Grows Excellent Peaches. The writer was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Norton last week and was shown their orchard which is composed of peaches and apples, and also the apple trees with apples, the nursery man having engaged in that business many years ago, and has made the growing of fine fruit a study, has some very fine peaches and apples. The peaches with the trees most symmetrically shaped are loaded with delicious peaches and also the apple trees with apples, the apples are of the late fall and winter variety and are not yet in season. Of the peaches he has them ripe and which will be ripe later on. He has demonstrated that as fine fruit in this line can be grown in Nebraska as in California.

Here From Gretna. The Rev. and Mrs. James Runnels of Gretna where he has charge in the city and also one at a country station, were here visiting for last Saturday and over Sunday returned home on last Monday afternoon after having enjoyed the time very much. They are liking their work at Gretna and requests have been made for their retention for another year.

Meets With Accident. Dr. W. H. Achenbach who was at the camp at Ashland on the closing of the camp had the misfortune to receive an injury in the shape of a fracture of one of his toes, and was not able to come to Union and look after the other matters to be done at the dinner of the Union Business Men's Club.

Had Good Crowd at Dinner. The Union Business Men's Club had their regular Monday noon dinner at the Baptist church and served by the ladies of that organization. There was a goodly crowd present and a most enjoyable dinner. The banqueters listened to the invocation of Divine blessing upon all assembled by the Rev. James Reynolds of the Methodist church at Gretna who was a guest for the occasion. Dr. Achenbach who had been at Ashland had a foot injured and could not come to president at the dinner and the vice president, W. E. Moore was with the family visiting at York and the matter was cared for by Rev. W. A. Taylor asking the writer to preside. Following the discussion of the good things to eat, Rev. Runnels was asked to address the assemblage which he did extending the wish that much good might come from these meetings. He was followed by W. G. Boedeker the Murray banker who made a very pleasing and worth while address. The members listened to George E. Nickles of the Murray Lumber Company who congratulated the members of the club on their organization saying that he could see how much good could come through all working together. He paid a very fine tribute to W. B. Banning who was his partner in the lumber business in Murray for many years. County treasurer followed with an explanation of the working of the outo drivers license and how it worked. This was followed by Henry Woster, deputy treasurer who said he was sure when he got a good meal and had gotten one there and had enjoyed it, and complimented the ladies who were able to serve so good a dinner. The last speaker was F.

F. Rihn who wanted to pay tribute to his friends, W. G. Boedeker and George E. Nickles, saying that if cooperation of all the members of the Union Business Men's Club as was manifested in the Murray picnic, whom he knew in Murray that there was nothing within reach of a business organization that they could not have.

Come to Church and Bible School. We wish to extend a very cordial invitation to all who are not worshipping elsewhere to come to the Bible school at the Baptist church where you will be given a very glad welcome. We want you to study the lessons with us and also to remain for the preaching which immediately follows.

W. A. TAYLOR, Pastor. Methodist Church Notes. Sunday school 10:00 a. m. Morning Service 11:00 a. m. Epworth League 7:30 p. m. Evening Service 8:00 p. m. You are welcome. W. A. BOWDEN, Pastor.

Old Settlers Picnic Notes. The people were pleased to listen to Gov. A. J. Weaver when he addressed them on the subject of the intangible tax and when he showed that by the collection of this tax on the property which has gone free thereby become lower and thus the payments would be equalized. The two little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Robertson entertained the people at the Old Settlers very pleasantly on the last day of the gathering. E. L. Shumaker made a very pleasant and worthwhile address on "the first day of the picnic and was listened to with much interest."

Everybody was pleased with the numbers played by the Farmer's Union music. One of the most interesting features of the gathering was the address of welcome which was delivered by Mrs. G. S. Upton who on account of her health had to be seated while delivering the address she read an address written in 1889, the first gathering of this historic society written by Mrs. Luther Hall, and reread by Mrs. Upton. Mrs. Upton said in part, that Mrs. Hall has celebrated with the people forty years ago and again 38 years ago and that many years ago Mrs. Hall had been called to the great beyond and that she wished to dedicate the poem written by Mrs. Hall to her memory and to the memory of the many old settlers who had lived in and about Union and had met her often, but like the author of the poetical address of welcome she only wished she had the voice of a David Lawrence or a Graham McNamee, that she might deliver the address as she would like.

Funeral of Mrs. Sophie Ross. Sophie Marie Brandt was born Nov. 3rd 1861, in Macklenburg Province, Germany, and came in 1866 with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brandt and settled near Nebraska. She was married in 1880 to Christian Ross. To this union 6 children were born and she died in infancy. She was born, five sons survive, Henry L. Herman C. Adolph J. Louis W., Martin E. One brother, Charles Brandt of Alliance, Neb. In early childhood she was confirmed in the Lutheran church and has been a devoted member ever since. On May 6, 1926, her husband departed this life and she still remained in the old home where she passed away Aug. 15, 1929. Funeral from the late home Saturday 17th at 10 a. m. conducted by Rev. W. A. Taylor. Burial in the Lutheran cemetery at St. Luke's cemetery 4 miles northeast of Oteo, Nebr.

John E. McCarroll at Rest. John E. McCarroll was born at Gallipole, Ohio, July 25th, 1855, and there made his home for the first fifteen years of his life where he attended school and with the parents came west about 1870, and settled south of Union. Mr. McCarroll was married to Miss Emma Strait over forty years ago, to this union was born four children, two of whom survive, they being Mesdames C. J. McQuinn and L. B. Mouger. Mr. McCarroll was a fine christian gentleman and has ever done what he could for the betterment of the society in which he resided. He has lived in this place where he died on Thursday, August 22, for the past fifty-seven years. Mr. McCarroll has been in poor health for some time and the coming of the end was not a surprise. On last Monday afternoon a host of his friends assembled at the Methodist church at Union to pay their last tribute of respect to the man whom everybody had learned to love. Mr. McCarroll was a member of the Masonic lodge and Modern Woodmen of America, who assembled to honor to the memory of a member and one of America's finest citizens. The services at the funeral was conducted by Rev. W. A. Bowden and W. A. Taylor, at the church. There were many visiting members of the Masonic Order from Nebraska and more from Union, the members of the services which the Masons conducted at the cemetery. Mrs. McCarroll and two daughters survive the passing of this excellent man.

Card of Thanks. We desire to extend to the many friends and neighbors who so kindly gave sympathy and service at the time of the last sickness and death of our beloved husband and father, John E. McCarroll, and to the members of the Modern Woodmen and the Masonic lodge at the time of the funeral, to the ministers who officiated at the services and to those who so kindly sang—Mrs. J. E. McCarroll and Children.

The Knight of the Road is Particular

"You see, sir" said the tramp, "I belong to the 'Honorable Order of Effortless Aristocrats' which august body forbids its members the slightest exertion of physical effort. The last two motorists I deigned to ride with used such an indifferent grade of petrol that I was called upon to push their chariots up the grades. Hence my concern as to the kind of petrol you use."

"Have no fear about that," replied the benevolent motorist. "I use Parco Gasoline."

"Ah," said the tramp, "what a marvelous discerner of quality you are. I shall be glad to grace you with my company since your pulchritudinous bus is propelled by Parco, the Petrol of Pep, Power and Punch."

READS OLD TIME WELCOME

At the Old Settlers Reunion held this past week at Union, the visitors to the gathering were bid welcome by Mrs. G. S. Upton, one of the old time residents of Liberty precinct and who is now in her eighties and it was a very impressive sight as this splendid pioneer lady who came to Nebraska while it was yet a territory, gave words of greeting to the living and a tribute to the pioneers gone on.

The following is the address and poem that were given by Mrs. Upton on this occasion:

Mr. Chairman, Old Settlers, neighbors and friends: I bring to you today this tribute in memory of an old time friend and an Old Settler, Mrs. Luther Hall. She celebrated with us 40 years ago, and 38 years ago she read the address of welcome, which is being repeated today, since that time I bring to you today this tribute in memory of an old time friend and an Old Settler, Mrs. Luther Hall. She celebrated with us 40 years ago, and 38 years ago she read the address of welcome, which is being repeated today, since that time I bring to you today this tribute in memory of an old time friend and an Old Settler, Mrs. Luther Hall. She celebrated with us 40 years ago, and 38 years ago she read the address of welcome, which is being repeated today, since that time I bring to you today this tribute in memory of an old time friend and an Old Settler, Mrs. Luther Hall.

Address of welcome read by Mrs. Luther Hall in 1889 at the Old Settler's Reunion. Reread by Mrs. G. S. Upton in 1929.

Welcome old settlers, welcome young natives, welcome all. We are so glad that so many have responded to our call. And to our great reunion came helping us to make our reunion a place of fame. It is a nice thing to meet here from year to year. It is nice for those that live far away and those that live near.

To have a place and time set apart to meet our old friends and them kindly greet Here today every one look blith and glad. But oh how many hearts are sad. Sad for their mate who has already flown. Far away to that great beyond. The Old Settler's Home. And tho it is with pleasure that we meet here. Yet too, we cannot help but shed many a tear. When we thing of those dear old friends. That were here but last year. Are now waiting for us. On the other shore, bidding us cheer. Now as we old settlers will soon pass away, We would like to speak a few to the natives and say. Do credit to our places that you will soon fill. So we may with God's help

Norfolk Man is Boosted for Committee

Eleventh Annual American Legion Session Is Being Held at Hastings. Hastings, Aug. 26.—Several members of the Nebraska department of the American Legion, in 11th annual session here, were reported Monday night to be initiating a move to unseat Sam Reynolds of Omaha as national committeeman of the Legion from this state.

Reynolds has held the office for several years and out-state Legionnaires contend that an out-state man should be given the post. The most prominently mentioned for the post are Frank Warner of Norfolk, and Jean Cain of Falls City.

Warner, who is a colonel in the reserves, has declared he has not sought the job in any way, but his friends say he would accept if elected. Cain, a past commander and popular with the Legionnaires, also said he was not a candidate for the position.

Warner, Phil Hall of Greenwood, Dwight Griswold of Gordon and Leo Crosby of Omaha all have been principals of pre-convention booms. And the lists are now wide open.

Warner was a lieutenant colonel in the reserves and was on the army general staff as a major at Washington during the world war.

Hall Has Backing. Colonel Hall has the backing of many a Legionnaire in southeastern Nebraska. Posts at Nehawka, Greenwood, Louisville, Elmwood and Plattsmouth are said to have indicated their allegiance.

The eligibility question has been raised in the case of State Senator Griswold, as the by-laws of the Legion state that no one holding political position shall hold office in the organization. It is possible, however, that he might resign from the legislature. He is a newspaper publisher. Crosby has been styled a "possible black horse."

The fact that Hall is a Democrat and Griswold a Republican adds to interest in the race. The commanders, Wade Martin of Stratton and Jean Cain of Falls City, are both Republicans, so Hall's friends hint that the Legion could prove itself nonpartisan by electing him.

000. Net expenditures amounted to $2,000 more than the final figure. Expenses of administering the fund during the biennium just ended had been paid from a $17,000 legislative appropriation.

Awarding of membership contest prizes and trophies was a feature of the program Monday. Following addresses by Gov. Weaver and Frank O'Connor, state game warden, the national page contest prize and the Leah Ball were both presented to the Merna Unit which reported a 133 per cent increase over its peak membership.

In a spirited contest between the fourth and fifth districts for the Amundson trophy, the fifth district won by a margin of one per cent, thus depriving the fourth district of a perpetual right to the trophy which the latter district would have attained, had it won again this year.

Increased memberships are the general rule throughout the state this year and 58 units were both membership citations as compared to 30 last year. The total membership gain for the state was reported to be nine per cent. Ten dollar membership awards were won by the Nebraska City, Wahoo, Burwell, Merna and Endicot units.

The auxiliary reported a first day's convention registration of 372, as compared with total registration of 378 for the entire convention last year.—Omaha Bee-News.

NEW ELEVATOR IN STATE CAPITOL BUILDING TESTED. Lincoln, Aug. 22.—One of the four passenger elevators that will furnish service in the tower of the capitol is being tested for use. It is one of two that will run from the basement to the 12th story, which is two stories below the floor of the octagonal memorial hall at the top of the tower. The other two will run to the floor of the memorial hall. The elevator now being tried out is in the southeast corner of the tower.

MYNARD U. B. CHURCH. Sunday school 10 a. m. Sermon 11 a. m. followed by the Lord's Supper. Let all our people come to these services. Ladies' Aid will meet in the church parlors Sept. 5th at 2:30 p. m. Hostesses, Mrs. Watson Long and Mrs. Paul Long. A good attendance is desired.

G. B. WEAVER, Pastor. PORTES GILL UNDISTURBED. Mexico City—Recent rumors of an impending political and possibly military upheaval, have been calmed by President Emilio Portes Gil Monday. He said they had been spread by "enemies of the government who wish to provoke unjustified alarm."

"The government, in my opinion," he said, "has never been so strong as it is now nor has the revolution ever been so unified as it is now."

EIGHT MILE GROVE LUTHERAN CHURCH. Sunday, Sept. 1st. 9:30 a. m. Sunday school. 10:30 German services. 7:30 p. m. Luther League.
