ATTEND C. E. MEETING

From Monday's Daily—
Yesterday afternoon a group of thirty of the young people belonging to the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church, motored to Bellevue where they spent several hours very pleasantly. The members of the party took with them well filled baskets of the good things to eat that formed the basis of a fine picnic luncheon served amid the beautiful surroundings of the Bellevue college and where there were a number of the C. E. Chapters in attendance. At the close of the picnic supper the members of the party were participants at the evening service held at the college building and which marked the last meeting of the summer conference of the Presbyterian people societies that were being held at that place.

ENTERTAINS AT SHOWER R

From Monday's Daily—
On Friday evening Miss Emma Johnson and Mrs. Herbert Beins were joint hostesses at a very charming miscellaneous shower, given in honor of Miss Nora Wilson, whose marriage to Walter Johnson is to take place in the near future. The pleasant event was held at the Johnson home and was enjoyed by a group of the lady friends of the bride to be. The shower was carried out most cleverly, the gifts being concealed in a parasol and which the bride was requested to open and was showered with the remembrances of the friends. The ladies spent the time pleasantly in the hemming of tea towels that were later presented to the guest of honor. Dainty refreshments were served at an appropriate hour by the hostesses who were assisted by Mrs. J. P. Johnson, Mrs. Emma Dutton and Mrs. Ray Afton of Los Angeles.

DEATH OF THOMAS THOMAS

From Monday's Daily—
The announcement was received here today of the death this morning at South Omaha of Thomas J. Thomas, member of a pioneer Cass county family and for many years a resident and business man in Plattsmouth. Mr. Thomas, who is well along in years had been conducting a meat market of South 24th street on the South Side for a considerable period of years. The deceased was a son of Thomas Thomas, a pioneer of Cass county and he was the last of his immediate family, his brothers and sisters, Hon. Samuel L. Thomas, Mrs. E. R. Todd, James W. Thomas, Mrs. O. M. Carter and George W. Thomas having preceded him in death. He is survived by two sons, George Thomas of Los Angeles and Victor Thomas of Des Moines, and three daughters, Mrs. Gay Cogilizer of Omaha, and two daughters now living at Los Angeles.

Pow-Wow to be Held Friday Nite at Library

Monthly Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to Be of the Greatest Interest to All.

From Wednesday's Daily—
The residents of the city and the surrounding community are urged to be present on Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the public library auditorium when the monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, otherwise known as the "Pow-Wow" will be held and at which time there will be matters that are of the greatest importance to the community at large discussed.

The meeting is held that the greatest possible scope of expression may be had from all ranks and classes of the residents of the city and the opportunity is one that the citizens should take advantage of to give their views on the questions of public interest and welfare in the civic life. It is urged that as many as can, avail themselves of the opportunity of being present at this meeting which is the public forum of the Chamber of Commerce for the community to set in whether members or not and help by their presence and advice in guiding the affairs of the civic organization.

Remember that the meeting is to start at 8 o'clock sharp on Friday and every man or woman that has a real interest in the city should be on hand to take part in the meeting and to help boost the Chamber of Commerce in the plans for the advancement of the interests of the city industrially and in a business way. The Chamber of Commerce is the voice of the residents of the city in all lines of activities.

CASS COUNTY LEGION PICNIC BEING PLANNED

The Legion posts in Cass county, five in number, are considering the holding of a county Legion picnic on some Sunday during July, probably the 15th. Following a conference of members of the Nehawka, Greenwood and Plattsmouth posts at Nebraska City last Wednesday, where the idea met with ready response, officials of the new Louisville post were consulted Thursday and found to be in complete accord with the plan. The Elmwood post is the only remaining one of the five, and yesterday letters were sent to all the posts asking for a meeting next Sunday in the vicinity of Louisville to select the site and determine upon the date. Each of the posts will probably contribute three or four dollars for the purchase of pop and possibly ice cream for the children, while families of Legionnaires are expected to bring their own picnic. Following the picnic a program of sports will be held, with small prizes contributed by Legion members who are engaged in business in the various towns of the county awarded to the winners.

The picnic idea is something new in Legion circles and is meeting widespread enthusiasm. In other communities, where it has been tried, it has been made an annual affair. The Plattsmouth Legion post is one of the liveliest ex-service men's organizations in the state, and with the aid of the other four posts in the county may well be expected to put the picnic project across in grand shape, as it has on with all the other projects it has undertaken in the past.

CAR GOES INTO RIVER

Jim Wade of Springfield, Neb., had a narrow escape from a watery grave aturday when his new Dodge touring car went through the railing at the turn out on the Platte river bridge, near Louisville and turned upside down in deep water, pinning the driver underneath. Wade was driving over the bridge and was nearing the turn out when he saw another car approaching. Wade intended to turn in the turn out to permit the other car to pass, but was unfamiliar with the operation of a gear shift car and was unable to make the turn out in time to avoid a collision with the car. He tried to avoid an almost certain collision and went through the railing of the bridge into the water of the river beneath. The river is high due to the recent rains and when the car came to a rest in the water it was upside down with the wheels barely sticking out of the water, with Wade in the tonneau beneath the water. Fortunately a number of autoists witnessed the accident and immediately formed a rescue party quickly extricating the victim from his predicament. The man was unhurt other than suffering from shock and chills. He was rushed to his home in Springfield and given medical attention. He quickly revived and is no worse for the experience. Quick thinking followed by quick action on the part of the rescuers whose names were not learned undoubtedly saved his life.—South Omaha Sun

Nehawka Girl Wins the State Essay Contest

Mary Pollard to Receive John G. Maher Award—Will Read the Winning Treatise.

Most pleasing news was received Saturday afternoon by County Superintendent Miss Alpha Peterson from the office of the state superintendent, Chas. W. Taylor, at Lincoln, advising that the essay of Mary Pollard, student in the Nehawka public schools, had been awarded first place in the state-wide contest sponsored by the American Legion, and would receive in addition to the first Cass county medal the John G. Maher medal as well. Maher, who was first department commander of the American Legion in Nebraska has arranged for a similar contest each year, the contestants to write upon some live subject, that for this year's contest being "Why Every Citizen Should Vote."

With the announcement received by Miss Peterson came a request that publicity be withheld until July 1st, when photo and a news story concerning the winning contestant would be available. However, the story leaked thru Associated Press channels and appeared in yesterday's state papers, so the Journal is likewise passing the news along to its readers.

When the state contest was first announced, the Plattsmouth post decided to get behind it and ask the co-operation of other posts in purchasing suitable medals to be awarded the winners in the county wide contest, scarcely hoping that a state winner might be selected from our county.

Elmwood and Nehawka posts joined in the plan and contributed to the fund for the purchase of such medals. Twenty or more entries were received by Miss Peterson who sent them to the state normal school at Peru for judging.

When the essays came back in time to forward the winning one to Lincoln for entry along with those from some forty other counties in the state contest, it was known that Miss Pollard was the winner, but at the request of Miss Peterson publicity was withheld and presentation of the county awards deferred until the result of the state contest should be known.

The four ranking highest in the Cass county contest, to whom medals will be awarded by Cass county Legion posts are as follows: Mary Pollard, Nehawka. F. R. Guthmann, Murdock. O. Marie Parson, Elmwood. Dorothy Brink, Plattsmouth.

The winning contestant is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pollard, of Nehawka and has just completed her senior year in Nehawka High school. She is an exceptionally bright student and her essay on this timely subject was a masterpiece of English and diction, well deserving of the award it has received.

The judges who passed on the state awards were Prof. C. C. Wiedemann, University of Nebraska; Prof. E. E. Ogden, Cotner University; Prof. Glen Callen, Nebraska Wesleyan university. As was the case with judging of county manuscripts, the name and address of each contestant was covered and a number substituted instead, so that the judges had no knowledge of the personality of the writer.

The state medals—gold, silver and bronze for the first, second and third prize winners, have been on display in a Lincoln jewelry store for some time, where they have attracted much attention. They are made from a special die bearing the coat of arms of the United States in colors, surrounded by the words "Videamus Diligentem Res Publicas." The reverse side will be engraved with the prize-winner's name and bear the legend of the contest.

The county medals are none the less imposing in appearance. On the face of each appears the Goddess of Learning, in the center, holding in her suspended hand an olive branch. At the left are a stack of books, symbolic of learning, a globe and the wise old owl. On the right a column supporting a burning taper, with the American Legion emblem on the face of the column.

To be Publicly Presented
Presentation of the state first medal and the four county medals to the respective winning contestants named above will be made at a public meeting to which the parents, teachers and friends of the recipients will be invited.

At this ceremony, Miss Pollard will read her prize-winning essay. County Legion Commander W. R. Holly is arranging a conference with Nehawka Legion officials at which it will be determined whether the presentation ceremonies will be held in the Legion community building here or the Nehawka auditorium, also the date of holding same decided upon.

A speaker from the state university will probably be present and it is quite possible that John G. Maher himself can be induced to come here for the ceremony. Miss Alpha Peterson, county superintendent, who has given freely of her time to promote the contest and the commanders of the three participating Cass county posts will also have a part on the program.

The winning of this state prize speaks well for the conduct of the schools of Cass county and Miss Peterson may well take pride in the result as announced from the office of the state superintendent.

"Champe Says--"

There is Great News

NOW you can come to Omaha for Champe's Permanent Waves—Champe's new shop in Omaha offers you a closer service. No appointment needed—no waiting or delay.

Champe's, who have made Lincoln, Nebraska, famous far and near for permanent waves, have opened a brand new big and beautiful permanent waving shop in Omaha—which offers a closer service for patrons living in Iowa and Eastern Nebraska.

Champe's are the biggest and busiest permanent wavers in the entire West—more than 100 permanent waves are given every day in Champe's Lincoln, Nebraska, shop to women from every section of the West. Champe's have given 30,000 permanent waves in the Lincoln shop alone. The establishment of Champe's new Omaha shop is the first step in carrying out plans for a chain of permanent waving shops, based on the successful record made in Lincoln, Nebraska.

At Champe's you learn that it's not the method or machine used, not the price you pay, that assures you a perfect permanent wave—it's the operator's experience... her skill... her knowledge. All operators used in Champe's Omaha shop come from the Lincoln shop, thus assuring you only widely experienced operators. No matter where you go, who does it, or what you pay you can't get a better permanent wave than Champe's give you. Workmanship guaranteed, absolutely large volume and good management always means low cost to you.

PETER A. SARPY

A man who settled in Nebraska 165 years ago, and who spent most of his life here was honored Saturday afternoon when his portrait was presented to Sarpy county at Papillion. The man is Peter A. Sarpy, one of the first white pioneers, to enter the land newly acquired from Napoleon, and to establish in hat territory trading posts and homes.

Peter Sarpy, born in 1804, came to Bellevue in 1823, when he was 19. He took over the management of the trading post there when he was 20, and immediately showed his capabilities in dealing with Indians and settlers.

A life of intense activity, a character eminently that of a pioneer, Peter Sarpy contributed much to the development in early days of Missouri river territory. It was he who saw need for ferries over the Elkhorn if trading was to be successful, and it was he who made of Decatur a point of barter.

Could Not Be Swindled
Picturesque accounts of his dealings with the Indians and his warm heart, and also to his acumen as a business man. He could not be swindled, he could not be imposed upon.

Sarpy maintained two residences in Bellevue, and one at Traders Point, Ia., a town which he founded, and another in Plattsmouth, which was only recently removed. Sarpy epitomized the Gallic character; he was quick of temper, and a lover of sport. More at home in the camps of the Indians than in the civilized communities, he won many friends in the tribe of the Omahas. Peter Sarpy died at Plattsmouth in 1865. He was buried there, but six months later, his body was taken to St. Louis, the home of his parents, and his birthplace.

Copy of 1854 Painting
A photographic copy of an 1854 painting of Sarpy, now hangs in the Sarpy county courthouse.

The photograph is finished in a deep, rich Van Dyke brown, and is enclosed in a massive Roman gold frame with polychrome trim. The original painting is the property of the State Historical society.

The presentation program which was in the nature of a reunion, beginning at 2 Saturday afternoon, with the Bellevue band furnishing music. N. O. Abbott gave the formal presentation address, his subject being, "Peter Sarpy and the Pioneer."

Sam W. Gramlich spoke on pioneer men of Sarpy county; Mrs. J. A. Frye on Pioneer women of that county and other pioneers made short talks. Judge James T. Begley presented the portrait and Gates Lilley, chairman of the Sarpy county board the acceptance.
