Many Autos are Frisked and One Stolen

Postmaster J. W. Holmes Walking Today as Car Taken Early This Morning.

From Monday's Daily— At a very early hour this morning the police were kept very busy in trying to round up the party or parties that were pulling off a number of petty thefts and which culminated in the stealing of the Ford coupe of Postmaster J. W. Holmes from near the Herold apartments, where he resides.

The parties were operating in several parts of the city, as they stole a grip from the car of Dr. R. P. Westover, which had been left parked near his residence on High school hill and the grip was found later in the car of George F. Dovey near the Herold apartments. The car of Charles Hula, which was also left parked near his home on High school hill, had the battery removed and the cells drained and rendered useless.

The chief basis of the activities of the mischief makers appeared to be in the vicinity of the Herold apartments, where they took the car of H. H. Howitzer from his home just north of the apartment house and rolled it down to the apartments on 5th street and left it in place of the car of Mr. Holmes which they took and apparently made their getaway. An attempt was also made to get away with the car of Waldemar Soennichsen about 5 o'clock this morning, but the parties were seen by members of the family and the police called. In the meantime they were able to make their getaway before being apprehended.

The work seems to have been that of some mischief maker or someone who was unbalanced, judging from the nature of the stunts that they pulled off and it is thought that the car of Mr. Holmes will probably be found later, abandoned, as was the case of the car of Mr. Howitzer, the persons taking the car seemingly not caring to make a getaway with the property.

BEAUTIFYING GROUNDS

From Monday's Daily— Landscaping of the grounds in front of the Legion community building is in the hands of Henry Jasper, the enterprising Plattsmouth florist and landscape gardener, who volunteered his services in this line and has already transformed the appearance by setting out considerable shrubbery. His plans called for a couple of window boxes and no sooner had the call gone forth than A. F. Sturmy of Nebraska, donated a pair of the concrete boxes manufactured in that enterprising town, and which were brought up yesterday by John Wunderlich. The continued interest of the public in the beautifying project is highly appreciated by the members of the Legion who are striving by sheer hard work put forth on their dance promotion enterprise to not only pay off present indebtedness but to lay up a fund for completion of the structure within the next few years.

Messrs. Jasper, Sturmy and Wunderlich have all won a vote of thanks for their fine work.

Pioneer Bridge is Closed and Will be Wrecked

Plattsmouth Auto and Wagon Bridge Which Was Erected in 1911 to Be Dismantled.

From Monday's Daily— Yesterday the bridge over the Platte river which has been operated by the Plattsmouth Auto and Wagon Bridge Co., was closed to travel and the structure that has served as a means of crossing of the river since 1911 will soon be a mere memory. This bridge was one of the first structures of its kind in the state and was erected when the travel over the highways was not as heavy as today and at the time that T. H. Pollock of this city, with Ralph Duff of Nebraska City and others, erected the bridge, its success as a paying investment was a matter of doubt but it was built to give the residents of the southeastern section of the state a means of travel over the river and to Omaha and points north and at the time of its erection was a very advanced step forward.

The first year of the bridge were lean for the owners of the structure but with the vast development of the auto industry and the thousands of cars and trucks coming into service, the bridge became a great success and in the past ten years has been a source of a fine return to the owners for the investment in the structure. Since the erection of the new steel and concrete bridge that is operated by Cass and Sarpy counties has been in service the older bridge has fallen off in its patronage as the state aid bridge will soon be a free structure. It is the decision of the company owning the older bridge to sell the structure and have it dismantled.

Ownership of Land on River Front on Trial

Dispute Over the Right of Homestead Rights Claimed by Some of the Residents.

From Tuesday's Daily— The district court has spent two days in the trial of a case that involves the title to certain land on the bottom just east of the Burlington station, which has been in more or less litigation for the past twelve years.

The action is one in which William Hartwick and August Bach are the plaintiffs against William Ferguson and Jean Mason and which involves the often disputed question of the right of ownership of the land formed by the accretion of the Missouri river. Mr. Mason had settled on a tract of the land that was formed by accretion and adjoining the land that was owned by the plaintiffs in the case. Later Mr. Mason sold the land to Mr. Ferguson and when he attempted to gain possession of the land his title was disputed by the plaintiffs, who claim the land because of the fact that it was formed by the river and joining their property with that of the plaintiffs. This land was long disputed by the city of Plattsmouth and a group of parties that had settled and erected residences on the land and in the trial of the case in the courts the homestead rights of the residents was claimed with the exception of the baseball park which had been fenced and cared for by the baseball association and title to which was vested in the city. At the time of the trial of the previous cases, the denial of the right of the city or the Burlington to the land, formed by accretion by reason of their having title to the land adjoining, was denied. The case has attracted much attention and a large number of interested spectators have been present in court to hear the trial of the case.

BURNING GRASS CAUSES TROUBLE LAST EVENING

From Tuesday's Daily— Last evening the fire alarm was turned in from the south part of the city, where burning grass was threatening the destruction of the lodge of B. A. Rosencrans, located near the former T. E. Parmele residence and the blaze for a time seemed destined to sweep over the entire two blocks. With the assistance of the volunteer help that arrived, the fire was checked and while it burned over a considerable area there was no serious damage done.

The fire was started when Mr. Rosencrans was burning off a small track of grass near his lodge, the wind suddenly springing up from the north, giving the fire a great start and which caused it to sweep on up the hill to the south and in the direction of the Parmele residence. The use of wet saws and other fire fighting implements soon had the fire under control and Mr. Rosencrans, with a number of assistants remained at the scene of the fire until all danger of further spread of the fire was over.

The lodge of Mr. Rosencrans has one of the largest and most attractive fireplaces in the city and had the fire gained a little more headway it would surely have swept the building and destroyed this fine piece of work, the fireplace representing a number of years' effort on the part of Mr. Rosencrans and which has been the pride of the globe that have been sent here by friends to be placed in the fireplace.

CARS HAVE SMASHUP

From Tuesday's Daily— Last evening an auto accident occurred at Main and Eleventh street when the Ford truck of Jess Warga and the sedan driven by Alex Schilske crashed at the intersection of the two streets. Mr. Warga was driving south on Eleventh street on his way to the fire in the south part of the city while Mr. Schilske was driving west on Main street at the time and the two cars came head on at the crossing. The sedan of Mr. Schilske was quite badly damaged in the impact while the truck of Mr. Warga was not damaged to any extent.

He has continued in a state of coma for the greater part of the time and yesterday was the first day that he seemed to show any signs of recognition.

Mrs. Martha Murray Called to Last Reward

AGED Lady Dies at the Home of Her Daughter, Mrs. Bert Reed Here Sunday.

From Tuesday's Daily— This morning at 9:15 Mrs. Martha Murray, mother of Mrs. Bert Reed, died at the family home in this city after an illness of several weeks and at the ripe old age of eighty-three years.

Mrs. Murray was injured last fall in an auto accident near Elmwood, and her health has been failing since that time and for the past eight weeks she has been bedfast the greater part of the time and her advanced years and weakness caused the hopes of her recovery to be very slight. In the long weeks she has borne her suffering with patience and as her life waned away she has had the tender ministrations of her loved ones to cheer her as she drew near the end of life's journey.

Mrs. Murray has been a resident of Cass county for many years and her husband, the late Samuel Murray, was an old time resident of the vicinity of Weeping Water and Elmwood, and where the family made their home for a great many years. In the late years Mrs. Murray has resided with her daughter, Mrs. Reed, and when Mr. Reed was elected sheriff of Cass county Mrs. Murray moved to this city with the family and has since made her home in this city with the family. During her residence here Mrs. Murray has made many warm friends who learn with the deepest sorrow of her passing.

The old friends of the county will leave with regret of her death and extend to the bereaved family their deepest sympathy. Mrs. Murray is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bert Reed of this city and Mrs. Albert Walz of Fort Morgan, Colorado.

MONDAY EVENING SERMON

From Tuesday's Daily— The Monday evening sermon in the series of services being held in the Methodist church was on "Living Without God." Rev. Sortor took as his text the eighth verse of the fourteenth chapter of the epistle to the Romans stating that: "Whether we live, we live unto the Lord, and whether we die, we die unto the Lord." There are many people in the world who profess no need of God or His church. They are willing to concede the apparent reality of God, but they are never gripped by the absolute inescapable presence of God. No man lives without the blessing of God. It is just as impossible as living in the United States of any other country and not being subject to the laws and benefits of that country. The highest type of American citizenship can only be enjoyed when those subject to its power have likewise caught the idealism and spirit of American government. Just as an escaped convict from Joliet penitentiary one fourteen years ago was apprehended in Kansas City because he betrayed innocently a fact of acquaintance with Billy Sunday as an orphan in an orphanage in Iowa so we are apprehended by our own stubbornness. There is something within man which demands an open citizenship with God to be perfectly satisfied. This convict confessed the first peace of mind in the whole fourteen years, so man never has real peace of mind without an acknowledged citizenship in God's kingdom. God is the only inescapable reality in this world which satisfies the soul of man.

HITCH IN FLIGHT PLANS

Dublin, April 2.—The German plane Bremen made a trial flight at Baldonnell airdrome this afternoon with Col. James Fitzmaurice, head of the Irish Free State air force, as assistant pilot. While Colonel Fitzmaurice and the Eiddonagh author deny that he will replace Arthur Spindler as co-pilot with Capt. Hermann Koehl on the Bremen's trans-Atlantic flight, the nature of today's trial, coupled with the departure of Spindler from Dublin, strengthened the belief that there has been a hitch in the plans of Baron Von Huenefeld, sponsor of the project. The expedition continues to await favorable weather.

It was estimated that fewer than one-tenth of Detroit's 463,91 registered voters went to the polls.

While only the names of Smith and Hoover appeared on the ballots, voters took advantage of their privilege to scratch these entries and substitute names of other preferred candidates. The name of Senator Walsh of Montana appeared frequently on the democratic ballots.
