Scott Lauds the Intangible Tax Statute

Omaha Pays $10,000,000 More in Treasury; Officials Hear Revenue Discussion.

The new intangible state tax law is a fixture on the statute books, in the opinion of Harry W. Scott, state tax commissioner, who addressed the county clerks annual state convention Tuesday at the Castle hotel at Omaha. The clerk met with the county commissioners, supervisors and registers of desks.

The new law which provides a penalty for its violation—but how the penalty clause will be enforced is the cause of much speculation—brought an increase of $150,000,000 in intangibles reported in 1929 for taxation, Mr. Scott declared.

"However, there has been some confusion in administering the law," the commissioner said. "This is due, in part, to the uncertainty of the steps to be taken by officials against those who fail to report their intangible property. Thousands of persons in the state undoubtedly have evaded the law this year.

"Despite the situation if officials do their duty public opinion soon will make the law easily enforceable."

Method of Enforcement. Meantime, it was pointed out, the only way left to officials to prosecute big game is to act on a distress warrant through the sheriff's office. This would make it possible to levy on intangible property of the violator to collect the amount of his intangible taxes.

"But," said Mr. Scott, "if the violator does not have any tangible assets it's just like getting blood out of a turnip."

Add 10 Million Here.

These Two Investigators, said Mr. Scott, "have been kept busy in Omaha and Lincoln. In Omaha $10,000,000 has been added to the intangible tax rolls as the result of their activities while $1,000,000 has been added in Lincoln."

W. F. Parker, president of the commissioners, supervisors and highway commissioners presided at the joint session formally opening the convention at 1:30 p. m. Mayor Dahlman was unable to appear to deliver the welcoming address. His place was taken by Thomas O'Brien, city prosecutor.

Following the joint meeting the commissioners opened their session to informal discussions of the problems of handling county business.

RECEIVER IS SELECTED

Omaha—Herbert S. Daniel, Omaha attorney, Tuesday afternoon was appointed receiver for the Peters Trust company, by B. H. Dunham, referee in bankruptcy. He began to arrange bond so that he could take over the affairs of the company immediately. Petition of directors of the company that George W. Pratt be named receiver was overruled.

Mr. Daniel during the war served under A. Mitchell Palmer, then alien property custodian, and assisted in handling properties valued at $650,000,000. In 1920 he was named acting postmaster of Omaha, following the death of Charles E. Fanning.

TEST NEW CALENDAR PLAN

Chicago—Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago mail order house, Tuesday announced that, effective Jan. 1, it would put its business on the thirteen month calendar plan. The company is believed to be the first of the large firms to adopt the plan for which a campaign has been conducted several years by the United States chamber of commerce. The company's sales and earnings will be computed on the thirteen month basis and salaries of the 40,000 employees will be adjusted to meet the new system.

Mrs. Hennings Laid to Last Rest Monday

Long Time Resident of Eight Mile Grove in Last Sleep—Very Large Funeral

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Mary Hennings, widow of Charles Hennings, one of the pioneer residents of Cass county, was held on Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Christ Evangelical-Lutheran church of Eight Mile Grove and very largely attended. The services were conducted by the Rev. A. Lentz, pastor of the church, who in his message of hope and comfort to the family and friends took as his text, "I Will Both Lay Me Down in Peace and Sleep, and Thou Lord, Only Makest Me to Dwell in Safety." During the services the choir of the church with Mrs. A. Lentz at the organ gave three numbers, "Abide With Me," "Asleep in Jesus" and "Till We Meet Again." The burial was at the cemetery nearby and the pall bearers were Elmer Hennings, Oliver Hennings, Ernest Hennings, Lloyd Hill, Earl Schaefer and Harry Schaefer.

Mary Volk, daughter of Nicholas Volk and wife, Margaret, was born on February 1, 1849 at Sand Prairie, near Pekin, in Tazewell county, Illinois. She was reared to girlhood there and baptized in the Evangelical-Lutheran church of Sand Prairie and when she had reached the proper age was confirmed in this faith on April 19, 1864. She was married on January 18, 1872, to Charles Hennings, also a resident of Sand Prairie. In the spring of 1872 they moved west to Nebraska and settled in Cass county where Mr. Hennings had already purchased a home one year before. On the old home in Cass county they made their home until life closed for them. Mr. Hennings passing away on November 29, 1919, and ten years later the wife joined him in the last rest. After the death of the husband in 1919, the youngest son, Phillip, with his family, lived with her on the home place and took care of the aged mother until her death. Seven years ago she suffered the first stroke and since that time has been gradually failing and several strokes had rendered her in a valid until death finally relieved her suffering.

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hennings was blessed with ten children, all of whom are living and were at the last rites of the mother, they being Elizabeth, wife of John Schaefer of Brighton; John F. Hennings of Madison; Charles Hennings, Louisville; Charles H. Hennings, Louisville; Marie, wife of Fred Schaefer of Brewster; Annie, wife of George Schaefer of Sargeant; Margaret, wife of Ed Hill of Cedar Creek; Ferdinand J. Hennings, Louisville; Phillip G. Hennings, Louisville.

There are also six brothers and four sisters surviving: Peter Volk, Renfrow, Oklahoma; Mrs. Elizabeth Tritsch, Plattsmouth; Mrs. Effe Tritsch, Plattsmouth; Walter Volk, Randolph; Nicholas Volk, Renfrow, Oklahoma; John Volk of McLean; Mrs. Maggie Frederick, Plainview; Mrs. Lizzie Horn, Pekin, Illinois; John Volk, Peoria, Illinois; Phillip Volk of San Francisco; Peter Volk, Mrs. Tritsch, Nicholas Volk, John Volk, were present at the funeral services, the others being prevented by illness and distance from attending. There are also surviving thirty grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren.

Among the distant relatives and friends from outside points to attend the funeral services were Harry and Magale Volk, Renfrow, Oklahoma; Elmer Volk of McLean; Mr. and Mrs. John Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Schlenost, Lyons; Emil Schaefer, Lyons; John and Miss Tillie Proderick, Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Stevers, Plainview.

WILL GREET SANTA CLAUS

The Burlington shop whistle will be sounded on Saturday afternoon as Santa Claus arrives on the Nebraska side of the Missouri river and will notify the youngsters over the city to come to the annual Christmas greeting that will be held at the American Legion community building. Superintendent William Baird has agreed to give Santa the Burlington greeting by the whistle which will be the signal that Old Santa is in Cass county and hastening to Plattsmouth to greet the boys and girls of Cass county.

ASSIST IN PERFORMANCE

From Monday's Daily—Yesterday afternoon at the Ritz theatre during the presentation of "Evangeline," the great film success of the year, which was sponsored here by the Woman's club, Cecil and James Comstock, piano pupils of Miss Olive Gass, assisted with several very delightful numbers that reflected the greatest credit upon the young men.

PROGRAM AND PLATE SUPPER

There will be a plate supper and program given at the Oxford school Dist. 91, December 13th. Every one welcome.

Mrs. D. C. Wissler was among the visitors in Omaha today, going to that city on the early Burlington train this morning.

Poultry Show Opens with a Fine Exhibit

American Legion Building Is Scene of Fine Showing of All Lines of Poultry and Pets

From Tuesday's Daily—The American Legion Community building in this city was a busy place today as the Tri-County Poultry and Pet Stock association opened their fourth annual show the first to be held in this city.

The interior of the building is filled with the steel portable crates in which are shown the feathered beauties from the farms and towns of the county. Many many exhibitors are here with their poultry from distant points and which show that the pure bred poultry in this section of Nebraska is on the increase and the finest strains are to be found in the poultry yards of this part of the state.

Among the earliest arrivals at the show were a number from distant points, J. E. Reed of Nebraska City having a large exhibit of Buff Orpingtons, while in this class Mrs. E. H. Spangler of Mynard also had a fine showing installed early in the day. Mrs. H. P. Walz of Battle Creek was also among the first exhibitors on the ground with a large showing of the Buff Minorcas, while Mrs. R. E. Norris of Weeping Water, known over the state as one of the most successful poultry raisers, had a fine group of the stately White Rocks and Ivan Rodanz of Unadilla had a fine array of the single comb Rhode Island Reds as his entries in the show. In the early arrivals was a group of the single comb Brown Leghorns from the pens of Fred Rehnelder of Weeping Water. The show was formally opened by the arrival of the show judges, who were accompanied by the county farm bureau extension agents, and who are placing the showings and getting them in readiness when the show is on in its full swing this afternoon and continuing over Friday.

The birds are a real treat to look over, and long before the show formally opens there were a large number to attend and look over the showings made from all sections of eastern Nebraska. There has been some 100 entries made to the show and these are expected to be all in place by the late afternoon and the show all ready for the visits of the general public.

FIND ROAD BLOCKED

From Monday's Daily—Many of the Plattsmouth people motoring to Omaha yesterday decided to take a chance on making their way into that city via the regular highway No. 75 which was opened for several days last week for travel, only to find that there was no way of getting through and the show sign "road closed" was no joke. Hereafter by making a detour through a field on the Papio bottom it has been possible to get around the section of highway that is being worked, but this was blocked yesterday when a construction gang moved onto this section of the road and was engaged in placing in a large permanent culvert and the workers and machinery had the road closed up effectively. Many of those going to Omaha for the rehearsal of "The Messiah" tried the regular highway only to have the road closed and take the detour route to the metropolis.
