Come and See Us R. D. STINE Union, Nebraska

Henry H. Becker was called to Omaha on last Monday where he had some business matters to look after. Mr. Becker of Moulton was a visitor in Union on last Monday, and was looking after some business matters.

Has Becker was storing his crop of ice on last Monday and was being assisted by Roy Becker and a number of other neighbors.

Charles Atterberry was called to Plattsmouth on last Monday afternoon where he had some business matters to look after.

C. W. Clark was called to Murray on last Monday where he had some business matters to look after. He is making the trip with his car. The Union picture show signed an agreement just recently for pictures for the coming six months and among which are some of the most popular plays on the circuit.

Harry Gohelman shelled and delivered the rent corn on the place where he has been farming, but thinking that the corn would sell higher did not shell his share.

James Ervin and wife who were so seriously ill for so long but a short time since are reported as being in much better health at this time on the highway to complete recovery.

E. C. Arejbold of Council Bluffs, Iowa, was a business visitor in Union on last Monday and was consulting Messrs P. F. Rihn, Earl Merritt and C. H. Smith regarding some business matters.

Dr. W. W. Claybaugh was called to Wyoming on account of illness of a patient and was taken to that place by Otis Atterberry, and during the time John Finkle was looking after the garage.

Samuel A. Hathaway of Friend arrived in Union on last Saturday and was a visitor with relatives and friends for over the week end after which as well as visiting at Murray, departed for his home in the west, he driving.

R. D. Stine, the merchant, while George was looking after the store, was a visitor in Plattsmouth and was accompanied by his son John Stine and wife, where all were looking after some business matters for the afternoon Tuesday.

Joe A. Everett is reported as being quite ill at the home of a nephew near Nebraska City, and Mr. Everett's brother, Edward Everett is looking after the affairs at the farm Mr. Everett is reported as being slightly better.

Little Thelma Balfour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Balfour is reported as being very ill with the flu, which resulted in the coming of a gathering in her head, and fears were entertained that the little one would develop a mastoid.

The good news come of the improvement of Harry M. Frans who has been so ill for some time past, and which also says he is feeling much better and is also much stronger, which is good news to his many friends in and near Union.

Harold Nickles who has been working at Greenwood during the fall and winter, picking corn, returned to Union on last Sunday, and visited with the family at Frank Bauer's until Wednesday when he departed for Ponca City, Oklahoma, where he is expecting to go to work.

David Murray who has been having some trouble with appendicitis for some time past went to an hospital at Omaha where he on last Friday underwent an operation, and is reported as getting along very nicely since, and has hopes of being able to return to his home in the course of a week or so.

On St. Valentine's day, February 14th James C. Roddy will hold a sale at his home east of Union, and will afterwards move to Denver where they will make their home for the time. Should they not like the living in the mountain city they will continue on west to Los Angeles, where Amie McPherson calls her home. Pat Roddy will serve lunch at the sale. C. F. Harris was called upon by the Farmers Mutual Insurance to come to Lincoln the coming week and assist in the auditing of the books of the company. This company wrote some 42,000,000 dollars of new business during the year 1928. Mr. Harris is a representative of this company in this section of the state and has written much insurance for the company.

This is a Rabbit Story Along with the excellent crops of corn which was raised in the vicinity of Union, was also a good crop of rabbits for a week ago Sunday a crowd of hunters went out and secured some 193 of the hairy critters, and then again on last Friday, when Roy Hathaway, Wm. Meade, David and Wilbur Eaton went out for a time and bagged 30 of them, while on last Sunday a crowd composed of Lonnie and Willie Meade, Sherman and Roy Hathaway and Willis and Davis Eaton went out and were able to round up 116, this making a good lot of them in all. The furry animals were taken to Nebraska City where they were sold for 12 1/2 cents each.

Has An Angora Dog William L. Stine has a dog with long wavy hair, which he calls "Curley" and which he says is a good watch dog, and we are willing to believe him. On last Sunday night he heard the dog making a fuss and going to see what was the matter saw a man running from the barn where the dog was driving him. Will had in his mind shooting with a shot gun in the direction of the fleeing culprit, but did not want to shoot anyone and allowed the man to escape.

Nat C. Huston, Well Known Here, Dies at Tekamah For Many Years Prominent Stockman Residing Near La Platte and Commissioner Man.

One of the picturesque figures of this part of the west has passed from the scene of life in the death yesterday at Tekamah of Nathaniel C. Huston, long time resident of La Platte and also very well known in this city, where he made his home a part of the time in the last years. Mr. Huston was a veteran stockman and made a specialty of raising sheep on his large farm just southwest of La Platte and during which time he was very active on the Omaha live stock markets as a commission man and a striking figure wherever he was found.

Mr. Huston was a native of the state of Indiana where his family has been prominent in the pioneer days, but the greater part of his life time of seventy-five years has been spent in Nebraska, he coming here when a young man and has been very active in the stock business in this part of the west for many years. Mr. Huston disposed of his holdings and for some time made his home in this city and at Omaha, where he had many friends, but in the last two years his health has been failing and he has made his home with his brother, H. Huston at Tekamah, and where he passed away. For the last few weeks Mr. Huston has been at the Tekamah hospital as his condition gave but little hopes of his recovery.

The funeral services of Mr. Huston will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Tekamah and the interment made there.

COUNTRIES TO NEGOTIATE Washington, Jan. 29.—The senate was informed today in a report submitted by President Coolidge that diplomatic negotiations would be begun with Canada on the subject of Canada's customs preferences on imports routed thru her seaports and shipping lines.

The report made after a long investigation said the Canadian preferences had resulted in some diversion of traffic from American to Canadian ports. It was based on an investigation by the secretaries of state and agriculture and the interstate commerce commission. Another report prepared by the shipping board and submitted by the president at the same time differed in some of its findings from those of the other three departments.

The senate's resolution under which the investigation was made asked for a report on the factors contributing to the diversion "and practicable remedies for preventing such diversion." The departmental report confined itself to these factors and made practically no recommendations on remedies.

Al Smith Pays Call on Hoover at Miami Beach

Opponents for Presidency Enjoy Chat for Half Hour at Vacation Home of Hoovers

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 29.—President-elect Hoover and Alfred E. Smith spent 25 minutes with each other today at the Hoover vacation home on Belle Isle.

Wearing his celebrated brown derby and formal morning clothes, Mr. Smith reached Belle Isle at 11 a. m., the hour for his appointment with his victorious opponent. His inevitable cigar was very much in evidence as he stepped from the car in which he had driven from the Miami Biltmore hotel at Coral Gables, where he has made his headquarters.

Accompanying the former governor were John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, and William F. Kenney, lifelong friend. Smith led the way up the short concrete walk to the door of the sun parlor where he and his companions were greeted by Lawrence Richey, secretary to Mr. Hoover.

The president-elect in white trousers and shoes and a double breasted blue serge coat stood just within the doorway and shook hands first with his late opponent and then with the others. The visitors were made comfortable in two large easy chairs and the president-elect and the democratic leader did most of the talking.

Governor Smith said afterwards that he had congratulated Mr. Hoover and wished him luck. "And I meant it," he added, emphasizing each word.

Talked Over Funny Events. "We talked about some of the funny things that happened during the campaign," the former governor went on, explaining that Mr. Hoover related some of his own experiences that gave him amusement and that that he did likewise.

This was the first talk of the late opponents ever had, although they had met once before, in 1921, when both were speakers from the same platform in New York City.

Mr. Smith drove directly back to Coral Gables for breakfast, explaining that he had gone to the hotel without the morning meal in order to be on time for his call, which was arranged for last night by Mr. Raskob after Mr. Hoover had made a public statement saying he would be glad if the democratic leader would find the time to call.

For the first time since his arrival in Greater Miami Sunday, Mr. Smith's car was unaccompanied by a motorcycle police detail. It crossed the Venetian causeway leading to Belle Isle at rather high speed and entered the J. C. Penney estate by a little used entrance. Few of the hundreds of more persons gathered in automobiles along the highway realized that the former governor had arrived until after his car was within the grounds.

Their Salutations. The greeting between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Smith was described as a natural one, without reserve on the part of either.

"How do you do Mr. President?" was the salutation of the former governor, to which Mr. Hoover entered an easy chair, with Mr. Raskob, Mr. Kenney and Mr. Richey taking seats nearby. As they detailed some of the amusing things that happened to them and more particularly the amusing situations which arose out of some of the peculiar gifts they received, the president-elect chuckled and his former opponent laughed heartily.

By direction of Mr. Hoover photographers and all newspapermen except two were barred from the grounds immediately around the house.

Just before the former governor and his party arrived, R. L. McKinney, publisher of the Macon News, conferred with the president-elect. Leaving the house two minutes before 11, Mr. McKinney decided to wait in his car with his family to see the democratic leader enter the house.

"Down in our state," he said, "we are the fellows who shot more holes in Smith and Tammany than any one else." After the former governor left Mr. Hoover had a brief conference with Albert D. Lasker, chairman of the shipping board in the Harding administration. He and Mrs. Hoover had as luncheon guests Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Firestone who are spending the winter in Miami Beach, and Associate Justice and Mrs. Harlan F. Stone.

WEEPING WATER

Henry Thiele of near Nehawka was a business visitor in Weeping Water for a short time on last Tuesday.

Mrs. Oscar L. Hoffman was a visitor in Omaha with the folks for the most part of this week. Mr. Hoffman taking her to the big city in their car on last Sunday.

Miss Augusta Ash who is employed with the county agents office, was spending the week end with a friend in Omaha, enjoying the visit with her friends very much. Her sister and assistant Miss Jessie Baldwin, were over to Lincoln on last Monday where they were in attendance at the conference of the county agents of Nebraska.

We are indebted to Arthur Rough and Mark Wiles for a kindly push, where the road was smooth and our wheels found but little traction and thus assisted us in getting by a very close place in the highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jamison entertained a number of their friends at a conversation on last Tuesday evening at a pinocle party, which was greatly enjoyed by all who attended, as well as the genial host and hostess.

Mr. Oscar Hoffman was a visitor for a short time in Plattsmouth on last Sunday while returning from a short time to visit at the home of his parents, and then returning home. J. E. Renner who has been sick for the past ninety days, first with the flu and later was kept down with the pneumonia, is of late showing good improvement and it is hoped he will be entirely well in a short time.

W. H. McBride from some seven miles west of Weeping Water was in town on last Tuesday, and was looking after some trading, and also in conversation with the writer said that he had shipped his hogs the day before to the Omaha market, they being trucked to that place.

Mr. M. R. Stipes of Des Moines, Iowa, was in Weeping Water during the week.

ing the early part of this week and was superintending the loading of a number of cars of Walnut logs, which have been hauled to Weeping Water during the past month. There is enough to make almost a train load.

On last Monday Mr. Charles Joyce, sr., who has been at the hospital at Omaha for some time, underwent an operation and was reported as resting fairly well and doing as well as could be expected. The many friends of this excellent gentleman are hoping that he may soon be able to return home in his accustomed health.

Lawrence and Nelson Weyenberg of Burns, Wyoming, were visiting for a short time in Weeping Water with their friends of years ago, and renewing friendships of other days. The gentleman who were mere lads when they left Weeping Water, formerly lived with the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Weyenberg, southeast of town some four or five miles. They were also visiting with relatives in this vicinity and Nehawka, where they were all acquainted years ago. They have been away from here for the past nearly twenty years.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Johnson who were conducting the Cory next door east of the Philpot hall, and which is owned by Donald Philpot, where they were conducting a very nice place and doing a good business, received an offer of employment from an institution at Lexington, which was far in excess of the remuneration which could be paid here and they accepted the work, departing immediately for the west. The city of Weeping Water will miss these excellent caterers, but the city in the west will be the gainer. Mr. Philpot immediately secured some most competent women who are now conducting the eating house, and where all who wish can be served with the best of eats.

Has New Business House. Weeping Water is to be congratulated on the institution of a new bakery in the J. I. Corley building.

HOBSON FUNERAL Service

OUR desire and responsibility in the service we render, is to do all we can to help lighten the burden that is yours in Bereavement.

where Mr. and Mrs. John S. Williams and wife are hard at work at this time getting the building in condition for the opening of the bakery which they are to open soon. This couple who were formerly engaged in this line at Bonesteel, South Dakota, arrived in Weeping Water about a week since and are expecting to become real residents of this town and will add much to the business interests. They, like all home institutions should receive the co-operation of the other business houses, and the citizenry of this community, as the more business that is kept in town, the better the town. It should be the watch word of this place the best interest for all the citizens is to keep all the money at home possible, for then you will have a chance at getting a portion of it in the future.

Two Families Move. Ralph Keckler, who recently held a sale, and will take charge of the Hatchett filling station in February, moved to Weeping Water on last Tuesday, and at the same time Lawrence Colbert moved to the place which was vacated by Mr. Keckler, having rented the place from Mr. P. A. Burch.

Weeping Water Girl Marries. Miss Marie Fitzpatrick, well known and very accomplished young woman of Weeping Water, and who has been teaching school a few miles south-east of town, was on last Saturday afternoon, at the First Presbyterian church of Omaha, united in marriage with Mr. Dean D. Duncan of Nebraska City. They will make their future home in Nebraska City, where Mr. Duncan has a good position.

Cafe for Sale. I have an excellently equipped eating house in Weeping Water, and in one of the best locations, which I am offering for sale at reasonable price and can give terms to suit on the purchase. Donald Philpot, Weeping Water.

Were Visiting in West. Messrs Peter Miller and Harvey Rich were visitors for the early portion of this week at Sutton, where they went to engage in picking corn, being told there was plenty of corn still in clay county to pick and they wanting the employment drove out on last Tuesday in the car of Mr. Rich, but found that there was plenty of snow and which in a way kept them from engaging in the occupation.

Were Attending Hearing. Lee Browne and Lawrence Little were at Council Bluffs, Iowa, on last Tuesday, where they went to attend the hearing of Bird, who has been under arrest charged with the hatchet murders which occurred in Omaha several weeks since, when two of the daughters of Mr. Browne were killed. The trial of the accused beginning on that day.

Will Have New Business House. Weeping Water which is an excellent business point, and which well support any line of business, is to have another clothing store, to replace the one which was here that closed out and moved, thus left an opening for a real clothing establishment. We are pleased that Weeping Water is to have this new business house.

Use 5 Per Cent for Advertising is the Advice

Glenwood Master Cleaner and Dyer Back from National Convention Tells of His Trip.

"Spend five per cent of your gross income on advertising was the advice given Master Cleaners and Dyers by the most successful men in that business, at the national convention in Memphis, Tenn., last week." William Lugsch told Glenwood Rotarians last Thursday evening in a talk about his trip to Memphis.

There were fifteen hundred Master Cleaners present at the convention Mr. Lugsch said. The program was of an educational nature along the lines of their work and included talks on business methods by successful members of the association.

Mr. Lugsch attended Rotary while in Memphis. It was the fifteenth anniversary of the organization of the Memphis club and Paul Harris of Chicago, founder of Rotary, was the principal speaker. There were seventy-nine Rotarians cleaners who were the guests of the Memphis club on this occasion. In this group of Rotarians was a cleaner from London, England, who appeared on the program of the convention and who also was called upon as a speaker at the Rotary luncheon. In his talk he made mention of serving in the British aerial forces during the World War and mentioned one battle in which he was engaged. After the luncheon the man who acted as pianist at the luncheon program hunted up the visiting Englishman and told him that he was a German and that he had served in the aerial forces in the German army and had participated in the particular battle mentioned by the Britisher. Thus two former alien enemies of only a few years ago were brought together in the friendly basis of Rotary fellowship. The German is now instructor of music in Memphis and a member of the Memphis club. Mr. Lugsch said. The national convention of the Master Cleaners and Dyers will be held next year in Dallas, Texas.—Glenwood Tribune.
