Fred Warner shelled and delivered corn to the Murray elevators on Tuesday of this week.

Troy Davis was in town and took home with him lumber for the enlargement of the poultry houses.

Jacob Hill shipped a car load of very excellent cattle which he has just fattened at his feeding yards at the farm.

Nick Friedrich was called to Plattsmouth early last Monday morning where he had some business matters to look after.

Chrs. John Campbell is getting her chick crop out early and has some twenty-five of the 1928 crop doing nicely at this time.

Leo Farris and the good wife of near Union were visiting at the home of John H. Farris of Murray on last Tuesday afternoon.

L. C. Harchar was taken to the hospital for treatment and probably will have to submit to an operation for the restoration of his health.

F. A. Hill has been placing a new roof on some of the buildings at the farm, believing that it is best to keep the roofs in the best of condition.

L. F. Langhorst of Plattsmouth was a visitor in Murray on Tuesday of this week and was looking after some business matters for a short time.

Dr. G. H. Gilmore and W. G. Booder were over to the county seat on last Wednesday where they were called as witnesses in a case in court.

A. D. Bakke was a visitor in Plattsmouth and Omaha on last Monday and Tuesday matters in connection with the business which he conducts here.

Charles M. Reed and the Richter boys have been humping in the shelling of corn, hopping from one place to another as soon as one has been done.

A. J. Scotten was making some repairs on the Christian church, which was needed by one of the doors becoming badly damaged by the weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Nickles and Mrs. Henry C. Long, were visiting with friends in Omaha as well as looking after some business matters there as well.

Jack Philpot was a visitor in Murray on Tuesday of this week, where he was unloading and having delivered a car load of hay, which he received on that date.

E. J. Booder was adding to his hog houses, thus making preparation for the growing of more pigs, which looks like they would be profitable property in the very near future.

Raymond Hill was a visitor over Murray and also flew to Louisville on last Sunday and had with him John and wife who also enjoyed the trip. The father also took a ride.

C. H. Warner and son, Wallace Warner were visiting and looking after some business matters in Murray on last Tuesday, they driving down in the car of Mr. Wallace Warner.

Fred Clark from near Union was a visitor in Murray on last Tuesday and was interviewing his family physician regarding his health as well as meeting his many friends in Murray.

Uncle J. W. Edmunds and A. G. Long were looking after some business matters in Nebraska City on Tuesday of this week, they taking a load of chickens to the Nebraska City market.

In an exchange of property which was consummated a few days since James W. Chilton acquired the Murray garage building, and which is occupied by the Murray garage, owned by A. D. Bakke.

On Monday of this week the home of Royal Smith and the good wife was made happy on account of the arrival at their home of a beautiful blue-eyed baby girl, which brings with her joy and happiness.

There was joy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Green on last Monday morning when there arrived via the stork route, a bouncing baby boy, who is the delight of the whole family. All concerned are doing nicely.

Harry Noel and wife moved to near Weeping Water where they are to make their home in the future and where they will farm this season. Mrs. J. A. Scotten and Ben Noel who were assisting in the moving.

County physician J. F. Brendel was out to near Eagle and Alvo on last Monday afternoon, where he was looking after placing some houses under quarantine regulations on account of the prevalence of scarlet fever in that portion of the county.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Queen, in honor of this excellent family gave them a farewell surprise at their home in Murray on last Monday evening at which time they all enjoyed a splendid evening, and all present extended the wish for plenty of health, prosperity and happiness in the new home in the south.

Murray Has New Industry.
Robert McClanahan, well known in this part of the state and a hustler, has secured a lease on some railroad lots in Murray, on which he will erect a distributing oil and gasoline station, and will also erect tanks at both Manley and Murdock. From Murray he will supply a station at Union and two at Plattsmouth. Later it is the intention of Mr. McClanahan with some Plattsmouth capital to put in a filling station, which will be located in Plattsmouth and will make it one of the most up to date.

The storage tanks here will have a capacity of some thirty-six thousand gallons, while the storage capacity at Manley will hold about twenty-four gallons. At Murdock he will be interested in the business with E. W. Thimman, thus covering a territory which has a population which can hardly be excelled for a rural district.

Selected Seed Corn.
I have a quantity of seed corn which I selected at gathering time last fall. See me for your needs.

Will Return to Old Home.
On Wednesday of this week, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Queen, and the family, who have been making their home in and about Murray for the past ten years, departed for Deepwater, Mo., where they resided before they came to Murray, and where they will again make their home. They have many close friends in this community, who are loath to see them leave, and Murray will be the loser by their departure. The sunny south, where they spent so many happy years is again claiming them, and their many friends here are sending them to their new old home, the best wishes for their future and cherish the many pleasant years which they have known them here.

Secured Belding's Orchestra
Belding's orchestra, Henry Field's favorite old time musicians, play for Legion's old fashioned dance Saturday night at Plattsmouth. Sandwiches served free during intermission. See ad in this issue. Admission, 50c.

Also don't forget big feature mid-week dance, West, March 7th. Pat Kroh's Peony Park orchestra.

Receiving Much Corn.
The elevators of Murray have been very busy during the past week with the receiving and shipping corn, and have sent many thousands of bushels of the excellent corn grown in eastern Cass county to market.

Chickens for Sale.
I have 100 pure strain White Leghorns of the heavy laying type, mated with the celebrated strain herd by Fred Fleischman of Manley, and all are perfectly and are laying good at this time.—Wayne Lewis, Murray, Nebr.

Give Fine Program.
Last Sunday evening a very fine program was given by the young people of the Presbyterian church at Murray.

Several young men of Plattsmouth were participants.

A very enjoyable saxophone trio composed of George Caldwell, Theodore Ptak and Charles Howard were present and entertained the audience.

Warren Taylor sang "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" and responded to a hearty encore. Mr. Taylor's aunt, Mrs. Margaret McClannahan was his accompanist.

After the program a very appetizing lunch was served.

SUNNYSIDE CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF MRS. PARR YOUNG
Last week the Sunnyside club met and discussed the use of sewing machine attachments. Much interest was shown, especially to the use of binder. We also planned to have a meeting soon to show the things we have accomplished. Many were interested in the pattern of the one hour dress.

After the lesson and the business session, the hostess assisted by Mrs. Miller Christianson served dainty refreshments. We plan our next meeting March 6th, at the home of Mrs. Wiles. Every member come and help make plans for our achievement program when we show what we have done.

RIVERVIEW CLUB MEETS
The Riverview club met at the home of Mrs. J. L. Jordan on Friday afternoon, the meeting being called to order by the president, Mrs. H. L. Gayer.

Eleven members were present to take up the work outlined for the month "Time Savers in Machine Sewing." The ladies of the club feel that this work has proven very helpful to them. The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Meltinger and all members are urged to be in attendance.

Plans were discussed for the local achievement program which will be held at the Patterson home at "Oakwood" on Friday evening, March 9th. At the close of the meeting the hostess invited the ladies to the dining room where an excellent lunch was served.

Last Basket Ball Game of the Season Friday

Nebraska City Here as the Curtain Falls on the 1927-28 Season for the Platters.

From Wednesday's Daily—

On Friday evening the last game of the basketball season of 1928 will be played on the local court and the blue and white prepare for the dismemberment of the team that has made such a splendid record in the past season.

The opponents of the Platters on Friday evening will be Nebraska City, the purple and gold being one of the teams that the locals have a two game schedule with during the season and this year the locals have already the edge of the victory at Nebraska City when they defeated the Otocems by the score of 16 to 12.

The game Friday will not only be the last of the season but will be the last home game that the larger majority of the team will play in the colors of the Plattsmouth school as a great many of the team are graduating this year or will be ineligible for another season. Edgar Westcott, Bernard Galloway, George Perry, Ralph Mason, Jack Hatt and Bernard Klingler being the members of the team that will say farewell to the high school basketball game.

This being the last game of the season and the fact of the exceptionally strong showing that the team has made in one of the hardest schedules that the local basketballers have faced, should assure them a great crowd for the last game and a fitting expression of their good work in the season from the fans of the locality.

The Platters have won from Weeping Water, Sidney, (Iowa), Creighton Prep, Central of Omaha, Auburn, Falls City, Nebraska City, Peru Prep, Glenwood, (Iowa), North High, Omaha, Nebraska School of the Deaf, Fremont, while the only two defeats were that at North in the opening game of the season, and at Beatrice.

MONEY BACK TO GOVERNOR
Sioux City, Ia., Feb. 26.—Will Rogers, famous for poking fun at others, demonstrated last night that he can take a joke himself. During a lecture here, he called on Gov. W. J. Bulow, of South Dakota to speak. The governor objected to taking part in the program because Rogers was paid for putting it on, while his party had paid $13 for tickets.

Rogers offered to return the money, but when Bulow, not to be outdone, held out his hand, the comedian found that he did not have change.

Later Rogers invited the governor to lunch and pocketed the change from a $29 bill after paying the check. After they had said good night, Mr. Bulow found four bills—a "ten" and three "ones" in his coat pocket.

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

Golden Text: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation."—Mark 16:15.

Securing the Workers

Moses once made the mistake of trying to do all the work himself, and as he tried petty offenses and trivial matters at the gate of the city, his entire time was occupied, so that the weightier matters had to await on some affair of little moment. He was visited by his father-in-law, Jethro, who while he was a heathen, was a man of great observation, and when he saw that Moses was occupied from morning until night, he said unto him, "Why do you not organize this proposition of administering justice and have some help, that the people may not have to wait for the justice which they are entitled to and so you be not worn out with the administering of trivial matters?"

And Moses did recognize the logic of his father-in-law's inquiry, establishing a system of jurisprudence that has come down through the ages to the present day, with a judiciary that contemplated the lower courts, vested with the power of settling most of the difficulties which come to the human race. Then came the higher tribunals to which an appeal can be had, and also the highest courts that look after the settling of cases of greater moment and more difficult in their technique.

Jesus Christ, the Son of God, came into the world long years after this, and in Him was bestowed the authority, but as he came to give his life as a ransom for mankind, he must needs go, for the great plan of salvation contemplates that much of the work of regeneration of mankind was to be done by the people themselves. Therefore the Master established a school to train his workers for the completion and carrying on of the work which He himself established and was to leave to others following in his footsteps, to complete.

Selecting the Twelve

In the selection of the ones who were to be his witnesses, he chose twelve men, no two of them alike in temperament, but all steadfast in character, who would give their life for the cause, and who did, with the single exception of Judas Iscariot, who would not take the advice of the Master or benefit by His teachings.

The first of the twelve to be called were the four fishermen, Peter and Andrew, brothers, and James and John, likewise brothers. They were hardy, honest and reliable men, with a feeling of dependence on themselves and inured to toil and exposure that made them strong adherents of the new salvation and enabled them to stand upright before God and man when the stress of times would have caused weaker men to give way. Andrew, while not a mitered worker, was ever alert for an opportunity to do good by bringing someone to the Master. And he brought his brother, Simon Peter into the fold, who became a worker great enough for them both. Many times had he experienced storms on the sea of Galilee which tried not only his but his companions' skill as well, to save their property and their souls.

These were the type of men which Christ required for His ministry—men who would stand steadfast for their convictions when the test of Christianity was swaying in the balance—men who although possessed of the frailties of human weakness could stand the test and eventually give even life itself for the cause of the Master and the ideals which they had come to hold most dear.

All admire the loyalty of a friend, rightly considered one of the noblest traits of human character. Because of the lovely disposition of John, who was a very young man when called to labor in the cause of the Master, he was considered the disciple whom Jesus loved most. Matthew was a tax collector, and was chosen not because of this, but notwithstanding this fact, for he was profitable to the carrying on of the work which was designed to be done. Thomas was a doubter and had to be shown. And thus we see, for some distinct purpose was every one of the disciples chosen, and admirably fulfilled the purpose for which he was selected.

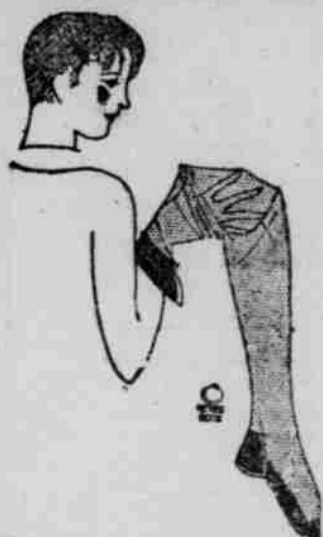

Sends the Twelve Out

After the selection of the twelve, they were instructed to go out and bear the message of salvation to a lost world, and as their credentials that they were indeed the messengers of the Messiah, they were given power and commanded to go out and perform healings and castings out, to enable them to cast out demons and to heal the sick, and, it appears to us, to forgive sins, for they removed the things which the sins caused.

They Were Well Equipped

They were commanded by the Master not to take with them script or coin or anything of monetary value, neither two changes of footwear or clothing, but when they went to a place and entered a home, that home was blessed and they remained there during their stay and in most cases were received with pleasure, and they preached the coming of the kingdom of God, and were a great troop of advertisers of the Master, and awakened much interest in the coming of the Master himself.

The Master said unto them, "In case that some will not receive you and likewise Me that sent you, and the Father which sends us all, when you leave that place shake the very dust from your garments and your feet as a testimonial against such a home and a city."
The disciples thereupon went out and performed miracles and did much

PHILATHEANS ENTERTAINED

From Wednesday's Daily—
A social meeting of the Philathean class of the Methodist church was held at the parsonage, with Mrs. H. E. Sator and Mrs. J. T. Marshall, hostesses.

The early part of the evening was spent in reading and adoption of the new constitution and by-laws and other business matters. Mr. C. C. Westcott, teacher of this large class exhibited the new clock, one of his own inventions. This is not one of the ordinary "punch the clock" devices, but a clock used in determining which group, with their captain in the majority and also keeps a check on the 80 young women belonging to this class.

The balance of the evening was spent in a social way. Much unusual talent was shown by members present.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the evening.

PROMOTING CANDIDACY

From Wednesday's Daily—
Yesterday afternoon T. L. Hall of Verdon, Nebraska, accompanied by Editor Bowman of Verdon, was here in the city visiting with the republican voters and getting acquainted prior to the primary election on April 10th. Mr. Hall is one of the many republican candidates seeking the office of congressman from the first district and as he is well known in the political circles of the state he should make a good race.

We present here a likeness of Mr. John Wiltse, candidate for the republican nomination for Congress from the First District, at the Primary election on April 10th.

Mr. Wiltse was born and reared on a Nebraska farm, and takes a great interest in farming. He owns and operates several farming enterprises.

He spent several years as a teacher in the public schools of his county, was admitted to the practice of law, in which he has been very successful. He has served successfully as City Clerk and Mayor of Falls City, County Judge, member of the Constitutional Convention of 1919-1920, and as State Senator in 1921, 1923 and 1925.

His private and political record are the best testimony of Mr. Wiltse as a man and as an official.

Any support given him at Primary will be appreciated by himself as well as his many friends and supporters.
