James R. Hill and the family were visiting for the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Minter, of Weeping Water, they driving over for the day.

The Parent-Teachers association of the Mount Hope school gave a most enjoyable program on last Friday, the preparation of which was sponsored by Mrs. Guy Wiles.

Wm. Gorder, who is selling the Durant and Star cars from Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Nehawka on last Friday, and was looking after some business matters north of town as well.

The Senior class of the Nehawka school is presenting their play "The House of a Thousand Thrills," which they have been putting much work on, and will give it this week on Friday evening.

Wm. Troop and the family were over to Plattsmouth last week, where they were visiting with their granddaughter, Mary Catherine Gorder, and found the little lady and its mother feeling very fine.

J. S. Rough has purchased a new car, and was out trying the wagon on Sunday and Monday of this week. He is liking it fine, and as Stewart is one of the best judges of cars, you may be assured that it is right.

While Mrs. Earl Baker has been in the hospital at Omaha, where she underwent an operation, their little son has been staying at the home of Joe Baker, and has also been rather poorly with a very bad cold.

Mrs. Charles S. Sherman of Lincoln and Miss Julia Troop who is attending the state university at Lincoln, were visiting over the week end at the W. O. Troop home, and were also visiting at Plattsmouth with friends as well.

M. J. Hobson and A. J. Edgerton of Plattsmouth have been sinking a well as the farm where W. O. Troop lives, and on last Monday morning completed the work and had some fourteen feet of good water as the result of the hard work.

Grover C. Hoback was a visitor in Plattsmouth on last Saturday, where he went to meet with the county assessors to receive supplies and instructions from County Assessor W. H. Puls, and will soon be at work assessing for this year.

John T. Dale and Frank Lemon were both feeling pretty gay on last Monday, as they were both celebrating their birthday anniversary, and while they are neither sweet sixteen, neither old enough to be counted as an octogenarian, they are enjoying good health and glad of it.

Will O. Troop has been confined to his home and bed for the past week on account of an attack of flu, which has kept this genial gentleman from his daily tasks. C. R. Troop of Plattsmouth has been at the home for some days past, assisting in doing the chores about the place. Will is, however, showing some improvement and is hoping soon to be out again.

W. O. Tucker and wife of Holbrook, who formerly lived north of Nehawka have been visiting here, and were the guests at the home of J. W. Magney. Mr. Magney and Mr. Tucker being brother and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker also were looking after some business matters, as they had a barn burned on their farm north of Nehawka a short time since and are having a new one built in its place.

The management of the Nehawka auditorium, which has been under the direction of R. C. Pollard, and especially relative to the putting on of the movies, has been turned back to the auditorium management and hereafter the company will have in hand the placing of the movies. The first one to appear under the new management will be Hoot Gibson, which will appear on Saturday of the week. Be sure and have an open date for this opening show.

Will Give Cantata at Four.

The Cantata which is being brought into shape by the singers of Nehawka and Union for the presentation at the two places, in the morning at Union, and later at Nehawka, has been definitely settled as to be given at Nehawka at four on Sunday afternoon, as the singers from Union will have to assist in the revival meeting which is in progress at Union.

Sam Martin Moves to Seward

Sam Martin and the family loaded their household goods in a truck on last week departed for Seward, where they will make their home in the future and where Mr. Martin is shipping logs from.

Some One Stole the Corn.

On last Saturday night, some miscreant went to the crib of C. D. St. John and took a load of corn, which he appropriated to himself. While Mr. Saint John did not see the thief take the grain he has a very good idea where it went and the only thing which prevents him from telling the name is the inability to definitely prove who it was. He can ill afford to lose the corn, and has a scheme to cop the thief as he returns for more corn.

INCREASE IN ITS INCOME

Philadelphia, April 1.—Despite the fact that the volume of traffic and the revenues and net earnings in 1927 were not so large as in 1926, the annual report of the Pennsylvania railroad, issued tonight, stated that the net income for the year showed an increase of $592,337. The net income was $68,160,296, being 13.6 per cent upon the capital stock, compared with 13.05 in 1926.

The net operating income for 1927 was $103,977,303, a decrease of $2,455,545. The gross income was $147,214,299, an increase of $891,506.

The report showed that the railway operating revenues decreased $44,966,426, or 6.3 per cent. The shrinkage in freight traffic, the report said, was acute during the latter part of the year, particularly in bulk freight, such as coal, coke, lumber, ore and steel. The coal traffic was adversely affected by strikes within the industry.

State Expense $7.90 per Capita

Cost of Operation and Maintenance Shows Increase in 1927

The cost of operating and maintaining the general departments of the Nebraska state government during the fiscal year of 1927 totalled $10,947,948, or $7.90 per capita, the United States department of commerce announced today in a summary of the financial statistics of the state. The per capita figures for the year were based on an estimated population of 1,390,000.

In 1926 the per capita cost of Nebraska's general state departments was $7.04, and in 1917, $3.86, the interest on debt in 1927 amounted to $37,462, and outlays for permanent improvements totalled, $9,208,833.

The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of the general departments, interest and outlays were $29,221,143, the report added. Of the governmental costs, $1,586,355 was for highways, $1,586,749 being for maintenance and $6,608,606 for construction.

The total revenue receipts were $17,286,726, or $12.44 per capita, the report continued. "This was $6,274,361 more than the total payments of the year exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, but $2,924,517 less than the total payments including those for permanent improvements."

Business and non-business taxes constituted 29.4 per cent of the total revenue for 1927, 27.2 per cent for 1926, and 6.8 per cent for 1917.

"Receipts from business licenses consisted chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies and of sales tax on gasoline," the resume said, "while those from non-business licenses comprise chiefly taxes on motor vehicles and amount paid for hunting and fishing privileges. The sales tax on gasoline amounted to $3,091,288 in 1927, and $2,887,374 in 1926, an increase of 7.1 per cent.

"The assessed valuation of property in Nebraska subject to ad valorem taxation," the report concluded, "was $3,321,746,688. The amount of state taxes levied was $5,849,739, and the per capita, levy was $4.21 in 1926 and in 1917, $3.51.

Guide Trains to Scale High Peak in Photo Search

Lives at High Elevation to Acoustom Himself to Taking Pictures on Mt. McKinley

Washington, March 27.—After acoustomizing himself to high altitudes by living at an elevation of 9,000 feet for the last five years, Guy C. Caldwell, Rocky mountain guide, announces through the headquarters of the American Nature association here that he will attempt to scale the precipitous cliffs of Mt. McKinley next year.

A party of three, headed by Hudson Stuck, is credited with having reached the summit of this highest peak on the North American continent in June, 1913, but as yet no one has made motion pictures of the higher portions. Caldwell intends to make movies of the mountain and of the wild life and fauna he encounters. The mountain is 350 miles north of Seward, Alaska, and is 29,300 feet high.

Opened Long's Peak

Caldwell is the guide who opened the trail on Long's Peak in Colorado and is the only man who ever guided a woman down the east face of that treacherous mountain. She was Mrs. G. P. Edmonds of Chicago, Caldwell's former director. Caldwell intends to make movies of the mountain and of the wild life and fauna he encounters. Rounds Up Party
"I am now rounding up my party, but the right kind of men are hard to get. The men must be of the right temperament and sportsmanship and not just strong men. There a lot of strong men who cannot stand high altitudes. Then again there are men who are not affected by altitude but are cowards when caught in a tight place. It's not easy to find the right combination."
Caldwell expects to establish two permanent camps he will sail from Seattle in May next year. He is conferring with several well known mountain climbers in the east before returning to his camp at Long Peak.—Omaha Bee-News.
