

Alvo News

John Walter who farms on the Edward Casey place, shelled and delivered corn to the Rehmer elevator in Alvo during the past week. Arthur Dinges was a visitor for a short time on last Wednesday afternoon at Palmyra, where he went to see his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Dinges.

Aug. Fischer shelled and delivered corn during the past week to the elevator in Alvo and was paid to receive the eighty cents per bushel for the yellow cereal.

Wm. Stewart has been making a specialty on tank heaters and hog waterers which during the recent cold weather the hogs would appreciate, whether the owners of them do or not.

Charles Godbey who is at the hospital at Lincoln, is reported as getting better at this time, and it is hoped that he will in the near future be so he can return home. His many friends are pleased at his better condition.

George W. Fitter last week completed the picking of his corn and is sure glad of the fact, for the conditions for the picking of corn has been very bad the last fall and compelled many to carry their work over into this year.

Messrs and Mesdames Lyle Miller, Edward Edwards and Elmer Rosenow were all over to Omaha last Sunday evening where they went to enjoy a play at one of the theatres, and also the ride there and return. Sure they had an excellent time.

F. E. Dickerson and Henry J. Miller were over to Lincoln on last Wednesday where the former was looking after some business matters and visiting with Charles Godbey, while Mr. Miller was also visiting with Mr. Godbey and other friends.

John B. Skinner shipped a car load of hogs to Omaha on last Wednesday for James H. Foreman and also in the afternoon a truck load of cattle for Charles Foreman, which were taken to College View where they were placed on sale at a public auction which was being held there.

Uncle George Foreman who has been in the hospital for some time following his injury, is slightly better at this time, and was able to be removed from the hospital where he has been, to a room in an apartment house, where he can be near the physician who has charge of his case.

The roads, and especially the one running east from Alvo have been a trial to the road men with the many snows and winds which have occurred recently. Phillip Costman, the man in charge of clearing the roads has had a crew of men working with shovels and on last Thursday had the road cleared and ready for travel, but only by hustling and hard work with the shovels.

Unique Innovation.

Stepping ahead of other schools in this respect, the Alvo schools have added a great attraction at the school where they secured one hundred and fifty masterpieces of art in the pictures which they are exhibiting. Of the collection there are reproductions of American, French, Flemish, English, Dutch, Spanish and German schools. These pictures were shown from January 15th to and including the 17th, the proceeds to be used to obtain pictures for the school rooms. The exhibition was sponsored by the Mothers Council and the Parent-Teachers association.

Taken to Home of Relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Yeager who have been in poor health for some time past and who were so poorly that they could not care for their home and the work which was required to keep house, concluded, after consulting with the children, to have the mother go to Lincoln where she will stay with a brother and family, and Mr. Yeager went to South Bend where he will stay with his daughter, Mrs. George Braun, thus caring for them.

New Terms Are Learned.

Lucille Christenson "hit" upon the idea of a Rope Club game. This provided recreation for the Knotty members, Thursday, Jan. 17.

Each player was given a term used in rope work as yarn, fiber, hawser, strand, etc. The "it" person told a rope story in which he used these terms. When a player heard his name given he followed the leader in walking around inside the circle. The "it" man, when he tired of this had only to say "the rope broke," when every player tried to get a chair. The one who missed his chair was then "it" and resumed the story.

In this way the members became better acquainted with Rope Club terms.

Marvel Skinner, the secretary, asked that each respond to roll call by giving a rope term.

All the charter members and one associate member were present.

Lesson III and IV were discussed and it was found that the clove hitch, the racking hitch, blackwall hitch, and the bowline knot were the most common knots practiced.

Suggestions were made as to the important knots and the neatness of the display.
