

Alvo News

W. H. Warner has been doing some excellent work on the farm of John Elliott Freund of Alvo.

James Friend has been assisting with the farm work at the home of Wm. Casey, southwest of Alvo.

Simon Rehmeier purchased two very fine cows from Frank Daugherty, which were delivered by J. B. Skinner with his truck.

Joseph Armstrong has been kept bustling, painting and doing other odd jobs about the homes which the coming of spring calls for.

The Woman's Reading club, of Alvo, have been very active in the placing of the church building and the grounds in excellent condition.

John B. Skinner was over to College View last week, where he went to take some horses for Albert Foreman, which he had purchased here.

Gordon Henninger and family are near Weeping Water were visiting at the home of R. M. Coatman and wife for the day on last Sunday.

A most pleasant day was spent by these two friendly families.

Simon Rehmeier received a car of hay, which he disposed of to farmers, most of which was taken direct from the car, but the last two tons were delivered to the farm of W. L. Copple by John B. Skinner.

The Woman's Missionary society met last week on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Murty, where the ladies enjoyed the day most pleasantly as well as at the same time doing much work for which the meeting was called.

Joseph Romero last week purchased a new radio and has the same installed at his home, where he can enjoy the concerts and music from anywhere, even going back to his native land for the music which sounds so fine in a land so far away.

The Alvo Woman's Reading club met on last Thursday at the home of Mrs. August Johnson, where they sure had a very fine program and a most pleasant afternoon, which was greatly enhanced by the delightful luncheon which was served by Mrs. Johnson.

Clifford Stromer, of Eagle Butte, South Dakota, where he is engaged in the barber business, was a visitor in Alvo for a number of days last week, he being a guest at the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. H. Stromer, and was also visiting with his many other friends in this community.

Mrs. Mianie Miller, of Eagle, was visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kirkpatrick for over the week end and also a few days during last week. The visit of this guest and also that of Mrs. George Lytle, of Denver, who is spending the months of May and June at the Kirkpatrick home, was a most pleasant occasion.

John B. Skinner was hauling oats and corn in his truck last week that belonged to the George P. Foreman estate, taking them to the Rehmeier elevator, and the remaining which were mixed, being stored together in the feeders, were taken by S. C. Boyles, who had them converted into ground feed by R. M. Coatman with his feed grinder.

Ed Duell was called to Havelock on last Sunday on account of the death of the husband of a sister of Mrs. Duell, who had undergone an operation the week previous for relief from a serious case of appendicitis, with which the patient had been troubled much of late. He grew worse until late last week, when he died. The death of this man leaves the wife with four small children.

Visit Arbor Lodge
Miss Edna Wood, teacher of the Fifth and Sixth grades of the Alvo school, sponsored the students of these grades on a trip and picnic that was held on last Tuesday at the state park, and which was formerly known as Arbor Lodge, at Nebraska City.

Elmer Bennett, with his truck and his wagon took the scholars and their teacher to this historic place, where they enjoyed the day most pleasantly and held a picnic, eating their dinner in the park.

Installed a Gas Pump
The Farmer's Oil company, of Elmwood installed a gas pump at the home of James Hermanz, who will in the future dispense gas and oil to the hungry users of these articles. And all he will have a big job on his hands.

Evelyn Heier Very Sick
Little nine-year-old Evelyn Heier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heier, who has been sick for the past two weeks is still very serious, and is at a hospital, where she is receiving the very best of care that her health may be restored.

Tryout at Baseball
Last week, Sherrill Pfler and Lee Coatman, who are both excellent pitchers, were over to Lincoln, where they were among those who were being given a trial at pitching by the managers of the state league, and where players for the various state teams were being recruited.

Serve Delightful Banquet
The Mothers and Daughters society, which is one of the active organizations of Alvo for the betterment of the community, and who are always doing something to advance the interest and welfare of the city, on last Friday evening gave a banquet at the basement of the Methodist church at which time there were a large number of the active workers for a better and larger Alvo present and where a most delightful evening was spent.

Fresh Cow For Sale.
I have a good fresh Holstein cow for sale. Fresh thirty days. See me at the mill or phone R. D. Taylor, Nebraska.

A Tribute to Mother from the Civic Committee

Outstanding Character of the Ages is Not Neglected on Day Set Apart to Revere Her

It is altogether fitting and proper that we should once a year lay aside the everyday subjects that concern us, our welfare and progress, and instead center our thoughts on the three greatest words in the world—Mother, Father and Home. Out of this group springs a thousand delightful memories of occasions that never happen anywhere else—never could happen anywhere else.

Will Carleton coined the expression that "Heaven and Earth are united by a Golden Chain—and every link a Home." In that home there reigns supreme MOTHER—she who reigns supreme—constantly sacrificing her own desires for the welfare of the family, covering with fresh flowers thru kindly smiles and ministrations the narrow pathways of life.

The principles surrounding such a home are invariably Honesty, Kindness and Patience—out of which is place of abode from the sheltering roof of which all will be reluctant to leave and when absent will ever long to return.

Tomorrow—Sunday, May 12th—we will commemorate the central figure of that triumvirate—Mother. Her position is proven by the fact that on the return of any member of the family, their first impulse is to locate MOTHER.

The tiny babe on awakening calls for Mother and will not be quieted until she appears for "Mother's eyes are babies' skies."

The children returning home from school, although they are expecting to play out of doors, must first locate Mother—know she is at hand—then all is well. This trait is so universal we may well consider it born of instinct rather than created through force of habit.

We remember our mothers for the real, common-sense service they did for us, far removed from what money can buy or influence command—for the sacrifices they made, the ministrations to our bodily aches and ills, the admonishments to live pure and noble lives—all born of a desire to see us succeed—and, perchance, the grief and pain they evinced when we strayed from the straight and narrow path. Mother-Love—than which there is nothing greater in all the world.

One lady, speaking of her Mother, said she would ever remember her by her beautiful voice; the special remembrance of my mother was her undaunted optimism and the magic of her capable hands. No knot so tight, but what with simple twist of the wrist, the thread glided smoothly on, no childhood ache or pain so severe but what to be near her and feel the comforting ministrations of her hands brought immediate relief and a feeling of security.

Mothers' love is called the unquenchable love because it is the same where poverty stalks or riches abound—where hopes are realized or in the midst of darkest despair—all races, all colors, all creeds have added their praise to Mother in song and rhyme. Nothing can alter it, nothing surpass it.

We may well heed the example of the Indians as they immortalize their mother by weaving a record of her life in their rugs.

In them they weave the colors, the dark and the light—then there are the little variances in the pattern which detect the factory from the hand-made production. There are the mellow shades and the high lights, denoting strife and victory. In the border the figures are small and varied, denoting that her life was filled with many plans and duties, and let there be that silver screen we love so well a plenty over the rug, denoting that there was happiness and joy, for well she knows at the close of life the key will be lost, because no word can express the love that comes to the parent when a child is born, no word can fathom defeat and none can express the hope born with the thought of success.

So, we too are weavers of life's rug, and while our deeds of the present may not emblazon themselves before the world stamping us as outstanding characters, we can so regulate our daily activities that viewed in the light of our lives as a whole, our memory shall be stamped as indelibly upon the minds of the generation of today as is the image of our mothers upon who we pay especial tribute to the noble mothers—living and dead.

Years have filled great drifts between her and we, but the passing of time cannot hide from our sights the refracted glory of her pure, unselfish love.

Our faces may fade and be forgotten, but hers shall shine on until the light from heaven's portals shall glorify our own.

MRS. F. G. CORVELL, Chairman.

GOLF EXHIBITION SUNDAY
The golfers of this locality will have the pleasure of having as a guest on next Sunday afternoon, Johnny Goodman, Frane-Mississippi champion, who will be here with one of his golfing friends and will enjoy a forenoon with Andy Moore and Dr. R. P. Westover as their opponents. The match will start at 2:30 and will doubtless attract a large number out to enjoy the opportunity of seeing the Omaha crack golfer in action.

Terror Reign by Dry Killers in Virginia

Used Guns Whenever Pleased, Revealed When Young College Lad Shot by Officers.

Abington, Va., May 10.—A veritable reign of terror, inspired by the indiscriminate gunplay around Abington, was brought to light Friday as an aftermath of the slaying of young J. M. Kendrick by dry raiders who fired upon the car in which he and two other college students were riding.

At least three other instances of such gunplay have come to the attention of the authorities. Two occurred on the same night that Policeman McReynolds and his deputies shot down the college student.

The three officers under bail in the Kendrick killing were definitely linked with the gunplay last June, Commonwealth's Attorney Fred Parks, stated Friday, adding: "I warned the officers at that time they had no right to shoot, even at tires."

Feeling Runs High.
Meanwhile feeling against the three officers was running high. Obviously fearing to fan the existing bitterness against them by appearing on the streets, they have taken refuge with friends in the mountains many miles distant.

"There need be no fear in the mind of anyone that these officers will not be held to answer to the courts for their offense," said a formal statement issued Friday by Commonwealth Attorney Parks, as he prepared to demand their indictment when the grand jury meets on May 27.

In prosecuting the case, he will have the assistance of two prominent attorneys engaged by E. M. Kendrick, wealthy uncle and guardian of the slain youth.

"Every cent I have will be used, if necessary, to bring these men to justice," said Kendrick.

Terror Must End.
"It is not for revenge, but rather to forestall more and for all time a recurrence of this tragedy. The situation in which a citizen cannot ride on a highway, built by his taxes, without danger of being killed by officers whose salaries he furnishes, must be done away with."

It was learned that the three officers had been operating under a court policy here that gives the arresting officer $10 for every liquor case in which a conviction is obtained. Their profits are said to have been high.

The first instance of gunplay, disclosed by Parks Friday, was when Charles Ritchie, prominent real estate operator, was shot at by McReynolds and his deputies. It was this shooting that brought the warning from Parks.—Omaha Bee-News.

O'Connell is Named as State Game Warden

Reappointed by New York Commission for Term of Five Years; Salary Is Same.

Lincoln, May 10.—State Game Warden Frank B. O'Connell's reappointment for a period of five years, in connection with a program of reorganizing and consolidating the state game and fish, park and forestry administration, was announced Friday by Governor Weaver after he had received from the new game and park board a unanimous recommendation to that effect.

The salary will be the same as heretofore, $3000 per month. Mr. O'Connell, by virtue of his official position, will be secretary of the game and park board.

Served 3 Years.
He has been serving as chief game warden a little over three years, starting in March, 1926. His home is in Lincoln. The warden is a world war veteran.

To Wear Uniforms.
They will consist of olive green coat and breeches, with puttees. The outfit will be furnished by the board.

Warden O'Connell explained that his men will not wear their uniforms all the time, but will do so when engaged in checking licenses of sportsmen and inspecting hunting and fishing grounds and resorts. Sometimes they have to work incognito in order to detect violations of law and round up the culprits.

—Omaha Bee-News.

NOT CHARGED WITH SALE
From Thursday's Date—
In the account of the arrest of Joe Novak of near Louisville charged with the violation of the liquor law, it was stated that Mr. Novak was charged with sale as well as possession and this is not true as there was no charge of sale made against Mr. Novak who was given a sentence of sixty days in jail for possession of liquor.

It costs very little to recondition a MODEL T FORD

THE Ford Motor Company is making a new car, but it is still proud of the Model T. It wants every owner of one of these cars to run it as long as possible at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Because of this policy and because of the investment that millions of motorists have in Model T cars, the Ford Motor Company will continue to supply parts as long as they are needed by Ford owners.

So that you may get the greatest use from your Model T, we suggest that you take it to the nearest Ford dealer and have him estimate on the cost of any replacement parts that may be necessary.

You will find this the economical thing to do because a small expenditure now will help to prevent costlier repairs later on, increase the value of the car, and give you thousands of miles of additional service.

For a labor charge of only $2.60 you can have your generator put in first-class condition. A new universal joint will be installed for a labor cost of $3. Overhauling the carburetor costs $1.50; steering gear, $3.50; radiator, $7.50. A complete overhauling of the rear axle assembly runs between $5.75 and $7 for labor. An average price of $22.50 covers the overhauling of the motor and transmission.

These prices are for labor only because the need and number of new parts depend on the condition of each car. The cost of these parts is low, however, because of the Ford policy of manufacturing and selling at a small margin of profit.

GOLDEN ROD STUDY CLUB
The Golden Rod Study club met with Mrs. Adda Perry at her home south of this city on last Thursday afternoon where a large number of members were present and much interest was manifested in the exercises which consisted of a most worthwhile program. The first being the roll call at which time all were expected to respond to the question "Ways we may assist the teacher with her work in character education." Then followed the regular business session with the president, Mrs. J. M. Wiles in the chair. The study hour was divided in two parts, the first part, being Nebraska's Distinguished Spangler. The topic of the discussion being Nebraska's Distinguished "Capitol" this was responded to by many of the members present and the matter of the building of this building as well as those which had preceded it, and also pictures of the state capitol of Colorado, Utah, and Wyoming, with their descriptions of these as well as of the present capitol building of Nebraska and the ones of the past. The second subject topic in charge of Mrs. Sherman Cole and the topic being "The Nebraska Character Law." The discussion touching the influence of the home in making and defining character, the churches influence, and the manner in which the public schools assist in the building and developing of character. All in all, the meeting was a wonderful one and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who were present. Following the program and during the social hour, a delightful luncheon was served by the genial hostess, and which consisted of strawberry shortcake with whipped cream, and sure it was good, was the testimony of all who were fortunate in being there. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Elbert Wiles.

GIVES FINE CONCERT
From Friday's Daily—
Last evening the committee in charge of the Music Week observance had the pleasure of having here as a feature the Weeping Water band, one of the snappy musical organizations of the county.
Director Green and his band of some eighteen musicians came up on the invitation of the Plattsmouth Woman's club music department that has sponsored the music week and the ladies feel well pleased that the musicians from our neighborhood city accepted the invitation to come here for the concert and adding so materially to the success of the program.
The Weeping Water band has appeared here several times in the past, and their visits are much enjoyed as they are one of the best bands in this part of Nebraska.
