From Monday's Daily—
Saturday afternoon at 2:30 from the home of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Wurga, occurred the funeral of Mrs. Christina Burr.

The body arrived here Friday morning from Chicago where she passed away early Wednesday morning.

The services were conducted by Rev. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who paid a touching tribute to the life of the departed. A male quartet composed of Raymond Cook, Roy Knorr, Frank Clout and Rev. McClusky rendered two favorite hymns, "Jesus, Savior Pilot Me" and "Rock of Ages." The pallbearers were six of the old friends and neighbors, Michael Bajock, John Clout, Edward Donat, H. M. Soennichsen, John Nelson and Michael Wurga. Interment was in the family lot in Oak Hill cemetery.

Bracken of Chicago, Ill., and Frank Burr of Chicago, Ill.

In April, 1903, the family moved to Plattsmouth, Nebraska, where the husband and father passed away some fifteen years ago.

Mrs. Burr continued to reside in Plattsmouth, and a few years ago moved to Chicago, and, since her health began to fail, has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. R. A. Bracken. Although bed-ridden and almost helpless for a year, she bore suffering with Christian fortitude, awaiting the call of her Lord.

Mrs. Burr will be greatly missed by a large circle of relatives and friends whom she was always ready to assist in times of trouble and stress.

At the family home on West Granite street late Saturday afternoon occurred the death of Frederick Jacob Fornoff, aged fifty-nine years, practically a lifetime resident of the vicinity of Cedar Creek and Plattsmouth.

The death of Mr. Fornoff came after several days illness and during which time he has suffered a great deal from the effects of an internal abscess that had been causing him much trouble in the last week or ten days. He was doing well up until the last two days when his condition grew much worse and resulted in death late Saturday.

Frederick Jacob Fornoff, son of Adam and Elizabeth Tritsch Fornoff, was born on October 15, 1869 near Pekin, Illinois, and while a very young lad was brought by his parents to Cedar Creek near where the family made their home for a great many years. It was in this community that the deceased grew to manhood and for many years was engaged in farming, the past two years he has lived in this city where he purchased the Glenn residence property on Granite street. HAVE CAR WRECKED

Sunday night while Edward Mullen was returning to Missouri Valley, Iowa, where he is now located with his grandfather, E. H. Krug, in managing the Mullen meat market at that place, he suffered a very severe accident that resulted in a great deal of damage to the Pontiac coach belonging to the Mullen family.

Mr. Mullen in company with John Newton was driving along the highway and the rain and slight fog was making the going very hard for the driver as they made their way along the highway. A short distance out of Missouri Valley the Pontiac suddenly crashed into a Ford car that was parked in the right center of the road and directly in the path of the car of Mr. Mullen and also left standing without lights. The driver of the Ford had gotten out to fix a tire and his wife was also standing along the car when the accident occurred. The car being without lights and the stormy weather conditions prevented Mr. Mullen seeing the car until too close to avoid the collision. The Ford was driven down the highway some distance as the result of the impact but was practically undamaged while the Pontiac of Mr. Mullen was almost a complete wreck. Both the driver of the Ford and his wife were bruised and injured and it was necessary to take them on into Missouri Valley to the hospital for treatment.

Fortunately neither Mr. Mullen or John Newton were seriously injured although both were bruised up to some extent by the force of the impact.

Good Counsel Comes from Exchange of Ideas

Elks Banquet Last Night Furnishes Nucleus for Definite Objective in Community Service.

From Tuesday's Daily—
Some wise old sage once said "In counsel there is wisdom." And it was the basic truth of this axiom that prompted the officers of Plattsmouth Elks lodge to arrange a banquet for their members last night at the Legion community building to discuss the swimming pool subject and myriad other matters of vital concern to the organization.

The banquet details were in the hands of Mrs. Frank Walton, who arranged the menu and provided the sixty odd members with a very fine repast. The Legion Auxiliary's china, glassware and silverware service, which may be rented by any organization or individual for use in the building, was used in the table appointments, tables being loaned to the Elks for the occasion by the Masonic lodge. The Legion is now arranging for folding tables of its own, which will be available for such occasions in the near future.

During the serving of the repast, group singing led by George Dovey, with E. H. Wescott at the piano, set the party attune for the pleasant evening ahead of them.

Judge James T. Begley acted as toastmaster and at the conclusion of the banquet called upon E. J. Richey, chairman of the swimming pool committee for a report on the findings of the committee relative to the feasibility and cost of building such a pool at the north of the Elks club home. Mr. Richey outlined the plan and gave the estimated cost at $8,500, including a $2,000 filtration plant that would enable using the same water over and over. He said the committee had found the contemplated size of 17x69 feet compared favorably with the size of any indoor pool in Omaha. The committee had evolved a plan of accepting conditional memberships, contingent upon the provision of such a pool and set the quota of such memberships at 75, on attainment of which steps could be taken to finance the balance of the cost of the project and the pool constructed to be available to members of the lodge and their families at an early date.

L. R. Turpin was called upon and presented some facts and figures regarding membership decreases in the past few years and the need of some nucleus around which to build interest among the younger generation and induce them to want to join the Elks lodge. Dr. Stuart Livingston was also heard in a brief discussion of the subject, stressing particularly the healthful exercise that comes from swimming, and the project evolved into a round-table discussion with the various members of the banquet party giving their views on the matter. Some of those opposed to the swimming pool project advanced splendid ideas of other enterprises in which the Elks might engage with the same beneficial results as contemplated from the pool, particularly the acquisition of land for a golf course, on which they would be able to derive rental revenue, and which would always be worth its cost should the occasion ever arise when they wished to dispose of it. One of the outstanding proponents of this plan was Henry Schneider, a past exalted ruler of the lodge, and his views were shared by many others in the round-table discussion.

A vote on the matter of empowering the swimming pool committee to go ahead with the provisional membership plan preliminary to building the pool was defeated 33 to 8, and it was decided that other ideas advanced by the members be brought up at the regular business session of the lodge this evening, to the end of getting some worth-while proposition that will revive a seemingly dwindling interest in Elksdom.

Toastmaster Begley spoke in optimistic vein, voicing his belief that the membership will rally to the support of any feasible project that may be worked out and replace every lapsing member with two new ones. Several distinguished guests were present and were called upon by the toastmaster for brief addresses.

August Schneider, of York lodge, and chairman of the Crippled Children movement in Nebraska, told of what is being done in New Jersey and Washington along this line, also of what York lodge has accomplished in the restoration of one boy thru a series of operations, who is now able to walk without the aid of crutches or cane and gradually being restored to full use of his legs. This boy had been helpless since early childhood, due to infantile paralysis and without the help of the Elks of York lodge his parents could never have borne the expense of his restoration and he would have gone through life a helpless cripple. He is now an honor student in Junior-High and learning a vocation that will permit him to become a useful and self-supporting citizen.

The budget for this endowment fund in Nebraska has been set at only $10,000—little more than $1 from each Elk in the state—and all lodge are being urged to raise their quota. The fund will be invested in gilt-edged securities and the earnings therefrom used for the restoration of crippled boys and girls whose parents are unable to bear the cost connected therewith.

Walter C. Nelson, secretary of Omaha lodge No. 29, was the next speaker and he painted a bright picture for the future of Plattsmouth lodge, telling of how the Omaha lodge had stimulated attendance at its meetings 150 per cent in the last few months and was actually replacing every lapsing member with more than two new ones. Mr. Nelson has attended many similar functions of Plattsmouth lodge and spoke in complimentary terms of the fine spirit of fellowship and co-operation he sees evidenced here on every such occasion.

Harry B. Jones, esteemed lecturing knight of Omaha lodge was another of the speakers stressing the benefits of their "Round-up" "Ladies' Night" and similar other features that have stimulated interest and urging the adaptation of some such plan among the members of Plattsmouth lodge.

L. R. Turpin, who is state secretary of Nebraska Elks and a member of the local lodge urged the formation of a Past Exalted Rulers' club as the nucleus around which to build renewed interest in the fine principles of Elksdom.

The closing speaker on the evening's program was T. B. Dysart, of Omaha, president of the state Elks association. Mr. Dysart stated the problems that confront Plattsmouth lodge are few compared with the obstacles that have been overcome by other Elks lodges over the state, and cited the instance of Hastings lodge, where little more than a year ago the membership had dwindled to fourteen and now a new $50,000 club home has just been opened, with an active paid-up membership of 500 and a goal of 800 being rapidly reached. He paid tribute to such get-together meetings as last night's banquet and laid emphasis on the possibilities of co-operation toward a definite fixed goal—whether that goal be swimming pool, golf course, bowling alleys or what not. His three fundamental rules for tourists—have a definite objective in view, heed the signs at the crossroads and step on the gas—calculated to get them there in shortest time, he said were applicable to individual business men and to Elks lodges; and he pointed out that Plattsmouth lodge is now pausing at the crossroads.

The evening was a most pleasing one from both an entertaining and inspirational standpoint and from the healthful exchange of ideas is expected to come increased attendance at the business sessions of the lodge and renewed interest in the advancement of the great principles espoused by Elksdom.

VERY LARGE CROWD AT DANCE.

From Monday's Daily—
The first of a series of old-time dances to be held in the American Legion community building, drew a large crowd Saturday night, including many from the rural sections of the county and all were well pleased with the entertainment provided.

The old-time dance promotion is in the hands of Don Sliever, who secured a fine lot of "callers" that aided in making the evening a success.

Among those calling were William Hiner, Pat Campbell, Rudolph Melinger, Ray Stull and Officer Dave Pickrell.

Music was furnished by the Barnyard Twins orchestra. Another feature was the free hot dog sandwiches served during intermission, but the size of the crowd was larger than anticipated and quickly made way with 200 buns and as many weiners.

Another old time dance is booked for Saturday, the 18th, when sandwiches will be provided for a larger number in order that none may be disappointed. The 50 cent admission charge will prevail on all the old-time dances.

The big feature dance of the season, the "Auto" Dance, will be held Wednesday evening of this week.

Much Business Occupies Time of Woman's Club

Plans Laid for the Future at Valentine Meeting Last Evening Cover Much Work.

From Tuesday's Daily—
Last evening the members of the Plattsmouth Woman's club held a very fine session at the home of Mrs. Louis Ward Egenberger on Vine street, and despite the bad weather conditions prevailing there were an unusually large number of the ladies in attendance.

The meeting was presided over in the opening by Mrs. L. L. Turpin and later turned over to the social committee of the club.

The committee composed of Mrs. Fred Corvill, Mrs. E. H. Wescott and Mrs. J. E. Wiles, which had charge of the purchase of the wrought iron candelabra and candlesticks for the Boy Scouts was delegated the task of presenting these.

As the new officers of the club will be named at the March meeting, the club selected as the committee for the making of the nominations, Mrs. R. B. Hayes, Mrs. E. H. Wescott and Mrs. John F. Gorder, and who will present their report at the next meeting.

The committee in charge of the annual banquet to be held on May 7th, was authorized to secure an outside speaker for the occasion.

The forthcoming recital of the Omaha and Council Bluffs artists here on Tuesday, February 14th, was discussed and the announcement made that this event to be held in the Legion community building will have the admission charges of 50c for adults and 25c for children. All members of the club and the music lovers of the city were urged to be in attendance.

Attention of the members was also directed to the fact that the coming week will be national drama week and members were urged to listen over the radio for the various programs that will be given.

After the business session the social committee took charge and gave a very delightful program that added much to the completion of the interesting and profitable evening. Miss Sylvia Cole, the new musical supervisor of the city schools, was present and gave two very beautiful vocal numbers and which gave the members of the club the opportunity of hearing this gifted singer.

Mrs. A. D. Caldwell also gave one of her artistic violin numbers and Mrs. E. H. Wescott was heard in a vocal offering that was very much enjoyed by all of the members. Fredrick Gorder gave a very artistic saxophone number that reflected much credit upon the young man. Mrs. Gorder served as the accompanist for the saxophone number, while Mrs. Robert Reed served as the accompanist for the other artists on the program.

Fine refreshments were served at the close of the evening and in the refreshments the Valentine thought was carried out in the red hearts.

MAKES HOME OWNERS

Building and loan associations in the United States have grown so rapidly and been so well managed that their resources of $7,065,000,000 are more than the capital resources of all the national banks. About 85 per cent of the resources is invested in first mortgages on dwellings occupied by the owners, a great factor in solving the nation's housing problem.

'Bob Kittens' are Victims of Platter Five

In One of the Best Games Seen on the Local Floor Peru Prep Loses 37 to 30.

From Monday's Daily—
The basketball fans that gave forth their admission price on Saturday evening to witness the clash between the Plattsmouth high quintet and the "Bob Kittens" from Peru Prep, had their full money's worth in a fine game of basketball and which was one of the best seen on the local floor this season.

Outstanding among the visitors was Captain Rallsback, veteran center, who alone accounted for seventeen of the tallies of the visitors, five of these field goals and seven free tosses out of eleven attempts.

George Perry, local center and Edgar Wescott, forward, who have not been finding the basket so frequently in the last few games were all there Saturday and made the bombardment of the visitors one that made victory impossible for the visitors, Perry having seven baskets and Wescott five when the final whistle sounded.

The floor game played by Jack Hatt and Bernard Galloway gave the big thrill to the fans as their attacks and defensive work checked the Bob Kittens at all stages of the game. Hatt also accounted for two baskets as did Galloway. Hadraba was instrumental in checking the last ditch rally of the visitors in the last part of the game and kept them from the danger zone of the Platters basket.

The opening quarter started with Rallsback annexing a free throw for the first offering of the scoring and was followed in a few seconds by a gift shot by Hadraba. Applegate of the visitors annexed two field goals and made the going look rough for the locals but two baskets by Perry, one each from Hatt Wescott and Galloway overcame the two that Rallsback hooped and left the quarter 11 to 9 for Plattsmouth.

The second quarter of the game was a very disastrous one for the Kittens as Perry and Wescott each hung up two baskets and Galloway one while Applegate was the only visitor to make a field goal, although three free throws helped them on their way and left the half standing 21 to 14 for the Platters.

After the half the Peruvians made a strong bid for winning and Rallsback made three field goals with Palston securing a long shot from the side that was good. Perry who threw three baskets and Wescott with a free throw added to the Plattsmouth lead and the quarter found the score at 27 to 23 for the blue and white.

The last quarter saw close guarding of Rallsback by the locals and who gathered his only scores from free throws while Williams and Cowell, taking advantage of the guarding of Rallsback, slipped in two counters on the locals. In the smashing attacks George Perry rang up two baskets and while the visitors were striving desperately to narrow the margin between the teams Jack Hatt planted a basket that practically led the game for the locals.

The tabulated score of the game was as follows:

Plattsmouth— FG FT PF TP
Hatt, rf 2 1 2 5
