Elks Elect New Officers for the Ensuing Year

C. H. Martin Named as Exalted Ruler of Plattsmouth Lodge No. 739, B. P. O. E.

From Wednesday's Daily—The new officers of Plattsmouth lodge No. 739, B. P. O. E., were named at the regular meeting of the lodge held on Monday night and with a great deal of interest shown in the selection of the men who will guide the affairs of the lodge in the coming year.

The officers were named as follows: Exalted Ruler—C. H. Martin. Leading Knight—Dr. John A. Griffin.

Loyal Knight—William T. Distell. Lecturing Knight—Carl P. Of. Secretary—James W. Holmes. Treasurer—Charles K. Bestor. Tyler—Fred P. Sydebotham.

The lodge which has charge of the country club has decided to raise the dues for the golfing season at the club to $20 per year for Elks and $25 for non-Elk members of the club. This was found necessary through the fact that the dues last year were not sufficient to care for the expenses of the gold section of the club. A new feature is a $10 yearly fee for non-resident golfers. This has also been established and the club has already received their first member, Attorney Guy L. Clement of Elmwood who has enrolled his name as a member of this part of the country club activity.

The new exalted ruler has been active in the affairs of the lodge for the past several years and is one of the progressive young business men of the community, being the proprietor of the Red and White grocery and meat market and one of the live wire members of the Elks.

CASE IS SETTLED

From Wednesday's Daily—In January, Jay De Los Rising and others commenced a forcible detour action against Ira Parker to enforce a forfeiture of the balance of his term under his lease, on the ground that he had not paid his rent and other breaches of covenants; Parker defended on the ground that Rising had damaged him by reason of having removed certain fences which prevented him from pasturing on his corn fields after gathering his corn. On February 19th, Mr. Parker made application to the district court for an injunction to restrain Mr. Rising from declaring or enforcing a forfeiture of the balance of his term, which expired March 1st. On hearing in the injunction suit, the court entered an injunction conditioned upon the plaintiff, Mr. Parker, paying the rent, which was due and which was not disputed. Mr. Parker's term expired on March 1st and he surrendered the premises according to the condition of his lease and was not dispossessed by the court. After the injunction was granted, the parties settled their disputes. Mr. Parker received compensation on his claim for damages and stipulations were filed to dismiss the two suits, each party paying one half the costs.

WATER STILL FLOWING

From Wednesday's Daily—The residents of near Seventh and Oak street still have their full share of flood water which is seeping into the cellars as well as pouring through the concrete pavement where the water has found escape in the points of the paving. So far the source of the water has been undetermined and is gradually growing worse as the flow in the street was augmented yesterday by a great many additional streams. The water boiling up in the streets raises several inches and indicates that there is a great deal of water to force out in such a volume. The condition is very annoying to the residents who have for several months lived in a semi-flooded state as there has been water in the cellars practically all of the time and requiring pumping to prevent the complete flooding of the basements.

The matter is a real problem and if the result of a natural waterflow should be remedied by tiling or some other method to carry off the water and should have a thorough investigation to get at the source of the trouble.

DIES FROM EATING WALNUTS

Tragedy crept into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Blunt in this city Sunday when Dale, four year old son, died as the result of eating some frozen walnuts, and three other children were made seriously sick as the result of the experience. The children had dug some walnuts out of the ground, a low and damp place and the green frozen walnuts that had not properly dried out caused a severe attack of stomach and bowel trouble and shortly after their eating them, the children were in such shape that medical aid was summoned and Dr. R. P. Westover hastening to the home found the child dying and the three others in very serious condition. The three children are thought will be able to withstand the attack but which was fatal to the four year old boy. The death comes as a very severe blow to the family that has suffered many misfortunes and adds the sorrow and grief to their other troubles.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

1930 Plans for 4-H Clubs

The 1929 enrollment for 4-H clubs in Cass county was about double that of 1928. The county hopes to maintain the membership of 1929, but since finding leaders of clubs is such a great problem, an increase in membership is 1930 is hardly feasible.

Two plans have been suggested by the State Office, to help in developing leaders. First all clubs are urged to have two leaders, one of them an adult or local leader and the other a member leader to act as an assistant.

The assistant leader may be an outstanding boy or girl, chosen by the club, to serve the entire club year. Another suggestion is to appoint one member, as assistant leader, each month, thus giving more members a chance to prove their ability. The main duty of the assistant leader will be to see that the members are up to date in their club activities and reports.

1930 4-H Clubs

At the present time Cass county has seventeen 4-H clubs with a membership of 189. Ten of these were winter clubs, including four rope, three clothing and three hot lunch. The other seven have reorganized and have started on their summer work. They consist of two baby food clubs, club work boys and Avoca and Ruel Sack of Mynard as local leaders.

S. Ray Smith's dairy club of Weeping Water, reorganized with an increase in members. The Up-N-Cum-N pig club with Ray Smith as leader, has found the club work boys and have started on their third year's work.

Gertrude Christensen's Sunshine canning club of Alvo has reorganized and are considering a garden club, thus raising what they can. The Green Pepper's clothing club of Avoca, with Mrs. Eleanor Norris as leader, stated in their first news report that they have set out to bring in the goods.

Last but not least, the Merry Mixer's cooking club with Paul Wojcik as leader, has reorganized as a Keep-Well club and have taken the name of "Peppy Preservers."

Who will be the next to send in their application for 1930?

Practical Suggestions.

Practical suggestions for the closet and bathroom is the subject for study and discussion by the Extension project clubs during March.

Colored Corn Starch.

Corn starch pudding of several colors can be made to please the children by following the suggestions given below. Divide the ingredients of the recipe into two parts. Make one plain. To the other add chocolate or cocoa. When this has cooled pour a small amount of the chocolate and then a small amount of the plain alternately into a mold. Set the molds aside to cool, turn out and serve. If a large mold is used, slice the pudding before serving it. A third color may be added by dividing the ingredients into three parts and adding vegetable coloring to one part.

The pudding would quiver and yet be stiff enough to hold its shape well. It may be served plain, with fresh fruit or canned fruit, or in molds as suggested above. It is a wholesome, attractive dessert and a good food for children.

Rope Club Finishes.

The Splicers rope club of Weeping Water, and led by S. Ray Smith, ended their course this week with a 100 per cent finish-up.

This club organized October 8th, 1929 with a membership of 18. The meetings were held every other week and each time they secured a new mbr or two until th total membership was eighteen.

Forty-seven knots and splices were learned at the various meetings. The lowest number of knots tied from memory was twelve and the highest twenty-nine.

Several of the members have assisted their fathers with information obtained in their rope club work by making halter ropes.

The following eighteen people were members of this rope club and each has filed a final report: Dorothy Spangler, Kethal Norton, Milford Smith, Geo. Spangler, Harlan Norton, Glenn Hoeniger, Eugene Deans, Harold Domingo, Robert Baker, Warren Baker, Vincent Behrmer, Frances Rehmeier, Dwain Reed, Dale Reed, Leonard Switzer, Truman Kolborn, Marvel Specht and Tipton Powers.

Orchard Demonstration.

Saturday, March 8 at 10:00 a. m., there will be a home orchard demonstration at the Clara Novak orchard, one half mile south of Louisville.

This demonstration will consist of the pruning of fruit trees, grapes and general orchard problems.

Cost of Producing Wheat in Cass Co. Twelve farmers kept cost of account records on producing wheat in 1929.

The expenses per acre were: Horse labor, $2.35; day labor, .33; man labor, $2.95; seed, $1.36; wine, .23; threshing, $1.04; tractor charge, $1.04; miscellaneous, .08; cost per acre, $9.38; cost per bushel, .98. Yield per acre: Total yield, 15.97. Tennant yield, 9.58 bushels. Acres per farm, 45.2 Rrange in bushel cost, $.57 to $1.64.

Explosive.

Orders for a few hundred pounds more of explosive are needed to make up the car load the Farm Bureau is ordering. We hope to get this car the second week in March if there are enough orders immediately.

Pig Crop Contest.

If enough interest is manifested, a 4-H club pig crop contest will be held in Nebraska this year. Definite plans about the contest will be made by Paul McDill, assistant state extension agent in animal husbandry, after a survey has been made to determine whether there is enough interest over the state to justify holding such a contest.

The same rules that apply to the adult pig crop contest in Nebraska will probably apply to the club contest, if it is held this year. Cass county boys and girls interested in entering such a pig crop contest should let County Agent D. D. Wainscott know at once.

We have twice as many entries in the 1930 adult pig crop contest now as we had at this time last year." O. O. Waggener, state extension agent in animal husbandry, said today. "Nearly fifty Nebraska farmers have already entered and we believe the 1930 contest will be among our most successful ones ever had."

Several local farmers have entered the contest already and more are expected. Cass county farmers must enter before the first sow farrows as records in pork production from that time on are to be kept. Entry blanks are now available at County Agent D. D. Wainscott's office in Weeping Water.

In previous years, all farmers have been grouped into one class regardless of the number of sows entered in the contest for average pork production. This year two classes are to be formed and farmers entering six to fifteen sows will be placed in one group and those having more than sixteen entered will be put in another group.

Honor M. Chosner of Madison county won the 1929 pig crop contest when his six sows averaged 1665 pounds of pork. He has already entered the 1930 contest with ten tried sows.

Big Team Hitch.

If enough Cass county farmers signify their interest, an original miniature big team hitch layout will be on exhibition this spring in this county. County Agent D. D. Wainscott says. The miniature hitch demonstration layout is to be sent out to Nebraska counties by the extension service at the college of agriculture.

Mrs. Lloyd, assisted by her mother Mrs. Will Wehrbein, served a very lovely lunch in a patriotic color scheme. After lunch Mrs. Hendricks asked Mrs. Elmer Whitenek to become a member of the little club. Mrs. Whitenek was pleased and became a member at once.

Mrs. John Toman was unable to attend the shower but sent a lovely

The Horse Association of America owns the miniature multiple hitch layout which is made up of eight small horses, one-eighth actual size which are molded after the grand champion gelding at the International Livestock show in 1928. A miniature two-bottom, three bottom plow, and a tandem disc accompany the outfit.

Leather harness on the horses are complete in every way with interchanging buck ropes, lines and lead chains. The layout has a complete set of eveners. The horses are movable and may be hitched up to the plows or disc in any multiple hitch combination.

Every detail is more effectively and clearly shown than in an actual field demonstration. Any of the different combinations can be hitched in but a few minutes as if the real live horses and life sized implements were being used.—D. D. Wainscott, County Extension Agent.
