Mr. and Mrs. Moss Barkhurst left the first of the week for the Philippine Islands. They have been located in Texas.

Mary varments, having for their other names mink, skunk, musk rats and other furbearing animals have been making the home of John N. Larsh seem like a wild animal resort, and on invitation of Mr. Larsh, Earl Merritt went out and has succeeded in catching two mink, and as they were excellent furs it looks like the venture of catching them should be very profitable.

Henry H. Becker was a visitor in Omaha for the afternoon on last Monday, and was getting some repairs for various pieces of machinery and also looking after the securing of another corn elevator, having disposed of some three of them this fall, the fortunate ones to secure one being Ivan Balfour, Otto Ehlers and Arthur Buchanan, who are using them for handling their corn crop.

Ray Frans and family, they all celebrating the passing of the birthday anniversary of Rue H. Frans which chanced to be on that day. The day and the excellent dinner which Mrs. Jennie Frans furnished was surely enjoyed by all present.

Just to try out the new pavement between two of the liveliest little cities in eastern Nebraska, Union and Murray, on last Sunday afternoon, Frank Bauer and Jack Roddy, hitched the gas wagon of the former up, and away they went over the new road Murray, visited there for a time, then went west over the detour to the county seat where they viewed the new bridge, met a number of their gentlemen friends and returned home.

Clarence Smith, a brother of Clinton B. Smith, and making his home in Omaha where he is attending school, was a visitor in Union for the past week, coming down to visit with his brother, and while here was taken with the flu, and had to remain for the remainder of the week, and was just sufficiently well to return to his studies in the metropolis. His brother, C. B. Smith, and wife, and Ralph Pearsley and wife, with their car took Clarence to Omaha, and while they were away Miss Bessie Copenhaver looked after the children of the two pairs.

M. W. A. Re-Adjusts.

This is no joke, for it is real suffering, and while not enjoyed, is being participated in by many, in fact by all. While they have millions of dollars they are about busted, and no joke, for they have but a shadow of enough to pay out. All must re-adjust, and it is awful. For instance Wm. Craig, now well along in years, joined the order in 1900, he paid very punctually every assessment, thinking when he was seventy years of age he could stop paying and draw out a portion of what he had paid in every year and he and the good wife would live on it. Until last June he could have received all he had paid in, which would have been many hundred dollars. He was carrying two thousand dollars insurance, and true he received the risk during the time, but now when he had added many years, nearly thirty, he is entirely stripped of his savings. He can only get about two hundred and fifty dollars for what he has paid in. To carry the insurance according to the new rates would cost something over fifteen dollars per month. When the end comes probably a re-adjustment

Rubio is Swept Into Office with Million Majority

Mexican Election Marked by Numerous Clashes—Nineteen Reported Killed

Mexico City, Nov. 17.—Paschal Ortiz Rubio, national revolutionary party candidate for president, was swept into office today by what appeared to have been the greatest presidential vote ever cast in Mexico.

The anti-revolutionist party, whose nominee was Jose Vasconcelos, conceded the victory to Ortiz Rubio today in a statement which attributed the defeat to the interference of the polls by followers of Ortiz Rubio. It is estimated Rubio won a majority of a million votes.

Considerable violence accompanied the voting. A carefully checked report, including the military, showed 19 dead with more than a score seriously wounded. There had been reports of other deaths which could not be confirmed.

Eight persons died here in clashes over possession of polling places and five were killed in the state of Vera Cruz. One of the dead was Ortiz Rubio leader, who was slain in revenge for a killing he was alleged to have done.

Mobilization of all available forces in great numbers kept down the death toll in the capital. The city presented a brilliant military appearance throughout the day as soldiers and police, armed with side arms, rifles and machine guns, patrolled the streets and several times went into action to quiet rioters.

Voting on the whole was orderly and fairly free, the highest mark on official records in 1916, the Caha had started receding and danger of a devastating flood was thought past. The heaviest rains during the day and night centered in north Alabama, P. H. Smythe, United States meteorologist here said. The Tennessee river was rising at Decatur, with indications that flood stage would be reached Sunday, flooding lowlands across the river. Swirling flood waters from Creeks swollen by rains in central Alabama continued to cover lowlands in the southern tier of counties.

Fights Isolated.
Although Mexico City and other towns had the appearance of armed camps today, with troops constantly patrolling the streets, it was impossible to maintain complete order. Fights were isolated, however, and were quickly suppressed in most cases. The most serious outbreak was in a city of Vera Cruz where 200 were killed and five wounded in a clash in the suburb of La Huaca.

Press dispatches from the American border told of an attempt to assassinate Alejandro C. Villasecer, brother-in-law of the governor of Sonora, and a worker for Ortiz Rubio. The several shots fired at him missed.

The most serious riot here occurred in front of the anti-revolutionist party headquarters and extended over two blocks. Soldiers and mounted police and officers on motorcycles. A small guard of soldiers had been stationed around the American embassy early in the morning but had nothing to do.

Claim Commanding Margins.
The revolutionary party claimed to have polled 85,669 votes in the federal district alone. The anti-revolutionist vote was believed to have approached this. The revolutionary party claimed to have had commanding majorities in 22 of the 28 states.

While the anti-revolutionists conceded the victory of Ortiz Rubio, their president, Victoria E. Congora, was the true president of "Mexicans."
Congora issued a signed statement charging that there had been no free voting anywhere in the country.

ELECTION DAY IN GERMANY
Berlin—Municipal elections here Sunday, of special interest to Americans this year because of the recent visit of Mayor Gustav Boess and the charges of graft in his administration, passed off fairly quietly, apart from a few clashes between communists, social democrats and nationalists. At Breslau a member of the social democrats was beaten to death by a group of communists.

By evening 337 persons had been arrested, which was explained by the fact that all individuals on several campaign automobile trucks from the police were taken to headquarters. All except two were released after brief examination and identification.

One of the first to vote was President von Hindenburg, who with Undersecretary of State Meissner arrived with military precision at 9:30 a. m. at the voting booth.

SHERIFF LAMENTS KILLING

Herington, Kas.—The body of Louise Bassett, thirty-five, of Kansas City, shot to death by Sheriff Dederich last Friday night "in line of duty" as he clung to the side of her liquor laden motor car, here, her pistol pressed to the officer's side, was viewed Sunday by Jerry Bassett, her bootlegger husband of five weeks. Sobbing, Bassett, alias Morton, who married the woman while awaiting trial in jail at Cottonwood Falls, Kas., on a liquor charge last Oct. 5, was led to her bier by Chase County Sheriff Burton, who consented to bring him here. The body was sent to Colorado by Robert Thompson, Mrs. Bassett's father, who lives at Eads, Colo.

Exonerated late Saturday by a coroner's jury which decided he acted in line of duty and in defense of his life when he put a bullet thru the woman's heart, Sheriff Dederich wept and said he was sorry. Mack Howard Harris, who brought the car to a halt when the woman slumped in her seat dead, was held here while County Attorney Scott attempted to gather evidence to prefer a charge of persistent liquor law violation, punishable in Kansas by heavy penalties ranging up to life imprisonment.

FLOOD RELIEF IS DISTANT

Montgomery, Ala.—Official forecasts of general rains, especially in the northern and northcentral portions of the state, banished all hope Saturday night that Alabama could expect relief from flood conditions within another twenty-four hours. Although several of the major streams had reached their crests, predicted rains in the northern portion were expected to send more water into the lowlands and over the highways.

The Cross had passed flood stage and the Tallapoosa shows a slight drop. After reaching thirty-five feet at Centerville, the highest mark on official records in 1916, the Cahaba had started receding and danger of a devastating flood was thought past.

Tax Cut Plan Wins Approval in Both Parties

Leaders Promise Action on Bill Before the Holiday Recess—In General Accord.

Washington—The administration's proposal for a cut in individual and corporation income taxes met hearty response on the part of congressional leaders.

Republicans were unanimous in expressions of approval and assurance that action would be taken before the Christmas recess. Democratic leaders were also in general accord with the reduction idea, John N. Garner (D.), Representative from Texas, minority House leader, asserting that it was a patriotic duty in view of existing economic conditions, to support the president on the matter.

Both Mr. Garner and Willis C. Hawley (R.) Representative from Oregon, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, stated that the necessary legislation to bring about the reduction would be prepared for introduction the first day the regular session convened. The bill being revenue legislation must originate in the House and it is the plan of leaders there to rush the measure through without delay and send it over to the Senate for its immediate consideration.

Mr. Hawley stated that he favored a joint resolution to handle the matter in preference to a bill. By this means the legislation could be confined strictly to the administration's plan for the scope of the reduction and also greatly expedite action on it.

According to Mr. Hawley, the joint resolution would provide for a tax reduction covering only one calendar year on the part of the taxpayers and part of two fiscal years on the part of the government.

"The proposed resolution will not really be an amendment to the tax laws," said Mr. Hawley. "It will bring in an entirely new principle, however, when it comes to delay with taxation. The basic tax law will remain and the old rates will be charged in the ensuing years, unless Congress should take further action to cut the tax rates. Under this plan, however, the government, through congressional action, will be able to make tax adjustments from year to year to meet existing needs."

Senate leaders also expressed themselves as favoring the general proposition of a tax cut, but Democrats and insurgent chiefs made it plain that they were not committing themselves to the administration's proposal until they had given it more study.

Democrats were quick to point out that the administration's recommendation of a cut in corporations' taxes from 12 to 11 per cent was the same as that they demanded in 1928 when the last Congress enacted a tax-reduction measure. At that time the Republicans and insurgents opposed the Democratic proposal and defeated it.

TWO WOMEN SHOT TO DEATH

Port Chester, N. Y.—Two women were shot and killed and a third was seriously wounded Sunday at the home of Frank Deleo here. Police arrested Deleo as the slayer. The dead women were Mrs. Elizabeth Deleo, twenty-nine, wife of the man under arrest, and Mrs. Angellina Mazzulli, forty. Mrs. Mary Embesi, thirty-eight, was taken to the United hospital here in a serious condition from bullet wounds in the abdomen.

Police said Mrs. Mazzulli and Mrs. Embesi were visiting Mrs. Deleo in her home when her husband entered and opened fire on them. The police said they had found no motive, except the belief of the county medical examiner that Deleo had suffered from temporary insanity.

REAL ESTATE MAN SOUGHT

Chicago—Four warrants based on charges of irregular business dealings were issued Monday for William Hardt, real estate, loans and investment dealer, after county authorities were told that his business was in a precarious state and probably insolvent.

Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, raided Hardt's office with a squad of operatives and seized books and documents. A hasty check, Roche said, indicated that Hardt's clients might lose as much as $150,000.

P. L. Behrens was arrested in the raid. He said he had been put in charge of the office while Hardt went out of town on a business trip.

MONOXIDE KILLS 3 IN GARAGE

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Bert Rugh, 35, her son, George 7, and daughter, Alice Bert, 5, were killed by monoxide gas in their automobile in the Rugh garage late Saturday night. Governor R. A. Vorhies called an inquest Monday. When neighbors found the bodies, the motor was still running.

Mrs. Rugh, identified prominently with the Business and Professional Women's club of Iowa, was found slumped over the steering wheel. The children were in the rear seat. All died a few minutes after being found unconscious.
