SEE PROSPECT OF FLIGHT
Trepassy, Newfoundland, June 10.—Encouraged by excellent flying weather which prevailed here today, the crew of the monoplane Friendship tentatively set down tomorrow for the take off on their flight to Europe. Favorable reports on the weather over the Atlantic were received by Pilot William Stultz, with Stultz will be Miss Amelia Earhart, Boston aviatrix, and Louis Girdon, mechanic.

The three fliers have been here since Monday, when they arrived from Boston after stopping off at Halifax because of a fog. Miss Earhart hopes to be the first woman to make the trans-Atlantic hops and has been impatient at the delays enforced by bad weather.

Mechanic Gordon gave the Friendship another inspection today and found everything in order for the flight. The plane is fueled and stocked with necessary provisions although additional food will be taken on just before the hop off.

Chance that the monoplane Friendship might take off for Europe tomorrow morning became slight late tonight as an increasing fog brought with it a heavy rain.

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS TRUST TO CONVENTION
Louisville, Ky., June 10.—Delegates to the state democratic convention in Kentucky, at Lexington next Thursday, will for the most part be to exercise their own preference in selecting delegates to the national convention at Houston, and in the instruction of delegates.

In county organization meetings Saturday, a majority of delegates to the state convention were uninstructed as to presidential preference. Most of them, however, were instructed to vote in a unit, and in approximately 35 of the 120 counties of the state, definite instructions for Governor Alfred E. Smith were given. Eight counties went on record as supporting Senator A. W. Barkley, and in a number of others, Senator Barkley was favored as a vice-presidential possibility.

Support of Governor Smith was scattered, and mostly in rural counties.

MAN IS KILLED IN CRASH
Columbus, Neb., June 11.—Jacob Gordon, forty-seven, of Brooklyn, N. Y., died early today of injuries received yesterday when struck by an automobile on the Lincoln highway three miles east of here. Gordon was en route to his home in Brooklyn, where he has a wife and two sons, from Los Angeles, Calif., where he has been employed for the past two years.

With Gordon were three companions, en route to Milwaukee. They were repairing a tall light when the other car bore down on them. Gordon failed to get out of the way, but his companions leaped to safety. Gordon suffered a mangled right leg, two fractures of the left leg and numerous cuts on the head.

HULL IS LEADING SMITH
Raleigh, N. C., June 10.—Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee led Governor Smith of New York as the democratic presidential choice in North Carolina today by approximately 360 instructed votes as a result of yesterday's county conventions. The 1,953 delegates chosen will select at the state convention here Tuesday North Carolina's twenty-four delegates to the democratic national convention at Houston.

The results of the county conventions gave Hull 77,422; Smith, 41,456; uninstructed, 548; instructed for a "dry" candidate, 70; instructed against Smith, 30,355. Fractional votes were given to former Secretary Daniels, Senator Simmons of North Carolina, Governor McLean of North Carolina, Owen D. Young, and Claude Bowers, New York World editorial writer.

The Smith camp, however, thru a statement issued by W. B. Jones of Raleigh, state campaign manager for the New York governor, claimed that the uninstructed delegates would swing the state convention for Smith.

Tornado Wrecks Hundred Homes at McCook, Neb.

Score Are Reported Injured, Two Perhaps Fatally—Few Names Are Learned.

Lincoln, Neb., June 11.—Western Nebraska was central in a violent storm belt late this evening, according to meager reports reaching here late tonight. These reports, by long distance telephone and Burlington railroad advices, indicated McCook suffered the greatest damage, 20 persons being reported injured, two, a man and a woman, probably fatally, and nearly a hundred buildings either wrecked or badly damaged. A 3-year-old baby is reported missing.

Those injured included Wallace Peterson and Rex Watson, Columbus, and Homer Beebe of Omaha, members of an orchestra from Columbus. They were leaving McCook in a car as the storm struck. Injuries of Peterson and Watson were not thought serious, and those of Beebe were of a minor nature.

Started in Kansas.
The storm, according to these reports, originated in northwestern Kansas, passed over Ludell, Neb., doing some damage, and next struck McCook. From there it traveled north to the Platte valley.

By the time the Platte was reached the storm had lost its tornado characteristics and was nothing more than a violent straight wind accompanied by a terrific rain and hailstorm. A deluge of rain had fallen at McCook after the tornado, making rescue work difficult and slow. Traveling northeast, the storm center seems to have been split, one part passing over Ellsworth and west of Halsey and another part passing over Merna, where a heavy rain was accompanied by a high wind.

It is reported from McCook that Train Dispatcher Cadman was on duty at the depot at the time the storm struck. As soon as he could get out of the depot he hurried home, to find his residence gone. His family, however, had heard the storm coming and had gone to the basement and was safe. An operator at the depot reported watching the storm for miles before it hit the town. As it approached he could see wreckage of buildings in the air, so it is believed much damage was done in the country south and west of McCook.

The Union Pacific reported a terrific rain and hailstorm in the early evening covering the country from North Platte east to Lexington, a distance of more than sixty miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gise, former residents here, are living at McCook and their home was among the places that were destroyed in the tornado but they were uninjured in the storm, although the home was destroyed, reports reaching here state.

Ohio Woman Wins Position as Federal Judge

Miss Genevieve R. Cline of Cleveland Had Support of Both Parties

Cleveland, Ohio.—Appointment by President Coolidge of Miss Genevieve R. Cline of Cleveland, appraiser of merchandise of the United States Customs Service, here, to be a judge of the United States Customs Court, just confirmed by the Senate, gives that court its first woman member and makes Miss Cline the first woman ever to sit on a federal bench. The appointment is permanent.

Miss Cline was also the first woman to be named an appraiser of the United States Customs Service. She was appointed to that post in 1922 by President Harding and customs officials have declared her office one of the best prepared to hear various cases of any in the service.

For many years Miss Cline has been interested in legal matters. This interest began as a child, when she would go to court to hear her brother John A. Cline, Cleveland attorney, and former president of the Ohio State Bar Association, try cases. Later she joined the first parliamentary law club in Cleveland. She is a former president of the Cleveland Federation of Women's Clubs.

In 1913 she entered the offices of her brother and studied law, later being admitted to the Ohio bar. For years she prepared cases and drew up legal matters for the firm, for court presentation.

Although the appointment to the United States Customs Court is a partisan one, Miss Cline, a Republican, has had virtually the united support of leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties in the state. Simeon D. Fess (R.), and Cyrus Locher (D.), Senators from Ohio, joined in pressing her claims before President Coolidge and the Senate and she has the aid and recommendations of Miss Florence Allen, justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, and Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, both Democrats.

American tourists abroad spent $617,000,000 in 1927. If they had spent twice that sum they would be envied, and therefore disliked, for their wealth, and considered fools for their prodigality. If they had spent half that sum they would be spoken of by a large number of the beneficiaries as a nation of misers.

Steps are Taken to Form Missouri Basin Association

States in Big Muddy's Drainage System Invited to Lincoln Conference, July 20-21

Lincoln, June 11.—First steps for the formation of a Missouri River Basin association have been taken here, and representatives of all states forming a part of the big muddy's drainage system will be invited to attend a conference in Lincoln July 20 and 21.

Co-operation with the government in a plan for conserving and improving the waters of the river for protecting the wild life, and for forestation will be purposes of the organization.

Appropriations by the legislatures of Nebraska and the other states will be asked in carrying out the scheme of co-operation. But for the actual installation of a reservoir and overflow canal system, the association expects to call on the federal government for appropriations.

Members Are Listed
Arrangements for the conference are being made by a committee of the Nebraska Association for the Conservation, Control and Utilization of Water Resources. Frank D. Tomson of Lincoln is chairman. Members are: Frank Real, of McCook; J. J. Halligan, North Platte; Robert Perry, Holdrege; C. G. Wallace, Hastings; Andrew Jensen, Minden and R. E. Campbell, Lincoln. Professor R. E. Mickey of the University of Nebraska, formerly technical adviser to the senate waterways committee, also attended the sessions.

The states invited to send delegates are: Montana, North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa and Oklahoma. Mr. Tomson asserts that 2,500 persons will attend.

The committee named above was authorized at a recent meeting of the Nebraska association in Kearney in turn it has prepared a set of resolutions which are in part as follows:

Some Resolutions
"We urge our delegates in both the republican and democratic for national conventions to insistently demand that a plank be embodied in their respective platforms clearly and emphatically committing each party to the policy of solving the problems of conservation, drouth and flood control, by the establishments of reservoirs in the upper regions of the Missouri river and other tributaries to the Mississippi, to conserve these surplus waters during flood periods and thereby prevent drouth losses and reduce the danger of high water losses in the lower reaches of the Mississippi.

"And further, we urge the utilization of the water conserved for irrigation and power purposes that the natural resources of the country may be protected and developed for the needs of the nation and its steadily increased population and its prospects for enlarging world commerce."

AIRMEN LEAVE FOR HOME

New York, June 8.—The three men who made the first westward crossing of the Atlantic by airplane—Baron Gunther von Huenefeld, Major James Fitzmaurice and Capt. Hermann Koehl—sailed for Europe tonight on the liner Columbus. They returned to New York recently from a tour of the middle west, begun after they had reached this country from Greenly Island, Labrador, where they landed in the monoplane Bremen on Friday, April 15. The Bremen was taken to Labrador, from where its owners plan to bring it to the United States by steamer.

Added to the questions of the hour is that which relates to the comparative number of dirt farmers and political farmers who will be included in the corn belt march on Kansas City.
