AGAINST BOOK CENSORSHIP

Boston—Clarence Darrow, criminal lawyer, Tuesday night took up the cudgils of those opposed to book censorship and those favoring birth control. He appeared at the "annual banquet and trolie" of the Ford hall forum's self called "undesirables." Margaret Sanger, exponent of birth control, was present on the platform, but her mouth was covered with a cloth gag, signifying that she would not be permitted to voice her doctrine in Boston.

As the fifth in a family of eight children, Darrow said, he had never taken any great interest in birth control, "at least theoretically."

As for the suppression of books as obscene, he said he had been brought up on obscene books, including a "whole series by a Boston lady which never have been suppressed."

He taxed three classes, the rich, the preachers and the college professor with possessing knowledge of birth control which they denied the poor.

CONFIDENCE GAME CHARGED

Chicago—Mrs. Helen Goodrich, who, police said, conspired with her husband, George, to obtain money from matrimonially inclined bachelors and widowers, was faced by only one of her 699 alleged victims when she was arrested in municipal court Tuesday for operating a confidence game.

She was ordered held to the criminal court in bonds of $2,500 and the state's attorneys' office was directed to investigate the activities of her husband.

Ole Lee, a janitor, was the only complainant in court. He told the judge he had read about Mrs. Goodrich's virtues in a matrimonial magazine and that he immediately proposed and invested $900 with Mrs. Goodrich to buy furniture before she changed her mind about marrying him.

Senate Junks the Weaver Code Revision Plan

All Provisions for Consolidation of State Bureaus Stricken From Measure

Lincoln, April 16.—Using the possibility of enforcing a delay in the day of adjournment, a majority faction of the senate on Tuesday succeeded in adopting their substitute for House Roll 425, which virtually discards the governor's code revision program, conceding only the two consolidations already put into effect.

The only other provision of the bill as it passed the house which was allowed to stand by the senate miscellaneous committee was that which permits boosting the salaries of code department heads from $5,000 to $7,500 a year upon their second term of office.

Quick Work of It. All provisions which were adopted by the house of representatives authorizing the governor to consolidate or transfer various state department functions from one department to another or to a constitutional officer were stricken by the senate as the committee's substitute was advanced to third reading.

Over the protest of several members, who complained that they had not been given time to study the provisions, the code bill succeeded in carrying out its plans within less than 30 minutes.

The committee's report was submitted by Chairman James Rodman during the middle of the morning session and was taken up in the committee of the whole a few minutes later under a suspension of the rules. Urging immediate action, Reed told the senate that it would be impossible for the finance committee to finish up its work on the appropriation bill until the code measure along with the banking bills and game commission bill, were disposed of.

Raps Pay Hike. The only specific objection to the bill as it was pushed through the committee of the whole was by Senator McGowan, who declared that he did not believe the code department heads should be entitled to a salary of $7,500 when elective officers who must bear the expenses of campaigns receive less than that.

Senator Reed explained this, saying that it was intended particularly to enable the state to retain the services of especially good men as heads of the trade and commerce and public works departments.

The senate substitute bill retains all the present code offices as provided under the present law, but adds provisions which permit the state tax commissioner to act as ex-officio secretary of the finance department and another which permits the governor to consolidate the welfare and labor bureaus under one head. —Omaha Bee-News.

Committees are Spurred to Action by Hoover Speech

House and Senate to Hear Soor From Farm Legislation Groups if All Goes Well.

Washington.—The message of President Hoover spurred the senate and house agriculture committees into formal action on Tuesday with the single aim of bringing definite legislative proposals for farm relief before the next congress.

Both committees spent the afternoon considering the legislation. The new farm bill was stamped as official by the house committee and approved by a vote of 19 to 2. Committee members construed the president's message as equivalent to an official endorsement of their measure.

The senate committee, however, still was undecided whether the export debenture plan would be written into the McNary bill. The senators tentatively approved the bill, but at the same time had worked out the draft of a section which would include the export debenture plan, and Senator McNary, of Oregon, chairman of the committee, said Mrs. Brossaure after the executive session, at which the action was taken.

At today's session the delegates voted to establish a research division to assist the registrar-general in looking up the antecedents of applicants for membership. A 50 thousand dollar fund was also voted to be contributed to Constitution hall, which is now in the course of construction.—World-Herald.

SECOND ANNUAL BIBLE CONTEST

A Bible Contest will be held in the Methodist Church in Plattsmouth, Neb., Sunday, May 5th, 1929, beginning at 2 o'clock, p. m.

CONDEMN INSURANCE RATE

Salt Lake City—Delegates from more than fifty camps of the Woodmen of the World adopted resolutions at a meeting here Tuesday condemning the insurance rates imposed on older members and criticizing methods of handling funds of the organization.

The delegates, known as the International Westerners, said they represent 140,000 Woodmen of the World in Utah, Idaho, Wyoming and Montana. J. J. McCue, Boise, Ida., was selected chairman of the executive committee with power to employ counsel and take action against the central governing body of the order.

Refused to Hear Her Counsel.

Mrs. Baillie is Refused D. A. R. Reinstatement

Lincoln, April 16.—Declaring a school board has the legal right to refuse to hire a person as teacher for any reason whatever, or for no reason at all, Attorney General Sorensen Tuesday replied to the request of a Lincoln newspaper that he give an opinion as to the right of school board to bar married women from teaching for no other reason than that they are married.

The board, the attorney general wrote, "may decline to hire an applicant because it objects to the color of his hair, the style of collar he wears, his politics, his nationality, the kind of car he drives or any other objection."

Only One Vote in Her Favor Out of 3,600 Delegates on the Floor; Was Expelled Year Ago

Washington, April 16.—A petition for reinstatement in the national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution by Mrs. Helen Tufts Baillie of Boston was refused today by the thirty-eighth annual congress.

The resolution to refuse reinstatement was introduced by Mrs. Robert J. Johnston of Iowa, and Mrs. Alfred J. Brossaure, the president-general, immediately moved a vote. There was one dissenting voice that arose from the group of 3,600 delegates on the floor.

Informing of the action of the congress, Mrs. Baillie issued the following statement:

"The great body of the membership show themselves content to be led by mediocre minds. Such a body is a deadly drag on true citizenship. I could have no better satisfaction in belonging to such an organization. Patriots shun demagogy. They cherish a dynamic spiritual leadership found outside and not inside the D. A. R."

Refused to Hear Her Counsel.

Mrs. Brossaure said Mrs. Baillie's counsel had made a request to appear before the congress, but advised that the board of management in considering the case last year had heard all the testimony and was of the opinion no further evidence could be offered.

Mrs. Baillie was expelled last year after she had made public statements charging the existence of blacklists authorized, she said, by the national officers of the D. A. R., accusing certain public men and women of socialist beliefs and advising that they be blacklisted by all Daughters.

"The board of management," said Mrs. Brossaure, "did not even give a voice in that whole auditorium," said Mrs. Brossaure after the executive session, at which the action was taken.

At today's session the delegates voted to establish a research division to assist the registrar-general in looking up the antecedents of applicants for membership. A 50 thousand dollar fund was also voted to be contributed to Constitution hall, which is now in the course of construction.—World-Herald.

BILL SETTING UP DOUBLE ELECTION BOARD SIGNED

Every election precinct in Nebraska where 125 or more votes were cast at the last presidential election will have both a counting board and a receiving board in the next national poll in 1932, under the provisions of a bill passed by the legislature and just approved by Governor Weaver.

Similarly, every district where 125 votes were recorded in the "off year" election of 1926 will be entitled to a double board in 1930, when state officers in a United States congressional election are to be chosen without voting on precinct.

Minor features of the act are a limit of 13 hours on the time for which board members will be paid in precincts which have two sets of election officials, and a provision for the travel allowance of the messenger to carry the official returns to the county clerk, from 5 cents a mile to 10 cents.

These other measure have also been signed by the governor.

H. R. 263—Amplifying the anti-discrimination laws as applied to buyers of milk, cream and butter fat, so that it will apply to independent buyers and direct shippers alike.

H. R. 365—For compulsory potato inspection by state agriculture department in any county where more than one grower is represented 51 per cent of the total acreage, petition for such service.

H. R. 412—Regents of state university authorized to contract for erection of student dormitories with private funds, the cost to be amortized on a 7 per cent basis, but not to become the property of the state on completion of contract.

SPOOKS, HOBGOBLINS MYSTERY AND COMEDY

If you wish to see your own friends and neighbors, stand on one ear, do nose dives, and tall spins, then be sure and go to the Parmele theatre this week and see Mme. La Zora, who is Americas only LADY exponent of scientific suggestion. This is the first time she has been in Plattsmouth, Minn. La Zora invites any one from the audience to come upon the stage and test her (power of the will). Through the aid of scientific suggestion alone, she causes the local subjects to go through comedy after comedy, and the audience in one continual roar of laughter for the curtains rise until its final fall. Never in the history of the theatrical profession has Plattsmouth people seen the equal to this clever Lady in the marvelous control of the mind. Her lectures on scientific suggestion are clear and comprehensive, and opens a new field of thought proving beyond possible chance of doubt that the mind does control the body, and is supreme master of each individual's destiny, her control of the mind in scientific tests are phenomenal, showing the strength that can be produced in the muscle formation of the body by scientific suggestion.

Mme. La Zora promises many new and startling sensations to be presented through her engagement this week at the Parmele theatre. The Master Mind with his clever assistant accomplishes good work in the answering of questions asked by members of the audience, also in cabinet seances and mystery. The Master Mind created quite a sensation on the streets of Plattsmouth Wednesday in presenting his famous blindfold drive, a car furnished by the local Chevrolet Co. was used in the drive, and a representative committee of local people rode in the car during the drive. The Master Mind was thoroughly blinded, wrapping his eyes with there inch gauze around the eyes fastened in place with strips of adhesive tape, then a sack was placed over the head with the draw strings fastened at the throat. The Master Mind then entered the car and drove all over town observing traffic laws at all times, and returning to the original starting point in perfect formation. This was indeed a remarkable demonstration of blindfold driving skill.

The entire composition of the La Zora Co. is high class and one that every man, woman and child should see.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN CAR

Eau Claire, Wis.—Mrs. Jessie Morgan of Cortland, New York, died today in a local hospital where she was brought after being found unresponsive from a automobile, exhausted last Sunday with Arthur Kauer of Croton, N. Y., in the latter's closed car. Her body was sent to Cortland. Kauer has regained consciousness at intervals since was brought here and hospital authorities believe he will recover.

The pair was found near St. Croix Falls when their car stalled in the mud near Fairchild, Kauer said. They were found in the rear seat, where they had gone to sleep, leaving the motor running.

Can Bar Women Teachers If WED

Lincoln, April 16.—Declaring a school board has the legal right to refuse to hire a person as teacher for any reason whatever, or for no reason at all, Attorney General Sorensen Tuesday replied to the request of a Lincoln newspaper that he give an opinion as to the right of school board to bar married women from teaching for no other reason than that they are married.

The board, the attorney general wrote, "may decline to hire an applicant because it objects to the color of his hair, the style of collar he wears, his politics, his nationality, the kind of car he drives or any other objection."

Burlington Names New Head for Farm Dept.

John B. Lamson Will Look After Commercial Department Along Lines of Road.

With the appointment of John B. Lamson of Chicago as manager of commercial development for the Burlington railroad, H. L. Ford of Denver has been made head of the department of agricultural development of the Burlington with headquarters at Chicago. Mr. Ford who has been in charge of the Denver office of the agricultural department of the Burlington for the past six years has been succeeded at Denver by Fred L. Taylor.

In directing the agricultural activities of the Burlington, Mr. Ford will have supervision of agricultural development work to promote better agricultural conditions in the eleven states comprising Burlington territory. This agricultural development policy was inaugurated in 1911 by the Burlington department as a part of a vigorous colonization policy adopted in 1905; because it was the belief of the management of the Burlington that the interest of the railroad should not cease with the location of a new settler, the agricultural and industrial welfare of its territory. The interest of the railroad is identical and interwoven with that of the communities served by its lines.

With the establishment of a new commercial development department, the policy of the management of the Burlington to interest itself more vigorously in industrial development; and to engage more actively in promoting in an organized manner the location of new factories and industries in the territory served by its lines; and the desire and intention of the Burlington to reach out particularly into eastern sections where industries are congested and to locate them in the west where there are better working and living conditions and better labor conditions. This step was taken by the Burlington with the belief that the territory being served by its lines offers splendid opportunities from the standpoint of industrial as well as agricultural development. The natural resources of the territory served by the Burlington are economic advantages in the establishment of industries near the great supplies of coal and other minerals situated on Burlington rails. It is the intention of the Burlington in establishing this new department to call industrial opportunity existing in its territory to the attention of manufacturers who are seeking new locations. Colonization and agricultural development activities will be continued by the Burlington along the same lines as in the past. As the population grows and the country continues to develop agriculturally, there is bound to be a corresponding industrial development.

NEBRASKA AUXILIARY PUR-CHASES KILN FOR HOSPITAL

Mrs. O. W. Hahn, of Creston, who is state Rehabilitation chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary, has just announced that the fund to be used for a pottery kiln for the Government hospital at Sheridan, Wyo., has now been completed. There are over twenty Nebraska boys at this hospital and they, as well as boys from other states are unable to work with scissors, needles, etc., so they are being taught to mold pottery from clay, which must be fired in a kiln before it is saleable.

The Sheridan hospital is located in a clay bed that is ideal for pottery purposes and will probably be the only veterans' hospital in the United States to be equipped for the turning out of flower pots.

An instructor has been with the boys for some time teaching them to work with clay and now that the fund has been completed, a check will be forwarded them immediately, with which to purchase the kiln.

The completion of the Nebraska veterans' hospital just east of Lincoln on O street, within the next year, will afford the Auxiliary with plenty of needs to be met in the way of special apparatus for work and engers will strengthen both the small banks and the communities.

"The stock of small banks which have become branch banks of large financial systems is now worth more than before, the local head of the bank is drawing a higher salary, and the branch bank is more valuable to the community because it has the resources of the parent bank behind it," Mr. Giannini said.

Mr. Sisson declared the condition of the country is sound enough to withstand any possible assault or shock.—State Journal.

Pyromaniac Is Captured

Omaha.—The "firebug" responsible for thirteen blazes in the southeast section of the city in Monday morning and again Monday night was captured Tuesday afternoon after an exciting chase during which he was shot in the leg.

He is Sebastian Milititi, sixteen, son of Louis Milititi, railroad laborer. He admitted setting all the fires attributed to the pyromaniac. A year ago he was sent to the Kearney industrial school for turning in a series of false alarms.

The boy told police that he had thought he would jump into the Missouri river Monday night after setting fire to four automobiles, but changed his mind and decided to continue setting fires Tuesday and Wednesday. He was said to have remarked to boy playmates that he was going to "see a lot more fire engines run."

Peter Collins to Speak on Sunday at the Parmele

Will Address the Plattsmouth People on "High Cost of Low Morals"—All Are Invited.

Peter Collins, of Boston, Massachusetts, who is lecturing throughout the country on the subject of "The High Cost of Low Morals," knows America as few men know it. He has traveled in the United States and Canada in the last twenty-five years over a million miles. He has spoken directly from the public platform in over five thousand meetings to many millions of the American people. Mr. Collins is not an alarmist nor a pessimist yet he does not hesitate to give serious warning to the American people in regard to the dangers that confront the future of the institutions of America from enemies within of irreverence, indifference and the low moral standards that in too many ways are sapping at the very foundations of the nation.

Mr. Collins doesn't merely indict and condemn. True indeed, he does point out the evils, the dangers and he doesn't mince words in explaining them. But he has a remedy, a constructive one. His message is one that appeals to right thinking men and women, Catholic, Protestant, Jew and Gentile. Leaders in all walks of life have given their hearty approval and endorsement to his lectures. The people everywhere he has spoken have responded to his appeal.

The press of the nation has again and again in editorial and special articles called the attention of America to the man and his mission. Such papers as the New York World, The Boston Globe, The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, The Chicago Tribune, The Springfield Republican have given editorial publicity to his work.

The New York World in one of its Sunday issues devoted the entire editorial page to what Mr. Collins was accomplishing in the United States.

The Saturday Evening Post, The Literary Digest, Current Literature and hundreds of other publications have given special articles on his work.

Mr. Collins has written a series of pamphlets—besides many special articles for magazines—on social, educational, economic, international subjects that have circulated to the extent of several million copies. He has the unique distinction of having the church, the government and the labor movement give official recognition and approval of his work.

Mr. Collins' nearly twenty-five years of platform experience—in every state in the union and every province of Canada—gives him the facility of driving home with eloquence and conviction the great facts of life and the dangers that strike at the foundations of truth, justice, freedom and morality. Mr. Collins is no pushyfoot in the treatment of his subject. He always calls a spade a spade and he never leaves an audience in any doubt as to just what he really means. He contends that today the conscience of the American people is on the shelf, dust covered and neglected, and he would arouse the people of the nation to a realization that no matter how great a material prosperity so-called can come to them it is too great a price to pay if the conscience of the people is to be stifled with indifference, self satisfaction and complacency. The public is invited to hear Mr. Collins. No admission—no collection.

This lecture will be given at the Parmele theatre at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon and will be well worth hearing.

Favors Reduction in Earned Income Tax

New York Banker Says He, With Others, Regard Law as a Penalty on Ability.

Edgewater Park, Miss.—A majority of the banks of the United States, Francis H. Sisson, vice president of the Guarantee Trust company of New York, declared here Tuesday, favor a reduction in the federal tax on earned incomes.

Mr. Sisson, a member of the executive council of the American Bankers' association in session here, also predicted a general downward adjustment of taxes, but asserted that a lower tax on earned incomes should be the first move.

"Most bankers regard the present tax on earned income salaries, I might call it, as a penalty on executive ability," he declared. Sisson asserted that the most important and interesting development now in banking circles is the tendency toward bank mergers and branch bank chains.

A. E. Giannini of San Francisco, head of the Bank of Italy of California, considered the largest branch banking system in the United States, voiced the opinion that such consolidations, holding systems and mergers will strengthen both the small banks and the communities.

"The stock of small banks which have become branch banks of large financial systems is now worth more than before, the local head of the bank is drawing a higher salary, and the branch bank is more valuable to the community because it has the resources of the parent bank behind it," Mr. Giannini said.

Mr. Sisson declared the condition of the country is sound enough to withstand any possible assault or shock.—State Journal.

PARACHUTE FOR AIRPLANE

Santa Ana, Calif.—An airplane, with its motor cut off at 5,000 feet altitude, was successfully lowered to the ground by a parachute Sunday.

The parachute, released from the plane by a coil spring, took the ship's weight of 2,800 pounds after a drop of 200 feet. Capt. Roscoe Turner, Hollywood stuntier, piloted the craft, a biplane which was landed gently in a field, three miles from the Martin airport, where it had taken off.

The parachute was 60 feet in diameter and contained 600 square yards of silk. The test was believed to be the first successful one in aviation history.

Two Men Killed, Three Shot in a Family Quarrel

Tragedy Climaxes Several Months Dispute of Sutherland People—Divorce Suit is Cause.

North Platte, April 14.—Two persons are dead, another probably fatally wounded, and two others are suffering minor gunshot wounds as the outcome of a fight at Sutherland, Neb., Saturday evening, the climax of a family dispute lasting several months.

The dead are Charles Moore and his son, Frank Moore, 30, both of Dunning, Neb.

O. A. Ridenour, Sutherland, is in a hospital here with a gunshot wound over the heart. His chances for recovery are slight, it is reported.

John and Archie Ridenour, sons of O. A. Ridenour, have bullet wounds in their arms. Adren Ridenour, another son, was unhurt, although a bullet passed through his clothing. The sons are in their twenties.

Wife Sued, Kept Children.

The fight was said by the Ridenours to have been a result of a divorce action.

Mrs. Frank Moore is a daughter of O. A. Ridenour. She had been living with her parents since filing suit last fall. She retained custody of the three children.

The Moores, accompanied by Hazel Keller, 119, domestic, had driven from Dunning to Sutherland Saturday. They drove to the Ridenour house at a screen door at the elder Ridenour, wounding him and John Ridenour, the sheriff was told.

Nine Shots Fired.

After Archie Ridenour was shot by Frank Moore, the Moores started to return to the car, according to this account.

Charles Moore was shot in the back of the head with a shotgun, which was held by John Ridenour. Miss Keller told the sheriff. Frank Moore was shot a moment later, but the sheriff could not learn which man fired at him.

Miss Keller, who had remained in the car throughout the visit and the battle, said nine shots were fired.

Mrs. Frank Moore and the children were in the Ridenour home during the shooting.

Girl Held as Witness.

She told the sheriff the Moores had demanded return of the children. Similar stories were told by the Ridenour brothers. Miss Keller said the Moores had not spoken about the children during the trip and that she was unable to hear the quarrel, which was inside the house.

An inquest is to be held Monday afternoon at Sutherland. Miss Keller is held in the county jail where she was a material witness. No others are held.

Mrs. Moore, in her suit against her husband, accused him of attentions to a former domestic. The case was to have come to trial here in a few days.

Sheriff Salisbury found butcher knives and a hammer in the Moore car, in addition to the guns.

The oldest of the Moore children is 7. The youngest was born since the separation last fall.—World-Herald.

TEXTILE WORKERS GO OUT

Elizabethton, Tenn.—Employees of the American Glastoff corporation plant went on strike Monday for the second time within a month. About 2,000 operatives in the textile plant walked out at 4 o'clock when union officials gave the word. It was announced later that employees of the American Bemberg corporation under the same management also had gone on strike, but the full effect of the call in that plant will not be known until the number who report for work on the morning shift is ascertained. About 3,000 are employed there.

Dismissal of sixty union men and the purported refusal of plant officials to meet with a grievance committee were given by union leaders as reason for the strike. Plant officials in a statement said the only men who were discharged were those who refused to work under nonunion foremen.

William F. Kelly, vice president of the United Textile Workers of America, arrived here late Monday.
