Indians' Cause Evokes Appeal by Gen. Scott

United States Must Repay Debt Owed to Tribesmen, He Tells Conference

Atlantic City, N. J.—The voice of Maj-Gen. Hugh L. Scott, which spoke with authority in the days when Indian tribes roamed the great plains, has just been raised again in a plea for justice for them.

At present General Scott writes "U. S. A. retired," after his official signature, but a quarter of a century ago there was perhaps no officer in the United States Army who played a more active part in the conduct of Indian affairs than he.

When peace was to be made between the Navajos of New Mexico and the Kickapoo of Arizona, it was "Colonel" Scott to whom the task was given. General Scott's plea now takes on a different character than it did in those picturesque days. The need of the Indian now, he believes, is to be safeguarded from the influence of national politics, which have interfered with the proper functioning of the United States Indian service.

Wants Politics Abolished

Speaking before the Friends of Indians Conference which has just been held here under the sponsorship of the Indian Rights Association, General Scott declared that the Indian cannot be properly reorganized unless the Indian service is taken out of politics.

His summary of the situation is drawn not only from an intimate knowledge of the conduct of Indian affairs. And now, taking part in the effort launched by the Indian Rights Association to better the condition of the American Indian, General Scott envisages a need for reorganization of the Indian service to meet present conditions. He charged that the greatest difficulty in the way of proper functioning of the Indian Bureau is "personal interference by members of Congress to secure favors for constituents to which they are not entitled."

"The bureau is afflicted by politics to too large a degree," he declared. "It is improperly organized. There is no system and there is large lack of funds. The army and the Indian bureau grew up side by side, not by any system, but piece meal and under haphazard laws. The Spanish War resulted in reorganization of the regular army, but the Indian bureau has remained in the same condition."

Recommendations Adopted

The meeting adopted resolutions approving the findings of the survey of the Indian situation recently made by the Institute for Government Research in Washington, and urging the Government and Congress to follow the recommendations contained in the report, particularly as to appropriation of at least $25,000,000 annually for a number of years to carry on the Indian work.

Lewis Meriam, technical director of the Institute, characterized present conditions among the Indians as "highly unsatisfactory and scandalous." He urged the immediate modernization of the Indian Bureau as a means of rectifying the situation.

Other speakers at the closing session of the conference were the Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, Rector of the Catholic University of Washington, D. C.; John B. Hague, chief of the New York State Special Schools Bureau; Julia C. Lathrop, formerly chief of the Children's Bureau, and Mary Louise Mark, of the Department of Sociology of Ohio State University.

Americans Present Fund to Heidelberg

Festal Day in Old University Town With Exchange of Cordialities

Heidelberg, Germany—American affection for this ancient university city found eloquent expression today by an exchange of cordialities when Ambassador Schurman presented an American fund of five hundred thousand dollars for a new hall of instruction. Subsequently honorary citizenship was conferred upon him by Dr. Maer, the lord mayor.

The city was festively decorated with American and German flags as well as with flags of the university and the city. The entire Baden ministry and all the university authorities attended as well as President Loeb of the reichstag and Prof. Gruber of Danzig, whose designs for the proposed new hall won first prize in the competition.

Ambassador Schurman, who attended Heidelberg in his youth, was welcomed in the city hall with a flourish of trumpets and an organ prelude after which Prof. Karl Heinsheimer, rector of the university, delivered the welcoming address, he announced that the names of the donors and a bust of the ambassador would be placed in the new hall as a lasting remembrance, adding that Americans would forever find a most friendly reception at the university.

ENDORSES WAGE INCREASE

Washington, Dec. 23.—Wage increases of from 1 to 8 cents an hour for certain classes of laborers and mechanics for next year at navy yards and stations in the United States and Hawaii were approved today by Secretary Wilbur. The increases, which were recommended by the navy wage board of review, included only one 8 cent raise awarded to "employees at TNT filling stations" because of "personal danger." Ordnance men "engaged in work of a hazardous nature" at proving grounds or torpedo stations are in the next highest class, with a 5 cent raise. Women garment workers are also in the 5 cent group.

A CRITIC OF CRIME CURES

New York, Dec. 25.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, in his annual report issued today criticizes present day crime cures which would operate by providing harsher penalties.

"The cure for lawlessness is not to pass more laws," he said; "still less to inflict more rigid, more severe and more cruel punishments for law violation. These can only be more or less futile and aggravating expedients. The true cure is first not to enact or promulgate laws which the general will does not or will not accept and then to train that general will to a habit of discipline which will make it law abiding when it accepts laws as just and rights."

He mentioned the laws of Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee, which forbid the teaching of evolution, as being among those he believed unenforceable.

"The folly of this proceeding can only be excelled by its fruitlessness," he said. "Such a law is not, and cannot be, enforced, simply because it is not by nature enforceable."

He said the anti-evolution laws were a good example of "the thousand and one compulsions, prohibitions and restrictive regulations which crowd our American statute books and which are the joy and delight of the legalistically-minded."

Baskets Bring Relief to Great Many Homes

Special Committee Representing the Lodges, Societies and Churches Do a Great Work

From Wednesday's Daily—The committee composed of Mrs. C. A. Rosenkrans, S. W. Bell and A. H. Duxbury, with W. G. Kleck as the general chairman, which had charge of the handling of the Christmas baskets for the various lodges, societies and church organizations of the city, had a real task on Sunday and Monday in getting lined up on the preparation of the baskets and the distribution of them among those who were most in need.

There were some sixty-seven of the baskets arranged and to provide which the generous people of the city representing practically all of the organizations of the community had joined in making possible. By the vote of the representatives of the various organizations it was decided that the distribution could best be handled by the creation of a central organization and in which the Red Cross was deemed the most logical of the various societies as that had the most direct contact with the American Legion being associated in the actual distribution work and all of the other organizations getting behind the move and supplying their donations and funds to aid the work.

The result of the effort was most successful and Dr. O. Sandin, who was personally handling the giving out of the baskets was able to reach many homes and do a real practical good on the Christmas day and one that will be remembered more than a brighter Christmas for the residents of the city.

COOLIDGE GOING TO ISLAND

Washington, Dec. 21.—President Coolidge expects to leave Washington for Sapelo island, off the coast of Georgia, some time after Christmas morning. The departure may take place Christmas afternoon or may, possibly, be deferred until the following day.

The chief executive is still uncertain as to the time of the return trip expects that he will remain on the island until after New Year's day, omitting the customary public reception at the white house.

PASTOR REPORTED MISSING

Covington, Ky., Dec. 25.—Whereabouts of the Rev. Napoleon H. Carlisle, eighty-eight, remained unknown tonight, twenty-four hours after he disappeared immediately after mailing a Christmas package. Police reported all attempts to locate the retired Baptist preacher were fruitless. He has not been seen since posting a Christmas remembrance to his brother who lives at Bracht Station, Ky.

The minister's daughter, Miss Effie Carlisle, said it was an annual custom of her father to mail her the gift on Christmas eve. But when he did not return Miss Carlisle said she believed her father had been attacked and robbed.

The Rev. Mr. Carlisle was a former postmaster here and brother of the late John G. Carlisle, secretary of the treasury under President Grover Cleveland.
