Large Number of Papers Received from the Young People Along Line of Temperance Work

As stated in Monday's Journal for over fifteen years the Scientific Temperance Instruction outlined and published by the W. C. T. U. of the United States has been done in our local grades by children from ages of six to fourteen. During the last two years literature has been introduced into high school grades but not enough work done by students to justify granting of awards. The real success of this work is due to the teacher who accepts the added task also it is given as a part of some regular work or study. To the teacher the W. C. T. U. grants all credit for any benefit the children receive from this line of work. Again we say there has been benefit resulting not only to the individual but to our country at large, for time without number we have heard it said, that the Scientific Temperance Instruction of the W. C. T. U. was the basic reason for prohibition being nationally adopted ten years before expected by its advocates. Neither has the W. C. T. U. ceased their effort along this line, nor will they as long as this is one reason for its continuance. And while the children are studying the why for prohibition, their parents and protectors, be asleep or indifferent to our job of "holding fast" that which we have gained and study to know for ourselves the real facts of conditions, both now and before the passing of the 18th amendment.

To the following were awards made and honorable mention for work done:

Central Building. Fourth Grade—Mrs. Kieck, teacher. Boys—Donald Wargia; Glendora Smalley; Honorable mention, Henry Guy McMaken, Stephen Davis, Louise Kishel.

Fifth Grade—Miss Mason, teacher. Boys—Carl Hula; Girls, Mable Alley; Honorable mention, Howard Hitz, Elizabeth Standley.

Fifth Grade—Miss Moore teacher. Boys—Nathan Chase; Girls Lydia Pitz; Honorable mention, Chester Kline, Esther Eledge, Carlson, teacher. Boys—Wendell Marshall; Girls, Mary Ann Rosenkrans; Honorable mention, James Robertson, Margaret Taylor.

Sixth Grade—Mrs. Gamer, teacher. Boys—Herbert Hallett; Girls, Beiva Hughes; Honorable mention, Wayne Hiner, Dorothy McCarthy.

Sixth Grade—Columbian building. Miss Hawksworth teacher. Boys—Arnold Sharp; Girls, Virginia Trively; Honorable mention, Earnest Seitz, Irma Herrick.

Junior High—Miss Phillips, teacher. Seventh Grade—Boys, Donald Bushnell; Girls, Leota Wilkins; Honorable mention, Douglas, Douglas, Robert Lee, Selby Lightbody, Dorothy Lahr, Elinore Smetana.

Eight Grade—Boys, Robert Mann; Girls, Irene Simons; Honorable mention, Parmele Dovey, Edward Egenberger, John Becker, Helen Wargia, Thelma Hutchison.

Of these, the best one from each grade were sent to the county contest between city school grades and these are: Grade 4, Donald Wargia; Grade 7—Leota Wilkins; Grade 8—Robert Mann. These were the ones selected by the county judges and sent as representative papers to the state superintendent to enter the contest there. Elmwood, Murray, and Weeping Water were sent to represent the other grades.

CHILD WELFARE PROGRAM

From Thursday's Daily—The meeting of the W. C. T. U. which was held at the home of Mrs. C. C. Westcott this week, was devoted largely to Child Welfare, this forming the theme of the discussions of the afternoon and also the program was furnished by the younger children of the city in a very clever manner.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Anna Wiles and was one of the most interesting that the society has held for some time.

A group of five little girls, Bonnie Jean Capwell, Mary Elizabeth Wiles, Helen Lucille Hiatt, Mary Ann Trumble and Mary Catherine Gorder, were present and received as white ribbon recruits and presented with a white ribbon tied on their wrist and also give a large red tulip in recognition of the occasion.

A most delightful musical program was offered by the young people. Catherine Terryberry at the piano, Wallace Terryberry, drums and Donald Cotner, saxophone, furnishing two very delightful numbers.

Several "Uke" solos were given by Virginia Price, Helen Schulz, and Winifred Rainey, which was very enjoyable.

Miss Jean Hayes gave two very splendid vocal numbers that reflected the greatest credit upon this talented little lady.

During the course of the afternoon Miss Edith Farley gave a talk on kindergarten work in the city schools as a part of the child welfare movement and which was a great aid to the children.

At the conclusion of the afternoon dainty and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess that added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

INFANT DAUGHTER IS CALLED BY DEATH

The little two months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Perryberry died last Tuesday morning, May 8th, at the M. E. hospital in Omaha, where she had been taken three weeks before the treatment, never having been a strong baby. Everything possible was done to save her life, but to no avail. She was born March 1, 1928.

She leaves her parents and one little sister, a large number of relatives and a host of friends.

The funeral occurred at Glendale on Wednesday, Re. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Plattsouth officiating, with interment in Glendale cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Terryberry have the deepest sympathy of their many friends and neighbors in their great sorrow and loss.—Louisville Courier.

Loses Right Arm in Distressing Accident

Flesh and Bones Mangled Between Cogs of Cement Mixer—Taken to Hospital for Operation

A most distressing accident occurred Monday morning in which A. W. Glasenapp, employed by the Industrial Engineering company of Kansas City, lost his right arm at the shoulder. The Industrial company have the contract for erecting the cement storage silos at the cement plant. Glasenapp was working at the cement mixer and in some unknown way got his right arm caught between two large cog-wheels, shattering the bones of his arm and badly lacerating the flesh.

He was picked up by other workmen and hurried to Dr. E. J. Lisak's office, where an examination was made and first aid given. Dr. Lisak ordered him taken to the Methodist hospital, where the arm was removed at the shoulder.

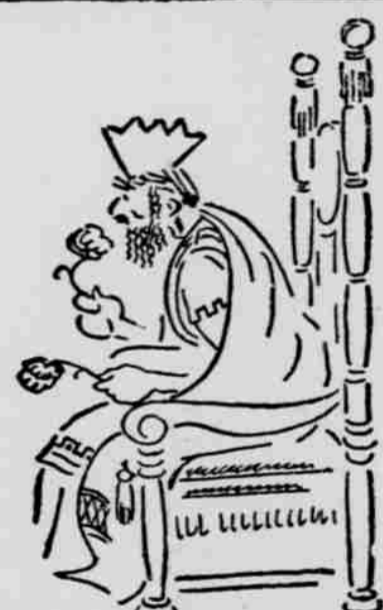

Mrs. Glasenapp had arrived in town just a few hours before her husband met with the horrible accident. They were arranging to live in a tent on account of the scarcity of houses. Mrs. Glasenapp accompanied her husband to the hospital. She was almost prostrated over the misfortune.—Louisville Courier.

BAND CONCERT POSTPONED

Owing to the unfavorable condition of the weather that prevailed last evening it was decided that it would be best to postpone the band concert to have been given by the Eagles and Legion Junior band, at the court house lawn. The bands will present the same program as outlined for last Wednesday evening, May 16th at the court house and which should be one of the enjoyable features of the season. The Eagles band has some of the best musicians of the state in their membership and the splendid program that the Junior band has had under the direction of L. D. Hiatt and W. R. Holly has made them a real snappy little band and which the public will have the opportunity of hearing for the first time on next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Historic Old Church Destroyed by Fire

Old Baptist Church at Louisville Is Destroyed by Fire—One of Oldest in County

With the burning of the old Baptist church on Gospel hill last week, another of our oldest landmarks has departed. The church was not totally destroyed by the fire, but is so badly charred that very little of it can be salvaged. It is uncertain how the fire originated. It appears that it started in the basement at the north end and when discovered it was blazing fiercely inside. Prompt and heroic efforts of the volunteer fire department aided by volunteers from the cement plant, kept the blaze within bounds and saved the house of Mrs. John Myers next door north, as a strong wind was blowing from the south. Mrs. Myers feels very grateful to the fire boys, to the cement workers and the neighbors who assisted her in saving her home.

This old building was moved here from Murray more than 45 years ago by Walter Cutforth and others interested in the Baptist denomination. Our old timers well remember many different entertainments that were given there in early days, among them the cantata, "Queen Esther," Miss Ella McBride, an elocutionist of rare ability, when elocutionist were scarce, used to come here to give entertainments. She wore a red velvet gown with a long train and must have looked like a veritable Queen of Sheba, upon one occasion, and C. C. McPherson, now of Lincoln, but then time keeper for the W. H. B. Stout quarries, escorted her to and from the state. Many rousing revival meetings have been held in this old church in bygone times, also. The lot is owned by a Baptist society and will probably be sold in the near future.—Louisville Courier.

There are many ways to stop ditches both large and small. The farm Bureau in this county is starting some definite work along this line this summer. We will have meetings at several points where illustrated lectures will be given to show how erosion is controlled. Later actual demonstrations of building brush dams and soil saving dams will be held on farms over the county. In later articles methods of erosion will be given.

Girls Clubs We have fewer girls clubs than in any year since we organized. We hope there will be more clubs organized during this month.

Hardy Alfalfa Anyone wishing to see the difference between hardy and unhardy alfalfa can do so this spring. R. C. Wenzel of Eagle has a field which was sown with seed direct from western Nebraska. Henry Holman of Wabash, Leslie Wiles of Weeping Water have fields which were sown with seed direct from Rapid City, South Dakota.

Going to Club Week The following club members have won trips to Club Week: Clarence Norris, Margaret Heebner, Lula Emmert, Margaret Ranny, Wayne and Clifford Domingo, Vincent Rehmer, Mildred Smith, Mrs. R. E. Norris, local leader, Morjorie Joyce, Mildred Hoback Jessie Livingston, Clarence Kintner, all of Weeping Water; Edith Robertson, Eagle; Rhea Timblin, Alvo; Charles Rose, Nehawka; Irving Hutchins, Avoca; Willene Fager, Avoca; Ila Pershing, So. Bend. Others going are: Olive Bricker, Alice Kellogg, So. Bend; Lucile Christensen, Genevieve Daugherty, Alvo. This gives Cass county 17 free trips, a record for the other counties to work towards.—L. R. SNIPES, Co. Extension Agent.

SAYS CROPS LOOK GOOD From Friday's Daily—Mr. and Mrs. John Scheel, two of the prominent residents of the vicinity of Murdock, were here today for a few hours, making the trip via the auto route, Mr. and Mrs. Scheel state that crops in their part of the county are coming along fine and that the rain there a few nights ago was very beneficial and gave a general feeling of a fine outlook for the crops this season in that part of the county.
