DIES AT WASHINGTON

The news has been received here by old time friends of the Daniel O'Brien family, old time residents here, of the death of a daughter of the family, Sister Mary Thomas, of the Dominican order of the Roman Catholic church, which occurred a few days ago at Washington, D. C. The deceased was Miss Mollie O'Brien and was born in this city, where she spent a part of her girlhood and later entered the sisterhood of the Dominican order and has been engaged in the teaching of music in the church schools at various places until she was taken ill while at Washington and died at that place.

Farmers are to Receive a Call by Radio

Gov. McMullen Names It Second Great Caravan of Covered Wagons to Protect an Empire.

"You boys have been having fun with the army called to march on the national conventions," said Governor McMullen in answer to questions of reporters, "but let me tell you this, it is to be the second great caravan of covered wagons. The first caravan pioneered an empire in the west. The second will pioneer protection and maintenance of that empire. What is the use to have an empire unless you protect it?"

"We ask farmers to get into their flivvers and go to Kansas City. We already have offers of ground. We will have water and things of that kind and other service. We expect farmers to go on their own and provide their own subsistence, as we have no funds. We will give them a place to put their cars and a place to sleep. They will pay for their own food. Kansas City will care for them as they will for all who come."

"The members of the caravan will be there only a few days. Farmers can afford to give their time for a whole season if they can get their rights. All they can do is to carry the idea that farmers do not want and do not need anything is not so. We want to see if the will of the people is to prevail."

Congress has its caravans of lobbyists, representing different interests, but when farmers want it seems funny to some. There will be 100,000 there. We expect to broadcast a call from some broadcasting station giving details of plans for assembling. We already have offers from broadcasting stations. Plans will all be worked out. We have asked officers of the convention to use as much space as possible in the hall. Everything will be orderly. Each one will be given a badge to distinguish visiting farmers from others. Any man in accord without our views will be given a badge.

"We shall insist at Kansas City on a definite specific statement in the platform, even to the naming of the McNary-Haugen bill. The first battle will center around the agricultural plank in the national platform."

Governor McMullen said he had received many messages by wire. One from H. L. Sams of Scottsbluff, secretary of the county republican committee, says: "The president thru ignorance and New England provincialism has betrayed the American farmer. Casual observation shows objections based on prejudice not facts. Agricultural districts will be solid against any candidate for president dominated by the industrial east."

The governor declined to say whether Woods Bros. of Lincoln had offered their lands on the river at Kansas City for a parking or camping place for the caravan.

REAL MOTHERGOOD

From Friday's Daily—
 For several years the Burlington pumping station at the local shops has had domiciled there a fine old cat, who has reared several families of kittens to full cat hood, but who has now taken on another job of rearing a strange family.

The cat a few days ago gave birth to two fine little kittens and two days ago made an addition to her family by adopting seven small rabbits who are now a part of the family.

The mother cat had discovered the family of rabbits somewhere in the vicinity of the shops and Wednesday she commenced moving the tiny little bunnies to their new home, carrying each one by the neck to the place where she had the nest for her kittens and after several long trips the cat had all of the rabbits safely at their new home and has since that time been feeding the rabbits along with her own kittens, the rabbits and kittens dwelling in peace and harmony with the care of the common mother. Two of the rabbits have died but the five remaining and the two kittens are thriving nicely under the care of the old cat.

The instinct of the cats are usually to kill the young rabbits, but in this case the old mother cat has shown her full maternal feeling by adopting the rabbits as her own.

Well Known Old Resident of Louisville Dies

Fred Brand, Blacksmith for the Past Forty-Five Years Dies in Omaha Hospital.

One of the well known residents of the vicinity of Louisville for the past forty-five years, Fred Brand, was called by death on Tuesday night at the University hospital at Omaha where he had been taken the last week and where he was operated on Sunday evening for hernia.

Mr. Brand who has been somewhat of a recluse and a rather eccentric character, had lived alone on a small place that he had near the town of Louisville and he was found at his home last week by Charles Hennings, who found the aged man ill and in very pitiable condition, having been helpless for three days, and unable to summon help to his assistance. Mr. Hennings called other neighbors and Dr. E. H. Wortman of Louisville, and after an examination the aged man was taken to the hospital at Omaha by H. B. Koop, cashier of the Home State bank and where the operation was performed.

The aged man came through the operation nicely but his undernourished condition made it impossible for him to rally from his illness and the long suffering from the hernia, and death finally came to his relief.

Mr. Brand was seventy-five years of age and came to America from his boyhood home in Germany in 1882, going first to Otoe county for a short time and then came to Plattsmouth where he worked for a short time in the local shops. He lived here only a short time and then removed to Louisville where he engaged in the blacksmith business for the remainder of his lifetime.

He was well known in Louisville and had many friends who were regretted to learn of his passing.

The body was brought to Louisville Thursday and the funeral services held yesterday afternoon at the Lutheran church. Rev. Theodore Hartman holding the services and the interment was made at the Glendale cemetery east of Louisville.

GLAD ULTRA DRY BEATEN

San Antonio, Tex., May 25.—John Boyle of San Antonio, leader of the forces in Texas seeking the nomination of Governor Smith of New York as the democratic candidate for president, said in a statement here today that he had "no substantial grievance" against Governor Moody of Texas as a result of the state democratic convention at Beaumont on Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Governor Moody prevailed in the election of the platform for which he fought," Boyle said, "and contributed more than anyone to the defeat of Tom Love (leader of the ultra-dry, seeking instruction against Governor Smith or any other wet."

"I can hold no substantial grievance against him when I remember that he performed a great service for Texas by eliminating Tom Love and in committing Texas democracy to remain loyal to the nominee in the June convention and in lowering into the platform the sound democratic plank on religious freedom."

PHARMACY AWARD TO 'BOB' THYGESON

Another University of Nebraska honor comes to a Nebraska City student in the form of an unusual tribute to Robert Thygeson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thygeson.

At special convocation of the College of Pharmacy, Robert received the award in excellence of scholarship, character and "success for the future." The award, in the form of a medal, was presented by Dr. Lyman, head of the college, on behalf of a nationally known drug company, the donor.

The award comes as a special honor to the Nebraska City student for the reason that it is the first time it has been given to a three-year student. Robert will return to the University next year to continue the study of chemistry, since the State Board of Examiners does not permit persons under 21 to take the state pharmacy tests.—Nebraska City News-Press.

Mr. Thygeson is a grandson of A. W. White of this city and a nephew of Mrs. J. A. Donelan and well known to many here, where the young man has been a frequent visitor.

Bank at Wymore is Held Up Today for $5,000 Loss

Daylight Stickup of Bank Occurred This Morning at 10 O'Clock; Search On Here.

From Saturday's Daily—
 This morning at 10 o'clock the First National bank at Wymore, Nebraska, was added to the list of banking institutions that have been looted by stick up men, the raid on the institution occurring when five men entered the bank and proceeded to stick up the officers and clerks of the bank and securing some $5,000 in cash and made their escape.

The announcement of the holdup was received here shortly after it occurred by Sheriff Bert Reed, who was called by State Sheriff W. C. Condit and the car in which the robbers made their escape was described as a wine colored Nash sedan that bore the license, Nebraska No. 1-26233, being apparently a Douglas county car.

It was thought that the robbers were seeking to make their way into Omaha and Sheriff Reed accompanied by Constable Tom Svoboda and Officer Joe Libershal drove to Louisville to watch the bridge at that point while Deputy Sheriff Young and Officer Dave Fickel were stationed at the Platte river bridge north of this city to check any attempt of the robbers to make their getaway through this locality.

It was thought at the office of the state sheriff that the robbers were the same that recently held up a bank in eastern Colorado and made their escape from the scene and are supposed to have come to Nebraska.

The town of Wymore is located in southern Gage county about halfway between Beatrice and the Kansas state line and the authorities in all of the neighboring counties of Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri have been notified of the robbery and to guard all roads that might permit their escape.

The Missouri river ferry at this place is also being guarded to prevent any cars that might possibly contain the robbers getting across the river into Iowa.
