BANK JOB CHOICE SHOCKS RODMAN

Lincoln, May 17.—Senator James A. Rodman of Omaha dropped in at the capitol late Thursday to look at the place minus the legislature. Immediately after the close of the session Mr. Rodman went to the Black Hills for a rest.

"I was simply dumbfounded," he said, "when I heard Governor Weaver had appointed Ex-Governor Shallenberger chief of the investigation of the guaranty fund commission."

Mr. Rodman declined to go into details as to why he was dumbfounded by the appointment. During the legislative session Mr. Rodman stood alone in the senate in his insistence that the guaranty fund law should be entirely repealed. He said there was grave doubt in his mind as to whether the governor has power to veto items in the general appropriation bill that has received a three-fifths vote of the legislature.
