Body of Lamar Cashier is Found

Desperadoes Who Robbed Bank Are Now Credited With Four Murders.

Liberal, Kas., June 13.—Discovery of the body of a man in an abandoned shack near here today left four desperadoes who recently robbed a bank at Lamar, Colo., credited with a fourth murder.

The body was identified as that of E. A. Kessinger, assistant cashier of the First National bank of Lamar. He was abducted by the robbers May 23, last, when they fled with a large amount of loot, after killing A. N. Parrish, president of the bank, and his son, John Parrish, the cashier.

Located in the bad lands of western Kansas, the shack apparently had not been searched by hundreds of posses who patrolled parts of four states for several days after the robbery. While there were suggestions that the body may have been placed in the hut recently, this theory generally was scouted.

A school girl member of a picnic party found the body yesterday. The girl had been shot to death, apparently more than two weeks ago. A rusty pistol lay on the floor. Identification was made through a lodge card, a Masonic ring and a hunting license belonging to Kessinger. However, authorities decided it would be announced. Members of his family are en route.

Little hope was held that Kessinger's life would be spared, after the robbers summoned Dr. W. W. Wineinger of Dighton, Kas., from his home the night of May 24 and shot him to death. The physician presumably was called to administer to one of the four wounded by the two bank officials, killed when they resisted. The doctor's body was found in a gully along with his automobile and medical equipment.

Although posses, aided by airplanes, searched parts of Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma they failed to locate the fugitives. The robbers obtained about $10,000 in cash and $76,000 in bonds.

Cornfield Case Rests with Judge

Everybody in Forgiving Mood With the "Pettors From North" Getting Blame.

The Bellevue cornfields case, which revolves around an idea range of subjects, including sanitation and petting parties, now rests with District Judge James T. Beasley. When arguments were completed in the case there late Wednesday, the court reserved the decision until briefs have been filed.

The cornfields case had its birth in the form of an injunction suit to prevent enforcement of a village ordinance prohibiting growing of field corn, cane and sorghum within a prescribed district. The village contended it had the right to extend its police powers in order to regulate matters which pertain to health, safety and morals of the corporation.

The city board in passing the ordinance, held that cornfields constituted a menace to traffic shut off from houses and obstructed the view of residents. The owners of the cornfields took the position the land was theirs and they had the right to plant any crop they wished.

As the hearing ended there was a general spirit of forgiveness evident on both sides. E. S. Nickerson, defense attorney, agreed it was "all too bad" and suggested an agreement be reached out of court. William R. Patrick, Omaha attorney, spoke as a friend of the court, felt the same way about it.

W. S. Thompson, Omaha attorney representing Albert Jones, plaintiff in this test case, attacked the legality of the village ordinance. Soldiers stationed at Fort Crook were cleared of suspicion in connection with numerous petting parties held in the cornfield. At all hours of the night. At a previous hearing the soldiers were blamed.

But Wednesday all attorneys agreed that "joyriders from the north" were the real petters and pettees.

UTILITY PROBE INVOLVES BOOK
Washington, June 15.—Co-operation with Ginn & Co., school book publishers, by the text book committee of the National Electric Light association to delete objectionable matter from a text book used by 100,000 students and the expenditure of $15,000 for a nation-wide survey reporting to show the failure and deficiencies of municipally-owned and operated power plants were disclosed by two Chicago witnesses Thursday in the federal trade commission's utility investigation.

Fred J. Jenkins of Chicago, chairman of the text book committee, testified that the deletions were made and matter substituted in text book written by Howard Copeland Hill, University of Chicago instructor.

H. J. Gonden of Chicago, publisher of the Public Service magazine, said that his magazine and the power companies pay for the survey which required two years; the Insull interests of Chicago being a heavy contributor. He said the work was issued in 24 volumes in 1921 and 1922.

"The Meinhardt Vacuum Shield" will not only retain the rupture precisely, but contracts the rupture opening. This often causes strangulation which usually necessitates an immediate surgical operation or results in sudden death.

"The Meinhardt Vacuum Shield" has no undertraps. It is also perfectly sanitary and practically indestructible and can be worn while bathing. Ruptures often cause Stomach Trouble, Backache, Constipation, Nervousness and other ailments which promptly disappear after the Rupture is properly treated.

Only gentlemen are invited to call at this time as special arrangements will be advanced later for women and children.

NOTICE: Please do not write asking for literature to be fitted by mail as this is impossible. Every case must be seen personally; therefore I visit this section of the country. All cases that I have fitted during the past five years will be glad to call for inspection. Please note the above dates and hours carefully. (This visit is for white people only.)

Norris Will Not Support Hoover on K. C. Platform

Efforts to Have Senator from Nebraska Indorse G. O. P. Convention Actions Fail.

Washington, June 15.—Senator George W. Norris (rep., Neb.) will not support the Hoover-Curtis ticket on the platform adopted at the Kansas City convention. This position was declared today when it was learned that efforts to draw an indorsement of the convention action from the senator had failed, and he announced he would shortly define his attitude on the position taken by the republican party in the 1918 campaign.

Senator Norris voiced opposition to the selection of either delegates won by Hoover before the convention met, and later issued another statement to the effect that progressive republicans might be forced to bolt the party ticket if President Coolidge's votes of the farm and Muscle Shoals bills were sustained by the convention.

While it is expected here that Norris will adhere to the course already indicated in his previous statements, it is unlikely he will express any preference for opposing candidates or for the launching of an independent ticket at the present time.

The senator will probably remain here until after the democratic convention.

VERY FINE RECITAL
One of the most enjoyable musical events that has been held in Murray and vicinity for some time was the recital that was held on Thursday evening at the First Presbyterian church in that place and which was in the nature of a recital given by the piano and violin pupils of Miss Grace Lindner.

The church auditorium was very handsomely arranged for the event with the decorations of the spring roses that gave a colorful touch to the occasion and made a beautiful treat to the eye.

There were some two hundred of the friends and relatives as well as the music lovers of the community present to enjoy the delightful event.

The entire massed classes of violin and piano gave the opening and closing portions of the program which was especially enjoyed and reflected the splendid training that the members of the classes have received at the hands of their instructor. These included the "Valse Barcarolle" from Offenbach, "The Scarf Dance" by Saint-Saens, and "Caprice" by Bartlett.

Another of the pleasing features of the special numbers were the piano duets arranged and which were given by Junior Farris and Margaret Long and Florence Meisinger and Mildred Young, in which great skill and finish was shown by the young people.

In the violin offerings of the evening Verona Fropst, of Plattsmouth, Leland and Bernice Hogue, Violet Engelkemeler, Verne Kaffenberger and Marion Young were heard in several of the most charming violin numbers. In the violin selections, Miss Christine Rheinackel served as the accompanist in her usual charming manner.

The members of the piano class participating in the recital were Shirley Solvers, of Plattsmouth, Ellen Kaffenberger, Jean Group, Bernice Kaffenberger, Gauer Salsburg, Kathleen Schaefer, Ruth Alexen, Maurice Group, Junior Farris, Margaret Long, Lucille Meisinger, Martha Kaffenberger, Elton Kelly, Ruth Shogren, Florence Meisinger, Mildred Young, Florence Schaefer, Mildred Alexen, Dorothy Salsburg, Bernice Hogue, Margaret Long, Thelma Hill, Dorothy Rhoden, John Kelly, Clarice Jane Murray, Katherine Long, Glen Rhodes, Joyce Gauer, Florence Shogren, Norene Engelkemeler, Mildred Young, Christine Rheinackel.

Miss Lindner has been engaged in teaching for the past four years and her work has covered a great part of the county and with the most pleasing results that have been most pleasing to this talented lady and her successful young pupils.
