A. W. Carr, third truck operator, who was out in California, where he was called on account of the death of a sister recently, returned home on last Sunday and took up his work again Sunday night.

George Stine, who keeps up a thinking, even when he is not saying anything, has manufactured a scoop, which he presented to the father for use in the store. When in look the scoop over, it is a good one.

Judge L. G. Todd and wife, with their son, Melvin, and daughter, Mrs. Ernest Rathe and family were guests for the day and dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Rihn and in the evening were also supper guests of friends at Nebraska City.

On Wednesday of this week, Earnest Rathe departed with his car of farm machinery and household goods, for Gordon, where he will engage in farming during the present year. Mrs. Rathe, who but recently returned from the hospital, will wait for a time and will join her husband in their new home later.

Preaches at Baptist Church

Rev. J. F. Wilson, pastor of the Baptist church of Cherrydale, Kansas, and who has been the minister there for two years and been engaged in the ministry for the past twenty years, occupied the pulpit at the Baptist church in Union on last Sunday evening, and delivered an excellent discourse, as testified to by the membership and those who were privileged to hear him.

Rev. Wilson was also a guest of the Rev. W. A. Taylor at the dinner of the Union Business Men's club on Monday, making a very able and pleasant, as well as a straightforward address.

Led by Mr. Whitworth, the assembled diners sang the "Boost, Boost, Boost" song and were well pleased with their first attempt. A standing vote of thanks was given to Mr. Whitworth for the kindly interest which he has manifested in the Business Men's club and for the songs which he has written.

Outlines Policy of Club

Philip F. Rihn, who was elected president of the Union Business Men's club, in making an address at the conclusion of the dinner on last Monday said he felt the first thing to consider was the co-operation of all the business men in the city and in fact all the citizens of Union and community, to make the town the very best possible.

He said that with all working in perfect accord and harmony, business conditions would be better, Union would be a better place to live and the best place to educate the children, for as there is already a good school, it would be even better. He stated that he would like to see at least two engaged in the same lines of business and to see every kind of business conducted here.

He was replied to by Rev. J. F. Wilson, who said that he had not expected to say anything, but on account of the excellent address which had been delivered, he was constrained to say that he was there representing the largest business in the world—the business of the Christian religion, and was not ashamed to say that he was a Christian and a follower of the Christ. With the conclusion of the dinner, Loy Pell and P. F. Rihn, accompanied by Miss Ora Clarke on the piano, gave a variety of cornet solo, rendering that splendid old favorite, "Whispering Hope."

The Union Business Men's club is starting out the new year with the very brightest of prospects and expects to be able to accomplish much during 1930 to advance the town.

Visiting Friends and Relatives

Glen Porter and wife and their son, Buddy, the former being a brother of W. H. Porter, D. B. Porter and Mrs. Carl Snavey, of Union, besides many brothers and sisters elsewhere, arrived about a week ago and has been enjoying the visit here very much. He, with the family, will visit for a time longer before returning to their home in the western part of the state, where he is farming near Venango.

Much Corn Moving

With the trucks humping over the country roads and the highways and down through the streets of Union, with their destination the Stites elevators, the boys at the elevator are kept on the jump. Last Monday for instance, Mr. Stites went to work at four in the morning and at two that afternoon he had not been able to get to his dinner.

Very Ill at Hospital

Mrs. S. Miller, mother of Mrs. John Finkle, who makes her home at Nebraska City has been quite ill for some time and is at the hospital where she is receiving treatment. She had a tumor, or abscess, on the back of her neck and was so severely ill that she was taken to the hospital for treatment and where she underwent an operation for draining the abscess and while it is draining she still remains very critically ill.

Feeling Their Oats

The story is told of a few of the younger men of Union, who it would be thought were sedate and well balanced, that they are feeling their oats at this time, and not rolled oats either.

Will See West This Year

Alvin A. McReynolds, of Nehawka, who expects to hold a sale in the near future, was a visitor in Union last Monday posting bills and also meeting many of his friends. Following his sale, Mr. McReynolds will depart for the west, but as to just where he will go, he has not determined as yet, but will expect to spend the time somewhere during the year. Better put the date down for his sale, which is the 28th of February. You might find something which you want.

Getting on Nicely

Joe Banning, who arrived home a week or more since, is getting along very nicely at this time and is making very good progress towards entire recovery, which is some way off as yet, however, for it takes some time for the bones to knit and get strong again. He says he is not suffering, but while trying to do with the business at the store via telephone, he finds he time lagging considerably, as he has had to remain in bed during the time of getting well.

Will Move to Country

With the moving of Elmer R. Withrow to town, following his farm sale to be held on February 28th, James B. Roddy will move to the place he vacates. In town, Mr. Roddy finds time pretty heavy on his hands and when he shall get to the farm he is expecting to raise lots of chickens as well as a fine garden.

Sells Car of Salt

D. C. LaRue, who has been hustling over the county selling salt, has nearly a car load sold, and will receive the car in a short time. Those who have made purchases will come to Union and get their salt from the car and the remainder will be sold from his home, where he will store the residue.

All Out of Quarantine

All the families which have had the smallpox in and about Union are out at this time, they having been but recently released, and are pleased that their confinement at home has ended. The children of Horace Griffin and John Erwin have returned to school. Now the kiddies will have to hump to make up for lost time.

Prominent Union Man Celebrates 67th Birthday

A. L. Becker, Native Resident of This County Honored at His Home on Sunday

On the sixteenth day of February, 1863, while the civil war was raging in the south, and it was a question with Abraham Lincoln whether the proclamation which he had but recently issued freeing the slaves was going to work as well as he had anticipated, there was born over a little east of the John N. Larsh spring, a man who was to figure for more than three score of years in the affairs of Liberty, Peace and later in the town of Union, Abraham Lincoln Becker, who was named for the great emancipator, and who is a great admirer of his name sake, Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. A. L. Becker has had much to do with the prosperity of this portion of the country, and still is a hard and persistent worker for the community and the city. While within reach of the seventy years, the allotted time for man and his activity, he has been working assiduously for the bridging of the gap between the Missouri river and the end of O street and thus assisting in putting of Union on the map. This will come and Mr. Becker has been a pioneer in blazing the way for a transcontinental highway through the land where he was born and spent so many eventful years of his life. The family were gathered about the parental home to properly celebrate the event. There were there to assist in the celebration of the occasion, nineteen of the family to make the welling ring and also to get together and enjoy the occasion, Genevieve Becker, his little ten-year-old granddaughter, baked, trimmed and placed 67 candles on the cake. With her assistance, Uncle Abe, as he is known, lit and extinguished the candles which signified the number of years he has lived and spent so many years for others. We are hoping that he may live to do good service and enjoy many more happy years.

Both the Baptist and Methodist churches of Union are extending an invitation to all who are not worshipping elsewhere to come and worship with either of these two churches. There are Bible schools at both the churches and you will enjoy coming and participating in the study of the lessons and also listening to the able discourses which either of the ministers, Rev. W. A. Taylor and Rev. Beebe will present. Come, come, come!

Charles L. Greene received the sad news of the death of his grandfather, George W. Brown, whose late home was several miles south of Nebraska City. The death occurred on last Friday, and the funeral was held at a country church called Camp Creek, near the home of the aged man. Mrs. Brown had died just a year before on the 14th day of February, 1929, and within a half hour of the same time in the case of Mrs. Matie Greene, mother of Charles Greene, who lives at Hastings, was here for the funeral of the father, and is visiting in Union at the home of her son for a time.

EXTENSION CLUB MEETS

The Union Extension Club met at the home of Mrs. Phil Rihn with Mrs. Lee Paris acting as hostess. The weather man gave us an ideal spring day which did not fit the occasion "choosing and making attractive and inexpensive curtains" for at this time of year the house wife usually has this problem to solve. After all business was cared for our project leader, Mrs. Rihn, and Mrs. Burbee then told about an art exhibit created a large number of different styles of curtains and draperies. This lesson was indeed very interesting and every one present felt they had learned much to aid them in their curtain problems. Another added pleasure in store for us was the presence of our Assistant county Extension Agent, Miss Baldwin, who answered many perplexing questions and also gave us a brief outline of extension work being done and stressed the necessity of each club trying harder to get other women interested in this line of work.

DOG KILLS SHEEP

One day last week at the home of Roy Becker near Union, who has recently purchased a flock of sheep from Robert Willis, two police dogs attacked the sheep, chasing them to the house and overhauling a large ewe, which they had gotten down and as Mrs. Becker observed the sheep in commotion, she ran out and seeing the furious German Police dogs throttling the sheep, sought to drive them away, but they left the sheep long enough to garge at her with the fangs snapping. She ran into the house and called over the telephone and getting Mr. Becker, Harry McCarroll and Harry Gobelman, who then arrived, found the dogs, having killed the ewe, were lapping up her blood and eating her flesh. They drove the dogs off with a good deal of trouble. The owner of the dogs were interviewed and up to Monday of this week no settlement had been made, and the dam-

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

From Tuesday's Daily.—This morning little Jacqueline Wetenkamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wetenkamp of near Myard, was taken to Omaha to be placed in a hospital to undergo a small operation. The little one has suffered a very severe case of pneumonia and while doing nicely had developed complications that makes it necessary to have a small operation to drain the lung that was affected. It is the hope of the family and friends that the little lady may soon be able to return to the home here and restored to her former good health.

W. C. T. U. Pays Fine Tribute to Dead Leader

Members of the Local Organization Honor Memory of Miss Frances E. Willard Monday.

From Tuesday's Daily.—Yesterday afternoon the members of the W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. J. E. Wiles in the south part of the city where they observed the annual memorial service in honor of the memory of Miss Frances E. Willard, one of the early leaders in the prohibition movement in the United States. In addition to the memorial a very interesting program was given by the younger people.

Mrs. Fred G. Morgan had charge of the program of the afternoon and had arranged a very impressive presentation of talent for the occasion.

Mrs. John F. Gorder gave a fine address on the life of Miss Willard and closed with the recitation of "Two Wine Glasses," covering part of the story of prohibition.

Mrs. John E. Schutz gave a very beautiful vocal number, "Memories," the accompaniment being given by Mrs. Gorder.

Mrs. Robert Troop also contributed a very fine offering to the program in two readings, "She Is Not Dead, She Has Gone Away," and "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

There was a very large number of the talented children of the city taking part in the closing part of the program, Mary Katherine Wiles giving two numbers, "Sweethearts on Parade" and "Home Sweet Home" on the piano accordion, while little Miss Elizabeth Ann Wiles presented a reading, "Some One Tore the Curtain," Miss Rachel Robertson was heard in a piano selection and also a reading which was given in French, "The Butterfly and the Bee." Among the readings Janet Westover and little Miss Ruth Westover were heard in three readings, "1492," and "Little Willie," being given by Miss Janet while Ruth presented "Sonny's Tooth Brush."

Jelly and Jean Knorr gave two of the popular vocal numbers, "Honey" and "Tin Pan Parade," with Mrs. Knorr serving as the accompanist. Miss Margaret Ann Pitz was heard in every appropriate reading, "When the Minister Comes to Lunch." Two piano numbers were given by Herbert Mint, "Hungarian Rhapsodie" and "Miaou." James and Cecil Comstock gave very fine piano duet and James a trumpet solo with Cecil playing the piano accompaniment, "Commodore," and "The First Regiment March."

At the close of the afternoon dainty and delicious refreshments were served to the large number that were in attendance.

The inter-city was brought up by the South Omaha post members when they paid Legion carnival here a visit last fall, and will also include a return later in the season, when a dinner-dance or a theatre party be carried out.

The residents Weeping Water yesterday held a ball election to decide the question of whether or not Sunday motion picture shows would be allowed had city and the result was a victory for the movies and the management of the Liberty theatre for some time the Sunday shows have been held. The election had a great deal of interest and the returns from the city were passed last night the excitement was greater than when the special election was decided. The vote was two to one in favor of Sunday shows and which can now operate lawfully in our neighboring city.

IT COULD HAPPEN

(Nebraska City News-Press)

This yarn may not be true, but we sincerely hope it is.

There is a story going the rounds about a St. Louis doctor and a prohibition agent that is worth repeating. There is no confirmation of it. The dry agent, so the story goes, called on the physician at his office in office hours and asked for a whisky prescription.

"But I can't write you a prescription without an examination," protested the doctor.

"O. K.—examine me, then," agreed the visitor.

"Take off your clothes and hop on that table," briskly ordered the doctor. He proceeded then to examine the visitor, fore and aft, eyes, ears, nose and throat, heart, lungs, for dandruff and for bunions.

"Sorry," said he, at length, "I find nothing wrong with you. I can't write you a prescription." Then, "Fifty dollars please."

"Well, I guess it's all right, doc," began the pseudo-patient, "but you see I'm a federal prohibition agent."

"Nevertheless, $50 for the examination, or I'll take it out of your hide," declared the doctor. The dry agent paid.

SEEKS INJUNCTION

From Wednesday's Daily.—

This morning a petition was filed in the office of the clerk of the district court against Ira Parker vs. Jay D. Rising, et al. This case is one in which the plaintiff, who is a tenant on the farm owned by Mr. Rising, seeks to have the defendants enjoined from any action that would tend to the forfeiture of the lease of the plaintiff on the farm and which expires March 1, 1930. The plaintiff states in his petition that he is and has been a tenant on this farm, that sometime in June 1929 without the knowledge of the tenant the farm was sold to Mr. Rising, it is also alleged that agreements were made by the defendants as to fences and other changes around the farm. It is alleged that the defendants permitted the placing of a sawmill on the farm and cutting trees and that as the result a great deal of the pasture was damaged and also that much of the crop of the plaintiff was damaged by the parties going and coming on the farm. There is a case pending that threatens the rights of the tenant to the lease and which is to be heard on February 20th and this it is sought to have enjoined.

GIVES SHOWER FOR BRIDE

Mrs. Arthur Spreick, formerly Miss Freda Born, of northwest of this city, was the guest of honor at a very delightful miscellaneous shower tendered her at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Spreick, the event being given by Miss Florence Born, sister of the bride, and Miss Elvira Spreick, sister of the groom. The event was held on Friday afternoon and despite the bad weather conditions that prevailed there were over 100 present to join in the happy event and to shower the bride with many beautiful gifts that will long be cherished by her in the future. Through the home the Valentine decorations were used and made a very pretty feature of the event. At a suitable hour a very ne luncheon

ANTICIPATING GREAT TIME

The Fray-City dinner dance to be held Tuesday evening of next week, February 26th, at the Legion communit building here, with comrades of 4th Omaha post and their wives as guests, will be attended by at least 100 couples, and in all probability will make 200 plates to be served at the dinner.

The cake among the local members is pressing rapidly, with a goodly percentage pledged to attend. The committee advises it must know definitely Saturday night of this week whether each man solicited will be able to attend.

This is "Spuch Treat" banquet, with each paying for their own plates, including the expense of the dance music follow. The cost will be $1.50 per couple, or $1 for men who are unattached.

Twenty-five cents a plate to be paid by organization serving the dinner who for the food and expense of preing it, as the Legion is lightening burden by giving free use of building and equipment, leaving host of the food the only expense that will have to worry about.

The inter-city was brought up by the South Omaha post members when they paid Legion carnival here a visit last fall, and will also include a return later in the season, when a dinner-dance or a theatre party be carried out.

Boys Cleared of Murdering Bootleggers

Joy Crow, Paul Duffy Released—Plan to Re-Enter School and Try to Forget.

Grant, Neb.—Two Latin words "nolle prosequi," that they had not learned in their high school careers as yet, signified freedom Tuesday to two youths who were cleared of all charges in connection with the slaying of two men from whom the boys had hi-jacked twenty-five gallons of liquor.

The motions of nolle prosequi the charges against Joy Crow, fifteen, and Paul Duffy, sixteen, in connection with the shooting of Babe Snyder and Axel Johnson, were entered late Monday by County Attorney George B. Hastings and District Judge C. E. Eldred sustained the motions to dismiss the cases.

Upon their being freed from the jail cells they had occupied for almost two months, the youths thanked the county attorney as Crow had thanked the jurors who Friday night found him not guilty of charges of second degree murder or manslaughter in the killing of Babe Snyder.

"We're going to forget this, go back to school and try to make something of ourselves; it was all a bad dream," the boys said.

The two immediately left and went to the Duffy farm southeast of Grant. Soon they hope to be back in their high school classrooms, Crow as a freshman at North Platte high school and Duffy as a junior in the Grant high school.

The state decided to dismiss the remaining charges against the youths when the case collapsed with the acquittal verdict given in the case of Crow, the first to go to trial. Crow confessed he shot Snyder and Johnson after they had threatened the youths for stealing twenty-five gallons of whisky from the men.—State Journal.
