Smith to Urge More Business in Government

Acceptance Speech to Ask for Economy, Claim Wet Stand Is Constructive

Albany, N. Y.—Emphasis will be placed by Gov. Alfred E. Smith in his acceptance speech on a plan for reorganization of the Federal Government along lines similar to the reorganization of the State Government in New York, where 118 overlapping and duplicating bureaus were cut to 18 departments, each with a respective head, it has just become known here.

Throughout the campaign Governor Smith will try to put a constructive tone on his utterances, and this governmental reorganization plan will be one of the chief aids to that end. Even the prohibition question, which he expects to discuss much, will be treated from the standpoint of effective governmental operation.

"More business in government and less government in business" will be the theme of the acceptance speech. This is seen in some quarters as a further bid for the confidence of the business interests.

These revelations concerning Governor Smith's program in the first national speech he will make since he was nominated were made by Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, who, with Senator Harry B. Hawes of Missouri, was a guest at the executive home for a day.

"The Governor," said Senator Tydings, "stressed the point in our conversations that there should be a drastic reorganization of the Federal Government; that useless, overlapping and inefficient bureaus and agencies of the Federal Government should be abolished.

"I am sure that you will see the Governor stressing that point in his notification speech."

Governor Smith's visitors also declared that the notification speech, in so far as it deals with the subject of prohibition, will treat entirely from the standpoint of "sound scientific government," rather than from the point of view of either the dry or the wet. Senator Tydings said that if Governor Smith's views on the subject are heard and correctly interpreted they will be found to be friendly rather than otherwise to the cause of temperance.

"If Governor Smith is elected he will ask for nothing objectional to believes in temperance and good government. The Governor does not want a flow of liquor into the country, but what he does want is the use of common sense in the matter of its control. He told me that it was not a question of the wetness or dryness of the country, but one of good government. I am confident he believes in temperance."

YOUNG PEOPLE WEDDED

From Wednesday's Daily—

The many friends in this city of Miss Lucille Margaret Horn and Albert Henry Gaines, were greatly surprised last evening to learn of the marriage of these two estimable young people at Nebraska City Tuesday morning.

The bride has been attending the summer school at the Peru State teachers' college since the close of the teaching year, as Miss Horn was a member of the teaching force of the county in the past year. Mr. Gaines has been making his home here for the past several months and the fact that the happy wedding was consummated had been kept a very close secret by the young people and even the members of the family were unaware of the forthcoming event.

The bride came from Peru to Nebraska City where she was joined by the groom and the young people were united in marriage at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning by County Judge Dierks of Otoe county at his office in the court house.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaines are absent from the city on a short honeymoon. The marriage came in the press dispatches from Nebraska City. Relatives here were unaware of the wedding until the notice was received from Nebraska City and with the host of friends will join in the well wishes to the happy young couple on their return home to this city.

The bride is a daughter of Councilman and Mrs. Philip A. Horn and is a native daughter of Cass county where she was born and reared to womanhood and was graduated from the Plattsmouth high school. Since graduation Miss Horn has been engaged in teaching in the schools of the country districts and was a very valued teacher and most successful in her work. The bride is a lady of the greatest charm of personality and has a very large number of friends in this community who will join in their well wishes for the future happiness of this fine young couple.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Gaines, of Wayne, Nebraska, and is a young man held in high esteem by those who have the pleasure of his acquaintance.

GOES TO HOSPITAL

From Tuesday's Daily—This afternoon Judge and Mrs. A. H. Duxbury departed for Omaha where their little daughter, Dorothea Mae, will be placed in the Methodist hospital where she will be operated on Wednesday morning. The little one has been troubled with a complication that followed her operation several months ago for appendicitis and her condition, while not of a dangerous nature was such as to need correction and which was thought best before she grew older. The many friends are hoping that this winsome little lady will soon be able to be over her ordeal and back home completely cured of her trouble.

ED RUMMEL ILL

Edward Rummel, one of the prominent residents west of Mynard, is quite sick last evening with an attack that has not been fully determined but which is thought to be an attack of gall stones. Mr. Rummel was taken sick and it was the intention to hurry him to this city for examination but he suffered so much that this was impossible and medical aid was called to his home and he was made as comfortable as possible, but is still suffering a great deal and whether he will have to be taken to the hospital or not has not been fully determined.

WILL VISIT IN CITY

From Monday's Daily—Mrs. George Weaver and son, Billy, who have been visiting at Ord, Nebraska, for a short time, returned home yesterday and were accompanied by a niece of Mrs. Weaver, Miss Elsie Cropp who will visit here. At Lincoln they were joined by Mr. Weaver and Mrs. Paul Metcalf, a sister of Mrs. Weaver, who will spend a week or ten days here as a house guest of the Weaver family.

George Lamphere was a visitor in Omaha today where he was called to look after some matters of business and visiting with friends.

Combines in Cass County.

The following have combines in Cass county that we know of: Alvin McReynolds, Nehawka; Will Reuter, and Henry Reikman, Wabash; Oris Cook, Alvo; and Henry Meierjurgon and sons, Murdock. Mr. Meierjurgon and sons cut and threshed 920 bushels from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 7:30 that evening. This looks like an easy and quick way to cut the wheat crop.

Once again R. B. Stone, of Nehawka has the high herd in the group of five to fifteen cows in the Cass, Johnson, Otoe County Association. His eleven Guernsey cows produced an average of 44.2 pounds of butter-fat in the month.

Double Duty from Road Culverts.

Many road culverts in this county could be made to do double duty if the proper methods were used. The reader has probably noticed many times places where the road crosses a rather deep gully. In some cases the culvert has been set on an angle so that the gully is stopped at the road grade and the farm on the uphill side has the benefit of a big fill of dirt and no deep ditches.

There are dozens of places in each county where by building proper culverts deep ditches could be stopped at the road line. In some cases it would be necessary to put the culvert under the road grade as usual but on the upstream side it would have to be turned up vertically in order to get the heavy fill of silt. There are cases in southeastern Nebraska where expensive bridges $9 and $9 foot long have been replaced with soil saving culverts and fills which are much less expensive to maintain and really benefit the community by stopping deep ditches.

County commissioners and county engineers are often willing to cooperate with farmers on these propositions provided the land owner will pay something toward the additional expense of making the ordinary culvert into a soil saving culvert. Where this can be done, benefit is derived by all concerned.

Rumor Two Men Ate Malmgren Only Heightens Anger

Feeling Runs High in Scandinavia as Italy Tries to Hush the Critics

London, July 24.—While recent news in Italy against hostile criticism of the Nobile expedition is growing, feeling in Scandinavian countries is running higher. The Daily Mail Tuesday printed a Copenhagen dispatch saying it is persistently rumored that A. Marnano and F. Zappi, frantic with hunger, devoured part of the body of Prof. Finn Malmgren, lost Swedish scientist, who was with them.

the Russian ice breaker Krassin and later transferred to the Citti Di Milano, is reported at Copenhagen to be very ill as the result of hardships on the arctic ice.

No Proof of Cannibalism.

So far as known here, there is nothing upon which to base the rumor of cannibalism beyond the fact that Malmgren's body is missing and there has been great conflict in stories regarding his fate.

The Russian aviator who discovered Zappi and Marnano on the arctic ice reported by radio that he saw two men standing and a third lying down, apparently dead. When the Russian icebreaker Krassin reached the men, however, only Marnano and Zappi were there, and they said they had deserted Dr. Finn Malmgren a month before, far from the scene of their rescue.

Rumor Malmgren's Body Found.

An unconfirmed rumor was in circulation Tuesday that the Norwegian aviator Capt. Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen had found Dr. Finn Malmgren's body. The Norwegian cruiser Torrensjoeld and the French cruiser Strasbourg, which have been making a futile search for Roald Amundsen and his five companions, were returning to Tromsø Tuesday. Another search along the east coast of Greenland for Amundsen and his five companions was being organized.

Delay Investigation Two Months.

Rome, July 24.—Italy's inquiry into conduct of the Nobile expedition ordered by Premier Mussolini to still hostile criticism throughout northern Europe, was expected to be opened late in September or early in October. It is believed it will be directed by Mussolini himself.

All rescued members of the Nobile party will have reached Italy within the next fortnight, unless the order to return immediately is countermanded.—Omaha Bee-News.
