Edward Johnson Dies Saturday

Edward Johnson, who has been very sick for some time past and who was taken to Omaha recently in the hopes that at the hospital where every appliance and expert specialists could treat his illness, might improve, failed to respond to the aid of expert medical science, and gradually sank until the end came last week. Mr. Johnson's remains were brought back to Nehawka and the funeral held here on Tuesday of this week, with interment in the Mt. Pleasant cemetery. Mr. Johnson was a young man and robust and full of strength and vitality prior to his severe illness, which was diagnosed as pneumonia, and while everything possible was done, he did not seem able to rally from the attack and after having made a wonderfully strong fight against the odds imposed on him by the disease, passed away as stated. A more complete account of his death will be found in another column of this paper.

Farm Supporters Rally Around Fee

Tobacco Grower Official Insists on Measure or No Bill at All—Editor Theatens Coalition.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Friends of the McNary-Haugen farm bill, given the right of way today in the house agricultural committee's hearings, rallied to the support of the measure's controversial equalization fee provision. J. N. Kehoe, of Mayville, Ky., vice president of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative association, as a witness, insisted on the equalization fee or no farm relief at all. A similar stand was taken by A. W. Ricker, editor of the Farmers Union Bulletin, at St. Paul, who conveyed his views to the committee by means of a letter.

Kehoe, first of several scores of witnesses Chairman Haugen of the committee intends to have his colleagues hear in support of his revised farm proposal, urged enactment of the bill and termed the equalization fee "the salvation fee of the farmer." The measure was denounced by the tobacco man as the best solution of the farm problem.

A Minnesota editor in his letter declared the farmers of this section would look upon any farm measure which does not carry the equalization fee as a "mere gesture." The letter also brought a threat that thousands of northwest farmers would use their ballots to punish those persons, irrespective of party, who failed to meet the requirements of the situation.—State Journal.

FACTS AGAINST THE GOVERNOR

Osceola, Neb., Jan. 29. To Editor World-Herald:

On page 17 of your paper issued on the 19th of January, there is an article by your staff correspondent from Lincoln wherein it is stated that our governor, Adam McAllen, is reported to have stated that county treasurers have been outstealing taxpayers by telling them that doubling of the state levy has sent taxes skyward. The governor states further, that no well informed county treasurer would tell taxpayers that the state levy caused the increase. In my capacity as county treasurer of Polk county, I am obliged to take exception to these statements, which I will endeavor to substantiate with the following comparison of taxes on a quarter section of land in Polk county for the years 1926 and 1927. These figures are taken from the official tax rolls as certified to by the county clerk. The land is described as the SW 1/4 of 24-14-3 and has an assessed valuation of $26,700 for both 1926 and 1927. For 1926 the taxes on this piece were as follows: State, $48.06; county, $58.74; road, $26.70; school, $42.72; high school tuition, $37.38, making a total of $213.60. For 1927, state, $100.13 (an increase of $52.07); county, $58.74; county road, $26.20; school, $42.72; high school tuition, $32.04 (a decrease of $5.34), making a total of $260.83.

Therefore, it will be observed that there is an increase of $52.07 in state taxes and a total increase of $46.73 in the total taxes on this quarter section over the 1926 taxes. In the above comparison it will be observed that the county consolidated, county road and school levies are identically the same for both years, and the high school tuition levy has increased. If the increase in the above taxes has been caused by the cost of local government, as stated in the article by the governor, then the officials of this county are struggling along under a false impression. And, further, it would appear that when the owners of the above mentioned land make inquiry as to what caused her taxes to increase $46.73 over 1926, I will be forced to tell her the facts, and that the money is being used to take up the state deficit which is estimated at over four millions.

K. A. CORNISH, Co. Treas., Polk County.

HOLD ENJOYABLE SOCIAL

From Wednesday's Daily—The meeting of the W. R. C. held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Anna Heisel and which was given under the auspices of the color bearers of the patriotic organization, proved a most delightful occasion to the large number in attendance. The program of the afternoon was opened with the singing of the patriotic songs with Mrs. James P. Doyle at the piano and which was joined in by all of the members of the party.

Mrs. John E. Schütz gave a very delightful vocal selection with Mrs. John F. Gorder as the accompanist.

Warren Taylor, one of the best known young men soloists of the city was heard in one of the enjoyable numbers provided and in which the young man showed a great deal of skill. Mrs. Robert M. Walling in her usual artistic manner presented a piano solo that was much enjoyed and reflected the charmand beauty of this talented artist.

GET HEATED UP

From Wednesday's Daily—Last evening when the cooling breezes sprang up from the northwest and made the outdoor life far from pleasant, Officers Libershall and Pickrel received the applications of some eight of the drifters passing through the city for permission to rest in the farm and attractive interior of the city jail and were so accommodated by the night police. When the men were being checked in the city's free boarding house, it was found that four of the men were all "heated up" as the result of having had several of the favorite highballs and the dash of rum and heat, which had given them a very good jag and they enjoyed the stay in the city lockup as well as they would have some gilded palace. This morning when the time for releasing the men came and Officer Pickrel announced to the members of the party that they should arise and get themselves from the city, they at first declined and preferred the warmth and pleasant atmosphere of the jail, but when the police insisted that the city had a great deal of excavation work to be done on the streets, well, then there was a grand rush for the door and for the nearest exit from the city limits.

Butter Fat Production Moves West

Three States Produce More Creamery Butter Than Entire U. S. 20 Years Ago

The center of American creamery butter production has moved steadily to the northwest since 1879. Current federal data fixes it now approximately in the heart of Iowa.

Since 1904 production has increased 129 per cent, half of the increase occurring in the last six years. Creameries now produce almost 1,500,000,000 pounds a year, compared to about 500,000,000 pounds of farm butter. Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin now produce more creamery butter than was produced in the whole United States 20 years ago. Production is about equal in Iowa and Wisconsin, while Minnesota produces about 100,000,000 pounds more than either of the two. Wisconsin production has doubled in the last 20 years. Iowa's has increased two and a half times and Minnesota's four and a half.

Minnesota in Lead Despite their great increase in recent years, Minnesota produces three and a half times as much creamery butter as the 13 southern states, twice as much as the northeastern states produced 20 years ago, and more than seven times as much as all those states now produce.

From 1904 to 1926 the southern states increased from about 0.2 per cent of all creamery butter produced in the country to 5.6 per cent of the total amount. The 16 western states in the same period increased from 9.5 per cent to almost 13 per cent. Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan increased from 12 to 19 per cent while Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and North and South Dakota made the greatest increase in proportion of butter manufactured—from 19 per cent in 1904 to 19 per cent in 1926. During the same time the northeastern states, including New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware, decreased from 26 per cent of the total production to scarcely more than 2.6 per cent.

Big Highway Suit Arouses Interest in District Court

Cases Was Started When Charles W. Bryan Alleged Existence of Public Fund Deficiency.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 31.—The $90,000 highway suit started three years ago at former Governor Bryan's best against Former State Engineer George Johnson and Edward Peterson, an Omaha contractor, came to a climax here Monday when trial was started in district court. Charges of a public fund deficiency were linked by Bryan with the discovery that in federal aid project, 66 a 25-mile road job near Valentine, the state engineer and contractor signed a supplemental agreement after completion of the job. That agreement is pointed to by the state as evidence of fraud and corruption, while the defense calls it simply a means of obtaining the federal aid money from Washington.

Sixty-four thousand dollars in addition to $252,776 already received is asked by Peterson in a cross-petition. Not only did he fail to profit on the job, says he, but he lost money and received less for the work than he would have under the strict terms of the contract.

Contracts for this job were let and the work done in 1920, during the McKelvie administration. The state's story of the affair, as told to the jury by Assistant Attorney General Dort, is that the supplemental agreement was signed so Peterson could get $82,888 more than was due him. That sum, together with interest, now amounts to over $90,000.

In the original contract, dirt excavation was priced at 45 cents a cubic yard, and "hard clay" at $1 a yard. Under the supplemental agreement rock excavation was to be done at $25.50 a yard.

TEAM GOES ON TOUR

From Tuesday's Daily—The Plattsouth high school basketball team will make another journey away from home on Friday evening when they visit Nebraska City for the first clash of the season with the purple and gold. The locals will find a much better team than they battled last year as the Oceans have been laying away a number of good teams this year including the fast Havelock five and throwing a real scare into the University Place team, that ranks among the best in the eastern part of the state.

Visiting teams have found the small gym of the Nebraska City team a handicap in their floor work and with the great improvement that the team there has shown over their form of last year, there is nothing "soft" in the game at that place this year for the Platters altho they were easy winners last season in both games.

The Nebraska City quintet closes the basketball season here on March second and both games should be real basketball events for the fans.
