Nehawka Was Ready

Arrangements were made for a ball game on last Sunday at the Nehawka park and on the arrival of the Crickets from Plattsmouth, were ready for the game, but evidently the team from the county seat had failed to practice enough, and with the ending of the game which was one of much mirth and experience, the tally sheet showed that the Plattsmouth team had registered some five runs, while the home team had secured just thirty.

Moves to Alliance.

Elmer McReynolds, who has made his home on a farm near Nehawka most of his lifetime, on Monday and Tuesday of last week loaded a car of machinery, including a tractor and other farming equipment, to be shipped to Alliance, Nebraska, where he expects to break up some 480 acres of land, which he and other members of the McReynolds family own in that section of the state.

He left for the west the following morning in his car. His brother, Alvin will continue to operate the home farm near Nehawka as well as the one he owns northwest of Nehawka.

Nehawka Lady Dies in Omaha

Mrs. Ella Francisco, formerly Miss Ella Mason, who has been so severely ill with her, and on last has been given the very best of care and medical attention, Mrs. Francisco, has not been robust, and with a frail body and none to strong, the coming of their son last week and left this excellent lady in a very poor state of health. She was emic in nature and it had been necessary to resort to blood transfusion, in the hope that she would thus be restored to health. The brother, Thomas Mason Jr., and the hero which he is in order to save the life of the sister shared with the one he dearly loved shared his blood with her, and on last Saturday gave a quart for her recovery, and on Monday morning was again going to Omaha, that he might contribute again, blood for her recovery, but the death Angel called ere the time which the physicians had set for the second transfusion. The mother, Mrs. Thomas Mason Sr., was with the daughter at the hospital, and was giving all care for the welfare of the daughter, but science and good nursing were of no avail, and the patient sank into the arms of the waiting Angels, and left the little son to the tender care of his father and grand parents. When word came of the passing of this excellent woman, and one loved by her host of friends in Nehawka where she has spent the most of the years of her life, the grief stricken father and brother hastened to the mother who was with the daughter that she might receive their comfort and consoling sympathy. The family have the sympathy of the many friends in Nehawka and elsewhere in this hour of grief. We have no information as to the funeral and burial arrangements. She leaves to mourn her departure besides the sorrowing parents, her brother, Thomas Mason, and her grief stricken husband, Mr. Boyd Francisco, and their little son scarce a week old.
