MURRAY HOME STUDY CLUB

Mrs. Bakke was hostess to the Murray Home Study club on Friday, April 6th, with Mesdames Marcell, Smith and Miss Swanson as assistant hostesses.

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Gilmore. Roll call was responded to by "Admirable Traits which Our Grandmothers Possessed."

The Memory song for the month, "Love's Old Sweet Song" and the listening number, "Minuet in G" were played by Mrs. Stewart. The club members have thoroughly enjoyed the songs which are sent out in connection with the lessons and are sorry to know this is the last song we will have this year.

The study hour was under the leadership of Mrs. Spangler and a very interesting lesson was given on "The Type of Old Ladies We Want to Be," interspersed with several poems which were closely related to the topics of the lesson.

Mrs. Tutl gave a splendid book review on Old Lady No. 31. Miss Sans in her very interesting talk on "How Can We Teach Children to be Courteous to Older People?" gave us some splendid ideas.

This most pleasant and profitable afternoon was brought to a close by the hostesses serving delicious refreshments.

Republicans Move for Amendment Repeal

Advocated by National Affairs Committee of National Republican Club

New York, April 14.—The national affairs committee of the National Republican club today stood committed to repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

The committee, in executive session yesterday, adopted a resolution calling for incorporation in the party platform of a plank advocating repeal of the amendment. The resolution will be submitted to the full membership of the club next Tuesday night. If it is adopted, its sponsors hope to have it presented to the national convention by Dr. N. M. Butler.

The viva voce vote on the measure was so overwhelmingly in its favor that no division was called for. Benjamin L. Fairchild, chairman of the committee, said that some opposition was voiced before the vote was taken, but that the general sentiment was for adoption.

He predicted that the club also would adopt the resolution by a large majority, but opponents of the measure looked for a strong opposition vote. Some of the members of the committee, said that the meeting of the committee was a coup by the wets, declaring that the resolution never would have been adopted by the full committee.

The opposition was led by Richard W. Lawrence, incoming president of the club, who is head of the Hoover forces in New York.

William M. Calder, former senator and retiring president of the club, offered a substitute resolution urging that the question of continuing the Eighteenth amendment be submitted to the states, but this was rejected.

The National Republican club has about two thousand members living in all parts of the country, one thousand of whom are residents of New York. President Coolidge is an honorary president and on its roster is Herbert Hoover.—World Herald.

Slight Damage to Apple Crop in This Vicinity

Fruit Not Far Enough Advanced to be Injured by Freeze—Pears, Peaches, Apricots, Gone

Only slight damage was done to apple crop, but other fruits will in some cases be almost a total loss as a result of Sunday night's freeze, according to agricultural college authorities. The mercury dropped to 20 degrees in Lincoln and in places in Nebraska as low as 8 degrees.

Peaches and apricots may be a total loss in some parts of the state and the damage to plums and pears was also considerable, according to Prof. S. C. Wiggins, of the horticultural department. None of these fruits is of much commercial importance in Nebraska, but thousands of dollars worth of apples and grapes are marketed every year.

The full extent of the damage can only be determined by examination of the trees, according to Professor Wiggins. Buds from pear trees near Lincoln, indicated that this crop was greatly damaged.

Some of the early apples are in bloom or the buds ready to burst according to horticulturists and these trees were affected by the freeze. In the southeastern part of the state, where most of Nebraska's fruit is produced, the fruit is more advanced and may have been damaged to a considerable extent.

Some Fruit Lost

Falls City, Neb., April 10.—Virtually the entire plum, peach, pear and apricot crops in Richardson county suffered severe damage from cold weather during the past three days and apples were slightly hurt, H. J. Gloeffe, Falls City fruit grower, said today.

The extent of damage, however, cannot be determined for several days, he said. Oats and clover have also suffered slightly, while alfalfa was nipped, he asserted. With the exception of peas, all early garden truck, including radishes and spinach, was killed, Kloeffe said.

Tribute to Old Resident of Elmwood

Passing of Mrs. Jane Paddleford Brings Tribute From Pastor of Her Church.

Jarusha Lane, was born in Wheelersburg, Ohio, June 26, 1845. She was married to William E. Paddleford, October 11, 1860. They moved to Elmwood, Nebraska, in 1887. Mr. Paddleford died April 29, 1890. Mrs. Paddleford died April 7, 1928, at the age of 82 years, 10 months and 17 days.

She leaves to mourn her departure two sons: Charles Paddleford, of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Dr. Frank Paddleford, Miller S. D. Four daughters: Mrs. Ammon Royer and Mrs. Charles Gerbeling, of Elmwood, Neb., and Mrs. May J. Woodward, Okla., and Mrs. Burdick, Long Beach, Calif. There are fourteen grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Two of the grandchildren, Howard Royer and Floyd Gerbeling, being residents of Elmwood. There are other relatives and a host of friends. Mrs. Paddleford was converted in early childhood and united with the Baptist church. On coming to Elmwood, she placed her membership with the Methodist church, and has been a consistent follower of her Savior. She was a charter member of the Elmwood chapter of the Eastern Star and faithful in its work. Now that she is gone here remains in the chapter but one of the charter members: Mrs. C. D. Clapp.

Our friend who has gone has been a long and patient sufferer. Her children have been thoroughly devoted to their Mother. Since I have been her pastor, in Elmwood, she has stayed part of the time in the home of Mrs. Gerbeling and part of the time in the home of Mrs. Royer. They have both been beautiful in their love and their care of their mother.

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Victor West had charge of the service. The Rev. Mr. Clark assisted. The music was furnished by a quartette, composed of Dr. and Mrs. Herman, Miss Pearl Coatsman and Mr. Skeen, with Mrs. Emily Gonzales at the piano.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. MAE PATTERSON QUINN
My friend was endowed with a rare sweet radiant spirit, modest and retiring by nature, gifted as an artist, loyal and faithful as wife and friend. She lived a quiet, useful Christian life and her "going away" has left a void that nothing can fill, but God's love. Mae was beautiful as she lay in her exquisite casket, amid a bed of flowers—mute testimony of the love and esteem of family and friends and neighbors. Her sweet smile seemed to betoken her pleasure and appreciation.

I shall love to think of my friend's spirit clothed in celestial beauty, roaming with "love ones" in God's fair garden where flowers eternal bloom.

Her friend,
MARY L. WESCOTT,
Los Angeles, Cal.

Important Date in History of the Nation Thursday

Lexington Alarm Day on April 19th One of the National Flag Days —Start of Freedom.

The local Patriotic Council, representing a number of the patriotic societies of the city, are taking a great deal of interest in the observance of "Lexington Alarm" day, which will occur on Thursday, April 19th and is known as one of the national flag days when the American flag is floating in the breeze as a tribute to the New England farmers that "fired the shot heard round the world."

This date marks the opening of the Revolutionary war that was to wrest from the English crown the American colonies and to give the world the inspiration for freedom that later resulted in the French revolution and the break of the South American colonies from Spain.

The English government determined to crush the rising spirit of unrest in the breasts of the American colonists, had decided to strike their first blow near Boston, where the resentment of the people at the taxation without representation in the English parliament, found expression in the Boston tea party and as well the action in the English government in taking the citizens of the colonies to England for trial instead of having them tried in their own communities which had caused the colonists in the vicinity of Boston to concentrate their supplies at Concord for armed resistance to the foreign oppressor.

On the night preceding the fateful day when the first blood of American manhood was to be shed for freedom, the troop movements of the English were watched with interest by the colonists and as the light in the tower of the Old South church beamed forth the message that the English were marching to Concord and Lexington, the daring patriot, Paul Revere, started on his ride that was to render him undying fame in the national history.

The Minute Men of the countryside, aroused by the message from Boston assembled on the green at Lexington commons and near the creek that was peacefully flowing in the dull dawn of the April morning and were watched with interest by the New World were standing for their own rights and as the scarlet coated soldiers advanced on the colonists, a shot was fired and the war was on—to last through four years of trial and privation for the brave men and women of the colonies but destined to end in triumph when the surrender of Lord Cornwallis, commander of the English forces at Yorktown marked the fall of the foreign power and the independence of our nation.

AN ODE TO MOTHER NATURE
Oh lovely pine tree, straight and tall,
With outspread branches of bright hue,
Thy glorious green, through spring and fall,
Pine tree, I admire you.

Oh red, red rose to me's more fair,
That lovely flower of the dust,
Forever you, I'd love to wear,
I know that thou wilt fade,
Thou must.

Oh sweet canary of the cage,
Thy music is still sweeter yet,
Increases joy, banishes rage,
Our sorrows, you make us forget.

The earth has many pretty things,
There's beauty in each thing we see,
Some kind of joy, it always brings,
And lessons too, for you and me.

Race Won by Senator Howell Outside Omaha

Plurality of 18,269 Recorded With 571 Precincts Out; Norris Aids Fight of Incumbent.

With reports from more than half of the state in hand late Wednesday, Senator R. B. Howell appeared to have suffered defeat in his home town in the face of election returns giving him the senatorial nomination by approximately 20,000 majority. He lost Omaha to Attorney General Spillman by 1,000 plurality. Senator Norris left the Omaha campaign to Howell and Bob Smith. They lost it. The success of Howell was Norris' success in corraling the votes in the state.

Senator Howell's lead continued to grow as outstate returns came in. When 1,412 precincts out of 1,933 had been tabulated by the Associated Press, the vote was, Howell, 63,851; Epillman, 45,582.

E. E. Placek of Wahoo gained a few votes on R. L. Metcalfe of Omaha for the democratic senatorial nomination, as late returns came in from rural districts. The vote on 1,412 precincts was Metcalfe, 26,388; Placek, 20,456.

Arthur Mullen, democratic national committee man, continued to increase his lead over William Ritchie, Jr., the total on 1,293 precincts being Mullen, 27,151; Ritchie, 21,556.

Another serious feature of the elections, for Norris as well as Howell, was the indifference of approximately one-half of the republican voters. This indifference, which amounts substantially to refusal to vote, is a low water mark for the Norris appeal.

As a result of his victory in the primaries, Howell will seek re-election in November against Richard L. Metcalfe of Omaha, who won the democratic nomination from E. E. Placek of Wahoo.

The vote in 953 precincts gave Metcalfe 18,280 and Placek 14,784. Returns indicate the election of five McMullen delegates-at-large to the republican national convention and two McKelvie delegates. McMullen delegates are pledged to support Senator Norris, former Governor Frank O. Lowden, or, if a deadlock occurs, a candidate who is favorable to the equalization fee principle of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

Governor Adam McMullen made an extensive speaking campaign in behalf of his slate.

The McKelvie delegates are pledged to support a presidential candidate who is favorable to President Coolidge's administration.

Returns from 818 precincts out of a total of 1,933 precincts in the state show McMullen leading the 14 candidates with 48,319, with Woods second with 37,224. McKelvie, leader of the taxation without representation in the English parliament, found expression in the Boston tea party and as well the action in the English government in taking the citizens of the colonies to England for trial instead of having them tried in their own communities which had caused the colonists in the vicinity of Boston to concentrate their supplies at Concord for armed resistance to the foreign oppressor.

The vote of the remaining McKelvie slate men, 818 precincts out of 1,933, is as follows: Reavis, 26,045; Jeffers, 27,212; Sloan, 30,356; Junkin, 21,113; Wright, 25,747.

The vote of the remaining McMullen slate is: Dietrich, 31,752; McGee, 28,641.

Delegates Divided.
Latest returns, incomplete in each instance, divides the district delegates between the two slates—McMullen 6; McKelvie 10. The delegation from Douglas county not included.

The race attracting the greatest attention in the democratic party was that made by William Ritchie, Jr., who sought to deny Arthur Mullen, veteran democratic leader, the rewards of a grateful constituency. Available returns, make it apparent, however, that Ritchie's strenuous campaign fell short of the mark and that Arthur Mullen would again occupy the democratic national committee's chair from Nebraska.

The vote in 817 precincts gave: Mullen, 17,983; Ritchie, 13,638.

Returns from less than half the state gave Arthur J. Weaver a big majority in the republican gubernatorial contest. In 456 precincts he polled 25,676, compared with Robert G. Ross of Lexington who polled 6,861, and 3,882 for Roy M. Harrop, Omaha.

4,000 Majority.
The vote for democratic nomination, attorney general in 267 precincts, gave Howard Saxton, Omaha, 4,448; J. Lawler of Hastings, 5,187.

Early returns indicated that Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Omaha publisher

LINCOLN MEN ELECTED

From Thursday's Daily—
The reports on the election of the district delegates to the democratic national convention for the first Nebraska district, received from Lincoln as well as over the district delegates to the national convention. Mr. Hitchcock was unopposed in the presidential preference ballot Tuesday.—Omaha Bee-News.

Lincoln men elected as delegates, holding a margin of some thousand votes over Dr. J. S. Livingston of this city, the only out of Lincoln candidate. Dr. Livingston received a splendid vote in his home county of Cass at well as over the district divided the vote well but in the Lincoln districts the vote was practically split between Miller and Lord and giving them the lead that the smaller counties were unable to overcome. Dr. Livingston was induced to allow his name to be filed as one of the Hitchcock delegates together with J. E. Miller of Lincoln and later C. A. Lord was introduced into the race, making a three way race. Both Miller and Lord are rated as Hitchcock representatives.
