Brakeman Has Hand Cut Off by Freight Train

Albert Shields, of Creston, Iowa, Suffers Severe Injury in Local Railroad Yards.

From Monday's Daily—
Early this morning while Albert Shields, of Creston, Ia., a brakeman of the Burlington on the freight run from Omaha to Creston, was engaged in doing some switching in the local yards, he was the victim of a very severe accident that resulted in the severing of his right hand.

The freight arrived shortly after midnight and as the local switching crew was not on duty it was engaged for the crew of the freight train to look after the switching and Mr. Shields was called upon to push down the pin lifter between two of the moving cars, the lever came loose from the car and Mr. Shields fell near the rail with his arm lying across the rails and in the path of the moving cars. The brakeman was able to get all of his arm with the exception of the hand out of the way but the hand was caught and severed from the arm by the wheels of a box car.

Dr. J. S. Livingston was called and immediately cared for the wound and the injured man was then hurried to the hospital at Omaha, where he will be cared for until he is able to be cut again.

This is the first serious accident that has occurred in the local yards for some time.

The injured man is quite well known here, as he has been on the Creston-Omaha run for some time and his severe accident brings a great regret from his many friends in the train service, but Mr. Shields is fortunate that the accident was not more severe and that he did not lose the entire arm or receive fatal injuries.

J. L. Stamp, one of the well known residents of the vicinity of Rock Bluffs, is suffering from the effects of an experience that he sustained Saturday from an unruly horse and which will make it very painful for Mr. Stamp to get around for a long time. Mr. Stamp was working around with the horses and was engaged in watering one of the animals which was rather unruly and the animal started to run away and in doing so threw Mr. Stamp down and caused his knee to be twisted very badly and which caused the victim of the accident a great deal of trouble.

The injury will keep Jack on the retired list for a few days and it is fortunate that Jack Poland, the uncle of Mrs. Stamp, is here on a visit from Fort Leavenworth, where he is engaged at the Soldiers home, as he can look after the work on the farm until Mr. Stamp recovers from his injury.

Searl S. Davis, past president of the local club introduced the various numbers in his usual pleasing manner and his clever introductions were not the least of the entertainment. The Rotary Quartet composed of Frank A. Cloidt, I. O. Minor, H. G. McClusky and L. D. Hiatt, gave several selections that were received with the greatest of enthusiasm by all of the large audience.

Attorney W. A. Robertson was on the program with one of his pleasing Swedish songs for which the local attorney is justly noted and which brought a great laugh from the delighted Rotarians.

The solos numbers by Frank A. Cloidt and L. O. Minor were also much enjoyed and these two real songbirds filled the auditorium with the offering of Mr. Cloidt being two tenor solos while Mr. Minor was heard in a bass solo.

The offering of Edgar Wescott on the miramba was also one of the big hits of the program and the young man proved himself a real artist on the instrument. The accompaniment was played by E. H. Wescott, father of the young artist.

REPAIRING TELEPHONE LINES

From Monday's Daily—
The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company yesterday afternoon sent in a force of some thirty linemen who will be employed here in addition to the local force in getting the lines in this city back in shape following the heavy snow storm of the past week and which has caused a loss of several hundred thousand dollars to the telephone company in this part of the state.

There are hundreds of poles down and lines out of commission and these are being repaired as rapidly as possible, but with the wide scope of the storm in the southeast part of the state, the work has been great and made necessary the securing of all available men to help out in the work of getting the lines into something of their normal condition. The force of men will be kept here until the lines are back in shape and the service restored to the former high standard.

The whole grounds has been sown to grass that this summer should give an unbroken green setting to the switch house and the towers of the transformers and power conducting instruments.

The walks as well as the portion of the plant that is used in the care and upkeep of the transformers, is finished with crushed rock whose whiteness will be a vivid touch against the green of the grass that surrounds it.

The building that houses the switches valued at many thousands of dollars, is kept in the most spotless condition and the whole structure is one that is a credit to the city, not only as a point of light and power distribution but as well as an object of beauty to the city.

At night the electrical sign illuminates the surrounding roadway and guides the passerby on his way to and from this city with its gleaming message of service and efficiency that Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power company represents to this part of Nebraska and western Iowa and northern Missouri.

The plant is one that the city is proud to have located here in the heart of the territory that is served by this company and those who have never visited the plant should avail themselves of the opportunity.

The boys gave the names of Edward and Donald Patterson and stated that their parents reside on Dewey avenue, but could not remember the address of their home.

The boys had left Omaha yesterday afternoon and took the precaution of taking with them a small handbag filled with eatables and which they had tapped quite freely when found by the police. The boys seemed willing to be taken back home and were left resting in the jail until the Omaha police department could get in touch with their parents.

Anti-Saloon League Play Draws Many

Methodist Church Filled to Capacity Last Evening—Interesting Debate on Sunday.

From Tuesday's Daily—
Last evening the Anti-Saloon League closed a very successful inquest, which they have held in our city during Sunday and Monday, by giving the trial, "Who Killed Earl Wright." It was given to a capacity house at the Methodist church and proved a rare treat to those who had the opportunity to be in attendance. The trial is one that actually took place in Iowa and was given last night by our own townspeople taking the important roles. The trial is that of Frank Lloyd (Prof. R. F. Patterson) a boy of high character and one of the most influential boys of the community, who, while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, accidentally killed his best friend, Earl Wright. The important witness in the case was Mrs. French (Mrs. R. B. Hayes) at whose home the accident occurred, and whose husband had gotten the liquor from Tony Meakins, a bootlegger (Mr. J. C. Bridgewater), the coroner, Geo. W. Cook, (Rev. H. G. McClusky) was also an important witness. Prof. R. E. Bailey as Judge proved a very strong character, and while the sympathy of the court was with Lloyd, he showed clearly in his decision that justice must be done and that though one is not wholly responsible for the act while intoxicated, the law does not excuse the act. The lawyer for the state, Mr. R. E. Owen and the council for the defendant, Mr. Sam DeFur in their closing arguments were the high points of the case, and held the audience spellbound by their eloquence. The part of bailiff (J. A. Capwell), sheriff (C. A. Rawls) Mrs. Lloyd (Mrs. Charles Troop) and the court reporter (Helen Heinrich) were all well taken. The jury, composed of J. H. Graves, Herbert Nelson, Mrs. Ann, Mrs. Schme, Mrs. G. O. Schwesker, Justice Lillie, G. L. Farley, Mrs. Alpha Mauzy, Mrs. J. E. Wiles, Myron Beardley, Mrs. Coryell and Mrs. Gorder returned a verdict for the state.

The dramatic debate, "Can the Law Be Enforced," given by J. A. San DeFur and R. E. Owens at the Presbyterian church Sunday night brought out the fact that it takes the co-operation of the citizens and officers, to enforce the law and that neither can do the work alone.

Taken as a whole, we feel that it has been a great privilege to the audience of Plattsmouth to enjoy this institute and we feel that great good to our community will be the outcome.

Jury Gives Verdict for Julia Kratochvil

Find for Plaintiff in the Sum of $4,800 After Several Hours of Deliberation.

From Wednesday's Daily—
The case of Julia Kratochvil vs. the Estate of John Koukal, deceased, was closed at noon Tuesday when the arguments to the jury were made by the counsel and the issues submitted to the jury for their judgment, they returned a verdict in favor of Mrs. Kratochvil in the sum of $4,800.

The plaintiff had sued for the sum of $10,000, which was asked as a claim for services that had been given by the plaintiff in the household of her father, John Koukal it being claimed by the plaintiff that she had returned from Wisconsin where she had gone to reside with an aunt and had then started in to care for the home, her mother being ill and later grew worse and lingered for over a year and was under the care of the plaintiff, it also being alleged in the petition of the plaintiff that she had the care of the entire household as well as the twin children that were born a year previous to the death of the other. For these services the plaintiff filed the claim of $10,000.

It was contended by the defense that the plaintiff had shared the work of the home with the other members of the family and had agreed to the distribution of the estate as was arranged by the members of the family at a meeting and which had included the plaintiff receiving a share of $500 more than the other members of the family.
