

One Day Only--Saturday Bacon Squares

14c Per Pound

Dold's "Sunflower" Breakfast Bacon—mild sugar cure—the brand and quality we sell every day at 17c per lb. offered Saturday customers at 14c. Average net weight around 2 lbs.

We've been literally besieged with requests for more of the med. size juicy Sunkist Oranges we sold last Saturday at 21c. Another big shipment will be here for Saturday, but the market advance compels us to raise the price one cent a dozen. Oranges are still skyrocketing and we can't guarantee this price beyond next Wednesday. Omaha chain stores got 25c to 28c per dozen for these same oranges last Saturday. Replenish your supply here this weekend at 22c per dozen.

Apples are also getting mighty scarce and going higher every day. We have been able to secure a limited quantity of Arkansas Blacks—a delicious hard eating or salad apple—nice and juicy—that we offer for Saturday—while supply lasts at 49c per peck.

Potatoes—fine home grown stock—direct from storage bins and in fine condition—Saturday only—23c per peck.

When you trade at Black and White you don't help pay for delivery service maintained solely in the interest of city customers—or for credit losses. Our operating expenses are cut to the minimum—and still we give you the kind of service thrifty people like—quick (by waiting on yourself) and economical (by receiving equally as low or lower prices than city chain stores offer—individually or collectively).

We only ask that you compare values and buy where your money goes the farthest. And that's at—

Plattsmouth Debaters Meet South Omaha

Fine Showing Made by Local Speakers at Debate Held at the High School Yesterday.

From Wednesday's Daily—
Two debate teams representing Plattsmouth high school held their second argument of the season last night when they met teams from South high of Omaha. This was the second contest in which Plattsmouth has engaged an Omaha opponent, having met Central high just before the holidays.

The subject was the statewide question: "Resolved That the English Parliamentary System of Government is Preferable to the American Presidential." Plattsmouth was represented on the affirmative side by Dorothy Brink, Mary Swatek and Robert Livingston who matched arguments with Robert Anthes, May Jensen and Ed Pasch of South. Plattsmouth's negative trio composed of Doris Young, Chris Bullin and Clelland Rettelsoff met Arthur Kazlowky, Lucille Turner and Russell Blumenthal, advancing the affirmative for South.

Due to the fact that one of the largest and most notable squads P. H. S. has had for some time has been working on the subject for the past three months, quite a bit of interest has been shown by the student body in the progress of the teams. Last evening a small but appreciative audience heard the two Plattsmouth teams compare very favorably with the speakers from South Omaha. It was generally conceded that the Plattsmouth speakers outstripped the visitors on constructive argument while the rebuttals proved to be thrilling battles with Arthur Kazlowky and Livingston of Plattsmouth, and Blumenthal and Pasch of South leading the barrage of oratory for their respective sides.

The local teams will journey down to Auburn to meet the speakers of that city on next Friday afternoon and a decision will probably be given on these contests. The official conference season has not opened as yet, the present debates being in the nature of non-conference debates. Blair, Fremont, Valley, Creighton Prep and Lincoln remain on the Platte schedule.

Oil Drilling Ceasing in the Nehawka Field

Machinery Being Moved and Several Suits Filed for Payment of Sums Claimed to Be Due.

The drilling for oil at Nehawka is at an end or for the present at least, reports from that place state, the machinery on the ground that has been used in the sinking of the well on the Pollard farm south of Nehawka being moved out today and the prospect of securing oil at this time has been abandoned.

The prospects for oil in the Nehawka anticline has been the best in the state, the experts that have viewed the location agreed, and the hopes of the residents of all this part of the state was that the evidences of oil might be sufficient to encourage the further drilling in this field of work must wait some future time, when other drillers will take up the work.

An echo of the oil drilling operations was found in the records of the office of the clerk of the district court today when two suits were filed involving sums alleged to be due members of the drilling crew for their services.

One suit filed was that of Arthur L. Mattison vs. the Underwriters Syndicate of Nehawka and with whom several Omaha parties were named as defendants. In this action the plaintiff claims a contract for $10 per day for his services as a tool dresser in the oil drilling, that there is still unpaid as a part of this service the sum of $1,282.50.

The second suit was that of Clyde W. Dickerson against the Underwriters Syndicate of Nehawka and the Omaha parties and in which he claimed a contract made by Chauncey E. Hart for the services of the plaintiff as driller and for which services as well as supplies furnished the plaintiff claims the sum of $1,495.80.

Just how deep the well has been sunk in the drilling operation at Nehawka there seems to be a doubt and many are still of the opinion that extended drilling operations would give more favorable results, but as this is very costly and requires well financed interests to carry on, it is much too large a proposition for local people to handle.
