson.

Tells of Debt.
Jackson, in testimony Tuesday, valued his home at $10,500, on which he said, there is a $3,250 mortgage. He said he paid $100 a month rent for his funeral chapel, and that he owes a casket company $1,800. Questioned by the judge, he said that while his business has decreased, collections for service have been better.

Judge Day ordered attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Jackson to draw up a decree for support money, but told them to leave a "blank place" for the amount Jackson is to pay.—Omaha Bee-News.

BARBERRY BUSHES SPREAD GRAIN RUST

Will the eradication of the common barberry in the state eliminate or materially reduce stem rust? This question is answered by Dr. G. L. Beltier and Mr. A. E. Thiel of the College of Agriculture in a recent research bulletin.

During the last nine years the common barberry was observed rusted in 70 counties of Nebraska. The amount of infection on barberries varied from year to year and from locality to locality, depending on the weather conditions of the previous summer, fall and spring. Barberries usually become rusted in April and begin to spread rust as early as the first week of May. The first rust infection on the nearby grains or grasses appears during the last week of May. The spread of rust from rusted barberries was observed and studied in 22 counties. The eradication of the barberry will eliminate these local centers of rust spread.

BERGDOLL SEEKS MONEY

Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 1.—Capture of a messenger seeking $5,000 for Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious American draft evader, was revealed here today by immigration officers who said they believed Bergdoll intended to use the money to return to the United States.

The messenger, a twenty-six-year old German named Martin Scheuch, was captured at St. Vincent, Minn., the point of entry from which Bergdoll is reported to have fled the country. The capture was made some time ago, the officers said, and Scheuch has already been deported to Germany.
