"I find it not only eliminates all fuel knocks but -"

MR. FRED RAUBACH, Valentine, Nebraska, who sells Dodge Brothers motor vehicles and Graham Brothers Trucks, decided to test this new fuel in his own car before forming an opinion. He wrote us this letter:

"It has been rumored extensively that Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline would not eliminate fuel knock and would be detrimental to the working parts of the motor. As soon as I got this gas in, I was determined to use it in my personal car, which is a 1926 Dodge sedan.

"I find it not only eliminates all fuel knocks, but gives me considerably smoother performance.

"Upon one of my drives to the sand hills, I drove sixty-one and one-half miles on two gallons of Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline, where it would have taken three gallons of the ordinary gasoline

"I have now driven more than three thousand miles on Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline and have not had a fuel knock, nor have I had any other motor trouble of any kind.

"Upon checking over my gasoline sales, I find that Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline has increased my sales considerably.

"I cannot recommend it too highly to anyone for a motor fuel".

Follow Mr. Raubach's plan and see how Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline works in your motor.

This matchless fuel is a combination of always reliable Red Crown Gasoline and Ethyl Brand Anti-Knock Compound.

Sold by reliable dealers and Red Crown Service Stations everywhere in Nebraska.

SMITH'S VICTORY: McADOO'S DEFEAT

Significant and decisive as Gov. Smith's victory in the California Democratic primaries was, it is not more significant and decisive than McAdoo's defeat.

McAdoo was powerful in the Democratic convention of four years ago. He was the leader and candidate of a group of prohibitionists and religious intolerants, strong enough to veto the nomination of any candidate to which it was opposed. McAdoo's opposition was directed to Gov. Smith's candidacy, and he defeated him.

McAdoo is the political foe of Gov. Smith in the pending presidential contest for the Democratic nomination. He has not only attacked Gov. Smith, but picked Senator Walsh of Montana, prohibitionist and Catholic, to beat Smith. He put all of his available strength back of Senator Walsh's candidacy. Senator Walsh has made no progress in gaining delegates outsideof his own State of Montana.

McAdoo entered Senator Walsh in McAdoo's State of California. The result was an overwhelming defeat of McAdoo and his candidate. In the three-cornered fight between Smith, Senator Reed of Missouri and Walsh, McAdoo's candidate was a poor third. Smith got more votes than the combined votes of both of his opponents.

It is particularly significant that in Los Angeles County, McAdoo's home, hitherto overwhelmingly dry, Smith led the vote. Smith received in 1785 out of 2577 precincts; 26,290; Reed 17,640 and Walsh 12,710.

At his first test of strength and influence in popular vote, McAdoo faalls. His own people repudiate him. He is outside the Democratic breastworks.

Two conclusions may be drawn from the Smith vote in California. One is that Smith is popular with Democratic voters in the West. The other, that there is a decided reaction against prohibition voters hitherto dry. On his record, Gov. Smith is regarded as a leading anti-prohibitionist. Yet in a popular vote against a dray candidate, in dry territory, he has won an overwhelming majority.

The California vote is regarded generally as assuring the nomination of Gov. Smith by the Houston convention. He is credited with 528 delegates, within 23 of a majority. This strong lead undoubtedly will be influential in other states and unpledged delegations. The final result, however, is still in the realm of prediction and speculation. The Governor is certainly a presidential sprinter.

—:o:—

SENATOR WALSH'S SHOWING

Senator Walsh ran third in the California primary, and, according to the Associated Press report, his "failure to register more heavily was also a surprise." It may have surprised the managers of his canvass, but we doubt that it has surprised the country as a whole. In any event, Mr. Walsh's showing can readily be accounted for. The truth is that his candidacy has never been accepted as sincere by the country as a whole. This impression in no wise reflects upon the character of Senator Walsh but it does reflect upon his political acumen. Political Mr. Walsh is not available. He is handicapped geographically. His age is against him. And the psychology of the situation has for months pointed directly to Gov. Smith. Further, Senator Walsh's candidacy carried the fatal sponsorship of Mr. McAdoo, who, in popular judgment, has been actuated solely by vindictive hostility to Gov. Smith. His real friends, who appreciate and admire his disinguished public service, genuine ly regret that Senator Walsh permitted himself to be used in McAdoo's spiteful and futile plot.
