Albert B. Fall has been convicted.
Kraut and spare-ribs are in order.
Yum! Yum!
Senator Norris is right to the front in Washington.
"Let no guilty man escape!" But many of them do.
Is the tariff bill to be thrown overboard? It looks it.
Don't quarrel with the cook until after you have dined.
Don't be too sure you are right, before you make a mistake.
One may as well take it easy, next year all the politics you want.
Home training and home rule are the factors of national safety.
Now is the time the wiseheads make their Christmas selections.
If you are easily bored don't get into the habit of talking to yourself.
It is a little early for politics, but the election next year will be a hot one.
McKelvie is Hoover's candidate to beat Norris, and he may do it, no telling.
Some people who are virtuous, and yet unable to get rich, feel that they are doubly cheated.
Anybody with a good voice has a chance to be a radio announcer. Others can sing or speak over the air.
California's suicide rate is 18 per cent above the national average, Florida will have to go some to rival that.
Some Senators want to make it a crime to buy whisky. Yes, and why not make it punishable by death to borrow it from friends.
A Chicago woman says her husband gave her a dime a day to run the house. She didn't tell how much she saved out of it, however.
Is politics worth while? That is a question often asked. It is for each person to make his own answer, after considering all of the facts.
Money is what talks in these election days and there are republicans in Nebraska that want Senator Norris defeated, but not by McKelvie.
Rodney Dutcher reports that one of the chief results of the Shearer naval investigation is a greatly increased sentiment of Congress for having the government build all of its warships in its own naval yards.

Don't get too gay. Often a fly buzzing around.
Trade at home and you know what you are buying.
Doheny homes next. If they dare to prosecute him.
Diligence wins even when to a misguided purpose.
Thanksgiving not far off, and the price of turkeys advancing.
Nothing succeeds so well as success. It is like a trump card.
Human nature is a good guide. More followers would be better.
We can not do without our politics, but they can be made respectable.
Don't think that a man takes every fool's advice because he asks yours.
Our merchants have stocked up with a view of a big fall and winter trade.
The massacres in Palestine of Jewish settlers arousing the indignation of civilization.
Our merchants are already getting ready for Christmas—only two months in the distance.
A fortune awaits the genius who can succeed in crossing the homing pigeon with the umbrella.

An automobile manufacturer says touring will be done at 100 miles an hour in ten years. Drivers apparently are going to slow down a little.
George Bernard Shaw tells that he is going just the opposite way to that he was brought up as to social customs. This is indeed thrilling.
Now increasing evidence comes that the senate raid on financial racketeers is to be thorough. But the political racketeers will be undisturbed.
Now Germany is in the midst of stormy politics, the nationalists making a sharp campaign to upset the war treaties. They will likely lose out.

NAVY DAY

Today is Navy Day. We enter upon the eighth year of Navy Day celebration. The American people steadily have been impressed with the significance and importance of this occasion, and never in the history of the republic was its observance of more importance than in this year of grace.

We increasingly have grown as a people to have a better understanding of the purposes of the navy, what it means, or should mean, to the Nation—the maintenance of an adequate naval strength.

The recent conversations between the President and England's Prime Minister give to this celebration this year an added significance and importance for the consideration of the people. The American public heartily is in favor of the principle of limiting navies by international agreement in accordance with fixed ratios which do not leave the United States subordinate to, or weaker than, other countries on the seas. This, since the Washington Conference, has been the policy of this Government. We are willing to stand by the 5-5-3 ratio fixed by that conference; we are willing to abide by the policy expressed in that conference in the following language:

"We approve limitation of armaments by international agreements. We repudiate the reduction of armaments by example as unwise and dangerous."

Perhaps the President and Mr. MacDonald did not give to this statement of policy its fullest weight and significance. But the American people understand it and adhere to it; and it is one of the purposes of Navy Day to emphasize this thought and consideration.

In the schools and in the churches, if possible, it is desired that the real interests of the American Navy shall be explained, extolled and extended by a teaching that shall reach every American heart, a teaching which shall proclaim of our navy that it shall be second to none, the equal of the strongest on the face of the earth, to the end that the national defense shall be made secure.

THE AGE OF LIBERALISM

The New York World commented, in a melancholy vein, on the British Labor Government's refusal to grant asylum to Leon Trotsky, who seems to be persona non grata everywhere. It was not a criticism, in the usual acceptance of that term, but genuine regret that a great British tradition had disappeared—a tradition which had inspired admiration for England among liberals the world over. It was an epitaph on liberalism, not on British liberalism alone, but on that fine quality of humanity which had distinguished England. The world said, on effect, that the age of liberalism is dying, and frankly grieved therefore.

A London paper, the Star, takes the world to task and, in what seems to us a peculiarly unhappy to quote spirit, asks if the United States would admit the Russian exile. Let us plead guilty. We have seen our Government close its doors against Karolyi, and we remember that, in a braver day, we welcomed and acclaimed that other Hungarian, Kossuth.

Radicalism is storming up the world, young, assertive, growing. Conservation is here, powerful, commanding, winning and losing alternately in the perilous field of politics. But the liberal and his creed are vanishing, under all the flags and something splendid is passing.

NO RIGHT TO KICK

A Chicago mail order firm, finding that there was a good deal of "traffic congestion" about the mirrors in its plant, discovered on investigation that the average girl employe spent no less than six minutes a day using powder, lipstick, and rouge before the looking glass.

One's impulse, on hearing this, is to make some sort of wisecrack. But on second thought, perhaps no wisecrack is called for from any self-sufficient male. For, after all, the man who pokes fun at the flapper who hesitates in front of every mirror is usually the man who says, "Now Alice would be a doggone nice-looking girl if she'd only primp up a little bit once in a while."

In other words, the primping is done for the men's benefit, and the men seem to like it. So why should the men kick about it?

A young fellow said to me the other day, "I am under obligation to no one." He is mistaken. Every man or woman is under obligation to his family and his friends to make the most of his opportunities. The world expects a certain amount of each person, and if he fails to deliver he has not met his obligation. We all owe a debt, and its payment can be made only by being a good citizen.

FALL'S CONVICTION

At last Albert B. Fall has reaped the full harvest of disgrace and punishment which he sowed by his criminal actions. He has been found guilty of receiving a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, while sitting in the President's Cabinet as Secretary of the Interior, as a consideration for the lease of Government oil lands. For once an oil case jury refused to be swayed by sentiment. Neither the melodramatic four-and-a-half-hour appeal by Fall's smooth counsel, Frank J. Hogan, nor the atmosphere of invalidism surrounding the defendant, was permitted to weigh in the balance against the grim, gray facts of Fall's criminality.

Five years have elapsed since the Fall-Doheny-Sinclair scandals were exposed and, though the processes of justice have been exasperatingly slow, the outcome has been an impressive victory for honesty in public office. Doheny alone of the three main conspirators has escaped the ignominy of a criminal conviction. Sinclair is in a jail cell. And now the man through whom they corrupted the Government, the one denounced by the United States Supreme Court as "a faithless public officer," is branded a felon. Finally, the valuable Teapot Dome and Elk Hills oil reserves, illegally leased by Fall, have been recovered by the Government.

It becomes appropriate, now that the worst Government scandal since the Credit Mobilier affair in Grant's administration has been cleared up, to bestow a wreath on the tomb of Robert M. La Follette. It was that modern Rienzi who tore the veil from the oil scandals and revealed their putridity to a nation loath to believe what they saw. He was forced to work against the most powerful and persistent opposition that ever confronted an investigator, and he accomplished his task despite a public apathy that must have crushed any man who lacked La Follette's great fighting heart.

Too much cannot be said for the public service rendered by Senator Walsh of Montana, who pieced together La Follette's case, or for Messrs. Roberts and Pomeroy, special counsel for the Government, who have labored so ably and so successfully to bring the oil culprits to justice.

WHISTLIN'

One day when I was feeling blue
I didn't know just what to do
To get the gloom to pass away
Until I heard a darkey say:
You kin chase de clouds away
An hab sunshine eb'ry day,
Whistlin'.
Mistuh Red Bird in de tree
Keeps a-tellin' you an' me
He am happy as kin be,
Whistlin'.

Care won't hang aroun' by you,
An' you'll lose Ol' Trubbel, too,
Whistlin'.
While yous gettin' your row hoe'd,
Or am reapin' what you sowed,
You kin lighten up your load,
Whistlin'.

All de ghosts am sure to skip
If you make a graveyard trip,
Whistlin'.
An' de whistlers bye an' bye
May be angels in de sky,
Flyin' all aroun' up high,
Whistlin'.

RESURRECTION OF A CIVILIZATION

Colonel Lindbergh's fame and reputation have been enhanced through his recent association with major archaeological endeavor. He has in the very recent past enabled science to look the hidden remains of a past civilization—the Mayan.

Deep in the Central American jungles lie the ruins of remarkable cities and temples of this ancient race, and these jungles have been accounted to be the most impenetrable on earth. But already notable finds have been made; that there are others is a foregone conclusion. These, located from the air, may now be approached and examined by the archaeologist who will thus be compelled to cut a pathway to them.

From the air may be discovered any ruin of importance. The rest becomes comparatively easy. We may look forward to invaluable revelations—the uncovering of cities and temples of a mysterious people who in dim ages maintained a civilization of exceptional magnitude and importance, whose relics now remain buried in the dense jungle growth of the Central American land.

During the first half of this year railway earnings were $663,000,000. Being an increase of $101,000,000. Automobiles have not made the inroads feared. This increase is evidence prosperity yet abides in the land.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the District Court of Cass County, Nebraska
John A. King, Plaintiff
vs.
T. K. Juergens and wife, Mrs. T. K. Juergens (first real and true name unknown); J. A. Stark and wife, Elizabeth Stark; John Bach and wife, Elisabeth Bach, Defendants.
To: T. K. Juergens and wife, Mrs. T. K. Juergens (first true and real name unknown) and John Bach and wife, Elisabeth Bach, Defendants.

Notified that on the 23rd day of October, 1929, the plaintiff, John A. King, filed a petition in the District Court of Cass County, Nebraska, against you and each of you, which cause appears on Docket 4, page 230 of the records of the Clerk of the District Court of Cass County, Nebraska, the object and prayer of which petition is to foreclose mortgages recorded in Book 47 at page 273 and in Book 47 at page 274 in the Mortgage Records of the Register of Deeds office in Cass County, Nebraska, and a decree forever barring you and each of you of all the right, title or interest and equity of redemption in and to the following described land, to-wit:

The East half of the Southeast quarter (E½ SE¼) of Section 20 and the West half of the Southwest quarter (W½ SW¼) of Section 21, all in Township 12, Range 10, East of the Sixth P. M., in Cass County, Nebraska; and for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the aforesaid premises during the pendency of this action and for equitable relief.

The plaintiff further offers Arthur Kellogg as the Receiver and S. R. Park as surety for said Receiver and the plaintiff offers Otis Richards as his surety.
You and each of you are further notified that the plaintiff will call up for hearing his application for the appointment of a Receiver on the 16th day of December, 1929, at ten o'clock in the forenoon or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard and that a Receiver will be appointed unless good and sufficient cause can be shown that such Receiver should not be appointed, and that Arthur Kellogg will be appointed as such Receiver.
You and each of you are hereby notified that you are required to answer said petition as aforesaid on or before the 16th day of December, 1929.

JOHN A. KING, Plaintiff.
