DRY LAW IS FALSE ISSUE

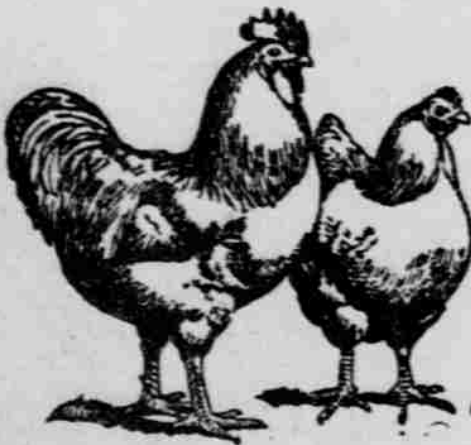

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Irvine Lenroot, former United States senator from Wisconsin, told James W. Good, western campaign manager for Herbert Hoover, today that if it were not for the "false issue of prohibition in this campaign, Wisconsin would give Hoover a record majority."
"I believe the truth of the prohibition situation is beginning to have its effect on the voters," he said. "They are beginning to realize that Governor Smith's election will not bring back liquor."
Mr. Lenroot, who has just completed a swing thru Wisconsin and Minnesota making speeches, said he believed both states would go for the republican presidential nominee.

Heated Rebuke to Governor of Southern State

Bilbo of Mississippi Accused of Uttering a Falsehood—Libel Affecting Hoover.

Washington, Oct. 19.—An official denial of a declaration attributed to Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi, that Herbert Hoover had visited and danced with a negro woman at Mound Bayou during his Mississippi flood relief work last year was made public tonight at Hoover general headquarters. The denial, in the form of a telegram to Bilbo from George Ackerson, assistant to the republican candidate, criticized the Mississippi executive in sharp terms, declaring that the statement was "unqualifiedly false" and "the most indecent and unworthy statement in the whole of a bitter campaign."

The telegram, dated today, follows: "Hon. Theodore G. Bilbo, governor of Mississippi, Jackson, Miss.: 'You are quoted by the press in the south as having stated in a public address that Herbert Hoover while on one of his flood relief trips got off the train at Mound Bayou, Miss., and paid a call on a colored woman there and later danced with her.'"

Says Statement Falsehood. "That statement is unqualifiedly false. There is not the slightest foundation for it. It is the most indecent and unworthy statement in the whole of a bitter campaign. I was with Mr. Hoover every hour of the four months while he was engaged in the flood. Mr. Hoover gave all that was in him to saving the lives of the people of Mississippi and the surrounding states, and in securing and bringing into your state literally millions of dollars for reconstruction and rehabilitation of your people—a task necessitating experience and influence which no other man in the United States possesses."

"Your legislature in formal resolution stated: 'Whereas, suffering hardships and peril, Herbert Hoover, not once, but again and again, crossed and recrossed the flooded section from Cairo to the Gulf, heartening the people, directing the work of rescue, organizing, and planning to alleviate the immediate suffering of the sick, the hungry, the homeless, restoring hope in the future by establishing credit, turning his genius for economics and humanitarianism to the problems of restoring a desolate people and country to prosperity and productiveness, working day and night, unceasingly with devotion, patience, insight, sympathy and wisdom.'"

Action by Legislature. "Now, therefore, be it resolved by the house of representatives the senate concurring herein, that the state of Mississippi in simple recognition of the magnitude of the task assigned and of its magnificent execution and testimony of profound depth of gratitude owed him by all the people of the states bordering the Mississippi river, we, the legislature of the state of Mississippi, proclaim this expression of our appreciation and admiration of Herbert Hoover and our thanks for his work."

"Mr. Hoover was never in Mound Bayou except for a three minute stop of his train there. He never left the platform of the train, but received there a memorial from the colored people of that vicinity for the service he had rendered their race. No more untruthful and ignoble assertion was ever uttered by a public man in the United States than that attributed to you."

"Mr. Hoover never took a moment from his responsibilities to attend any social gathering anywhere during the whole period of the flood."

"That any person in Mississippi should be led to vote for or against Mr. Hoover upon a representation of this kind would forever be a most infamous blot on the record of the state of Mississippi."

GEORGE AKERSON, "Assistant to Mr. Hoover."—State Journal.

REVIEW GRANTED IN PACKERS CASE

Washington, Oct. 22.—The government was granted a review today by the Supreme court to test out the refusal of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia to reverse an order in the packers consent decree case.

The order of the Court of Appeals permitted the California co-operative canneries to intervene in the suit which the packers had brought to set aside a consent decree under which they were enjoined from dealing in groceries, canned fruits, etc., and restricted to essential products of the meat packing industry.

The Supreme court last spring refused to set the decree aside as requested by the Swift and Armour groups. Following that decision the government sought to have the Court of Appeals reverse its order in the canneries case, and hold that it had no jurisdiction to review the refusal of the District Supreme court to permit the canneries to intervene. This the Court of Appeals declined to do.

Grain Exchange Law to be Tested Before the Court

State Asserts Inspection Rules Here Block Quick Grain Marketing; Omaha Group Demurs.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 23.—The constitutionality of Nebraska's new law, institutionally of the Omaha Grain Exchange from enforcing its own weight and quality inspections was at issue in the case heard on demurrer today before District Judge Stewart here.

The grain exchange, along with several member companies, seeks to enjoin Attorney General Spillman from enforcing the law. He threatened to have the exchange's license forfeited when its officers tried to discipline members who refused to abide by inspection rules.

Assistant Attorney General T. J. McGuire from Omaha spent the morning presenting the state's case.

Twelve hundred carloads of wheat were side tracked at the Omaha grain terminals six weeks ago, declared McGuire, because of the very inspection rules that the exchange seeks to enforce. Regardless of whether shippers and buyer agree on weights, or whether the wheat has been previously inspected and weighed, it must be transferred through the terminals, re-weighed and re-inspected to comply with the rules of the exchange, he said.

"A Drag on Commerce." "All this is a drag on interstate commerce, McGuire argued, because it loses not only time, but money. The shipper must pay for inspection services whether they are desired or not."

"The Omaha exchange like other exchanges is a great 'throat' of grain commerce through which passes 400 million dollars worth of goods in a year," he continued. "Ninety per cent of that is forwarded to other exchanges and industries in other states or nations. Much grain coming from Iowa and sold through the Omaha Exchange passes through Council Bluffs terminals only and never touches Nebraska soil."

"The exchange itself owns no terminals. It can have no power, therefore the members' terminals where inspections are made, weighing is done, and grain transferred. It follows then that during rush seasons, owners of the terminals handle their own grain first and let that of farmers wait. Thus the congestion such as occurred six weeks ago. Shippers anxious to take advantage of a favorable market, could no do so because facilities were not available for the inspections that the rules require."

Trial Still to Come. The grain exchange's argument has not been presented.

Its petition sets out that the exchange, organized about 20 years ago, now has property worth one million dollars for the convenience of shippers, buyers and the public generally. It provides a selling floor, offices and an inspection and weighing service.

By inspecting and weighing the grain at Omaha, the exchange contends, it establishes uniformity and at the same time puts a Nebraska label on the product. Otherwise shippers of this state might be subject to dock duties and other charges at distant markets and shipping points.—World-Herald.

RAIL HAZARDS DESCRIBED

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Representatives of trainmen employed by railroad west of Chicago testified today before the federal fact finding board investigating their demands for increased pay, that handling a long train is more hazardous than handling a short train.

E. P. Bradley, general chairman for the conductors of the Great Northern railway, also unable to present statistics, testified that long trains had increased the hazards of railroading to trainmen. He declared a long train is more likely to break in two and that the shock of starting and stopping is more severe than in a shorter train.

Attorneys for the railroads as set forth that two short trains immeasurably increased accident liability, not only to the trainmen but to the public at large, particularly to motorists.

Bank Cashier Gone; Note Tells of Big Shortage

Filing of Charge Against Ohioa Man Not Yet Determined—Expenses Covered Up.

Geneva, Neb., Oct. 23.—Whether closing of the Nebraska State bank of Ohioa will result in filing of any charges against C. H. Brinkman, cashier, had not been determined late today by Guy A. Hamilton, county attorney.

Hamilton said the only irregularity so far found in the bank's books consisted of covering up expenses, but that correct balances and entries had apparently been made on all customer's accounts.

A note from Brinkman was found by W. H. Weiss, assistant cashier and stepbrother of Brinkman, at the bank Monday morning. It said the bank was short and explained the way the books had been kept, it was reported to County Attorney Hamilton. It said that Brinkman could not remain to face developments.

H. G. Batty, state bank examiner, was sent to Ohioa by the state banking department. He had found about 12 thousand dollars shortage today.

The bank had deposits of about 117 thousand dollars. To large a share of this amount was at interest, and profits less than expenses, it is reported.

Neither Brinkman nor Weiss had drawn the full amount of their salary for some time because of low profits, it was reported to the county attorney.

Brinkman, unmarried, lived with the Weiss family. Cashier since 1914, he owned $8,800 of the bank's 15 thousand dollar capital stock. Jacob Weiss, his stepfather, held six hundred dollars; John F. Steele, Seattle, the president, owned five thousand dollars, and A. R. Thompson, Hastings, had six hundred dollars.—World-Herald.
