Welcome Suggestions for Good of CommunityIdeas as Well as Membership Desired by Chamber of Commerce—Some Good Ones are Offered

"In Union there is Strength" and "In Counsel there is Wisdom." These two age-old axioms form the guiding motto of our Chamber of Commerce, which is fast bringing about the "union" ideal with by far the largest membership in years.

Early in January President Worcester sent out a Chamber of Commerce letter of greetings to some three hundred Plattsburgh citizens, included in which was a request for ideas and suggestions—what the organization should attempt—what ideas the recipient might think of for the betterment of all—what improvements may be inaugurated and also any constructive criticism.

It was suggested that the back of the letter be used on which to jot down anything that might help to advance our community. Some did this—but far from the number it was hoped to interest.

As we have pointed out in previous Chamber of Commerce articles, the fellow on the outside—so to speak—those who are not officers or directors most generally hear the comment—good, bad and indifferent—about the organization and the community that should reach the ears of those who are in close touch with C. of C. affairs and in position to put suggestions into practice. For this reason, especially, it is desirable that everyone voice his suggestions, offer his ideas and help to bring about the better conditions we should all be striving for.

As stated above, too few responded to the request. Of those who did offer suggestions some very good ones were received—clean up and paint up; organize an improvement committee to take over run-down property and bring it back to a revenue-producing basis; give more attention to the possibilities of air travel; river navigation; tourist cabin camp; a Platte river amusement enterprise; swimming pool, and numerous others. All are good and out of them will come some concrete plan for securing at least a few of the objects sought.

One, in particular, deals with the subject of providing an athletic field for the baseball and football games, track meets, etc., suggesting that by providing adequate drainage, the present ball park would be ideal, due to its sandy loam.

This particular letter, which contains much food for thought is as follows:

"Dear Sirs: In regard to your request for suggestions for the betterment of the community, would like to see the Plattsburgh Chamber of Commerce sponsor a movement toward constructing an athletic field that would be a source of pride and pleasure to the city and the surrounding community. With the splendid new bridge and highways leading into the city, what would be more appropriate than a good baseball, football and track field east of the Burlington tracks in sight of the scenic drive from the new bridge?"

"A drainage ditch from the sewer and subway leading to the river would prevent flooding, and the sandy loam of the soil which quickly absorbs water, would make the old baseball park one of the finest in the state.

"In the past year, our baseball team has had to play at Murray and was known as the Murray baseball team on account of not having a place to play at home. Our P. H. S. team has been humiliated before visiting teams by the miserable condition and shabby appearance of the home grounds.

"We have a good town, a good farming community, a good bridge and good roads, and the best people in the world. Why not a good play ground for the boys? I am sure that with an efficient organization like yours to start the movement, that all would join in and help construct a park that would, at least, compare favorably with other towns of like size. Am offering these suggestions as a booster."

Remember, YOUR Chamber of Commerce wants to hear from YOU as to what you think will be of greatest benefit to Plattsburgh—practical ideas, suggestions and criticism—all will be welcome.

Chance for Democrats is Seen by WalshMassachusetts Solon Says Situation
"Deploable"—Building Brick
Kept Off Free List.

Washington—The senate Monday declined by a tie vote to return building brick to the free list during a session on the tariff bill which was marked by charges and denials that the republican administration was failing to meet unemployment and general business problems.

The vote on brick, the most important of the day, came on a proposal of Senator Barkley of Kentucky, to eliminate the proposed tariff of $1.25 a thousand on plain and $1.50 on glazed brick. A tie, 36 to 36, resulted, and the amendment was rejected. Barkley served notice he would demand a separate vote later. Eleven republicans and twenty-five democrats voted for free bricks, while thirty-two republicans and four democrats favored a duty.

Copeland Mentions Labor.

Unemployment conditions were brought to the fore for the second time within a week when Senator Copeland, arguing for protection for the brick industry, asserted more workers would be thrown out of employment in the Hudson river district if a tariff were denied the brick producers.

Previously, Senator Watson had asserted that business was "lagging" and in a state of uncertainty as to orders in view of the long tariff debate. He urged speedy action and was joined in this plea by leaders of all other factions.

Seizing upon the point raised by Copeland, Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, asserted the democratic party has a "very excellent chance to win the next election, if it uses care and does not go to extremes during the consideration of the pending bill and will take advantage of the general discontent in this country that is prevailing in all quarters."

Walsh said he expected this "discontent" to be reflected in the special congressional election in Massachusetts Tuesday.

Says Conditions Bad.

In his warning to the democrats not to carry their rash slashing program too far, Senator Walsh said that did not mean "that we should vote for every increase that is proposed here; that we should disregard all basic fundamental principles of protection and non protection."

He added that while he disliked to say so and was not saying it for political purposes, conditions were deplorable. He said his attention had been called to a report in a Boston newspaper that unemployment was worse in that city than at any time in twenty-five years and that one plant in his home city of Clinton is going to close down on April 1.

Gillett of Massachusetts characterized these claims as "a fine argument, of course, on which to elect a democratic congressman in a district where there is, of course, some unemployment."

"There is unemployment," he said, "but that the administration has done nothing to reduce it is also, it strikes me, a gross misstatement."

The republican senator, who has announced he would not run again, said the country is "much more hostile" to the tariff than it was six months ago.—State Journal.

SCHOOL MEN'S CLUB

The Cass County School Men's club held its closing meeting of the year at Nehawka last night with Supt. Schwengle and members of the Nehawka faculty as hosts. This is an organization composed of thirty-two men who are in the teaching profession in Cass county. President Adee of Eagle presided at the business meeting with Supt. Schwengle as secretary due to the absence of Supt. Leger of Elmwood.

The county basketball tournament to be held at Eagle February 20, 21 and 22nd was outlined completely. The first round on Thursday night finds Greenwood pitted against Union, Louisville against Avoca and Plattsburgh Reserves against Elmwood. The winner of the Young Platter-Elmwood game will meet Eagle in the second round on Friday night. The local second team has made a good showing this year and will enter the tournament with an eye on the championship.

Due to the press of other activities, the club decided not to sponsor a county music contest or a county declamatory contest. Whether or not a county track and field meet will be held will be decided at a later date.

After all matters of business had been dispensed with, Supt. Schwengle invited the men to his home where a delicious lunch was served.

Those from Plattsburgh attending were Supt. R. E. Bailey, Principal R. F. Patterson, L. L. Sarrett, G. K. Kvasnicka and B. E. Woodward.

How Ford Methods
Cut Cost
of Distribution*Lower profits in selling save you at least $50 to $75 in addition to the many savings in manufacturing

TWENTY-SEVEN years ago the Ford Motor Company was formed to provide reliable, economical transportation for all the people. That original purpose has never changed. The constant effort in every activity is to find ways to give you greater and greater value without extra cost—frequently at lowered cost. This applies to distribution and similar important factors, as well as manufacture.

For the Ford Motor Company believes that its full duty is not only to make a good automobile at the lowest possible price, but to see that there is no waste, extravagance, or undue profit in any transaction from the time the car leaves the factory until it is delivered to your home. It is obvious that hard-won savings in production will be of little value if they are sacrificed later through excessive selling costs.

EVERY purchaser of a motor car has the right to know how much of the money he pays is for the car itself and how much is taken up by dealer charges. If these charges are too high, one of two things must happen. Either the price of the car must be raised or the quality lowered. There is no other way. The money must come from somewhere.

In the case of the Ford, the low charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories mean a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser in addition to the still greater savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on a used car.

The profit margin on the Ford car has always been fair to both the dealer and the public. Within the past three months, it has been possible to effect still further economies. Today, the discount or commission of the Ford dealer is the lowest of any automobile dealer. The difference, ranging from 25% to nearly 50%, comes right off the price you pay for the car.

THE business of the Ford dealer is good because he makes a small profit on a large number of sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales. He knows, too, that the extra dollar-for-dollar value of the car makes it easier to sell and more certain to give satisfactory service after purchase.

Consider also that the Ford car is delivered to the purchaser equipped with a Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, an extra steel-spoke wheel, and bright, enduring Rustless Steel for many exterior metal parts, in addition to four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers and fully enclosed four-wheel brakes.

If for any reason you wish to buy certain small accessories, you will find that these, too, are sold at the usual Ford low prices. Replacement parts are also available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the country.

THESE are important points to remember in considering the purchase of a motor car. They show why it is possible to put so much extra quality into the new Ford and still maintain the low price. They are also the reasons why more than 35% of all cars sold today are Model A Fords.

Mrs. Hall
Forgives Dying
'Pig Woman'

Suffering from Cancer, Sends a Message to Her Accuser—
Reply Doubtful

New York, Feb. 6.—Suffering with Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, who betrayed no emotion during an ordeal few women could have endured, to the heights of forgiveness early tonight. Stricken and contemplating the hereafter, she forgave the "pig woman," her chief accuser. Here is the telegram she sent to the Jersey City hospital charity bed where Jane Gibson is dying:

"A heart without malice sends you forgiveness."
In these words Mrs. Hall, whom the state of New Jersey attempted to send to the electric chair on the strength of testimony of Mrs. Gibson, forgave those cruel days when the world pointed to her as the suspected double murderer who killed her husband, Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, and his humble chorister sweetheart, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, in a love trust.

But it is unlikely that Jane Gibson ever will know of the proud clergyman's wife forgiveness. For Jane Gibson had lost consciousness when the wire of forgiveness reached Jersey City hospital tonight. And physicians did not expect her to recover consciousness. They said her death from cancer is merely a matter of hours. Even if she had received the message tonight, it is doubtful that the "pig woman" would have sent an answer to the quiet, expensive room in the New York hospital where Mrs. Hall is recovering from an operation for the same disease.—World-Herald.

URGES UNI CO-OPERATION

Omaha—Co-operation of sororities with university authorities in promoting more wholesome campus activities and in building for better citizenship was advocated Monday by Mrs. Elizabeth Heywood Wyman of Glen Ridge, N. J., national president of Alpha Omicron Pi, who is guest of the Omaha alumni chapter.

"Closely united groups of girls, such as sororities, provide definite organizations thru which the universities can work," she asserted. "They get results where appeals to hundreds of isolated girls might prove fruitless."

Mrs. Wyman plans to visit the Alpha Omicron Pi chapter at Lincoln Tuesday.
