William Richter Has a Close Call from Death Today

Overcome While Cutting Into Gas Connection and Recovers Only After Much Effort.

From Tuesday's Daily—

This morning William Richter, one of the employees of the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., had a very close call from death when he was overcome by gas while assisting in installing gas in the room formerly occupied by the McElwain jewelry store and which is soon to be used as a barber shop by W. D. McCrary.

Mr. Richter was working in a small space beneath the window in the Fred H. Mumm bakery, cutting into the gas line to extend the piping to the new barber shop and in doing the work it was found necessary to use a hack saw to get into the pipe which necessitated the workman getting close to the pipe, where a quantity of gas was making its escape. Confined in the small space there was considerable gas formed and Mr. Richter failed to notice the fact that the gas was escaping so freely and it was only when he reached the open air that he collapsed.

The victim of the gas was able to come out of the place where he was working by himself and started for the door when he commenced to stagger and sway on his feet, at which he assured other workmen that he was feeling no ill effects from the gas. Suddenly without warning he sunk to the ground and was drawn and helpless from the effects of the gas. George Beamis, a fellow worker carried the suffering man to a place where artificial respiration was started by Mr. Beamis and Searl Davis, and after some effort the effects of the gas was baffled off and the victim of the gas attack was sufficiently revived that he was able to be taken to the plant of the light and power company where he was cared for and later taken on home to recuperate from the effects of the attack but which will leave its effect with him for some little time.

FUNERAL OF JOSEPH SKALAK

From Tuesday's Daily—

The funeral services of the late Joseph Skalak was held on Sunday afternoon at the home on Lincoln avenue and despite the severe weather conditions that prevailed there was a very large number of the old friends and neighbors gathered to pay their last tributes of love and respect for this splendid gentleman that had been called to the last long rest.

The services were in charge of the Rev. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the First Presbyterian church who was assisted by the Rev. Z. Zajner of Omaha, pastor of the Bohemian Presbyterian church of that city. The ministers gave words of comfort to the family of the bereaved and spoke of the splendid life of the departed and his part in the community as a useful citizen who had striven for the very best that was possible in the community and had cared for and reared his splendid family to be a part of the community.

During the service a male quartet composed of L. D. Hlatt, H. G. McClusky, Frank A. Clout and L. O. Minor, gave two of the old and loved hymns, "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me" and "Rock of Ages."

At the conclusion of the service the body was borne to Oak Hill cemetery where it was consigned to the last long rest in the family plot in that beautiful city of the silent.

RETIRE FROM SERVICE

The veteran horse that for so many years has hauled the wagon used by the Plattsmouth Steam Laundry is no more, that is in the active service that has long made him a familiar figure. The passage of the years has brought with it the necessity of having the horse replaced with a faster conveyance and accordingly a motor driven delivery wagon has been secured that is in keeping with the trend of the day in this line of service. The old horse can now enjoy a deserved rest that many years of service has entitled him to have and no more will he have his daily pilgrimages over the city.

The passage of this old horse leaves but one of the well known delivery horses in use that which Lester Burrows has used on the wagon of the American Express Co., for so many years and who has grown so accustomed to the work that he can start out on the daily rounds and almost make them alone, so familiar has he become of the work.

REMOVES DENTAL OFFICES

Dr. Charles M. Gradoville, dentist, has removed his offices from the Bates building on Fifth street, to the second floor of the Thierolf building. The new offices are now open to the patients and Dr. Gradoville ready to look after their needs in the lines of dental service.

HAS INFECTED FOOT

From Monday's Daily—

R. W. Knorr, the proprietor of the Popular Variety store is getting around by use of crutches as the result of a very serious infection of the left foot which has become so painful that it is impossible to use the foot in getting around and made necessary the use of a crutch. The infection has started from a blister on the ball of the foot and which has become so painful that it has been necessary to have medical treatment given in the hope of getting the foot back in its normal condition.

Floyd Flack is Married at Atlantic, Iowa

Well Known Teacher of P. H. S. Married to Miss Mable Duncan Saturday Afternoon.

On Saturday afternoon at 4:30 at the home of the bride's parents, at Atlantic, Iowa, occurred the marriage of Miss Mable Duncan of that city and Mr. Floyd E. Flack, for the past two years a teacher in the Plattsmouth High school.

The wedding is the culmination of a school day romance that commenced when both of the contracting parties were students at Tarkio college, at Tarkio, Mo., from which they were both graduated in the class of 1925. Since that time Mr. Flack has been located here in the Plattsmouth High school as Science teacher, while Miss Duncan has been at South High at Omaha, as librarian, both being very successful in their work and held in high esteem by their associates in the school work.

Mr. and Mrs. Flack are at home for the present at 1842 Pepper street, Lincoln, where Mr. Flack is taking summer school work in the line of executive training. After the first of September, they will be at home at Blair, Nebraska, where Mr. Flack is to be principal in the High school at that place.

The many friends here of Mr. Flack are joining in their well wishes to the young people for many years of happiness and success and which the newlyweds are so deserving of enjoying. Mr. Flack has been one of the most efficient teachers in this city and in addition to his school work was Scoutmaster of the local Scouts and contributed much to their splendid growth of the last two years and leaves a fine organization to his successor in this line of work.

FUNERAL OF NEAL MCCRORY

From Monday's Daily—

The funeral services of Neal McCrory, one of the old and well known residents of the western portion of Cass county, occurred Sunday at the Christian church at Elmwood and was one of the largest services that have been held in that locality for some months.

Mr. McCrory, who was 77 years of age at the time of his death, was one of the early settlers in that portion of Cass county and when coming there as a very young man had located on a farm southeast of Elmwood where he spent a number of years and later moved to the farm southeast of Murdock where he resided until removing to Elmwood, where he has spent his declining years. He was one of the highly esteemed residents of Elmwood and his death brings a great regret to the many friends in that section of the county.

Mr. McCrory is survived by the widow and seven children, Mrs. Verne Perry of Big Springs, Nebraska, Mrs. Oscar Allen of Omaha, William McCrory of Mound city, Missouri, Ivan McCrory of Murdock, Mrs. Frank Buell, of Murdock, Mrs. Ralph Dorr of Wabash, Marion McCrory of Murdock.

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT

From Monday's Daily—

The death of Mrs. Frank Harris, one of the old time residents of the vicinity of Pacific Junction, occurred on Saturday evening at 11 o'clock at the family home near the place, following an illness of some duration.

The funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late home and the funeral cortege come to this city, where the interment will be made at the Oak Hill cemetery.

She was one of the original members of the Old Sons of Rest, an organization with none of the old time organizers still surviving.

Mr. Wayman was an honorary member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and was a member of the G. A. R.

TO UNDERGO TREATMENT

From Monday's Daily—

Mrs. James W. Black was taken to Omaha yesterday where she was taken by Mr. and Mrs. John Klein and will take treatment there for an illness from which she has suffered for some time. It is hoped that a short course of treatment will soon place Mrs. Black in her former good health and permit her return soon to the home here.

Sketch of Life of Pioneer of Plattsmouth

John Wayman Had Colorful Career in the West and Left Notable Record of His Life.

Before the flags were raised from their position of sorrow at half past out of reverence to J. H. Bishop, Wyandotte's Builder, the death of John Wayman, the city's "Grand Old Man" caused the colors to again droop, because of his passing.

But a few men of the country had the same cheerful outlook upon life, although buffeted about by many adversities, as did Mr. Wayman. He always took an interest in the doings of the younger men and with encouragement offered to them, got them to have a brighter outlook for the task at hand.

He wanted to be where things were doing, at all times, and nothing was too modern or too youthful for him. Even during his last illness he took an interest in sports and followed baseball games of the leagues almost religiously.

Mr. Wayman was carried back to the scenes of his youth during the moments of sub-consciousness in the past few months and he plied back and forth on the river with a steamboat waiting for docking.

Mr. Wayman was born in Jackson county, Indiana, Sept. 16, 1838 and lived his young manhood in that state. Before the outbreak of the Civil war and after his school days were over, he obtained employment on one of the steamers plying back and forth on the Mississippi river and many months were spent in this occupation.

Enlists in Civil War.

With the beginning of hostilities between the Blue and the Gray over the question of slavery, the young man enlisted with the first to respond to the call to arms and he fought throughout the four years of strife.

He enlisted with the Marine forces and was on the Mississippi Ram fleet. During the period of the war he was commissioned as 1st Lieutenant.

Following the establishment of peace, Mr. Wayman again took to boating and until 1869 he was on the river much of the time.

At this time he removed to Plattsmouth, Nebraska, where he established a machine shop and foundry which he operated for 21 years.

Giving up this work, the deceased went to Ford City, Pennsylvania to work for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., which was at that time called the Ford Glass company. He remained with this firm until Capt. J. B. Ford discovered the resources for Tikal products in Wyandotte and started the erection of a plant here, which is the plant in the upper end of the city.

Selected by Ford.

Mr. Wayman was chosen as one of the men to aid in the building of the plant, because of his long service and close attention to business as well as his engineering ability, and thus in 1893 he came to Wyandotte where he has since made his home.

For seven years, the "Grand Old Man" was employed by the Alkali interests, but he again felt the urge to have a business of his own and he established coal yards, which were operated for nearly 15 years.

Some attention was being given at that time to the beautifying of the city through its parks and boulevards and there was no man more fitted for the task than was Mr. Wayman. He was the first and only Park Commissioner that Wyandotte has ever had and much of the beauty of this portion of the city has been directly due to his direction.

He enjoyed seeing beauty spring up where beauty had not been before and his work was everywhere commended by visitors to the city, who noted the results he was obtaining.

Faithful Church Worker.

Mr. Wayman always lived a good life and was a faithful church worker. He belonged to all the Brotherhoods of the city and was an honorary member of the Lutheran Men's organization. These brotherhood meetings were always attended by Mr. Wayman whenever possible and he was always willing to give a little talk on the benefits of Wyandotte at these meetings.

The deceased was a member of the Knights of Pythias for many years and was its oldest member in the state of Michigan. For many years past, until last September, Mr. Wayman has attended every Grand convention of the organization.

He was one of the original members of the Old Sons of Rest, an organization with none of the old time organizers still surviving.

Mr. Wayman was an honorary member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and was a member of the G. A. R.

Nearly a year ago Mr. Wayman had his first airplane ride with Capt. William Munn, who was killed recently and so thrilled was he at the experience that he immediately chartered the plane to take him to the K. of P. convention, a trip which he was not able to make.

Mr. Wayman died at his home, 2833 Biddle avenue last Friday shortly before noon and funeral services by Rev. Severance of St. Stephens Episcopal church were held from the residence Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial was made in the Soldiers Plat at Fernside cemetery. Services were conducted by the K. of P. and also the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Invalid Sister Survives.

Surviving relatives left to mourn the death of this aged man are the widow, Mrs. Hattie, one daughter, Mrs. Clara Daniels and a sister, Mrs. Mollie Finney of Salem, Indiana, who is 82 years of age.

Two cousins of Mr. Wayman, died in Salem, within the past month—Wyandotte (Mich.) Record.

Big Ball Game in Sight for the Coming Sunday

Malvern, Iowa, to Be the Foes on Sunday and Fort Crook to Play During Week.

From Wednesday's Daily—

The coming week should be a lively one in the city with a carnival in full blast and opening the series of entertaining features will be a ball game on Sunday that will give the first test of the season of the Plattsmouth and Malvern teams, they having not met this season.

The game will depend on the weather conditions and the fans who were deprived of the game Sunday with the Fort Crook Soldiers are anxiously awaiting the coming of the Iowa aggregation to see how strong McCord and his crew can go against the Distell tribe.

With the good stride that the locals have been maintaining in the last few games there should be a real battle as Malvern has showed good form and just recently the Iowa team secured the services of Edward Gradoville of this city as the receiver of their team and who has helped strengthen them. The Plattsmouth bunch have looked like "the goods" in the last few games and should chalk up another win against the Iowa aggregation.

The local management is hoping to be able to play off their postponed game with the Fort Crook Soldiers on Wednesday afternoon at the local park and when it is hoped to have a good crowd out to see the event and give those who cannot attend the Sunday games a chance to see the rough and tussling locals in action. It will be possible that the game late enough in the afternoon to permit the business men that wish to get out and enjoy the game.

TWO APPEAR IN GRADUATION RECITAL

The joint graduation of Miss Sylvia Cole, contralto, and Miss Velma Wood, pianist, from the University of Nebraska School of Fine Arts Tuesday evening at the Temple Theatre was unusually interesting. Miss Cole, who has already made a name for herself in Lincoln musical circles, gave a delightful program of songs which were especially attractive because of their variation. Miss Cole's voice has a warmth which is appealing, always to the public. Her tones are clear and sweet and her poise and stage presence are splendid. The two numbers which seemed to appeal especially to the audience were "Marienwurmichien," by Schumann, and "Wiegendorf," by Brahms.

Miss Wood gave a very artistic piano group, and proved herself to be a pianist of quite remarkable ability. She is to be commended for her clarity of position and sympathetic interpretation. Each gives a sense of moral completeness; Debussy, a vague feeling of unrest, Miss Wood successfully suggested these states of mind and being.

Miss Cole has been very successful in her work the past year as the supervisor of music of the Plattsmouth city schools and her wonderful talent in the lines of musical education has resulted in the very rapid development of her pupils throughout the city school systems. Her many friends will learn with interest of her splendid graduation recital.

MAKES REAL SALESLADY

Mrs. S. A. Rhoden of Chalk Butte, South Dakota, a former Cass county resident, is making a great record in her section of the country in selling the Jiffy Rim Tool, which is manufactured by Charles Vallery. Mrs. Rhoden has disposed of several dozen of these tools that are small, compact and a great aid to the motorist in time of trouble. Mrs. Rhoden has kept the orders rolling in here and from her success the residents of that part of South Dakota will be able to change their tires without trouble and annoyance that frequently comes to the motorist.

Delegation Go Before the Board for Graveling

Louisville, Alvo, Mynard, Cedar Creek and Local Delegations at the Court House.

From Tuesday's Daily—

This morning there was a very large delegation of representatives from Alvo, Louisville, Mynard and Cedar Creek, as well as local representatives of the Chamber of Commerce at the court house to interview the county commissioners on the matter of the county road graveling and particularly in the case of the Louisville road.

The northern part of the county has seemingly been unable to get any assistance in getting out of the mud and made the presentation of their case to the commissioners a strong one, but without any appreciable result as far as any move to put the gravel project on the way to a successful culmination—that is so far as the commissioners were concerned.

There being no east and west gravel road in the northern half of the county or the means of the adjoining towns tying into the county gravel road system, as was proposed by the members of the visiting party, the residents of the north half of the county were strong in their endorsement of the gravel proposition that is so badly needed in the county to make practical the use of all of the highways that are supposed to serve the people at all seasons of the year.

The representation made by the visitors from out in the county was strong and backed by strong showings of facts and figures and the amount that is available for this kind of work at the present time, but their plea fell with little effect on the members of the Board of Commissioners.

The gravel advocates of the northern portion of the county are strong boosters of the general graveling proposition and urge the maintenance of all of the side roads as well as the highways and the large stretches of hard surfaced roadway in the south, east and west parts of the county, but feel that they too are entitled to a gravel road that covers the distance between Plattsmouth and Greenwood, which in muddy weather is not a bad substitute for the famous "no man's land" in far-off France.

BOY SCOUTS HAVE OUTING

From Monday's Daily—

Yesterday a caravan of some thirty auto loads of Boy Scouts of the Omaha city Scout troops passed thru this city en route to Nebraska City, where they were to visit Arbor Lodge and picnic at that place for the day.

The jolly and enthusiastic party were accompanied by a small band that gave several numbers while the caravan was passing through this city and to entertain the local people the cars coming down Washington avenue drove on down Vine street to Third and then to Main, where they moved west to Sixth and thence south to the K. of T. highway and their destination.

The wet weather failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the members of the party and they were full of pleasant anticipations as they motored on to their destination at one of Nebraska's most interesting spots, the home of the sage of Arbor Lodge, now a state owned park and a shrine of great historical interest for Nebraskans.

INJURED IN ACCIDENT

From Monday's Daily—

Relatives and friends here have just received word of the very serious injury of Leon Stenner, former Plattsmouth boy, and the death of his wife, which occurred as the result of an auto accident near St. Paul, Minnesota, where the Stenner family have resided for the past ten years. The accident as far as could be learned here, occurred when Mr. and Mrs. Stenner and their little four year old daughter were out driving, the steering wheel of the car becoming locked and causing the car to go over a high embankment and in the wreck Mrs. Stenner met her death and the husband very badly injured. The little child was uninjured in the accident and was found safe and sound by the passing motorists who first found the wrecked car.

THE PLATTSMOUTH ROOTERS

Last Friday evening the Plattsmouth Rooters met. Homer Spangler, president of this enterprising pig club, was chosen to represent the club at the next community meeting and give a report of work done. He was also elected yell leader.

After the business meeting, the time was given to talks by the boys on the projects studied.

Their leader, John B. Kaffenberger, divided the club in groups of twos. Each group took a certain problem and discussed it.

The next meeting will be held on June 15th at the Mynard hall.

GRADUATES FROM CREIGHTON

Omaha, Neb., June 3.—One Plattsmouth boy will receive a degree from Creighton University at the annual commencement to be held on June 7. He is Geo. A. Schmidtman, who will receive the degree of Doctor of Dentistry.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. John A. Lapp, leader, social thinker and writer of Marquette University, Milwaukee, and the baccalaureate sermon by the Rev. Benedict J. Rodman, S. J., president of St. Mary's College, St. Mary's, Kans.

A record class of 279 will be graduated by the Omaha institution.

Man Held in Blackmail Plot Formerly Here

E. J. McGlone, One Time Magazine Solicitor Gets Deep Into Legal Tangles in Iowa.

From Tuesday's Daily—

Disappearing from Omaha two weeks ago, leaving his 22-year-old wife critically ill in Methodist hospital, E. J. McGlone, 23, a magazine solicitor, is under arrest at Marshalltown, Ia., accused with two other men of a blackmail plot involving Mrs. R. J. Andrews, wife of a Marshalltown dentist.

Mrs. McGlone was formerly Violet Grassman, a grand daughter of G. F. Wheeler, village marshal at Louisville, Ia., where they were married about a year ago in this city, where Miss Grassman was then working.

When he disappeared from Omaha, McGlone left a note at the hospital, to be delivered to his wife, telling her he was "broke" and was going to Sioux City in search of work. Mr. Wheeler said Monday his granddaughter had heard nothing from her husband since that note. She went home to Louisville from the hospital, Sunday, but remains very ill, Mr. Wheeler said.

Met on County Road.

Merton S. Davis, 22, of Denver, Colo., and J. O. Young, 43, of Chicago, are the other two held at Marshalltown.

According to charges made against the trio, they met Mrs. Andrews on a country road, when she was having trouble with her car. Stopping, they first offered assistance, and then robbed her. After this, it is alleged, they threatened to go to Dr. Andrews with a story that the two had surprised the third member of the trio, motoring with Mrs. Andrews, unless five hundred dollars were paid them.

"Collector" Is Trapped.

Mrs. Andrews confided in her husband, and arrangements were made for her to pay over the money. When the youngest of the trio appeared at the Andrews' home to collect, he was handed a check. As he turned to leave, two policemen stepped from a closet and captured him. Young and McGlone were in a waiting automobile a block away. They attempted to escape but were overtaken.

At Marshalltown Monday McGlone denied intending to desert his wife, saying he planned to return to her. Mrs. McGlone was not informed of her husband's plight, relatives wishing to spare her the worry until her health is better.

BIBLE SCHOOL OPENS

From Monday's Daily—

The Community Daily Vacation Bible School started this morning in the Methodist church with a good enrollment. Those of the children who forgot to come this morning are urged to come tomorrow morning at the school. The classes are well organized and equipped to give good work in instruction to the children. The girls in the advanced class of basketry began a new work in Raffia work. The Primary department has changed the age requirement so that those who are nearer four than three may enter the school. All mothers having children within this age limit are welcome to send their children to the school. Miss Farley is in charge of the Primary department and has a fine program outlined for the children. All children are welcome to come.

COMMISSIONERS HERE TODAY

From Monday's Daily—

The board of county commissioners were here today to start in on the regular grind of the month's business, the greater part of the time being taken up with the auditing of the claims against the county that have been awaiting the coming of the board. The session Tuesday will be taken up with the consideration of the matters of importance to the county in the various lines of the commissioners activity.

DOINGS IN DISTRICT COURT

From Monday's Daily—

This morning in the office of the clerk of the district court an action was filed entitled Blandina Kenpner et al., vs. William C. Moore, et al. This is an action to quiet title to the Neff property in this city.

Birthday of Highly Esteemed Lady Tuesday

Mrs. Mary Egenberger Has Pleasure of Having Entire Family Here for Event.

From Wednesday's Daily—

Yesterday marked the seventieth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Mary Egenberger of this city, which was most fittingly observed by a family reunion and at which all of the children were able to gather under the maternal roof-tree for the event and bringing much joy and happiness to the members of the family.

The occasion was marked by the family dinner served in the evening and which was most delightfully arranged by the children in honor of the mother, the color scheme being carried out in the decorative plan of pink and white, the centerpiece of the dining table being a large and handsome birthday cake with its glowing candles that gave added beauty to the most delightful event.

The time was spent in visiting and it was the first time in a great many years when all of the family were present. It is needless to say it will long be a pleasant memory to all of the family party.

Mary Holschuh, daughter of John and Mary Holschuh, pioneers of Cass county, was born on June 3, 1859 at Plattsmouth and has made her home in this community since that time, marrying here on September 16, 1876, John Valentine Egenberger, who was called to the last reward many years ago. It was most pleasing to the mother that on the occasion of her birthday that the children were all home, they being Fred R. Egenberger, Albert Egenberger, William R. Egenberger, Miss Anna Egenberger, Mrs. Ida Baumgart, Mrs. Florence Turpin, Mrs. S. W. Bell, Carl Egenberger.

The happy occasion was attended by the following members of the family: Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Egenberger and children, Betty Ann, Robert and Dorothy, Des Moines; Albert Egenberger, Plattsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. William R. Egenberger and nephew, Roy Ehrker, of Lexington, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Baumgart and two daughters, Dorothy and Eleanor of Crookston, Nebraska; Mrs. Nora Egenberger and son, Edward, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Turpin, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bell and son, Richard, Carl Egenberger and Miss Anna Egenberger of Plattsmouth.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR HERE

From Wednesday's Daily—

Among the many distinguished residents of the state to attend the grand lodge of the Masons here yesterday afternoon was Congressman Edgar Howard of Columbus, who has for the past six years served the people of the third district in the lower house of congress. Congressman Howard is the publisher of the Columbus Telegram, one of the leading papers of the state, and while in the city yesterday made the Journal a fraternal call, being accompanied by Buehler Metcalfe, of Omaha, son of the Hon. Richard L. Metcalfe, democratic candidate for United States Senator. The two very able Nebraskans were here to represent their lodges and to renew acquaintance with old friends in the city.

Mr. Howard was a resident of Plattsmouth many years ago, coming here from Glenwood with the late C. W. Sherman when he established the Plattsmouth Journal in 1881, and he spent a few years here in the printing business, later going to other points and for a number of years owned the Times at Papillion, from where he moved to Columbus and has since been located there.

TO CONTINUE STUDIES

Leonard G. Worley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay E. Worley, former residents of this city and a grandson of Mrs. V. V. Leonard, of Plattsmouth, left Saturday evening for Gates Mills, Ohio, where he has accepted a position for the summer in the Baldwin laboratories. Mr. Worley received his master's degree in Science from the University of Nebraska this spring and will attend Harvard university this fall.

Mr. Worley is well known here, where he has frequently visited at the home of his grandmother and his many friends here will be pleased and pleased with the very promising future that awaits this young man, who has shown such remarkable success in his school work and was one of the leaders in his work at the state university.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MEET

From Wednesday's Daily—

The county commissioners yesterday at the session received the petition regarding the graveling of the Louisville road and which was placed on file for future reference.

The board also voted to sit as a board of equalization at their rooms at the court house on June 12th, 13th and 14th, at which time they will take up all claims and protests that may come up regarding the assessment of the property.
