"This question arose from a case where a hunter was arrested for carrying a gun and shooting out of season, and was fined $35 and costs. The party contended that the money from IIcenses and also from the fine might go to the school fund." To which Sorensen replied:

"In our opinion, money derived from the sale of licenses for hunting may legally be appropriated for the use of the game commission. However, as to fines and penalties, it is our opinion that they must be paid into the school fund of the county where imposed.
