Frank Sharp to Die in October for Wife Murder

Proper to Bar as Jurors Men Who Had Conscientious Scruples Against Death Penalty

The supreme court Wednesday, in an opinion written by Justice Howell and concurred in by all the other judges, denied the application of Frank Sharp for a new trial and sentenced him to die in the electric chair on October 19th next. Sharp was twice tried in Lancaster for the murder of his wife, and twice convicted of first degree murder. The supreme court, on a previous appeal, had granted a new trial because of prejudicial errors of the trial judge.

The court held that the record, evidence and instructions of the court had justified a verdict of first degree murder and the imposition of the death penalty by the jury. It also held that none of the seven reasons assigned for a new trial was valid. One of these was that the jury erred in excusing from jury service, on the challenge of the state, a prospective juror who said he had conscientious scruples against returning a verdict for murder in the first degree which may be punished by death.

The court says that the defendant could not legally demand a juror who would not enforce the law. Jurors and judges enforce laws every day, says Justice Howell, against which they may have a prejudice in the sense that they may not believe them to be wise enactments. No conscientious juror or judge will allow his convictions as a unit of society to obstruct laws enacted in the manner prescribed by society as a whole.

Sharp was convicted of the murder of his wife Harriett during the night of March 16-17, 1926. They were out riding at the time. He claimed that he had been bound and blinded by robbers, who took his money and part of his clothing and after taking his wife with him. Her dead body, horribly mutilated from blows with hammers was found the next morning in the car. The hammers were owned by Sharp, and a bloody palm print on one of them was identified as the print of Sharp's palm. Other evidences against him consisted of footprints in the road near the death car, the fact that they had frequently quarrelled and had a bitter jangle the evening of the murder, and the presence of blood on his clothing that he sought to explain as coming from bumping his nose when thrust out of the car.

Other errors urged but held not to be well taken were the acceptance of a juror who had talked with a witness at the first trial; an instruction of the court that was not quite complete in itself; excluding the opinion of William Evans, who said that the palm print was not that of Sharp, but who would not testify under oath, offered to test the knowledge of a state witness; and refusal of the court to dismiss the first degree murder charge on the ground that as the first blow must have killed, deliberation was absent and not to be inferred from subsequent blows. All are discussed and dismissed as insufficient to justify a new trial.

Band Concert Thursday Nite

Charming Home Wedding is Held at Manley

Miss Leda Fleischman of Manley Is Married to Mr. Charles Gade of Ashland.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Dora Fleischman at Manley was the scene of a very pretty wedding Wednesday, June 27th, when her granddaughter Miss Leda Fleischman, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Gade of Ashland, Neb.

Promptly at 4 o'clock the bridal party marched down the open stairway to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Miss Ada Fleischman, cousin of the bride. They then took their places beneath a bower of wedding bells and roses where the double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Goings, of Louisville, which united this couple for life.

The bride looked charming in her beautiful apricot georgette gown and carried a bouquet of butterfly roses. The groom was attired in gray. The bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Rachel Fleischman who was dressed very becomingly in orchid crepe and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds. The best man was George Gade, brother of the groom.

The parlor was beautifully decorated in white and the arched doorway was a work of art. The dining room decorations were in pink and green and flowers were in profusion everywhere.

After the ceremony and congratulations, the guests were served with a delicious buffet supper, prepared by the bride's mother, Mrs. Fred Fleischman, who also baked the lovely three tier wedding cake which was prettily decorated by Miss Rachel.

The dining room was in charge of Mrs. Fannie Sinnard, of Fremont, who is an aunt of the bride.

The gift room was in charge of Miss Noma Clark of Omaha.

The bride has grown to womanhood in Manley after finishing the eighth grade at Manley, she attended the Louisville high school where she graduated in 1923. Since then she has been a very capable school teacher.

The groom is a mechanic in Ashland where they will reside and be at home to their friends after July 10.

They left by auto for their honeymoon trip with the best wishes of their many friends for a happy journey through life.

Championship Shoot is to be Staged Here

Second Annual Shoot of Omaha Rifle Club at Range Here—Local Club to Participate

On Independence day, Wednesday, July 4th, the second annual Individual Championship Shoot, sponsored by the Omaha American Legion Rifle Club will be staged on the government range north of this city.

The Plattsmouth club will also be an entry in the shoot and will give the Omaha riflemen a hard run for their money in coping the honor of the day. The event will bring a large number of the expert riflemen from this part of the state as it is open to all civilian rifle clubs and already a large number of the Plattsmouth members have signified their intention of getting into the contest.

The prizes will be a gold, silver and bronze medal for the highest individual score shot at the range as well as the U. S. army qualification insignia for expert riflemen may be made by those who are successful at the shoot.

The entry fee is $1 with post entries at $1.50.

The rifles used will be the United States rifle, cal. 30, model 1903, the sights used may be any not containing glass and the ammunition will be the regular service ammunition issued at the place of firing or may be supplied by the contestants themselves.

The details of the shoot can be ascertained by calling on Raymond J. Larson, local club secretary.

SELLS MURRAY GARAGE
The large brick garage building and residence at Murray, which has been owned by Frank E. Valley for the past few years, has been disposed of to C. W. Burd of Denver, who acquires the fine building. This is one of the finest garage buildings in this part of the state and the active operation of the building has been in charge of A. D. Bakke, an expert repair man and garage dealer and who has proven a great asset to that section of Cass county.

The Murray garage is one of the most thoroughly up to date that can be found in any small city in the city and the new owner should find that he has one of the best structures of its kind that can be boasted in any part of the state.

NOTICE

To my many friends and patrons in Cass county, I am sorry to say that I will not be able to call on you this season and do not know whether the firm that I represent will be able to secure a representative on the terms that they wish to give me. Thanking you all for the favor in the past and wishing you well.

HOLD FINE MEETING

The Merry Stitches Sewing club for juniors met for their third meeting of the season on June 20 at the home of the leader, Miss Leola Heil. The president called the meeting to order and asked the secretary to read the minutes of the last meeting. As there was no business, the business meeting came to a close.

We have a new member, Nadine Penton.

The sewing bags were not all finished, but we are to have them finished at the next meeting.

Charlotte Mayfield and Selma Heil demonstrated how to cut a pattern for the sewing bag. The next meeting will be held on July 6, at the home of our leader, Miss Leola Heil, when she will judge the sewing bags, we will also receive our lesson books on making the clothes pin bags.

After the meeting the members played a few games out of doors.

Club Reporter.

Hiccoughs Prove Fatal to Shrader

Former Cass County Man Dies at Omaha After Week Suffering From Unusual Attack.

The death of R. M. Shrader, 48, of 3507 Thirtieth avenue, Omaha, occurred at that city late Wednesday evening as the result of an attack of hiccoughs that has covered the past week and in which the victim of the attack has been gradually failing until death finally came to his relief.

Mr. Shrader is a member of one of the leading families of Cass county, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Shrader of near Nehawka, and where he spent his boyhood and young manhood, being engaged in farming for a number of years. For the last few years he has resided at Omaha where he has conducted a map and storage company on the South Side.

Mr. Shrader is survived by the widow, Mrs. Bertha Shrader, one daughter, Mrs. Clifford Wilson and one son, Chester, all residing at Omaha, as well as the aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Shrader, two brothers, Troy Shrader of near Nehawka and Roy Shrader of Leslie, Canada, as well as two sisters, Mrs. R. H. Christwiser of Union and Miss Grace Shrader of Fort Worth, Texas.

Elmwood Ladies Pay a Pleasant Visit to This City

Members of the Elmwood Kensington Club Pay Visit at the L. F. Langhorst Home.

From Friday's Daily—
The home of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Langhorst in this city was the scene of another very delightful social gathering yesterday that brought here a group of the ladies of Elmwood, the former home of the Langhorst family, and the occasion was one that all of the members of the party will long very pleasantly remember.

The Elmwood ladies made the trip by auto and enjoyed the fine drive that takes one through the heart of the afternoon several musical selections were given by the Misses Cora, Helen and Anna Williams.

In their gathering here the ladies were joined by two former Elmwood ladies, Mrs. W. E. Rosenerana and Mrs. Bert Reed as well as Mrs. W. C. Soennichsen, Mrs. Henry G. Soennichsen and Mrs. George E. Dovey.

It was late in the afternoon when the ladies departed for their home and expressing their pleasure at being able to enjoy this delightful time and planning to again meet on July 26th at the McFall home at Elmwood.

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Barnes of Omaha, the latter a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Langhorst were here for the enjoyable event.

NAMES ARE OMITTED

In the account of the gathering of the Elmwood ladies here on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. F. Langhorst, which appeared in the Journal last evening, the names of several of the ladies were omitted in the guests from this city, Mrs. Q. K. Parmele, former Elmwood lady, Mrs. J. A. Capwell and Miss Mathilde Soennichsen of this city and Mrs. Henry Prosser of Crofton, Nebraska. These inter-city visits of the ladies are much enjoyed and the Plattsmouth friends were more than delighted with the opportunity of visiting with their Elmwood friends.

BABY BEEF CLUB MEETS

The Plattsmouth Baby Beef club held a very spirited meeting on June 25, 1928 at the home of Myron Wiles at 7 o'clock p. m. The members judged two lots of fed steers and got nicely started towards making a fine judging team. The meeting was called to order by Chester Wiles president. Lesson IV was given to the members by their leader, Myron Wiles. Some yells were practiced Gene Richards was made an associate member being he is not old enough to be an active member.

The next meeting was decided to be held at the home of Myron Wiles at 7 o'clock p. m. on July 13.

After the meeting was over Mrs. Wiles treated the visitors and club to some candy and popcorn which was very much enjoyed.
