ATTENDS CLUB MEETING

From Tuesday's Daily—Mrs. Beulah V. Craig attended the quarterly meeting of the Charis Club Leader of which she is a member Monday evening. They went to Omaha and joined the other members from there and went by auto to Camp Brewster where a four-course chicken dinner was awaiting them, which was given in honor of them by Mrs. Myotella Ronayne the district manager. The dinner enjoyed and will be long remembered by them all.

Winner of State Essay Contest Deserved the Honor

Miss Mary Pollard of Nehawka Receives the Award for Presenting Essay on Citizens Voting

As has been announced the first prize in the contests held in forty-six of the counties of the state in the essay contest staged by the American Legion for the best essays on "Why Every Citizen Should Vote," has been awarded to a Cass county girl, Miss Mary Pollard, who was the first prize winner in the county contest.

Prize Winning Essay Following is the essay written by Mary Pollard which was awarded first in the contest:

"We as citizens of the United States, rest securely in the stability and safety of our country. In enjoying these advantages we must remember that our peace and happiness is dependent upon a government whose responsibility rests upon each individual citizen. The United States is a representative democracy. That is, a country wherein the people elect officers to make the laws and administer the government. Again, the will of the people is a collective expression of individual opinions in which the view of each citizen is a necessary unit. Every citizen must vote that the will of the people may be expressed by the choice of the best and most efficient officers. In this manner, though it may seem indirect, the future of our government is determined.

"From a sparsely settled country with undeveloped resources has come at last a glorious union, banded together that the people there might enjoy the privileges offered by a well-organized nation. By careful cooperation and earnest effort, the voters may, through the principles they set forth, bind the states more closely thus avoiding the awful chaos and destruction of civil war and assuring themselves strength in unity.

"Although the constitution declares the equality of all citizens before the law, it often seems as though the rich or influential obtain unfair advantages. Every public official will act honestly if the people are determined to elect honest officers, and the voters may thus establish justice in all the legal actions of the nation.

"The happiness of the entire union rests upon the personal contentment of each citizen. We cannot have true commercial and industrial peace as long as two factions such as capital and labor, disagree. It is to the interest of all the people to help to settle such disagreements peacefully and satisfactorily.

Duty to Protect Ourselves.

"The chief duty of a government is to protect its citizens in all ways. Since we, the people, govern supreme it is for us to protect ourselves and others through the medium of the ballot. Each voter must strive to defend the property, the health, the personal liberty, and the life of himself and of others.

"The standards of life must always be leveled up instead of leveled down. As one reaches a high plane the others must also be elevated. Those people who are unable to care for themselves must be assisted. Intelligent, educated people are, as a rule, more prosperous and broader-minded than those without these attainments. Immorality and vice undermine and weaken the nation; they must be abolished. Desirable conditions must be established and all causes of weakness must be destroyed.

"We must cultivate and develop those qualities which will make a strong and lasting nation wherein this generation and those to come may procure all the blessings and advantages of liberty. We must uphold and perfect a government which is able to protect a great nation industrially, socially and spiritually. We must create friendly relation with all the world and outlaw unnecessary war. There is much to be done but it cannot be accomplished by violence of by sudden coup d'etat. Our hopes may be realized only by the concurrent interest, and the persistent effort of all our citizens.

"The power lies in the people. Therefore, it is the duty of every citizen to vote that we may correct our mistakes; that we may solve the problems which lie before us; and that we may advance liberty, equality, and true democracy within the United States of America."

WILL RECEIVE DEGREE

Frank Godwin, who is attending the summer school at the Peru state normal school, is home to spend the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Godwin and visiting with the many friends here. Mr. Godwin is to receive his degree at the Peru normal at the end of the first six weeks of the summer school course. Mr. Godwin has been elected as a member of the Phi Beta biological fraternity, a national fraternity with qualifications of twenty hours of biological study with an average of ninety or better.

Mr. Godwin goes to Blooming Prairie, Minnesota, in the fall as principal of the high school at that place and where his qualifications should make him a valuable man, as he will also have charge of the department of physical education of the school.

Mr. Godwin was a graduate of the Plattsmouth high school in the class of 1925 and has since graduation been attending the Peru normal school.

MARRIED AT OMAHA

From Tuesday's Daily—The marriage licenses issued at Omaha yesterday reveals the fact that William Pohlman, former resident here and Miss Emma Larson of Stromsburg, Nebraska, were joined in the bonds of wedlock there. The groom is well known here where he resided for a number of years and recently inherited a very neat sum from the estate of his foster father, William Pohlman, aged recluse, who died at his home on Wintersteen Hill last fall. For the past few years the groom has been making his home in the east and on the death of the father returned to Omaha where he has since made his home.

FARMER ATTACKED BY BULL; WIFE HEADS RESCUE PARTY

Liberty, June 29.—Granville Norris, farmer near Liberty, barely escaped death when he was attacked and trampled by an enraged bull. He was rescued by his wife and neighbors who succeeded in driving the beast away. Mr. Norris suffered cuts and bruises about the body, but was not seriously injured.

ZIONISTS HAVE ARGUMENT

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 2.—While rival group leaders endeavor to span the breach widened within the ranks for the past four years, the Zionist Organization of America holding its thirty-fourth annual convention here, today adopted the administrative report, storm center during the present sessions. The vote was 398 in favor of the report to 159 against it.

The ballot climaxed hours of spirited debate and the impassioned oration and at the conclusion Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, New York, foe of the administration, pleaded for peace within the organization and co-operation in the movement for the up-building of the home land.

FIND MAN SLAIN NEAR FAIRBURY; COMPANION HELD

Fairbury, Neb., July 2.—The body of an unidentified man, his throat and head slashed again and again was found this afternoon on the bank of the Little Blue river south of Fairbury by two boys.

They notified authorities, who arrested a man who gave the name of James Ryan, Grand Island, for investigation. His clothes were blood-spattered, and he had been seen but a short time before with the man who was killed, officers said.

Ryan has but one leg. Officers said he would not be fully questioned until he recovers from intoxication. He told a story of a robbery by three tramps who took a roll of bills, but left his purse and some silver. He is slightly injured. The boys found a bloody razor near the body, which was brought here. Investigation by authorities revealed that the man slain had asked a meal of a Fairbury woman Sunday and said he had a sister at Hastings. He had told a shoemaker here that he was from Grand Island, but that has not been verified.

No identifying labels were in his clothing. He was dark, weighed about 140 pounds, apparently 40 years old.

The two men apparently took part in a fight at a hobo camp near the river, as Ryan's face is badly beaten. Muscles of the dead man's right arm are severed, which would have disabled him for further fighting according to officers.

BISHOP ON WAY WEST

New York, July 1.—Rev. Joseph F. Rummell recently consecrated bishop of Omaha, left here tonight for Omaha. Cardinal Hayes will install the new bishop on Wednesday at Omaha.

Omaha, July 1.—A two-day celebration is planned for the installation of Bishop Joseph F. Rummell of New York, newly elected administrator of the Omaha Catholic diocese who will come here Tuesday. The consecration is set to take place on Wednesday, accompanied by Cardinal Patrick F. Hayes of New York, Archbishop J. L. Keane of Dubuque, Ia., and an ecclesiastical group of about twenty-five persons. A parade from the union station is planned for Tuesday morning following the arrival of the bishop. A committee of Omahans left tonight for Chicago to meet Rev. Mr. Rummell.
