Missouri Pacific Passenger Train Derailed Sunday

No. 109 Northbound Sunday Morning Hits Derail at Oreapolis Crossing.

From Monday's Daily—
Sunday morning northbound passenger train No. 109, of the Missouri Pacific, was derailed at the Oreapolis crossing north of this city, but fortunately there was little damage done to the train and no injuries. The train which is due here at 6:20 a. m., was some twenty-five minutes late and was traveling at a high rate of speed on into Omaha to make up the lost time and as the train came sweeping along the Platte bottom to the crossing of the Burlington at Oreapolis, the block was found set against them and while the brakes were applied the train could not slack speed sufficient to escape gliding into the derail and as the result the front wheels of the locomotive were forced off the rails. The train was going slowly at this time and the incident was scarcely noticed in the coaches at the rear of the train.
At the time of the accident, a freight was waiting at La Platte for the northbound passenger and the locomotive of the freight was dispatched to the scene of the derailment near the crossing and after some work on the part of both train crews the wheels of the passenger locomotive were again back on the rails and the train able to go on into Omaha, altho considerably behind the scheduled time.

HONOR MRS. ENGELKEMEIER

Mrs. Ernest Engelkemeier of near Louisville, formerly Miss Fredia Ragoss, was given a very pleasant reception on Monday evening at the College Hill school near her home, by the members of the Farmer's Union band and members of the families of the members. Mrs. Engelkemeier was the organist of the band and has served efficiently as the secretary-treasurer of the organization for a number of years and to show their appreciation of her splendid services the members and their families arranged the pleasant event.
The band gave a number of selections that were much enjoyed and gave the visitors a program of excellent music as a part of the evening entertainment. Fred Kreiger of Weeping Water, the band director, was the spokesman for the band in expressing the appreciation of the members for the fine work that Mrs. Engelkemeier has given as the secretary and treasurer and presented the guest of honor with a purse of silver as a remembrance of the friends on this pleasant event.
The ladies of the party had brought well filled baskets of the good things to eat and which formed the basis of most dainty and delicious refreshments that were served at the close of the evening.
Mrs. Engelkemeier is a daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Engelkemeier of this city.

Has Interesting Picture of Early Newspaper Plant

M. E. Bushnell of South Bend Has Tintype of One of the Pioneer Newspaper Plants.

From Wednesday's Daily—
M. E. Bushnell of South Bend, one of the old time residents of this county, was in the city yesterday and brought with him a tintype that was most interesting to the real old time residents of this city, it being a picture of the building occupied by the Nebraska Herald, one of the first papers in this section of the state.

The tintype was taken in 1881 and at that time the Herald was owned by the Herald Publishing Co., a group of the local republican leaders and the paper was edited by Samuel M. Chapman, later district judge for a great many years, the paper being under the management of H. M. Bushnell, later a prominent newspaper man of Lincoln.

The building a small story and a half brick structure, was located at the corner of Fifth and Vine street, where the present St. Paul's Evangelical church now stands, the old building having been wiped away by fire many years ago.

In the picture there were many who have in the past years played a very prominent part in the history of this locality, the whole force of the print shop having come out on the porch of the building to be snapped by V. V. Leonard, the pioneer photographer, in one of the then snappy tintypes. The city editor, Milton D. Polk, now of Nampa, Idaho, was seen resting against the door of the editorial part of the building, while the printers, A. E. Gass, Henry Schulhof, (father of Ed H. Schulhof), Will Rheinacke, M. E. Bushnell, and H. E. Bushnell, were representing the "force" while Alexander McIntosh and a man named Elliott were also in the picture.

The tintype is a very interesting chapter of the past and many of the men that appeared in the picture were prominent residents here for a great many years.

DRAWING SIXTY DAYS

From Wednesday's Daily—
This morning the hearing of the complaint against John Eagan of Louisville, was brought to trial in the county court before Judge A. H. Duxbury, and as the result of the hearing a sentence of sixty days in jail was given the defendant. The state offered in evidence the testimony of Martin Zaak, who was arrested Sunday at Louisville and who testified that he had received the liquor, two pint bottles from Mr. Eagan, paying $3 for the same. The witness denied that any immunity had been promised him for his testimony. Frank Wheeler, marshal at

Violation of Law is Not a Release

Supreme Court Passes on Right of Unlicensed Auto Driver to Recover Damages.

In an opinion handed down Wednesday and written by Justice Howell, the supreme court takes a decided stand upon the question raised in the case at bar, Pratt, administrator, vs. the Western Bridge Construction company, on the defense frequently raised in automobile damage cases to the effect that one injured while operating an automobile in violation of the law—in this case, without a license—cannot recover damages. Justice Howell insists that such an automobile is not converted into a wolf to be shot upon the spot. He says on this point: "If the mere fact that a person is violating a law deprives him of his right to damages for the injuries received by the negligence of another, the rule should work both ways and, if one injures another while violating the law, he ought to have no defense. This court has consistently ruled that a violation of city ordinances, regulating speed of street cars and requiring signals to be given by trains approaching railroad crossings, when violated, are not per se negligence. All of these acts are unlawful but they must have some proximate relation to injuries received by one who asks damages."

MUNDELEIN IS HONORED

Rome, March 13.—The College of Propaganda, for which Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago yesterday handed the pope a check for $1,500,000, raised in the form of a loan by Americans, was honored by a visit from the cardinal today. Monsignor Hagen, rector of the Irish college, invited Cardinal Mundelein to be his guest at a luncheon on St. Patrick's day together with various other cardinals, who will join the Irish prelates and students in celebrating the feast day of the patron saint of the Emerald Isle.

Q Z Ladies Entertain for Mrs. Henry F. Goos

Retiring President After Eight Years of Service Is Given Most Delightful Surprise.

From Tuesday's Daily—
Last evening the members of the Q. Z. society gave a very delightful tea at the Fellowship room in the Presbyterian church and which was in the nature of a surprise planned in honor of Mrs. Henry F. Goos, who is retiring after eight years of service to the society.

There was only five members of the society missing from the pleasant event that was given as an appreciation of the long and faithful service that Mrs. Goos has given the society and the splendid results that her leadership has afforded.

The tables throughout the rooms produced a scene of the greatest charm and beauty and reflected the greatest credit upon the ladies that had arranged the affair. Throughout the room green was used as the color scheme, green festoons, candles and the shamrocks added their touch to the scene of charm and tiny nut baskets tied with pale green tulle also was used in the decorative plan of the tea. The serving of the dainties of the afternoon was carried out most pleasantly.

The entertainment consisted of a review of good jokes, a song fest and also the presentation of a number of clever verses written in honor of Mrs. Goos, the retiring president and also to Mrs. R. W. Knorr, the newly elected president.

Merriment was derived from the contest for the St. Patrick's love story, and in which Miss Pearl Staats received the prize of the evening.

The Q. Z. society is one of the liveliest of the organizations of the Presbyterian church and has contributed to the upbuilding of the church and keeping active the work of the ladies in the church. They feel very grateful that they will have the services of Mrs. Knorr as president as she has been very active in the organization during the presidency of Mrs. Goos.
