Weeping Water Man Has a Visit from Stickup Man

Manager of Bank at Long Beach, California, Saves Day by His Cool Headedness.

William Teegarden, branch manager of the Citizens State bank at Long Beach, Cal., was the intended victim of a bank robber recently when Byron Anderson, a former chief of police, is said to have pushed a threat note demanding $2,000 thru a bank window to Mr. Teegarden, informing him that two men outside would bomb the place if the demand was not complied with. Manager Teegarden is said to have told the hold-up man that he would have to go to the vault for it. Anderson then said, "Don't do that," and told a wild tale of having been given the note by two men who held him up outside and forced him to deliver the note to Mr. Teegarden. On the strength of his story Teegarden helped the man to make an escape by a side door, and then called police headquarters and informed them of the case. While the officers were listening to the manager's story, Anderson walked into the front door of the bank and was at once placed under arrest. When fired with questions at the police station, Anderson broke down before the barrage, repudiating his former statement of being forced to hold up the Citizens State bank and confessed that he had staged the job by himself.

Upon visiting his flat detectives paper on which the threat note was written, and the pad from which the sheet was torn. On a statement concerning the alleged kidnaping, detectives found the writing compared with the note, and that the word business spelled "business" in both cases. Confronted with this evidence, the ex-police chief confessed to the solo hold-up attempt. Detectives in a statement said that Anderson had been dismissed from the Torrance police force when he had been found guilty of extortion, and was sent to San Quentin. He was later paroled and his parole was to expire June 7th of this year. It was also learned that in the last six months Anderson has robbed three banks, and at one time shot a man, and the bullet which was used was exactly like the bullets used in the revolver found in the car of Anderson, which police found parked across the street from the bank on the day of the attempted hold-up.

Mr. Teegarden, who is the son of our townspeople, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Teegarden, has upon later thought, concluded that should such an incident happen again, he would not attempt to outwit such a gangster. His cool self-possession "saved the day" in this instance, and brought the guilty party to quick justice.—Weeping Water Republican.

FLAMES RAZE OIL TRAIN

Greenville, Pa., June 15.—A slow-burning mass of tangled wreckage was all that remained tonight of a string of tank and box cars loaded with gasoline and oil which took fire today after being derailed on the New York Central railroad near here. The loss was not definitely established, but it was estimated at more than $100,000. Upwards of twenty-eight cars piled up.

No person was injured. The wreck occurred on the Franklin branch of the New York Central and the train was running from Franklin, Pa., to Andover, O.

REMAKING OLD ROADS

A perfected surface is being put on the famous Columbia Highway in Oregon. Sharp rock screenings are mixed with thick asphaltic oil, and heavily rolled into the existing paving, with clean, dry screenings loose on top. This makes a surface on which wheel slippage is practically impossible, but which is safe for rubber under all conditions.

Thousands of miles of old roads are being remade and widened in this manner into perfect modern highways.

Miss Lindsay to Resume Work in City Schools

Former Supervisor of Music to Again Take Up Duties at Commencement of School Year.

From Saturday's Daily—Miss Ruth Lindsay, former supervisor of music in the city schools, who was compelled to give up her work last season as the result of a very severe illness, has so far recovered and gained so rapidly that she has accepted the contract for resuming her former work here at the opening of the school year in September.

Miss Lindsay's enforced retirement from the teaching force of the city has been much regretted by the many friends here and while the work has been carried on splendidly by Miss Sylvia Cole, the accomplished lady that was secured to fill out the term of Miss Lindsay, the friends of the former teacher are pleased to learn that she is to return.

Miss Lindsay is spending the summer at Lodi, Wisconsin, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lindsay, are now located, and after the rest of the summer she will be in the best of shape to resume her work here in the fall as she has regained the full use of her eyes that were affected by her illness and has also gained much weight and strength in the past few months.

Miss Sylvia Cole, who has been serving as the music supervisor, is now at Chicago taking special summer school work in the Chicago Conservatory of Music and which will aid her in her work as she will continue in her music supervisor work the coming season and expects to teach in one of the Nebraska schools.

Leroy Stohlman Wins Action for $5,000 Damages

Doctor Who Left Patient to Others Held Liable for Damages Under Existing Law.

While highly complimenting Dr. B. B. Davis on his skill as a surgeon and his standing in the profession and holding that the question involved did not go to his qualifications, the supreme court Wednesday upheld the jury verdict of $5,000 secured against him in Lancaster county on complaint of Leroy Stohlman, former Louisville young man. The latter was a patient who had to be operated on for infected thigh and arm.

Shortly after Dr. Davis operated on him his own health broke down and he turned the patient over to his son, who had been in practice three or four years. The doctor was away recuperating for several months. Later Dr. Lord was called in. Stohlman says he has an immovable foot and a shortened ankle, and blamed it on Dr. Davis' abandonment of the case, without notice to him.

The supreme court says the law is that a physician or surgeon who leaves or abandons his patient in a critical stage of disease, without reasonable notice to enable the patient to secure another medical attendant, when the giving of such notice is reasonably possible, is guilty of culpable dereliction of duty and, if damages are occasioned thereby, is liable therefor.

PLACE TABLES IN PARK

The work of placing two new tables contributed by the Womens club, thru its Civic committee, in Garfield park, is being done today. The tables are being set securely in concrete to prevent molestation or removal and will be available for small picnic parties, while for family reunions and similar large gatherings there are still available the knock-down type of tables, which are locked up under the bandstand and will be gotten on for such occasions by the custodian, William Thorburn.

There are other improvements that will cost very little contemplated by the Civic committee, working in conjunction with the Park Board. Included in these is the grouping of shrubs about the band stand. Anyone having more shrubs in their yard than they want should notify any member of the Civic committee named below.

The children in this part of Plattsmouth ought to be proud of living near this park. The Civic committee recommends that these children form a Child's Civic committee, and meet once a month during the summer to talk over plans of protecting and beautifying this park and the community and to protect the bird life.

The slides locked up under the band stand will be repaired in the near future and again put out for use if the children will promise to use them carefully. It would be to the children's advantage if they would unite their efforts with the Park Board and protect rather than destroy.

Should the children desire to form a Child's Civic committee, as suggested, Mrs. Coryell, chairman of the ed. Mrs. Coryell, chairman of the ed. Woman's club Civic committee, will be glad to assist them in any way.

Members of the Woman's club committee, appointed by President-Elect Mrs. E. H. Wescott, are Mrs. Walton, Mrs. Bert Coleman, Mrs. Ed Brantner, Miss Matilda Soennichsen, Mrs. A. G. Bach, Mrs. J. W. Bookmeyer, and the chairman, Mrs. F. G. Coryell.

Mrs. Henry Mauzy was a visitor in Omaha today, where she was called to look after some matters of business in that city and visiting with friends for a few hours.

URGE BETTER ROADS

And another thing, the demand for the expenditure of some of the license money for hard surfaced "farm-to-market roads will not be downed. In fact it is growing stronger every day. Paying in taxes to keep mud roads dragged doesn't get you anywhere nor do away with the mud. Ever time it rains you prefer staying at home to try passing over them, and the kind of dragging the west end of the Louisville-Plattsmouth road gets isn't any too good, either. Funds are available sufficient to get part of the county roads at least on a year 'round basis, and the voters will rise up and demand that such common-sense action be taken sooner or later.—Louisville Courier.

Mrs. Sybel Head Passes Away at Home of Sister

Death Comes Quite Suddenly This Morning at 8:30 After a Short Period of Ill Health.

From Saturday's Daily—This morning Mrs. Sybel Head, who has been at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elmer Taylor, here for a short time, passed away, the death being very sudden and a severe shock to the members of the family circle.

Mrs. Head has not been well but was not thought in serious condition as last evening she was feeling very well and able to sit up and read for a portion of the evening and retired in the best of spirits. This morning Mrs. Head had arisen with the members of the Taylor family and later had gone in and laid down on her bed, and shortly afterwards as Mr. Taylor was preparing to start out to his work at the farm he came to the door and inquired as to how she was feeling but received no reply and glancing in noticed that the appearance of the lady was unusual and an investigation disclosed that she had passed away, death coming swiftly and apparently painlessly.

The deceased lady has made her home here for a great many years, the family being old residents in this locality. Her parents, Charles and Mollie Warren, coming here at a very early day and it was in this city that Mrs. Head was born. In recent years she has largely lived in Omaha where she was employed up to the time of her illness that made necessary her taking a rest from her work.

She is survived by one brother and three sisters, Frank E. Warren, Mrs. Elmer Taylor and Mrs. R. E. McClanahan of this city as well as several half-brothers and sisters, they being Earl Blunt of Denver, Colorado, Mrs. Walter Reed of this city, Mrs. Henry Larson, Mrs. Louis Hennings, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. John Rice, Lester Warren and Miss Bernese Warren, all residing in and near Cedar Creek.

WEDDING BELLS RING FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

The home of Mrs. R. D. McNurlin was the scene of a very pretty wedding Saturday evening, June 9th, 1928, when her granddaughter, Miss Gladys McNurlin, was given in marriage to Thomas E. Akeson.

The couple descended the stairs to the soft strains of a wedding march and took their places beneath an archway made in the bay window with streamers of yellow and white, in the center of which hung a large large wedding bell. A large basket of daisies on either side completed the setting. The room was illuminated by two floor lamps, which lent a subdued glow to the room. Rev. G. R. Birch read the marriage lines.

The bride was very sweet in her gown of yellow georgette, with a beautiful corsage. The groom was attired in the conventional blue.

The dining room was also attractively decorated with yellow and white, with large bouquets of daisies also in prominence. The same color scheme was carried out in the refreshments of yellow and white brick ice cream and white cake. Ellen Akeson had charge of the punch bowl, Mrs. R. Lauritzen, Jr., Mrs. Floyd Miller, Leone and Laverne Cogizer had charge of the dining room, while Mrs. Granville Heebner had charge of the gift room and guest book.

The wedding was attended by about twenty-five relatives and a few close friends. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller of Otoe, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Akeson of Omaha, Mrs. Bert Cogizer, two daughters, Leone and Laverne, and son Charles, of Havelock.

The newly weds, after receiving congratulations and best wishes, departed with the bride's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller to their home in Otoe for a short visit.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar McNurlin, former residents of Weeping Water, who now make their home in Los Angeles, and for the past three years has been employed in the Cass County Farm Bureau office, where she was recognized as a most competent and efficient young woman. The groom is a son of T. W. Akeson, for many years a farmer in this vicinity of Weeping Water, and is highly esteemed by all who know him.—Weeping Water Republican.

ANOTHER PIONEER GONE TO REST

After only a few days of serious sickness at the home of her son, Vernon, Susie Ellen Groves Hill passed on to her eternal rest, Oct. 15th, 1884, and departed this life, June 8th, 1928.

She moved with her parents from Pelly, Iowa, and settled on a farm near Alvo, Nebr. On February 21st, 1873, she was united in marriage to Thomas Hill, who preceded her in death two years ago. To them were born seven children, five of whom are still living: Ellsworth of Elmwood; Lee of Thurston, Nebraska; Mrs. Harry Marshall, Grover and Vernon of Elmwood, also twelve grandchildren, six great grandchildren, two brothers and one sister, relatives and friends.

She lived practically her entire life in the vicinity of Elmwood until three years ago, when she moved to Lincoln, so she could be near to the church of her choice, the church of the Brethren, of which she was a faithful member. She loved her home in Lincoln, surrounded by flowers, and her good, kind neighbors who were so thoughtful of her and during her short illness, she spoke so much of them.
