RIVER DRAGGERS WORK ON

Nebraska City, Neb.—Sixty hours of ceaseless dragging had availed a searching party nothing Tuesday night as its 150 members still sought to find the bodies of four local men drowned in the Missouri river nine miles north of here Sunday afternoon when their light hunting boat capsized in rough water.

The Missouri, always treacherous, still guarded well the searchers on their graves as the searchers worked on that evening and into the third day since the drownings.

Rewards offered now amount to $500. Dozens of boats carried the workers who have sought to recover their bodies, but experienced rivermen shake their heads and predict that the bodies will not be recovered until the muddy waters lift them to the surface or cast them ashore. They predict that none of the bodies will rise to the surface for at least three weeks.

Normal Train-ers Work in Rural Schools

Practical Instructions Given and Experience Gained in the Work of Schools.

As part of the Normal Training requirements, each year graduates of the Normal Training department of Plattsmouth high school are required to spend one week in the rural schools of the county in practice teaching. This is a department pre-arranged over by Miss Pearl Staats.

There are fourteen in the class, twelve girls and two boys. Of these fourteen, four do not plan to teach so did not go to the rural schools. Miss Staats had each teacher send her a report of the type of work done by the student teacher and the words of praise and commendation by these teachers, of the work done by the students was very gratifying. Every teacher spoke in the most complimentary terms of the abilities and interest of these students who are preparing to teach.

Plattsmouth high school has been a Normal Training high school since 1906. This means that the state requirements are met in this department and its graduates are prepared to teach in the rural school. Three members of last year's class are now teaching successfully in this county. The first Normal Training teacher was Miss Blanch Horning, who was in charge of this work for a long time and she was followed by Miss Margaret Gibberson. In 1916, Miss Staats took charge of the work and has carried it forward in a most successful manner. Miss Staats is a graduate of Plattsmouth high school and of the University of Nebraska and has also received a degree of Master of Arts from the state university. The splendid reports which have come in to Miss Staats from the rural teachers is a splendid tribute to the type of students that graduate from our Normal Training department.

The following is a list of the students and the school to which they went: Ellen Nora Meisinger, No. 29; Bernice Hogue, No. 15; Lucille Pace, No. 2; Helen Koubek, No. 7; Helen Frank, No. 42; Mildred Schultz, No. 28; Alice Hutton, No. 6; Mary Swatek, No. 4; Melba Epler, No. 23; Lovisa Albert, Columbus; Herschel Dew, George Winstcott, Gladys Young and Orval Worthan, who are not planning to teach, spent the time observing in the city schools.

OBSERVE UNION SIGNAL DAY

The Plattsmouth members of the W. C. T. U. held a very fine meeting at the home of Miss Elizabeth Spangler on Monday afternoon and which was very largely attended despite the unfavorable weather that prevailed for the afternoon.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Mattie G. Wiles, Union Signal Secretary of the society and which afforded a most delightful array of offerings along the line of tribute to this branch of the temperance work.

One of the features of the afternoon was the playlet, "Proving the Worth of the Union Signal," and in which Mrs. J. E. Wiles, Mrs. Robert Troop, Miss Olive Gass and Mrs. Mattie G. Wiles took part, which was very inspirational to the members of the society.

During the course of the afternoon Mrs. Robert B. Hayes was heard in a number of solos, "O Read the Union Signal," "Beautiful Hour of Noontide" and "O Where is My Boy Tonight."

Mrs. Charles Troop gave a splendid address of "The Founder of Prohibition," in which she reviewed the life of Neal Dow, of Maine, one of the earliest public men to urge the cause of prohibition in the nation.

At the close of the afternoon Miss Spangler served a very dainty and delicious luncheon, that was very much enjoyed by all of the party.

UNION ITEMS.

The German Evangelical church. On February 5, 1882, he was married to Emma Keil at Factorville, a town now obsolete, near Union, Nebraska. The young couple migrated to Duell county, Nebraska, and took up a homestead on which they lived for fifteen years.

Family ties and eastern Nebraska had the stronger bonds, so the Nicholas Opp family returned in 1909 to take over the old Opp Homestead east of Nehawka, where they lived until four years ago when farming was given up for a less strenuous life in the village of Nehawka.

Eight children were born to them of whom two died in infancy.

Those living are: Dora Katherine Ausmus at Eston, Sasagatwan, Canada; Stella Marie Boedeker of Council Bluffs, Iowa; Ralph Nicholas, of Union; Arthur Earl, of Nehawka; Gertrude Emma Mariburger, of Casper, Wyoming; Lydia Viola Hansen, of Nehawka.

These with the wife, a life long companion, and a brother, Peter Opp of Nehawka, and a large group of grandchildren, together with a host of other relatives and friends are left to mourn the loss of the loved one departed with folks and falling health and declining years had been in action for some time. During the last two years he suffered quite a bit at times. His eyesight grew dimmer and finally faded away, but his mind was clear and active until the last few days, always enjoying a good chat with folks and friends calling. The final summons came Tuesday evening, March 11th to which he responded without pain or struggle.

All the children were here for the last rites except Dora who was with him several months until a few weeks ago.

Rev. W. A. Taylor of Union conducted the services at the family home Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. The interment was made in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

THE NEW CAPTAIN

The selection of Chester Wiles as captain of the Plattsmouth high school team for the 1930-31 season, made last evening by his team mates at the school banquet, is a deserved recognition of a very fine young man and one who has been a veteran in the ranks of the local team, starting in the game when the fast and aggressive team of 1927-28 was functioning and where he had the opportunity of serving on the reserve forces and later to become one of the regular first string men and has served in practically all of the games of the last two seasons. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wiles of near this city and has received his education in the local schools.
