Passing of a Loved Resident of Elmwood

Mrs. Bailey, One of the Long Time Residents of Cass County, Hears Last Summons.

On Monday evening, Grandma Bailey, who has been bed fast for a number of years at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. I. Clements, passed away at 7:00 o'clock at the advanced age of 89 years...

In 1871, she came west with her husband and family, stopping for a short time near Clinton and Marion, Iowa. In 1874, they started for Nebraska, in a covered wagon, consuming about a month's time in making the journey, finally locating near Elmwood, where she continued to reside until the time of her decease.

While a small girl she joined the Lutheran church and after her marriage transferred her membership and joined her husband in the Methodist church, in which organization she remained a true and faithful member until her death.

All the hardships and joys of the early pioneers were hers. The railroad was built across their farm after they located in Cass county. She knew of the grasshoppers, the drouths and the blizzards of the early pioneer days, but endured it all with a courage and cheerfulness helped by her unbounded faith in God.

And through a dark and lonely land— God set upon her lips a song, And put a lantern in her hand.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church on Wednesday afternoon and interment was made in Elmwood cemetery.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

Her husband, Mr. W. H. Mostin, was a pioneer settler in this section of the state. He was a man of many virtues and a man of many sorrows. He was a man of many sorrows and a man of many virtues.

At the close of the afternoon dainty and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Richardson County Commissioners Here Visit With Cass County Board and to Discuss Maintaining and Road Patrol Work

From Friday's Daily— Yesterday afternoon the members of the board of Richardson county, Nebraska, had as visitors the members of the board of Richardson county, Nebraska, Messrs J. H. Hutchings, Louis Bucholz and E. D. Morris, commissioners and B. C. Dale, county engineer.

The Richardson county officials came here to look over the work of the Cass county board in handling their maintaining work on the highways as well as the patrol system that this county uses. Heretofore, the Richardson county work has largely been done by men and teams from various parts of the county but their road system is such that they are planning on adopting other methods. They were well pleased with the Cass county method of handling this work with tractors and power maintainers and discussed the various phases of the work such as costs and the results secured over the old time methods of handling this line of work.

The Cass county commissioners also in their session took up several smaller matters that were demanding their attention, awarding the contract for the physician work in the first district to Dr. J. H. Hall and the county printing contract to the Elmwood Leader-Echo, the only bidder for the work.

The board also passed and approved the request and petition of the residents of South Bend precinct for a three mill levy to raise funds for graveling and one from Avoca precinct for 2 and 2-10 mills for graveling purposes.

VETERAN RECOVERING FROM SECOND STROKE

William Balfour, 85, Civil War veteran and a pioneer of Otoe county, is recovering from a second stroke of paralysis at his home in Otoe county, five miles south of Nehawka, according to word received by friends in this city Thursday.

William Balfour came to Otoe county more than 60 years ago and is one of the best known veterans in this section of the state. He was commander of the Nebraska City G. A. R. post for a number of years and often visited here. At the time of the surrender of the G. A. A. charter, Mr. Balfour and Robert Curtis of this city were the only members. He has taken part in many of the old fiddlers' contests through this section of the country which has enlarged his acquaintance until now he is a familiar figure at all gatherings where old time fiddlers meet.

He suffered a slight stroke of paralysis about a year ago but soon recovered. The second stroke occurred a few days ago but since then he has been able to be about the home with the aid of a crutch and cane.—Nebraska City News-Press.

North High Wins from the Blue and White

Strong Omaha Team Wins by the Score of 32 to 18 From Local Basketball Quintet

For the second time this season the strong North high team of Omaha last evening scored a victory over the Plattsmouth quintet, the score at the final whistle being 32 to 18 for the Vikings.

The contest was featured by the work of Paul Mason, one of the outstanding players of the Omaha schools who had 14 points to his credit as his contribution to the victory of his team. For the Plattsmouth team Captain Roy Turner was outstanding and earned the comment of the Omaha sport writers as one of the cleverest guards and floor men that has played on the North high court this season.

In the last half of the game Mason was going hot and hung up many field goals against the Plattsmouth team while the locals played a good guarding game they were unable to successfully stop the Norsemen's ace.

This was next to the last game of the season for the Plattsmouth team as they are to play St. Francis high school of Council Bluffs here on next Friday evening and then will participate in the Peru district tournament.

As the preliminary to the main game last night the Plattsmouth Colts were defeated by the North Reserves by a score of 12 to 2. Trivially with two free tosses making the only Plattsmouth scores. The larger part of the regular reserves were sent to Eagle to play in the tournament there and weakened the reserve force of the Plattsmouth.
