Highway Paving to be Started in July, It is Said

Engineers Here to Plan Detours While Paving No. 75 Is Progressing During Summer

The paving of portions of highway No. 75 or the King of Trails highway is to be started in July according to the present plans of the state department of public works and the letting of the contract on the several divisions of the work will be held early in the coming month, or the last of June so that the work can be well under way by the latter part of July and completed by the fall season.

Engineer Z. Dewey of the state department, from Omaha, and P. A. Curry, head patrolman of the K. T. highway in Sarpy county, were here yesterday to look over the highway from the Douglas county line to this city and to plan the detours that will be necessary as the work of laying the pavement is being carried and which will of necessity keep sections of the highway out of commission for some time while the paving is being laid.

Locally it is expected that the detour will extend west of the city while the highway is being paved from this city to the Platte river while on the north side of the Platte there will have to be detours arranged to care for the traffic as the paving is being placed.

The work will probably be organized in divisions for the fourteen miles of paving, one from the Douglas county line to Fort Crook, one from Fort Crook to the Platte and another from the Platte river into Plattsburgh.

BIBLE SCHOOL GAINS

The vacation bible school that is being held at the First Methodist and First Presbyterian churches for the next few weeks, has been the most successful that has ever been held in the city so far, the enrollment yesterday reaching 152 of the young people, a much larger number than was anticipated by the organizers of the school, and by the completion of the week even a larger number will probably be found in the school.

The vacation bible school has for the past two years been under the supervision of Mrs. Harold E. Sator, wife of the Methodist pastor, whose work in the young people's activities has been very marked. The school was first held at the Methodist church and this year the Presbyterian church is lending their efforts and the use of their spacious church to the school purposes, Miss Helen Farley being the superintendent of this section of the school.

The vacation bible school is organized along the graded system with the several departments to care for the youngsters of various ages and in which the subjects and the work suitable for their ages are planned and arranged by the efficient superintendents and the corps of teachers who are supervising and giving the instruction.

The youngsters are taking a great interest in the work and each morning large numbers are to be seen winding their way to the church for the daily series of instruction, work and play, which makes up the course of this very worth while summer school for the younger people and which gives them in a practical way a needed instruction along bible study.

ENJOYED SPLENDID TRIP TO WESTERN NEBRASKA

James Stander, George Vogler, Albert Kraft and W. C. Kraft returned Saturday from a flying trip by automobile to western Nebraska and to Pine Bluffs, Wyoming, where they looked after their land interests.

They made the trip from here to Kimball, a distance of over 400 miles, the first day. At this point, they visited Mr. Vogler's uncle, Henry Vogler and family, prominent pioneers of that vicinity. Mr. Vogler is a former county treasurer of Kimball county.

They visited at points around Sidney, where Mr. Kraft owns as fine a 160 acre wheat farm as can be found in Nebraska. Wheat in that locality is looking fine, but around Kimball the crops have suffered somewhat from dry weather and winds last fall and do not compare favorably with crops around Sidney. They visited the Henry Elsen farm near Sidney, but missed seeing Mr. Elsen, who was here visiting his mother, Mrs. George Meier. The sugar beet fields are looking splendid and they are having plenty of rain out there at present. The last night of their trip, they stopped at Lexington and drove home in rain most of the day.

They found the people satisfied and prosperous out there and report that it is indeed a great country, but Cass county looked pretty good to them after all.—Louisville Courier.

Miss Elizabeth McVey Wedded at Haigler, Nebraska, to Dr. J. Perry Tollman Thursday

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth McVey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McVey of Haigler, to J. Perry Tollman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Tollman of Marland, Nebraska, took place at the McVey home at 6 o'clock Thursday evening in the presence of the immediate families. The ceremony, which was simple but impressive, was performed by Rev. C. E. Cattel, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. The young people planned to leave for Lincoln at once, where Dr. Tollman is to receive his degree, after that going on to Boston, Mass. Mrs. Tollman, who has countless friends in this, her home town, has been teaching school for the past two years at Plattsmouth. Prior to that she taught in the Detroit public schools. She is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, at which place she met Dr. Tollman, the meeting which led to a romance, the happy culmination of which was solemnized here Thursday night. The groom has just completed the academic work in connection with securing his medical degree, and upon graduation from the University of Nebraska medical college, he will become an interne in Peter Bent Brigham hospital, Boston. After sixteen months spent in this hospital he will take up active private practice.—Haigler News.

PAY DAY IN THE ARMY

From Friday's Daily—
This morning the Cass county court house had a very military appearance with a large group of the troops from Fort Crook enjoying the one big day in army life, "Pay Day." The troops have been on the range and having several days yet to shoot over the course at the range, the finance officer of the post came down with the funds and pay rolls and paid the boys off for their monthly stipend from Uncle Sam. To the former vets around the court house the day was a strong reminder of other army pay days. John Turner, Bill Kieck, Judge Duxbury and Chick Ledgeway who were in service were strongly debating getting in line for the pay wagon or at least getting a blanket and the necessary equipment for securing a part of the pay roll funds. The amount paid here amounted to several thousand dollars.

Years may go by without a hail-storm and consequent ruin of the crops, but when you compare the cost of protection during those years with a single season's loss of income you will see another reason why your crops should be protected by a hail insurance policy.

Goes to Brazil as Director of Fish Culture

J. H. Brunson of Louisville Accepts a Two Year Contract and Will Leave First of Week.

J. H. Brunson will leave Louisville Monday for Brazil, in South America, where he goes under a two years' contract with the Brazilian government at a handsome salary, to develop fish culture in that country.

Mr. Brunson will go to Washington for a three days' conference with officials there and will meet his family in New York. Mrs. Brunson and daughter will visit at their old home in Iowa for a few days. Mr. Brunson was superintendent of the state fish hatcheries of Montana for a number of years, resigning to come to Louisville to assist his parents in developing the Kahler Pottery company. He has kept in touch with his line of work, however, as consultant fish culturist. He is recognized as one of the best fish experts in the country and has made an exhaustive study of the Finny tribe and at the time of leaving Montana he was pronounced the best fish culturist in the west. He developed the number of state hatcheries from two to twelve, with a corresponding increase in number of fish eggs hatched and planted, in a short time.

Mr. Brunson will have free rein to carry out his own ideas in developing this industry in Brazil, and is looking forward to the opportunity, as many as he cares to have, and it will be his duty to instruct them in this line of work. He will be located in the southern state of San Paulo which offers climatic conditions similar to this country. There are vast unoccupied agricultural lands in this country and the state government has set aside large tracts for homesteading with a low price per acre and long term payments. Brazil is undoubtedly on the verge of a great increase in population with consequent agricultural development following the influx of settlers.

Fish culture is unknown down there and they have much to learn, and Mr. Brunson is never happier than when he is studying or expounding his observations and the results of his experiences along this line and the greater the difficulties to be overcome the greater will be his zeal and it will be interesting for his friends at home to follow his line of endeavor for the next two years.—Louisville Courier.

Attorney Wm. Deles Dernier was greatly pleased on Friday of last week, when Mr. Griffith, his neighbor, found his Masonic ring which he had lost 23 years ago. He is a 32nd degree Mason and this was his ring with the engravings upon the inside of the band, and it was by this that Mr. Griffith discovered who the ring belonged to. Where Will Band Concerts be Located?

Much Difference of Opinion as to Where Is Proper Place to Have Concerts

From Saturday's Daily—
The opening of the concert season for the Elks band in which they present weekly open air concerts during June, July and August, has led to considerable discussion of what is the proper place to hold the concerts, whether to have them in Garfield park, at the court house lawn or on Main street with alternating locations as was the plan several years ago.

The matter was discussed this week at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors and with a very nearly even division of opinion between the park and the court house lawn as the proper places to stage the concerts.

Those who advocate the park as the place of holding the concerts have the argument of the fact that there is already a band stand erected for concert purposes already there, that there are seats and ample room to accommodate the audience in the park and that the band can play and the spectators enjoy it without annoyance of the auto travel to disturb the musicians and the music lovers.

The advocates of the court house lawn point to the fact that many people wish to do their shopping in the evening and with the concert down town can do so and have the opportunity at the same time of enjoying the concert, while they are down in the main part of the city and that out of town people find it more convenient for combining business and pleasure in the downtown concerts.

The concerts for the season will probably be sponsored jointly by the city and the commercial organizations and it will be up to them to designate the locations for the concerts, but it is desired to have the place for the concerts one that will please the largest number of the people and where this will be a real problem.

Several have suggested a voting referendum on the matter through coupons printed in the paper and which might give an idea of the views of the majority of the people of the community in the matter.
