LOWDEN VS. MELLON

I have felt from the first that th Republican will have a real fight this fall. * * * Feeling that way, I made up my mind that I would not do anything that would militate against my election.

The above statement was made by former Gov. Lowden of Illinois in his Committee of his canvass for the 1928. nomination. It is a story of modest expenditure of money—a total of May, 1928. $60,000-in happy contrast with his lavish disbursements in the pre-con- (Seal) m7-4w Decoration Day is next in order- vention orgy of 1920. The Lowden canvass, moreover, has not only been has been marked by a distinctive courtesy towards opponents, in the sons" candidates.

The quoted opinion as to the prospects of a real fight this full is, howthan anything else Mr. Lowden said. It is directly opposite to the assump-Pennsylvania caucus when, commending the action in sending an uninstructed delegation to Kansas City, he remarked that the Republican convention would not merely dent of the United States."
