

Prevent Oats SMUTS Increase Yields

with CERESAN

OATS smuts cause heavy yield losses. Prevent them by using Ceresan as a seed treatment. Prevents seed rotting. Improves stands. Harmless to seed. Easily and quickly applied as a dust. Yield increases of from 13.8 bushels per acre to 19.1 bushels per acre have been obtained in addition to perfect smut control. Ceresan is also effective in preventing covered smut and stripe of barley as well as many seed-borne diseases of wheat, cotton, rye, millet and sorghums. Treat now or before planting. Use three ounces per bushel of seed oats, barley and cotton; two ounces per bushel of seed wheat, rye, millet and sorghums. Five pounds, $3.00; twenty-five pounds, $12.50.

Use Semesan Jr. for seed corn; Semesan Bel for seed potatoes; Semesan for vegetable and flower seeds and bulbs.

ANNOUNCING

something better in motor oils

the NEW Polarine

the modern motor oil Over half a century of refining experience—years of research, experiment and test—and new refining processes and equipment! Only these made possible the new Polarine.

First in the small amount of carbon deposited in the motor—less than half as much as from old-process oils of similar grades.

First in fluidity at low temperatures—a pour point far below zero for the lighter grades—seventeen degrees below freezing for the heaviest grade.

First in stability when the motor heats—free from wax and other ingredients which run water-thin under heat.

First in clearness and bright color—an indication of purity and superior quality.

First in resistance to wear and dilution—slow-consuming, safe, economical.

An entirely new deal in motor-oil—geared to the needs of modern motors! That is why we call the new Polarine "The Modern Motor Oil." The only old things about the new Polarine are its name and its price—not a penny more than for old-process Polarine. At Red Crown Service Stations and Dealers everywhere in Nebraska.

Gandhi Seeks Independence in Ultimatum

Gandhi Tells British That Refusal Will Lead to Civil Disobedience

Ahmedabad, India—The ultimatum of Mahatma Gandhi to the British Crown asking for Indian national independence, and threatening in lieu of that a campaign of intensive civil disobedience, was made public here March 6.

The ultimatum enumerates circumstances which frustrated his hope that a round table conference in London would furnish a solution of the problem. Gandhi declared that there is no option but to carry out the solemn resolutions of the national congress.

"The resolution for independence should not cause alarm if the phrase 'dominion status' in your announcement was used in the accepted sense, for have not British statesmen admitted that dominion status is virtual independence? Since that announcement, however, many things have happened which show unmistakably the trend of British policy. It is clear as daylight that responsible British statesmen do not contemplate any alteration of British policy that might adversely affect British commerce with India or that would require impartial scrutiny of Great Britain's transactions in India.

"The party of violence is gaining ground and is making itself felt. Having an unquestioning, immovable faith in the efficacy of nonviolence it would be sinful on my part to wait longer. This nonviolence will be expressed through civil disobedience which, for the moment, will be confined to the inmates of Sayagrapur Ashram (Gandhi's college) but designed ultimately to cover all those who join the movement.

"If you cannot deal with these evils, and if my letter does not appeal to your heart, I shall, March 11, proceed with such measures as I can take for disregarding of the provisions of the salt tax, which is most iniquitous from the poor man's viewpoint, and which never should have disgraced the statute book.

"It is open to you to frustrate my design by arresting me but I hope there will be tens of thousands ready in a disciplined manner to take up the work after me."
